THE POETS OF SCOTLAND.

The following was the interesting speech of Mr. D. D. Galletly, second Vice-President of the St. Andrew's Society, in proposing the toast of "The Poets and Poetry of Scotland," at the annual dinner on St. Andrew's day:—

Mr. GALLERLY said:—President, Vice-President and Gentlemen,—It is with the greatest pleasure I rise to propose a toast, which, I am sure will be heartily responded to by all. Scotland, as our great Sir Walter Scott happily describes it, is "a meet nurse for a poetic child." No country has produced more eminent sons of song. It is impossible here to trace the origin of Scottish song.

Hundreds of years ago Scotland had its poets, who, though their simple songs were a wild barbaric language, unintelligible to the most of us in the present age, gave forth, no doubt, the overflowing burst of love for their native land. They have been the means in no small degree of creating ideas from which our more modern and intelligent poets have been inspired with a theme for song.

Every true Scotchman boasts with pride that his country never was wholly conquered, how far this is correct I need not say, yet I never read or heard it recited. But there is no denying that the Romans, with all their intelligence; with all their discipline; with all their power and experience in war, could never conquer the rude, uncivilized, yet intrepid, warlike and hardy Celts.

The wild pathetic and chivalrous songs which Ossian and his contemporaries sang, roused up their Celtic blood to deeds of valor. The summons to the fray, the call to battle, and the rushing to the charge were the favorite theme of the Celtic bard. Gentlemen, our country owes its independence as much to its poets as to its warriors.

Minstrels in the olden time wandered up and down the country, scattering music and song wherever they went. Every mountain and valley, hill and vale, river and rivulet, in fact not an inch of our country but has its own song. So that if an enemy landed on any part of the island, he would find the enemy was surrounded by the martial and patriotic feelings of our ancestors. Just imagine a foe to land on any of our shores at the present day, and our army and volunteers drawn up in battle array to meet them, let the military bands, bagpipes, and every voice in the army strike up "Scots wha hae their country's cause" and the foe would be driven back as the enemy was surrounded by the martial and patriotic feelings of our ancestors. Just imagine a foe to land on any of our shores at the present day, and our army and volunteers drawn up in battle array to meet them, let the military bands, bagpipes, and every voice in the army strike up "Scots wha hae their country's cause" and the foe would be driven back as the enemy was surrounded by the martial and patriotic feelings of our ancestors.

THE TRIAL OF O'DONNELL

THE SLAYER OF CAREY ON TRIAL FOR WILLFUL MURDER.

Council for the Defence Speaks for Four Hours in Favor of the Prisoner—Verdict of Murder—The Prisoner's Parting Remarks.

Throughout the first day of the proceedings O'Donnell strove hard to wear an air of unconcern, he chewed tobacco freely, exchanged greetings with General Pryor and occasionally smiled. Beneath all this however, was apparent a keen and careful watching of the proceedings.

The Attorney-General stated that there was no evidence to prove that O'Donnell took passage on "Kinfauns Castle" for the purpose of killing Carey, but that Cabell, a new witness, would swear that on giving O'Donnell a description of the informant the prisoner ejaculated "I'll shoot him."

The plans of the cabin of the vessel were all declared incorrect.

Carey's son, one of the principal witnesses, gave his evidence promptly, but in the cross-examination contradicted himself frequently, declaring at one time that O'Donnell fired with his left hand, which is said to be paralyzed.

Mrs. Carey reiterated her statement that O'Donnell acted only under a threat of personal violence, they could not convict him of murder, although it might not be possible to let him go free.

The various weak points in the evidence elicited during the first day of the trial will doubtless be used to advantage by the defence.

On Saturday, the second day of the trial, only one witness was called for the defence, and no new evidence of any importance was forthcoming.

Mr. Russell, O'Donnell's counsel then addressed the jury. He said that the prisoner did not deny shooting Carey; the question was—did he do it under reasonable apprehension of his life? If so, they should acquit him; if short of this O'Donnell acted only under a threat of personal violence, they could not convict him of murder, although it might not be possible to let him go free.

He drew a comparison between the treacherous Carey and the prisoner, whom he described as an honest, hard working man.

He spoke for four hours and was loudly applauded.

The Attorney-General then rose. He explained that the only question was, was it willful murder? There was no evidence to show that there had been any struggle or quarrel.

The judge then charged the jury. He warned them to be cautious in their acceptance of Thomas Carey's evidence, but showed that the witnesses agreed up to the moment of shooting.

The jury brought in a verdict of willful murder.

When Judge Denman asked O'Donnell if he had anything to say why sentence of death should not be passed upon him, O'Donnell made no reply. The judge then passed sentence of death in the usual form.

The prisoner now wanted to speak; the judge, however, ordered his removal. The police seized him, when O'Donnell held up his right hand with his fingers extended and shouted "Three cheers for old Ireland. Good-bye, United States. To be with the British and the British Crown. To be with the British and the British Crown. To be with the British and the British Crown."

The prisoner, shouting, cursing, and struggling, was then forcibly removed by the police amid the most fearful confusion. This action of O'Donnell caused the greatest excitement and surprise, as he had previously gained the sympathy of the audience by his good behavior.

On leaving the dock O'Donnell, guarded by a strong escort, walked with a firm, unhesitating step to the cell for condemned prisoners. He was intensely excited, but maintained an air of defiance and continued to anathematize England and the English people and laws. To-day he conversed freely with the warders. He expressed no surprise at the verdict, although he confessed the jury's hesitation inspired him with hope that he might escape the extreme penalty. He still maintains that he is innocent of murder. All day O'Donnell displayed extreme indifference, and even wore a jaunty air. He does not seem to despair of a respite, and says his friends outside will move heaven and earth to obtain his release. The prisoner will probably remain in Newgate, where he will be hanged probably on Dec. 17th. Ample precautions have been taken to prevent a rescue. Two warders remain with O'Donnell night and day.

REPORTING SAILORS.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—Below I copy from last issue of the Monday Times the following item, which calls for some explanation:

"The manufacture of canoes for hunting or pleasure is a considerable industry in Peterborough. One maker there, it is said, can turn out three a day, and is sending some to England. A company, whose factory is across the river, at Ashburnham, has prepared a dozen of 'cedar ribbed, cherry decked skiffs' for consignment to the Old Country."

Peterborough has long been celebrated for its fine canoes, fine horses, and pretty girls, but I was not aware that we had a company for the manufacture of sailors, but as they are "for consignment to the Old Country," perhaps this is a solution of the problem of "how to man the navy?" This seems very probable, as I understand that the manager of the company supposed to be referred to, is one

THE EDUCATIONAL QUESTION.

No one who reads the signs of the times can fail to realize that a period is rapidly approaching when the question of what the Province shall or shall not do in the way of educating the people will prove the burning question of Ontario politics, and that when that time does arrive it is almost certain to break up the present party lines, and cause them to be formed more with reference to the live issues of the day than, as is too much the case now, with regard to the dead issues of the past.

Our readers need scarcely be reminded that the REVIEW has already given no uncertain sound as to the side in the coming contest upon which it will be found, and that it holds the opinion that the time has now arrived when the educational policy of the Province should be to provide every child within its bounds with proper facilities for obtaining a good plain English education, but that when they desire to go beyond that the expense should be borne by themselves, directly or indirectly, and by the free-will offerings of those able and willing to promote higher education. That is the general policy which we hold should govern all future Provincial action with regard to education.

Of course, holding such views, we shall deem it our duty to oppose any further grant to the Provincial University, although it does not necessarily follow that we are in favour of its complete destruction. If it be, as is alleged, that this institution is now suffering from a want of funds, by all means let ways and means be provided for its maintenance, either by a direct tax in the form of fees from those who reap the direct benefit, or by the free gifts of its admirers, or by both—but not by compulsion from the people at large.

Two grounds of objection we are aware are urged against this view of the case. The first is that the Provincial University and College being the "cops stone" of our educational system, and especially of the high school system, ought to be maintained by the Province. If we are to go on maintaining and increasing our High School system, then there would be much force in such an argument. But if on the other hand we, as a Province, adopt the policy of withdrawing as far as circumstances will permit from the performance of High School work, then this "cops stone" argument has no weight whatever.

The second objection is that private liberality cannot be invoked on behalf of an institution under the direct control of the Province, and over which the donors would have no control. We are not sure of this, but we will grant for the sake of argument that this is a reasonable answer. What then? Is it impossible to place the management of this institution upon such a basis as will secure the object of the state in establishing it, and yet give those who contribute to its enlarged usefulness a reasonable voice in its management? We do not think so. But even now it seems to us the door is open for calling forth the assistance of its friends. Surely if it lives, as it must live, if it is good for anything, in the hearts of its former students, there could be no difficulty in applying the funds now devoted to scholarships to the establishment of additional professorships, and of new scholarships being supplied by the voluntary contributions of its friends, a mode of assistance which is being cheerfully rendered by the friends of other colleges and by many who have no voice in their control. In this, as in many other things, we believe if there only be a desire to do so, the way of doing it can easily be found.

The first thing, however, which requires to be clearly defined in this matter is the principle by which the future action of the Province is to be governed, and then a steady, but gradual working in that direction. Our position we have defined, and we take it with pleasure, believing that it is at once the only just and judicious one to be adopted under our circumstances, and, moreover, the only one which the financial position of the Province will permit us to maintain with credit.

SOME Reform journals are blaming the Hamilton Spectator for publishing a telegram from the Hon. Mr. Mackenzie Bowden, Minister of Finance, stating that he had disappeared.

HUNTING.—Sporting men have been out making the most of the last week of the season. Dr. McCamus and a friend took a ramble on the burnt land in the neighborhood of Noy's Creek, and started three nice deer. One of the three was speedily converted into venison. Mr. Wm. Read shot a large doe on Big Island, and Mr. Purdy has stalked several of the forest sheep. An American gentleman has had some interesting sport, chiefly on the Big Island. It is considered great fun to sit in a canoe and wait for a deer to be run into the water by the dogs, but there is an eagerness about the air just now that makes a bit of fire comforting. So he went ashore and had just got the fire blazing nicely when a great buck suddenly appeared on the other side of the fire and quietly took stock of the American, in the man, who, in the first flush of his surprise, stumbled backward over some driftwood and abruptly sat down on the bottom of the lake. The gentleman's rifle was, of course, in his canoe. The deer slipped away with a merry wag of his tail, and the water was remarkably wet for the time of the year.

FIRE.—At ten o'clock on Monday night the Church bell made the unwelcome announcement of a fire. When the bell was first heard, the building, a stable in the rear of Mr. Gage's residence, and within a few feet of Mr. Harlow's house, was found to be enveloped in flames. Fortunately for Mr. Harlow, he had a good force pump and hose, between his house and the burning building, and was enabled to prevent his walls from catching until the village engines arrived. Mr. Early, captain of No. 3 got to work shortly after the alarm, and was the first to throw water. The building being small and slightly built, the worst was over in a few minutes, and well indeed it was so, for had Mr. Harlow's caught, Mr. Kennedy's planing mill opposite would have probably gone, and a serious conflagration have followed. As the wind was high and wild, the two little engines worked fairly, and again showed their usefulness in protecting buildings, and an engine of Messrs. Boyd & Co., brought up by Mr. Milne and Mr. Moore did efficient work to show the valuable services it could render if necessary. As usual there were a number who worked in the most praiseworthy manner, but on the whole the management was not so good as was the case with the last fire on the main street. It was clearly demonstrated that the fire company needs re-organization. There are ample appliances in the village for confining a fire to any one building if the company were not properly organized and well managed. The origin of the fire is valued in the dark shadows of mystery, or in ordinary parlance—cause unknown.

PORT HOPE.

A FIRE STORY.—The Guide says that at about seven o'clock on Friday morning, when Harry Shepherd opened his store—it was raining hard at the time—some of the drops that fell on the sidewalk appeared to him to be pretty large ones. On examination it proved that five speckled trout, between three and four inches long, had dropped from the clouds. Mr. Shepherd picked them up and put them in a pail of water, where they swam around as lively as if they had not taken such a aerial flight. Capt. Robinson, cured the fish, strangers and now has them in a glass case for the inspection of the curious.

NEWWOOD.

LARGE PIGS.—The Register says that Mr. Henry Cope killed two spring pigs (seven months old) the other day—one weighed 224 pounds and the other 260 pounds. Next!

A NARROW ESCAPE.—A young son of Mr. A. Scott's, Asphodel, had a narrow escape from death the other week. He was standing to move the horse power of a threshing machine, which slipped and fell in such a manner as to injure the young fellow severely.

Rich Mineral Discoveries.

ROSEMOUNT, Nov. 28.—There is great excitement throughout Western Ontario over the rich mineral discoveries in Cedar Dale Mountains. Prospectors who have returned, state no mines have ever been discovered in the history of the Western States territories equal in richness and volume to the newly discovered fields. The minerals consist of silver, lithium, and free milling gold. A hundred dollars per man per day is to be taken out of this rock of gulches while in gulches, $25 to $40 per man per day is being passed out. The streams are in the northern part of Idaho, near Eagle City, forty miles from here on the Northern Pacific Railway. There are now about five hundred people in camp.

Parliament Building Alterations. Workmen are busily engaged in putting shelves in the House of Commons reading-room so as to contain the books which have arrived for the Parliamentary library, and which have been lying in the cases in which they were received for the want of accommodation. It is likely that some arrangements will have to be made at an early day for the reading-room elsewhere, the present one to be used as a library, so as to relieve the pressure for want of space in connection with the Parliamentary library.

The Cost of War.

The Newmarket Free Independent Reform journal, says:— "It is now estimated that the military operations of the Ontario Government at Rat Portage, are costing this Province $6.25 per day in the wages of constables alone; and the work of it is this large expenditure does not secure the title of the Province to the disputed territory. It does appear to us high time the politicians quit fooling with this boundary question and referred it for settlement to a legal tribunal qualified to dispose of it at once and forever."

Great Ocean Sailing Race. From Plymouth on November 24th, started two vessels for a 14,000 mile race. They were the schooner yacht "Vesta" 79 tons burden, owned by Dr. Charles Cunningham, of Eastbourne, England, which was lately purchased by him from Sir Thomas Erskine. The other is a full-rigged clipper ship, "The Northern Monarch." Their destination is Rockhampton, Australia, and they are expected to take from 95 to 100 days in accomplishing the journey. Odds are laid on the yacht.

A Brilliant Meteor. New York, Nov. 30.—A brilliant meteor was seen here last night, apparently 10 degrees north of the zenith. It became visible at 11:30 attained its greatest brilliancy at 12:15, when it lighted a large part of the heavens with its rosy light. The visitor had a tail two or three degrees long. It moved north-east. Its head was round and about half the apparent diameter of the moon. Its edges were surrounded by

IMMENSE CONFLAGRATION.

Mage Blanket Factories Devoured by Flames.

BIRMINGHAM, Mass., Nov. 29.—A fire broke out at 12:40 this morning in the immense building known as the Saxtonville Blanket Factories at Saxtonville, Mass., and at 8 o'clock five of the large factories were in ruins, and the only industry of the town was wiped out. There are but three hand engines in the town, two of which were located three miles from the factories. When these arrived the fire was beyond control, and all the firemen could do was to save the buildings not already in flames. Assistance was called for from Natick, Ashland, and Cohasset, and steamers were sent from those towns, but were of little avail. Three of the burned buildings were of brick, five and six stories high, and two of wood of two stories each. The excitement was intense owing to the showers of sparks which fell constantly upon the roofs of the employees' houses, constantly igniting them and requiring incessant work with pails. Many people removed their goods from their houses, thinking the entire village would be swept away. The mills were owned by M. E. Simpson & Co. of Boston. No accurate estimate of the loss can be made yet. The loss on the buildings alone is estimated at $130,000, and the total loss is variously estimated at from $300,000 to $700,000, and may exceed the latter amount.

Field Lightning. Is the only instantaneous relief for Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, etc. Rubbing a few drops briskly in all that is needed. No taking nauseous medicines for weeks, but one minute's application removes all pain and will prove the great value of Field Lightning. Twenty-five cents per bottle at John McKee's Drug Store.

AN AFFLICTED CLERGYMAN.—The Rev. Wm. Stout, an English clergyman, of Worcester, was for 23 years a terrible sufferer, with Scrofulous Abscess, which the best medical skill failed to cure. The internal and external use of Burdock Blood Bitters cured him, and for nearly three years he remained hale and hearty.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1883.

LOCAL NEWS

Council Meeting.

A meeting of the Town Council will be held this evening in the Council Chamber at 7.30 o'clock.

The Temperature.

The Rev. V. Clement's self-registering thermometer marked half a degree above zero last night.

University of Toronto.

A meeting of the Peterborough Association of Graduates will be held at the Mechanics' Institute this (Monday) evening at 8 o'clock.

Board of Education.

A regular meeting of the Board of Education will take place at the Board room on Tuesday evening, at 7.45 o'clock.

Eye, Ear and Throat.

Dr. G. S. Ryerson will be at the Oriental Hotel on Saturday, Dec. 15th, for consultation regarding all diseases affecting the eye, ear or throat.

Police News.

The cells were untenanted on Saturday night but last night one tramp lodged in them. There was a clean sheet at the Court this morning.

Large Hogs.

Three very large hogs, brought to the market by Mr. John Fairbairn, of Smith, were weighed on the market scales on Saturday. They weighed respectively 465, 466 and 446 pounds. Good breed and good feeding count when the hog is placed on the scales.

Vital Statistics.

The number of births, marriages and deaths in the town of Peterborough in the month of November, as registered, were as follows:—
Births.....16
Marriages.....10
Deaths.....6

Died in the North-West.

Mr. W. J. Green, merchant, received the sad intelligence this morning of the death at Medicine Hat, N. W. T. of his father-in-law, Mr. Thos. Green, formerly a resident of this town. The deceased gentleman for several years carried on mercantile business in Peterborough, and was well known here.

Meetings.

A meeting of the Band of Hope and Church of England Temperance Societies will be held on Tuesday evening, in St. John's Church Chapel, the former at 7 o'clock, and latter at 7.30. A meeting of the Women's Foreign and Domestic Missionary Society was announced for 2.30 o'clock this afternoon in the same place.

A Disclaimers.

We are informed that a pamphlet entitled "The Life of St. Margaret, Virgin and Martyr," was condemned by Bishop Janot, on Sunday, in St. Peter's Cathedral, as containing things not in accordance with the doctrines of the Church, and which rather bore the stamp of superstition, containing absurd statements which could only mislead the simple and ignorant.

Health Statistics.

The official report of the health of Ontario for the week ending Nov. 24th, shows Bronchial diseases had decreased in prevalence, but that Intermittent and Enteric (typhoid) fevers had increased. Whooping cough has somewhat taken the place of scarletina, and mumps have given way to measles in some districts. The six most prevalent diseases in the district in which Peterborough is included in their order of prevalence are as follows:—Bronchitis, 10.8; Neuralgia, 8.7; Anemia, 8.5; Influenza, 7.3; Rheumatism, 3.7; Mumps, 4.3.

Operatic.

The "Queen's Lace Handkerchief" will be produced in Bradburn's Opera House this evening by the New York Opera Company. We have given several extracts from the press of Canada and the United States recommending this opera and company, and a treat is evidently in store for those who attend. The Toronto Mail says that a great recommendation of the Opera is that there are no objectionable features, noticeable either in the matter of the ladies' dresses or in the dialogue. Ladies and children may safely attend the performances, and will derive therefrom a very pleasant entertainment.

THE R. C. NECROPOLIS.

An Enlargement—The Walks and Grounds Improved—New Monuments.

The Roman Catholic Cemetery was consecrated this year with appropriate ceremonies by His Lordship Bishop Janot, and during the past season extensive improvements have been made in the grounds. One of the chief improvements to the cemetery was an acre and a half of ground to the west of the cemetery having been added to it. This new ground has been surveyed into lots, and improvements have been made upon it.

Considerable work, part of which was contributed voluntarily, was done upon

THE GROUNDS GENERALLY.

The walks were ploughed up and levelled; the grounds were gone over and their appearance improved, and the lots contained in the ceremony gave evidence of the labour bestowed upon them. A circular plot of ground was prepared inside the gate, and a large crucifix was erected in the centre.

But this is only a commencement of what it is intended to do. Next year will be erected for a caretaker, who will reside at the cemetery and give his time to looking after it, and his labour in making improvements and keeping it in order. The new ground will be thoroughly prepared, and the caretaker, with the assistance furnished him, will carry on the work of improving and beautifying the grounds.

The Rev. Father Conway has had a plan of the whole cemetery drawn, showing all the lots and where they are situated, which will be found a great convenience.

NEW MONUMENTS.

have been placed in the cemetery. There are some fine monuments in the cemetery, and those put in this year add greatly to the general good appearance of the burial-place. Among the new monuments which attract attention is one erected to Mr. John O'Boyle, of American mottled blue stone, from Mr. James Byrne's marble shop. A marble fence was also placed around this lot. Mr. Byrne also put in a handsome monument of New Brunswick red granite, and a marble fence for Mr. McCullough, a monument of the same material, and a fence of the same kind of stone for Mr. P. Condon. A white marble cross, also from Mr. Byrne's shop, was erected on the grave of the late James Ball, whose sad death by accident at New York a few years ago will be remembered. He was repairing an eve trough in that city for a woman who resided next door to his lodgings, and while doing this charitable act he fell to the street and was killed. This handsome cross now marks his last resting place. The latest monument placed in the cemetery is the handsomest, namely, that erected to the memory of

THE LATE THOS. MALLOY.

It was purchased from Mr. Byrne by merchants and commercial travellers, and a more extended description of it will be of interest. The bottom base is of native limestone, upon which rests a base of marble. Resting on this base is a die of white Vermont marble, and on the corners of the die there are four round columns of Columbus blue stone. An arched cup of marble, with handsome carved decorations, rests on the columns, and a rustic stone cross surmounts the whole. On the die and between the columns there is a marble vase for flowers, and Mr. Thos. Dolan, dry goods merchant, who was Mr. Malloy's employer at the time of his death, has ordered artificial flowers for the vase, and a glass case which will enclose them. The following inscription is engraved on the die:—"In memory of the late Thos. Malloy, who died at Peterborough on November 8th, 1882, aged 42 years," and the following is on the base, "A native of Ireland," and "Erected by his friends, the commercial travellers." The monument is a very handsome one, and is an evidence of generosity and good feeling among the commercial travellers, as well as of the esteem in which Mr. Malloy was held by them.

The following monuments were placed in the cemetery this year from the marble factory of Messrs. S. A. Moore & Son. A monument of New Brunswick red granite for Mrs. Bank, of Ashburnham, a cross monument of Southern Falls marble for Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald, of Smith, on the grave of his wife; monuments of Southern Falls marble for Mr. Owen Carran, Mrs. Crowley, Mr. Thos. Egan, Mrs. Dillon, and Mrs. Tangney, besides a number of headstones and fences of marble. The Messrs. Moore have now a very fine monument of handsome design, made of mottled Smith marble, ready to be placed in the cemetery, ordered by Mr. James McNamara, to mark the grave of his father.

Altogether the Roman Catholic Cemetery has been greatly improved in appearance during the season, and with the contemplated improvements, which will be carried out next season, it will be a very beautiful burial place.

Railway Notes.

The morning train from Toronto was an hour late to-day.

A box car was on Saturday run off the siding at Mr. Stevenson's elevator, and a rail of the end of the siding was broken. The car was also damaged.

The Register says that the sidings at the Ontario and Quebec station grounds at Norwood are being extended. Material is being laid on the ground for the building of the new station and a water tank.

Methodist Bazaar.

The second annual bazaar of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church will be held at the residence of Mr. Geo. A. Cox during the afternoon and evening of Friday, Dec. 7th. A programme of choice vocal and instrumental music will be an attraction at the evening sale.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, for the following twenty-four hours, accounting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh winds from south east; fair to cloudy weather, with light local falls of snow; stationary or slightly higher temperature.

Spectacles.

Testimonial from Edward J. Stobo, Pastor of the Baptist Church, Belleville:—

Belleville, Ont., Nov. 24th 82.
Mr. B. Laurance has succeeded admirably in suiting Mr. Stobo and myself with spectacles adapted to the state of the visual organs, and we have every reason to believe him a skillful optician and worthy of public patronage.

Photography.

Mrs. Harriet Esterbrook desires to return her thanks to the public of Peterborough and vicinity for the liberal patronage they extended to her late husband. She will carry on the Photographic business, in the same place, and solicits a continuation of their patronage. The studio is in capital hands, and satisfactory work may be relied upon. Photographs taken by the new instantaneous process. A large stock of velvet and plush goods on hand, and good bargains offered in frames.

Buckley's Arnica Salve.

LOCAL NEWS

Personal.

Mr. J. O'Donnell, who is well known in Peterborough, is now in town on a visit as Inspector of this district for the Standard Life Assurance Company, of Edinburgh, a long established and substantial Company.

Methodist Bazaar.

The second annual bazaar of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church will be held at the residence of Mr. Geo. A. Cox during the afternoon and evening of Friday, Dec. 7th. A programme of choice vocal and instrumental music will be an attraction at the evening sale.

Going up Higher.

The weather probabilities for this district, for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Winds mostly south and south-west; generally fair, milder weather. The temperature will rise above the freezing point.

The King of Horses.

That additional lion, whose presence over the door of a dry-goods store, led to the mobilization of two armies and almost caused a battle, has resumed its former position, and attracts the attention of the passer by to Messrs. Fair, Van-Every & Co's place of business. The golden lion is an attractive sign, and this specimen looks brighter than ever since it was taken in for repairs. The lion is symbolical of courage, and it is a proper trade mark for this firm, as they are enterprising business men.

The Municipal Elections.

At the Town Council meeting on Monday night a By-Law was passed appointing Deputy Returning-Officers and poll clerks for the different wards, and appointing the places where the polls will be held as follows:—No. 1 ward, at the mission school house, Jas. Lundy, deputy returning officer, and Angus Williams, poll clerk; No. 2 ward, at the council chamber, Chas. Cameron, deputy returning officer, and Jas. Noble, poll clerk; No. 3 ward, at Geo. Sanderson's shop, James Irwin, deputy returning officer, and Jas. G. Macdonald, poll clerk; No. 4 ward, at Wm. Lee's shop, Wm. Lee, deputy returning officer, and John Sawers, poll clerk.

Fence Follies.

A meeting of the Board of Education will be held to-night. The Council did not adjourn until twelve o'clock last night.

There was one tramp in the police cells last night. A blank at the Police Court.

The Autumn session of the County Court commenced at noon to-day.

It was remarked that the scenery at the Opera House was well managed last night at the "Lace Handkerchief."

The temperature last night, according to the Rev. V. Clement's self-registering thermometer, went down to six degrees above zero.

It is expected that Hunter, the man whose leg was broken six weeks ago, and who is cared for by the corporation, will be able to be out in a week.

Councillor Paterson suggested last night that coal should be used for the municipal offices, as the expense of buying, cutting and piling wood was enormous.

While the Council was in session last night something went wrong with the gas, and the Chamber was left in almost total darkness. Councillor McNaughton was speaking at the time, and he turned the stream of burning eloquence against a couple of Councillors who were enjoying a smoke in the committee room, as they thought they were tampering with the meter.

The gas burned up again all right, but the Council had their revenge by making it show them light until midnight.

Public Notice.

Our friends will find TAYLOR & MACDONALD open to supply Drugs, &c., this evening.

JOHN McKEE, OMBUD & WALLER, TAYLOR & MACDONALD

THE CITY PHARMACY.

Mr. J. D. Tully's Drug Store Enlarged and Fitted with New Fittings.

Among the stores which have been undergoing improvements lately was that of Mr. J. D. Tully, whose drug store, known as the "City Pharmacy," has been considerably enlarged and improved by new fittings which have been added in the interior.

An extension fifty feet long and two stories high was added to the rear, built of brick, this part of the work being done by the landlord Mr. G. A. Cox, and superintended by Mr. Jas. McLellan. This extension made the total length of the lower two stories one hundred feet, and gave Mr. Tully more room in the store and other departments of his establishment.

Among the most conspicuous additions to the Pharmacy is a large new case with glass doors and containing shelves. This case is twelve feet long and ten feet high, the material being walnut. It is finished in the Eastlake design, and is a very handsome addition to the fittings of the store, as well as being convenient. This case is devoted to perfumery and fine toilet goods. The work on it was done by Mr. D. Bellegem, by whom also an extension of the shelves on the opposite side of the store was put in and other work done, all in a tasteful and workmanlike manner.

The extension of the store gave space for a neat business office, which is enclosed by a frosted-glass screen. Beside the office, and enclosed by a large ornamental screen, is the dispensary, a department used only for the preparing of prescriptions. The lighting of the store is improved by the introduction of gas and the addition of a fine large pendant gasolier. The ceiling has been covered with a paper of fine tint, with handsome panelling and corner pieces, which greatly improves the appearance of the store. This part of the work, as well as the painting, was executed in a creditable manner by Mr. H. W. Watson.

In the rear of the dispensary and office, and in the new building, is the laboratory, a fine large room. The laboratory is well lighted, and the pharmacy has two entrances, as the front of the store is on George street and the rear reaches Chambers street. The upper story is used for a storeroom, and the cellars, which reach the full length of the building, contain the oils, spirits and other heavy goods.

Altogether Mr. Tully has now a commodious, convenient and elegant place of business, in fact, one of the finest retail drug stores to be seen anywhere.

Spectacles.

Testimonial from Chief Justice James Macdonald, N. S., late Minister of Justice: HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 13, 1883.

Mr. E. Lawrence.

DEAR SIR,—I beg to say that I have used the spectacles and eye-glasses with which you fitted me a sufficient time to test them thoroughly, and I am pleased to say they have given me the highest satisfaction in every way.

Yours truly, JAS. MACDONALD.

"The Queen's Lace Handkerchief."

This comic opera by the well-known Strauss was performed last night at Bradburn's Opera House before a large audience by Patterson's New York Opera Company. The plot, as is usual in comic opera, is meagre enough, but does very well to introduce some pretty sparkling music. The scene is laid in Portugal at the court of a very youthful King and Queen.

A scheming minister, unwilling to give up the regency, seeks to prolong his time of power by disturbing the happy relations of his King and Queen. Cervantes, the poet, and Donna Irene, the Queen's confidante, happy in their own love, try to reconcile the King and Queen, and frustrate the wily minister. Unfortunately the Queen becomes fond of Cervantes and gives him a lace handkerchief on which is written, "A Queen loves thee, yet art thou no King." This handkerchief falls into the hands of the Regent, who proclaims his falling ministry by a timely production of the handkerchief to the King, who, in a fit of jealous rage, banishes the Queen.

The story of how Cervantes in the guise of a brigand captures the Queen, how the King, supposing he is going to a ball fight, is brought to the place where she is, how the ministers are out-plotted, the handkerchief explained and the young couple reconciled, gives scope for many amusing and picturesque incidents. Miss Louise Masfard as the Queen, and Miss L. Seale as Donna Irene, sang and acted in a lively, pleasant manner, and the parts of the King (Miss Fanny Redding) and the Marchioness (Miss Helen Cooper) were well sustained.

Mr. C. M. Pyke took the part of Don Cervantes, and his fine tenor voice was heard to full advantage in the songs allotted to that character. Mr. Greenfield as Minister, and Mr. A. J. Smith as Don Bencho were very funny and kept the audience constantly well amused.

The chorus, especially the female members, were rather loud, but on the whole well trained and well dressed, while the orchestra, both in numbers and quality, was far above the average.

Wm. Bow & Co's Celebrated Indian Pale Ale on draught at St. James' Hotel. Try it.

Try Nerviline.

For all kinds of pain. Nerviline is the most efficient and pleasant remedy in existence for neuralgia, headache, toothache, for internal use it has no equal. Relief in five minutes may be obtained from Nerviline in any of the following complaints, viz., Cramps in the stomach, chills, fainting pains. Buy a 25 cent sample bottle of Nerviline at Ormrod & Walsh drug store and test the great remedy. Large bottles 50 cents.

A Three Cornered Weapon.—The triangular shape of the Triangle Dyke Package added to their undoubted superiority have won the day and driven all others from the field. 25 cents. 10c.

Visitors to Peterborough who seek comfort and convenience, a Table well supplied, and an Hotel complete in all respects, should stop at the Calico House. Daily Bree.

A Gloomy Outlook.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 30.—The Iron Age publishes a letter from nail manufacturers giving their views on the prospects of the nail trade. They consider the outlook for 1884 decidedly gloomy.

O'Donnell's Sentence.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—The result of O'Donnell's trial was eagerly awaited by Irish circles in London, where it was generally expected the verdict would be manslaughter. Some of the League branches have resolved to form a committee to memorialize the Home Secretary to commute the sentence. It is thought probable an attempt will be made to bring pressure on the United States Government to intervene for a commutation of the sentence. All the morning papers endorse the verdict in the case of O'Donnell.

Railway Notes.

Mr. E. P. Hannaford, chief engineer, G. T. R., is at present on a tour of inspection over the entire Grand Trunk system.

The Ontario and Pacific railway has, it is said, so far completed preliminaries that work on the line will be commenced soon.

Attached to the train that moved out from the Picton station of the Central Ontario railway on Saturday were two new and beautiful passenger coaches, one of which will be used for smoking and express purposes. The coaches were built in Cobourg expressly for the Central Ontario railway, and are equal to any first-class cars in the Dominion.

United States Revenue.

New York, Nov. 30.—The Sun's Washington special says:—Secretary Folger's report will show that the revenue of the Government for the last fiscal year was $348,287,000; expenses, $285,408,000; surplus, $62,879,000, or $7,300,000 more than estimated. Compared with the previous fiscal year the Customs receipts decreased $5,704,000; internal revenue, $1,777,000; direct taxes, $51,000; miscellaneous, $908,000. There was an increase of $3,202,000 in sales of public lands. The expenditures of the Government show an increase over the year before of $7,825,000. It is probable the receipts will be about $350,000,000 for the fiscal year 1884, and the expenditures $285,000,000. The Secretary will oppose the abolition of the internal revenue tax, but will recommend a still further reduction of Customs duties. Governor Butler says there is nothing in the constitution of the United States to warrant the distribution of surplus revenue among the States as proposed by Mr. Blaine. A Washington dispatch says Blaine's plan is severely criticised there, especially by members of Congress from the tobacco and whiskey producing States.

Attempted Abduction of a Young Lady.

KINGSTON, Nov. 30.—Great excitement was caused in the village of Odesa by the attempted abduction of a respectable young lady, the daughter of Rev. T. H. Macdonald, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, by a young man of the village named Samuel Hill. The young lady was at church, but was sent out by the chorister to obtain a book from the parsonage, which is immediately adjoining, which was required in the service. As she was turning the corner she was stopped by Hill, and under threat of violence accompanied him a short distance up the road, where she was told to remain until he got a horse to drive her off. As soon as she was left alone she ran home and gave the alarm. Service in the church was abruptly broken off, and the young man was arrested by the indignation father, assisted by a few of his parishioners, while in the act of getting out of his rig. It has transpired that Hill went to Parker on Friday last and obtained a marriage license from Mr. J. A. Shibley, and that his act was in accordance with carefully laid plans. Hill has had rather an unenviable reputation in the past, having spent a month in jail two years ago for theft, but having joined the Saved Army it was thought he had reformed.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1883.

There is some disposition to censure Mr. Mackenzie Bowell because he is ready to discuss the Customs regulations with importers and to meet their views, as far as possible. This is just an instance of the difference between the past and present regime. Formerly, under "Reform" rule, commercial men were snubbed if they ventured upon any suggestion or remonstrance as to official proceedings. Now they are courteously received, their suggestions are considered, and their convenience is consulted as far as is possible, having regard to the collection of the revenue as authorised by Parliament.

The state of political affairs in the Province of Quebec does not favour the contention of those who maintain that it would be better not to have government by party. Practically there is no party rivalry at present in that Province, for the Liberals are so weak as to be powerless, while the Conservatives are over-powering and inconveniently strong. There has consequently arisen what seems to be an intestine rivalry for place. Besides disappointment at not obtaining office, the principal ground for the hostility to the present Administration appears to be that it adopted a very economical policy, with an unwelcome reduction of grants and salaries. Besides these, the most serious charge formulated against the Premier is that he was in bad when a journalist, with a pecuniary interest at stake, desired an interview. It looks as if these three causes combined might be too much for Mr. Mousséau.

THE OLD POLICY RE-AFFIRMED.

The probable return of Sir Richard Cartwright for South Huron, where the recent "warming-pan" member had a majority of many hundreds of votes, is not in itself a matter of much consequence, for the Macdonald administration is so strong that there need be no desire for the gain of another vote. It would even be no matter of regret that the opposition should have the much needed acquisition of his undoubted abilities, were it not for the accompanying drawback of the virulence and bitterness natural to a renegade smarting from wounded self-esteem.

There is, however, one aspect of this candidature which is very important as regards the welfare of our country, since it throws light upon the policy of one of our great political parties. The fact that after the defeat of Sir Richard Cartwright with so many of his old colleagues at the last general election, no effort was made to find him a seat, showed that his allies feel no great desire for his presence in the House. They could, as we now know, have given him at any moment an almost certain seat, for Mr. Blake could, whenever he chose, have called upon Mr. McMillan to carry out the bargain of very dubious propriety that they had made. The fact that his party showed no anxiety for his presence, combined with their previous deposition of Mr. Mackenzie from the leadership, the two faced coquetting of Mr. Blake and some of his followers and organs with the tariff question, and the thrusting of Mr. Gordon Brown out of the Globe office, gave much reason to believe that the "Reformers" had seen the folly of their hostility to Canadian manufacturers and were prepared to turn their backs to catch the popular breeze so manifestly in favour of the National Policy. With Mr. G. W. Ross removed from the field by the decision of the court that his election was procured by illegal means, and his consequent reception by Mr. Mowat into his cabinet, the only members left in the House who could at all deal with financial questions were Mr. Patterson and Mr. Charlton. They from their antecedents might fairly be expected to show no very obstinate opposition to some measure of protection to our native industries. But the efforts to bring Sir Richard Cartwright back to the House by means of such extraordinary tactics, the thrusting from his path of a member respected by his constituents, the forcing him upon reluctant delegates, and the personal intervention in this shady transaction of the present and past leaders of the party, all prove this step to be one deemed of no slight importance. Does it not indeed betoken the adoption of a decided change of policy.

We have the late Finance Minister pronouncing in no uncertain language his adhesion to his old policy of leaving our industries to be crushed out by foreign competition—we have the former

Reform premier, with his unreluctant dictum that "the National Policy is a national crime," abandoning his position of standing almost aloof from his ungrateful party and coming to the aid of his old lieutenant—we have the present leader, no longer blowing hot and cold as in his celebrated special pleading address, but combining with his free trade predecessor to force their free trade finance minister upon an unwilling constituency and upon a country that has utterly repudiated his unpatriotic and ruinous policy.

Sir Richard Cartwright's reappearance in the House would in short be of trifling importance in itself. But the nature of the arrangements for placing him there shows that the leaders of the Reform party still cling to the policy of preferring foreign to Canadian producers and manufacturers—of making Canada "a cheap country to live in," but with scanty means of paying for a living.

Those electors who objected to the injury done to Canada by the old tariff policy, and rejoice in the progress made by the country under the National Policy can no longer be fooled by the suggestion, where deemed expedient, that "Mr. Blake would make no great change in the tariff." Mr. Blake has thrown in his lot with those who think that the National Policy is a national crime and that the great majority of Canadians are criminals.

TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION.

The Importance of the Work, and the Necessity for its Completion.

The Trenton Courier under the heading of the "Trent Huron Canal" has the following remarks:—

"The papers report the works let by contract on the Trent Huron Canal, progressing favorably. The Globe last week pitches into the Government for its expenditure on canals. It exposes its want of accurate knowledge by repeatedly calling the Murray Canal, the Murray Bay Canal. Now we thought Murray Bay was a watering place down the St. Lawrence River, while the Murray Canal is connecting Bay of Quinte with Presqu Shore Bay, and is cut through the Township of Murray. We do not agree with the Globe in its wholesale condemnation of the government for its expenditure of public funds in internal improvements. This style of writing is what cost the opposition the loss of Northumberland and West Hastings at the last elections. Mr. Mackenzie's speech as reported in Harvard did more injury than a thousand able speeches such as E. C. Blake delivered in Belleville could remedy. What an opposition journal should do to be a real benefit to the country, is, to commend the execution of local improvements and condemn discreditable dealings of every kind. In the case of the Murray Canal we all know that both Reform and Conservative have clamored for years for its construction.

It is not its construction that should be condemned but its location. Reformers and Conservatives alike in the Bay constituencies, would throw up their hats and cheer the government that undertook the construction of this canal. After some criticism of the route adopted for the Murray Canal our contemporary continues:—

As to the unfinished St. Lawrence Canal, the public at large can well afford to allow weeks to stand still that only accommodate deep draft steamers from Chicago direct for Europe.

Much more profitable to the whole country would be the construction of the Trent Huron Canal, that would shorten the route from the North West to the ocean and open up to a large section of Ontario a means of removing the products of the country at a moderate charge and save the country from the monopoly charges of the railroads.

We hope at the approaching session of Parliament the Government may be induced to let the contractors for the completion of the whole line. Two weeks ago a deputation of gentlemen waited on Hon. O. Mowat in reference to the lowering of the water of Lake Simcoe. Not one of the deputation, we learn, ever hinted at the construction of this canal as a most effectual means of accomplishing the desired result. Let these gentlemen consider this matter and press on their representatives the necessity of the Trent Huron Canal and they will secure the minor object that now fills their thoughts, and have the greater benefit to that section of country.

MR. MOWAT'S PECK OF DIRT.

His Regard for the Dignity of the Bench. A Marked Contrast.

The counties of Lennox and Haliburton have had experiences that in some respects are alike and yet in others are unlike. In both the treasurers some years ago became defalcators. The Lennox Treasurer was a Tory, but although he was mercifully allowed to escape the criminal prosecution that might have been brought against him the Tories "dropped him," and he was compelled to hide his shame by emigrating. Haliburton's Treasurer was a Grit, and mortal sin on the part of the County Council saved him from criminal prosecution, but it did not wipe out his crime. Did his Grit friends drop him? not they but on the contrary honored him—as a sort of reward, it may be supposed, for the smartness he displayed. Why, even Mr. Mowat, who was once a judge and should therefore have had jealous regard for the purity of the Bench, knowing all the facts of the case, actually went so far as to appoint the man Stipendiary Magistrate of the District, a position in which he is retained in spite of remonstrances from various quarters, a sample of which is published in another column. But then the Grits differ from the Tories in this important particular, that they do not care a brass farthing how great a blackguard a man may be (the worse he is, the better they treat him) so long as they can make him useful as a political tool, while the Tories require those upon whom they bestow favors to be men with good characters—not criminals and men who have been enabled by Mercy to cheat Justice of her due."

Archbishop Croft's Speech.

Archbishop Croft, speaking at Waterford, said after what had been achieved in the last few years by the Irish party in Parliament under their great leader, he had no doubt if the people persevered in their course, avoided crime, and refused to allow themselves to be transported, a good deal would be achieved within a measurable period. The present generation might live to see the Old Land clothed in the garb of freedom under the Irish flag.

Very hard indeed.

There are so many things that appear unnecessary and which for the life of us we can use neither purpose nor end. It may be some are just one of those things in the flesh the why and the wherefore of which we cannot see. Nevertheless they are of the kind that are easily removed. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor makes short work of them. Try it and see how easily it cures them out. Use none other than Putnam's Corn Extractor. Sold by druggists.

COBOURG.

THE CAR WORKS.—When the Globe in its issue of the 23rd, refers to some of the employees being discharged from the Cobourg car works, drags the National Policy in, and endeavors to make it do duty in an appeal to the working men, it never before committed a more egregious blunder. There are now employed at our car works, about one hundred and sixty men, many more than were ever employed at any one time previous to 1878. In the manufacture of cars the case is different from other manufactures, which are frequently made to hold for sale. Cars are manufactured upon order, and times do occur when there is a lull after an order is completed, and before another begins although the Cobourg works in the last three or four years have seldom slackened. But this is not where the Globe makes its great blunder. While some portions of the works have slackened, the part that is in full blast, is one that was brought into existence by the protective policy of the present government,—that is, the manufacture of passenger cars, and the Cobourg car works are to-day turning out some of the finest passenger coaches to be found in Canada. Mr. Crossen's workmen have no reason to find fault with the National Policy, as far as they are concerned. Since 1878 these works have constantly employed in the neighborhood of three hundred men, while during the Mackenzie government not one quarter that number could find work in them, and instead of being run constantly as now, they nearly always closed down in the winter. The Globe should get fuller and better information before it makes its comments.—Sentinel Star.

THANKS.

I desire to return my thanks to my many friends for their liberal patronage during the year now drawing to its close, and in doing so, I beg to say that all who may favour me with their custom, shall have, as heretofore, my best attention.

I recognize the fact that the time to give bargains is when there is a demand for goods. The demand is now here as the Christmas holidays are now drawing nigh, and we shall soon be entering upon the New Year.

I have therefore decided to reduce my stock, and shall offer during this month

All Dress Goods,
Mantles,
Mantle Cloths, and Millinery,

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES, and all other Goods in proportion.

It will pay you to give me a call, and to call early in the day.

Wishing all the compliments of the Season.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING

A VERY LONG SESSION AND A GREAT DEAL OF TALK.

Fire Protection for Aymer Street—Finance Committee's Report—Measuring Lumber—Returning Officers and Poll Clerks Appointed—Wood Wanted—Councillors and Town Business—The Fire Limits By-Law—The Collector's Roll—Communications.

A meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday evening.

PRESIDENT—Mr. Menzies, Acting Mayor, in the chair, and Councillors Cahill, Davidson, Kelly, Paterson, Sawers, McNaughton, Rutherford, Douglas, Yelland and Hartley.

The minutes of the last three meetings held by the Council were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From W. A. Morrow, Secretary of the School Board, submitting a detailed statement of the estimated receipts and expenditures for the schools, and asking that the demand be paid over by Dec. 14th.—Finance Committee.

From Caroline Gilmore, Assistant Secretary of Home for Incurables, Toronto, in reference to the admission of a man.—Charity Committee.

From R. Kincaid, M.D., stating that Noble, a man in the Protestant Home, would not be admitted to the Home for Incurables.—Charity Committee.

From John McNaughton, stating that Councillor Rutherford had used fire hose in building a hotel on Hunter street. (Councillor Rutherford denied this. The hose was there, but he never got it, and knew nothing about it.)—Resolved.

From "Pro Bono Publico" stating that a house had been built on Brock Street, which was not in accordance with the Fire By-Law, and also that the man who drove the horses which draw the fire engine did not sleep at the stable. Councillor Sawers acknowledged the authorship of the letter. Councillor Rutherford said that Mr. Smith now lived within 50 feet of the engine.

From McKee Bros., renewing an application for remission of taxes.—Court of Revision.

From P. Sullivan, asking for remission of taxes on labor taxes.—Court of Revision.

From Mrs. J. McGhee, Mary Colleghean, Margaret Corrie, Mary A. Tighe asking for remission of taxes, and from Jas. Yule, asking for remission of taxes.—Charity Committee.

From Mrs. J. McGhee, Mary Colleghean, Margaret Corrie, Mary A. Tighe asking for remission of taxes, and from Jas. Yule, asking for remission of taxes.—Charity Committee.

From Thos. Beavis, stating that he had suffered loss by a siding put in by the Midland Railway on Bethune street, and that the Railway had not carried out the conditions on which permission was given them to put down the siding. He asked the Council to request the President of the Railway to carry out the conditions or to remove the siding, or to be made liable to a bill against the town to remove it. Clerk to notify Mr. Cox to have the conditions of the by-law carried out.

From J. E. Belcher and E. Peares, asking that the taxes of Margaret Bird be remitted.

From Wm. McDowell, asking whether the Council would rent the hall in the old Bank of Toronto building.—Resolved.

From R. J. Weir, asking for remission of taxes, as he had paid in Ashburnham.—Court of Revision.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Councillor PATTERSON read the report of the Finance Committee, recommending that $100 be granted to the Mechanics' Institute. The Committee regretted that a larger amount could not be granted, on account of the lateness of the application and the rate being struck.

They recommended the payment of the following accounts:—

R. Kingan..... 12 00
Peterborough Gas Co.,..... 12 00
Peterborough Gas Co.,..... 12 00
John Hackett..... 12 00
McKee & Davidson..... 12 00

W. Forsyth..... 12 00
W. G. Yelland..... 12 00
T. Fitzgerald..... 12 00

Councillor PATTERSON moved that Mr. Kingan be paid for nails at the rate of $3.25 a keg, and that, as thus amended the report be adopted.

Councillor SAWERS moved in amendment, seconded by Councillor McNAUGHTON.—That the account of R. Kingan, mentioned in the Finance Committee's report, be not paid until it is satisfactorily explained to this Council why the charge of $3.25 per keg for nails (the usual price paid), was altered to $3.40, as appears on the face of said account.

Councillor SAWERS said that the figures were first $3.25 a keg, but by some person, he did not know whom, the figures had been changed to $3.40. He judged from the way this thing had been handled that Mr. Johnston had been made a fool of by some one.

Councillor PATTERSON said that he had intended to see Mr. Kingan, but had forgotten it.

Councillor SAWERS said he wished to find out whether the figures had been changed without Mr. Kingan's consent, as if they had a forgery had been committed.

Councillor RUTHERFORD said that any one was liable to make a mistake, and although the price per keg had been changed the total amount had not been altered.

Councillor CAHILL said that the Street Inspector had told him that the price of nails had gone up in every store except that of McKee & Davidson's, and he wanted to know what to do. He (Mr. Cahill) told him to get them where they could be procured the cheapest.

The amendment was adopted on the following division.

YEAS.—Councillor Cahill, Davidson, McNaughton, Sawers, Yelland, Douglas, Rutherford and Hartley.

NAYS.—Councillor Paterson.

The report as amended was adopted.

MEASURING LUMBER.

Councillor RUTHERFORD moved, seconded by Councillor HARTLEY.—That in the future all lumber to be used by this corporation be measured by the Market Clerk, he keeping a proper check book for the purpose, and no lumber that is not thus properly accounted for will be paid for by this corporation, and that the Market Clerk do so without remuneration.

Councillor SAWERS said the motion was a piece of buncombe, as the lumber for the year had been purchased.

Councillor CAHILL said the Market Clerk should be also requested to watch the lumber until laid on the streets. Mr. Rutherford should not infringe on the patience of his friends by introducing buncombe resolutions.

Councillor RUTHERFORD said he had the motion prepared for some time, but owing to the time taken up at the meetings by Mr. Sawers, he could not get it in edgewise. The charge that he introduced it to pull the wool over the eyes of the electors was false.

Councillor CAHILL said that the motion was useless for this year, as the lumber buying was over, and this might be put in the contract for next year.

The motion was lost on the following division:—

YEAS.—Councillors Kelly, Paterson, Sawers, Rutherford and Hartley.

NAYS.—Councillors Cahill, Davidson, McNaughton, Yelland and Douglas.

WOOD WANTED.

Councillor KELLY moved, seconded by Councillor PATTERSON.—That the Finance Committee be authorized to purchase fifty cords of wood, for town purposes, and that tenders be advertised for.

Councillor SAWERS complained that all the wood purchased had been charged to the Charity Committee, and that wood purchased by that Committee was used for other purposes.

The motion was adopted.

FIRE PROTECTION.

The Council went into Committee of the Whole on the second reading of the by-law for renting hydrants for fire protection and other purposes, on Aymer street, to be paid for by a special rate.

Councillor SAWERS moved in amendment, that this Council is of opinion that the town should have the use of the hydrants taken by the town for all public purposes, that the water should be allowed to be taken therefrom for use at any fire within 400 feet east and west of George street, but only one stream from any one hydrant to be taken when the distance exceeds 250 feet, and also for the purpose of supplying water to the fire engine at any fire within reasonable distance, and it is resolved that the town make use of the said hydrants and of any hydrants hereafter put in to the same extent as the ones on George street.

Councillor PATTERSON.—Suppose we pass the amendment, what then?

Councillor SAWERS said that then it would be for the Water Company to say that they would not give it. They could have a subsequent agreement after the by-law was passed.

Councillor RUTHERFORD said that the amendment was totally to the consideration of the by-law.

Mr. JAS. STEVENSON was invited to speak, and said that the larger area was not covered because they could not get proper respondents to sign the petition for those in the centre of the blocks thought that when the hydrants were put in they would be protected anyway. Mr. STEVENSON said that if a building in the centre of the block was burning they would have to put it out to protect themselves, and he believed the water would be given. He thought that if a petition was got up enough respondents would sign it to have the whole centre of the town covered.

Acting Mayor MENZIES was willing to give the whole town water if the Company would give it for nothing. The people who were not paying taxes for the water could not expect it. These people on Aymer street asked for hydrants and they must give it to them.

Councillor SAWERS said that when he signed the petition for the hydrants on George street he understood it was to protect the whole block. Councillor SAWERS' amendment was not seconded, and the by-law was read a second time in committee.

The committee then reported the by-law passed without amendment. It was then read a third time and passed.

ELECTIONS COMING.

On motion of Councillor DAVIDSON a by-law appointing deputy returning-officers, &c., was read a first time. The by-law was passed through the several stages.

REMEMBER IT WAS CARRIED.

Councillor SAWERS moved, seconded by Councillor McNAUGHTON.—That this Council is of opinion that the Street Inspector and other officers of the town should not purchase any goods or otherwise have business dealings on the town's behalf with any member of the Council, and the said officers are requested to govern themselves accordingly; and, further, that it is improper for any member of the Council to have business dealings with the town, or to take a sub-contract when the town is interested in the contract.

Councillor YELLAND twitted Councillor McNaughton with having used the town house.

After a brief discussion the motion was put and carried.

THE DUAL OFFICE.

Councillor SAWERS gave notice of a motion to the effect that the offices of Town Clerk and Town Treasurer be separated.

WOOD MEASURING.

Councillor RUTHERFORD moved, seconded by Councillor DAVIDSON.—That the market clerk be authorized to measure all wood coming into the market by the cord, whether the same be more or less.

Councillor SAWERS said that the market clerk did this now. This was mere buncombe. Councillor RUTHERFORD said the clerk now gave the measurement in feet and he wanted it in cords.

The motion was adopted.

CLOSED CURTAINS.

Councillor RUTHERFORD said that a culvert on Reid street had been ordered to be opened, but the work had not been done.

Councillor CAHILL said that the Street Inspector had been urging on the railway authorities to have the culverts opened.

THE FIRE LIMITS.

Councillor SAWERS moved, seconded by Councillor McNAUGHTON.—That the Street Inspector be instructed to take proceedings to have the wooden buildings erected south of Brock street by Mr. Birdsell, contrary to the Fire By-Law, removed.

The ACTING MAYOR said that Mr. Birdsell asked if he had the Council's consent to allow him to move a dangerous shed to another place and put up a brick building. It would lessen the fire risk, and he answered that so far as he was personally concerned he would not object to such a move.

Councillor McNaughton said that a stable put up contrary to the by-law caused the fire at Fitzgerald & Stanger's. He believed in either altering the by-law or sticking to it.

Councillor YELLAND, in reply to questions said that he did not get any earth from Mr. Birdsell.

Councillor SAWERS said that Mr. Birdsell promised it to him.

Councillor DAVIDSON spoke in explanation of the matter.

The motion was referred to the Building Committee.

THE COLLECTOR'S ROLL.

Councillor KELLY moved, seconded by Councillor PATTERSON.—That the time for the return of the Collector's Roll be extended for one month from Dec. 14, and that the five per cent interest be added after Jan. 1st, and that the corporate seal be attached to the motion to give it the effect of a by-law.

Councillor KELLY said that as the roll was placed in the Collector's hands so late in the year, he could not serve the notices in time to give all the ratepayers fourteen days notice, and it would be unjust to charge the five per cent interest without such notice.

Councillor HARTLEY moved in amendment, seconded by Councillor SAWERS.—That the date for the return of the roll be extended until Jan. 1st, 1884.

The amendment was lost on the following division:—

YEAS.—Councillors McNaughton, Sawers and Hartley.

NAYS.—Councillors Cahill, Davidson, Kelly, Paterson, Yelland, Douglas and Rutherford.

The motion was carried on the same division reversed.

The Council then adjourned for three weeks.

B. LAURANCE'S SPECTACLES

MR. B. LAURANCE, of the above mentioned Establishments, has the honour to announce to the Citizens of Peterborough and surrounding country that he will locate his Office at

The MEDICAL HALL, (Taylor & Macdonald)
Corner of George and Hunter Streets, Peterborough.

For a few days only, commencing THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6th, with a complete assortment of the above Lenses. Laurance's Spectacles, so well known and appreciated in the United Kingdom, will be offered by him to spectacle wearers at the same prices they are sold at in England. Ground on scientific principles, from either the clearest and purest pebble, or from optical glass especially manufactured for the purpose, they are without exception best adapted to restore the ravages of age and to restore perfect vision. For these reasons they are especially recommended by the most eminent men of the faculty.

MR. B. LAURANCE will adapt Lenses without extra charge, and his invaluable services will be placed at the disposal of Messrs. Taylor & Macdonald's customers for a few days only, commencing on the above mentioned date. Each eye will undergo a special examination, and the Spectacles will be fitted with particular lens best suited to the condition of each eye, and as no better opportunity will ever be offered for persons with impaired sight to be properly suited, he trusts this opportunity will be duly appreciated. Mr. Laurance has also received testimonials from the following distinguished persons and thousands of others:—

—Lieut.-Gen. Sir Patrick Macdonald, K.C.M.G., late Minister of Justice, Chief Justice James Macdonald, N.S., late Minister of Justice, Dr. Sullivan, President Medical Association of Canada, Professor of Principles and Practice of Surgery, Royal College Physicians and Surgeons, Kingston. THE AUTUMN SITTINGS

OF THE COUNTY COURT AND GENERAL SESSIONS OF THE PEACE.

His Honor Judge Dennistown presiding—The Grand Jury Meet and Congratulate Themselves—Nothing for the Petit Jurors to do—Three Appeals and an Interpleader.

The autumn session of the County Court was held in the Court House on Tuesday, His Honor Judge Dennistown presiding. The Court opened at noon.

THE GRAND JURY.

The Grand Jury was composed as follows:—H. O. CANNING, foreman.

David Arnott, Angus Davidson, Joseph Baguley, John Delaney, Fred. K. Ball, T. G. Greives, Herbert Caldwell, Patrick Hogan, Alex. Calder, Jas. M. Kidd, D. J. Landy, Richard Mowry, Samuel Radpath, A. Clegg, L. S. Steele, John Preston, Matthew Shearer, Wm. Sharpe, Richard Short.

His Honor addressed the Grand Jury briefly and they retired and soon after entered with the following

PRESENTMENT: COURT HOUSE, PETERBOROUGH, {
December 4, 1883.

The Grand Jurors at the present sessions present as follows:—

That there being no criminal cases before them, and being relieved from the duty of examining the grand jury, they have only to congratulate themselves on the lightness of their duties, and the community at large on the apparent freedom from crime.

For the jurors, H. O. CANNING, Foreman.

The Grand Jury were then discharged, the petit jurors having also been discharged, as there were no cases for them to try.

THE BUSINESS OF THE SESSION.

QUEEN v. COOK.—An appeal from a conviction of the Police Magistrate whereby the prisoner was sentenced to one month's imprisonment in the common goal, Peterborough, for committing an assault upon Mrs. Kate Usher. Prisoner discharged. Mr. J. O'Meara for the prisoner.

QUEEN v. SULLIVAN.—An appeal from a conviction of the Police Magistrate under the Liquor License Act. Stands at the request of the Crown, in the absence of a witness, until the next jury sittings. Mr. C. A. Waller, County Attorney, for the Crown; Mr. J. O'Meara for the defendant.

DAVIDSON v. SCOTT.—An appeal from the decision of Messrs. Preston and Breckenridge, J. P.s., whereby the defendant was fined for disturbing a school in Norwood. The appeal was dismissed. Mr. R. E. Wood for the appellant; Mr. D. W. Dumble for the respondent.

ENGLISH v. SLATER.—An interpleader question to try the question of the ownership of a stock of boots and shoes, &c., seized by the sheriff on an execution against W. H. Armstrong, and claimed by the plaintiff. Judgment was reserved. Mr. R. E. Wood was counsel for the plaintiff, and Mr. E. B. Edwards for the defendant.

CORDWOOD.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—The ratepayers have good reason to thank Councillor Rutherford for having secured the adoption of a by-law regulating the sale of wood. The inhabitants of the town have allowed themselves to be imposed upon by the wood-sellers quite long enough. Of course no wood can now be sold on the market square by the load. The way in which these loads have been stacked on the wagons and sleighs has been scandalous, not only from the manner in which these loads have been drawn in at the top, but from the fact that wood of inferior quality is often packed in the middle of the load.

The wood ought to be marked, now that such an exorbitant price is demanded for it, according to its quality, as well as its quantity, so that people who are not well posted in such matters, may not be induced to buy base wood and other inferior kinds at the price charged for maple.

There is another thing the people ought to be on their guard against. The wood sellers are getting their wood sawn shamefully short. I bought some a short time ago, by the cord, and when I came to measure it I found that, although each cord was 8 feet long and 4 feet high, it was only 42 inches wide, instead of being 48 inches.

It should be known that if any dispute arises about the measurement of wood after it has been stacked in the yard, the purchaser can compel the seller to get the market clerk to measure it.

These wood-sellers deserve no sympathy from the public, whatever restrictions are imposed on them. You may constantly see a lot of them gathered together on the market square, grinning at each other as some unfortunate greenhorn, or perhaps some female, is being taken in and done by one of their confreres.

Now, however, that the by-law regulating the sale of wood has been adopted, the public have, to a great extent, the matter in their own hands, and if any difficulty occurs let them apply to the Clerk, who is always most obliging and ever ready to assist those who seek his advice.

THE FIRE BRIGADE BAND.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—Having been a resident of Peterborough for many years, and always a lover of good music, I was delighted with the performance of the above band on the occasion of their serenading the firemen. I had heard it rumored that the newly organized band, principally made up of members of the F. B. Band, would greatly impair the efficiency of the older one, but, happily, this is not the case, as the musical performance of the latter on Tuesday night will verify. The band is well balanced, play in tune, their time is excellent, and the music on the whole is, I may say, almost faultless. It is very gratifying to the firemen, and especially to the citizens, to have such an organization in their town, and doubly so when it is definitely known that they will stand in their old place among brass bands—away up at the top of the ladder.

Thanking you for your space and hoping that a musical institution like the Fire Brigade Band will be supported in the future as in the past, I remain,

Yours, &c.,
MUSICIAN.

Insurrectionary Plot in Barcelona.

It is reported that an insurrectionary plot has been discovered among the members of a battalion of Rifles at Barcelona. The captain, two lieutenants, and two ensigns have been arrested. Unpopularity of the Indian Viceroy.

The Marquis of Ripon, Viceroy of India, returned on Saturday, and was welcomed by an immense crowd of natives. Banners of the natives, on which "God bless the Viceroy" was inscribed, were destroyed by Europeans and Eurasians. A mob of two hundred people assembled at the Government house and hissed the Marquis and his wife. At a banquet on Friday, at which two hundred Europeans were present, the toast to the Viceroy was received in silence; only twenty-four persons stood up. The Viceroy has become unpopular in connection with the libel bill.

Mr. Blake's Old Saram.

The Seaforth Star discussing the deposition of Mr. McMillan in South Huron, to make room for Sir Richard Cartwright, observes:—"It reminds one of the way in which members were sent to Parliament in England for boroughs held at the command of wealthy landlords before the famous Reform Bill of 1832. Old Saram was one well noted, and what better way we ask will the South Riding of Huron be if the people submit to have a man who is not worthy of being elected elsewhere thrust upon them, displacing our member, an honest farmer."

The Roman Catholic Church in the States.

The Monitor of Rome, the semi-official organ of the Vatican, often inspired directly by Cardinal Jacobini, Secretary of State, last night published a long editorial on the future of the Catholic Church in the United States, eulogizing the liberal Christian spirit which allows such rapid development to the Catholicism of the American Republic. The editorial continues as follows:—"In a few weeks her bishops will assemble in a national plenary council. It will be the most important assembly of the kind yet seen in the United States. The bishops of the new Rome come here to prepare a subject for discussion at this approaching national Council, and to get strength and advice from the Holy See. In this solemn assembly the Catholic Church of the United States will affirm its legal existence and tighten the bonds of a hierarchy agreeable to principles laid down in the Council of Trent. The new phase is opening a new guarantee of the prosperity and progress to be given to the Catholicism of the United States. The article concludes with a flattering reference to the American episcopate."

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1883.

SIR RICHARD CARTWRIGHT and the more dishonest and unpatriotic of the Reform journals are now trying to magnify the United States at the expense of Canada, by falsely representing that the great number of emigrants from Europe, who prefer to make their way to the States by Canadian steamers and railways, represent an exodus from the Dominion.

THE Dominion authorities have thrown open the south reserve between the C. P. R. and the international boundary, the railway mile belt reserve for some distance, and the Regina reserve. They have come to the conclusion that the time has arrived when these lands can be opened to genuine settlers without much fear that more speculators will fraudulently avail themselves of the privilege. This will be a boon to those who really wish to make farms for themselves in the North-West.

THE Montreal Herald calls attention to the fact that emigration during the past year from the British Islands to Australia has shown a greater increase than to Canada. Our contemporary expresses surprise at this, but there are two causes that contribute to the result. Australia has not an unpatriotic clique, like our sham Reformers, belying their country to check immigration while their opponents are in power. The Australian colonies offer greater money inducements to immigrants, and are able to do so without throwing away their money, for intercolonial migration equalises itself at least approximately, and they have no great foreign neighbour to allure the new arrivals. If Canada were as liberal in this respect she would have to pay for all immigrants from the Three Kingdoms to the United States, who would come by way of Canada and cross the line.

ALARMING IN THE EXTREME.

THE Huron Examiner. Grit though it be, frankly admits that if a recent article in these columns on Ontario's financial position, be true, the position of the Province, financially "would be alarming in the extreme." It is so seldom that we get any of our Reform contemporaries to approach this subject in a reasoning spirit that we feel disposed to give more prominence to the Examiner's reply than it would otherwise deserve.

That there may be no misconception as to the issue between us, let us repeat the extract from the REVIEW which the Examiner transfers to its columns, viz:—

"The fact of the matter is that Ontario is financially in an unenviable position. Under the Mowat regime we have been burning the candle at both ends. We have been raising our assets as fast as we could, but our timber wealth has been drawn upon to an extent which never can be replaced; the Municipal Loan Fund debt has been realized and dissipated; we have been collecting trust funds to the tune of a million dollars and have spent it, instead of applying it to its proper purpose, like the unfaithful stewards that our rulers are. We have been receiving the benefit of interest on moneys belonging to local municipalities and it has disappeared; we have since 1873 had nearly $200,000 per annum of extra subsidy from the Dominion, and it too has gone. Altogether the Mowat Government has got rid of about $10,000,000, or nearly a million a year more than their predecessors did."

And to which it replies:—

"The REVIEW, however, could relieve the minds of its readers by placing matters in a very different light if it would only be a little more explicit. For instance, it could show what has been done with all these moneys that have been collected. It could show, if it liked, that the great bulk of these moneys have been devoted to lightening the burdens of the people by relieving them of expenditure which, if not provided for in this way, would have to be procured by municipal taxes collected directly from the people, and that when it figures up the amounts that have been expended in this way, and deducts them from the total receipts the results show that the stewards have not been so very unfaithful after all."

The reader will please note that the Examiner does not venture to dispute the correctness of our statement that the Mowat Government has been living upon capital and that ever since 1873 we have been burning the financial candle at both ends. This is a most important admission, because every one understands that when capital is year by year being trampled upon for purposes which, no matter how good they may be in themselves, are not productive of revenue, it is only a question of time as to when the entire capital will be exhausted and the spenders either left without a shilling or driven to find other means of maintenance—the only other means in this instance being direct taxation in one form or another. The Examiner's admission is, therefore, an admission that under its present rulers this province is rapidly approaching that position, financially, when it will be necessary for the Provincial Government to either resort to direct taxation or to cast the burdens now borne by it upon the municipalities, which amounts to the same thing—a state of affairs which, irrespective of the character and desirability of the expenditure producing this result, is one that all will agree should be avoided as long as possible, and which should cause the Government and Legislature of this Province to exercise the most vigilant economy in every department.

But neither has the Mowat government done this, nor can they render the satisfactory account, which the Examiner claims, of their stewardship. As we have already on more than one occasion, shown in detail, the Mowat government cannot render a satisfactory account of the vast sums which have passed through its hands, we need not repeat these details again, but we will say for the particular benefit of the Examiner that if it will take up item by item every one of the expenditures of the last eleven years which can fairly be said to have gone in reduction of taxation, and will charge our present rulers with the same annual expenditure thereon as the Sandfield Macdonald government expended for the same purposes, out of the Dominion Subsidy alone and without trenching upon the receipts which we charge the Mowat government with having largely and recklessly squandered it will find that the present government's excessive expenditure in "lightening the burdens of the people" will leave at least five millions of dollars to be accounted for. To a Province that is on the "down grade" financially, $5,000,000 is certainly not a sum to be lightly thrown away.

When the Examiner talks about the large sums which Mr. Mowat has given back to the people, or expended for the benefit of the people, it must not forget that the Sandfield Macdonald Government did the same thing to no mean extent. Let it, if it be really anxious to get at the truth, ascertain for itself how much out of the $6,061,196, expended by the Macdonald Government during its four and a half years went for the benefit of the people, and then let it treat the expenditure of $23,764,812 by the Mowat Government in eleven years in precisely the same manner, but adding thereto the latter's railway and surplus expenditure, and it will find that the sum still unaccounted for is very considerable, and such as we venture to predict it will not dare to commend the Mowat Government for having made away with.

From Our Own Correspondent.

WEATHER NOTES.—November has been a month of rain, snow and gales. It was ushered in with the thermometer at freezing point, with little change till the morning of the 6th, when it suddenly rose to 52°, then it again dropped a little till Sunday, the 11th, which was a fine day, but in the evening a sudden change occurred; some rain from the south-west, accompanied with wind commenced a little after dark, increasing to one of the severest gales which ever visited this continent. Although fences, buildings and forests have been blown down and tossed about, it is light in comparison to the destruction and loss of life on our inland waters and sea coasts. On the Monday morning a severe snow storm had set in, which continued for two days with more or less severity, and on the 16th the thermometer was only 6° above zero. During the month gale has followed gale, although of less severity than the one of the 11th and 12th. During the third week we had some fine, lovely weather, which was again followed on the 26th by Vennor's cold dip and snow. The lowest temperature was on the morning of the 16th, standing at 6°, and the highest on the evening of the 8th, but only reaching 52°, the mean temperature of the month being 33°. Snow fell on 9 days to the depth of 10½ inches; rain fell on 16 days, but only to the depth of 1 inch and 12-100th. In the corresponding month of 1882 rain fell to the depth of 4½ inches and 26-100th, and snow fell to the depth of 11 inches, and on the 23rd the thermometer dropped to 8° below zero, while this year our coldest day, namely, the 16th, was 6° above zero only in this year there were cold, piercing winds, and in 1882 it was clear and mild. Twice we had thunder during the month, but only a small quantity of rain.

YOUNG'S POINT.

MUNICIPAL.—There is a good deal of talk going on in this section of Smith about having a change in next year's Council. The present Reeve should now retire and allow a younger man to fill his place. The present Deputy-Reeve, Mr. T. E. Fitzgerald, will make an excellent Reeve, and he is the man who will be nominated to the position, with Mr. H. Garbutt as Deputy-Reeve. Nothing like a change and not too much nonsense.

THE ROADS.—The little fall of snow we have had is not enough for good sleighing to make things lively. The consequences is business of all kinds, with the exception of the blacksmith, is as flat as a pancake.

THE LAKES.—Some ice has formed in our lakes during the last few days, but not thick enough to travel over in safety.

SHEEP SHED.—Mr. Chalmers is having a shed erected on his farm here 100 feet long for protection of his sheep in the winter months, at the rear of his barn.

A general reduction in the wages of the hands employed by the Canadian Pacific railway has been made at Winnipeg. The boiler makers have struck against the reduction, and there are rumours of a general strike, but it is considered impossible.

Cure Free.

Any reader troubled with Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Headache, Liver Complaint, etc., should call at John McKee's Drug Store, and secure a free trial bottle of McKee's Speedy Cure at once, which will convince you of the merits of the medicine. It cures permanently where all other medicines have failed. As a blood purifier, it has no equal. Remember it costs nothing to try it. Regular size 50 cents and $1.

DR. CARSON'S Pulmonary Cough Drops. The prescription of an old Canadian Practitioner. The best remedy for the Lungs, in large bottles at 50 cents. For sale everywhere.

A CURE FOR SORE THROAT.—Mr. Wm. Allen, of Acton, speaks highly of Hagyard's Yellow Oil as a household remedy for colds, sore throat, stiff neck, croup, etc., as well as for burns, scalds, and other injuries of common occurrence in every family.

His SPEAK FROM EXPERIENCE.—R. N. Wheeler, of Exeter, some six years ago was attacked with a severe form of inflammation of the lungs, leaving him with a severe cough. He speaks highly of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, which cured him, the complaint not having troubled him since.

THANKS.

I desire to return my thanks to my many friends for their liberal patronage during the year now drawing to its close, and in doing so, I beg to say that all who may favour me with their custom, shall have as heretofore, my best attention.

I recognize the fact that the time, to give bargains is when there is a demand for goods. The demand is now here as the Christmas holidays are now drawing nigh, and we shall soon be entering upon the New Year.

I have therefore decided to reduce my stock, and shall offer during this month

All Dress Goods,
Mantles,
Mantle Cloths, and Millinery,

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES, and all other goods in proportion.

It will pay you to give me a call, and to call early is the best.

Wishing all the compliments of the Season.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1883.

LOCAL NEWS

No. 1 Company.

All persons having rifles or other Government property from the company armoury are required to return the same in at once.

Mild Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate south-west and west winds; cloudy to fair, mild weather, with light rains in a few localities.

The Collegiate Institute.

In the report of the number of first and second classes honors taken by the different preparatory institutions of the Province at the June matriculation of Toronto University, as published in the "Verity," the Peterborough Collegiate Institute stands sixth in a list of forty-eight Collegiate Institutes and high schools.

Acknowledgement.

The Committee of the Peterborough Protestant Home desire to acknowledge with thanks the following donations:—A Friend, a bag of apples and a jar of pickled pears; Mrs. Alexander, a bag of apples; Mrs. McKibbin, a pair of chickens; Mrs. M., a parcel of clothing; Miss Nicholls, parcel of clothing; Union Thanksgiving Service, Keno, $11.32.

St. John's Church Bazaar.

A Bazaar in aid of the organ fund of St. John's Church will be held in the rooms formerly occupied by the Club, over the post-office, on the 12th and 13th of December. Dinner and tea will be provided. A musical entertainment will also be held in the same rooms on the evening of the 12th, at 8 p. m., under the auspices of Mr. Chas. W. Ewing.

Vendor's Almanac.

We have received a copy of "Vendor Almanac and Weather Forecast for 1884." It is a neatly printed book of 112 pages, and contains a large amount of scientific information besides the forecasts of the weather. The "Vendor's Notes" will be valuable to those who follow agricultural pursuits, and there is a large amount of matter interesting to the general public.

Spectacles.

Testimonial from S. R. Earle, Esq., Secretary and Manager of the Belleville Gas Company:—
BELLEVILLE, Nov. 24th, 1883.

B. Laurance, Esq., Oculist, Optician:—
DEAR SIR:—I have been under treatment and fitted with spectacles by the leading oculist of Toronto and Montreal, but I am better pleased with the selection made by you. I consider your spectacles first class article in every sense of the word.

Yours truly,
S. R. EARLE.

Mr. Laurance will be at the Medical Hall, Peterborough, on Thursday, Dec. 6th.

Exchange of Courtesies.

The regular meeting of the Fire Brigade was held on Tuesday evening in the Firemen's Hall, and while the valiant fire extinguishers were in session they were serenaded by the Fire Brigade Band. The band comprised nineteen musicians, and after rendering a choice selection of music, they were entertained by the firemen, in their usual hospitable manner, with refreshment, etc. The Fire Brigade are, we are informed by those who should know, perfectly satisfied with their band and think that it is fully up to its old standard of excellence.

Election of Officers.

The regular monthly meeting of Loyal Orange Lodge, No. 50, was held in the District Orange Hall on Tuesday evening, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—

Bro. T. Brown, D. M.
" Chas. Crowe, W. M.
" John Sharpe, Chap.
" Phil. P. Brullette, Sec.
" M. A. Jamieson, Treas.
" T. M. D. Croly, D. of C.
" John Smith, F. W. M.

COMMITTEE—Bro. John Agnew, Wm. Dean, Jas. McAlland, Jas. Johnston, and Jos. Crowe.

After the installation by Bro. R. Weir, C. M., a short discussion took place in reference to making the Lodge in town benevolent lodge, and the members present appeared to favor taking this step.

Methodist Bazaar.

The second annual bazaar of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church will be held at the residence of Mr. Geo. A. Cox during the afternoon and evening of Friday, Dec. 7th. A programme of choice vocal and instrumental music will be an attraction at the evening sale.

Fine Hogs.

Mr. H. Collins, Reeve of North Monaghan, brought to market on Wednesday two Berkshire hogs, bred and fattened by him, which weighed respectively 462 and 468 pounds. On the same day Mr. David Henderson, of Otonabee, brought in four hogs which scaled 345, 319, 318 and 314 pounds.

Personal.

We have been informed that the incumbency of the Otonabee Mission has become vacant, the Rev. Mr. Wilson having left for England. The Rev. E. J. Stobo, formerly of Peterboro, preached the annual sermon of the Belleville St. Andrew's Society on Friday last.

We regret to learn that Mr. Grundy, Deputy Registrar, is confined to his bed by illness.

The Bobcaygeon Man's Joke.

The Bobcaygeon Independent thus jokingly refers to one of our enterprising business firms:—"Messrs. Fair, VanEvery & Co., of Peterborough, are very enterprising advertisers, but when they say, 'Don't buy shirts and drawers until you have seen ours,' why it is taking the public into their confidence a little too far, and rather too publicly. But after all, if either of the two gentlemen will send us a pair, we don't mind looking at them. Red ones, and double-breasted, if you have them."

Auction Sale.

An auction sale of valuable household furniture, phaeton, buggies, etc.; will take place at Ingleswood, the residence of the late D. G. Hatton, on Friday, Dec. 7th. A mare, five years old, of a bright bay color, sixteen hands high—a valuable family animal—will also be sold. This sale will afford good opportunity for purchasing articles necessary in every household. The sale will commence at half-past twelve o'clock, Mr. Chas. Stapleton being the auctioneer.

To Our Lady Readers.

Messrs. Fair, VanEvery & Co. have been very lucky in procuring a beautiful assortment of knitted wool Shawls, Rikits, Jerseys, Cloths and Hoods, of the finest quality and in handsome colors. These were the manufacturer's samples, who sold out to the "Golden Lion" at about 50 cents on the dollar, thus enabling the firm to offer them to their customers at less than the wholesale prices. These are said to be the cheapest in town, and will suit admirably for Holiday Gifts.

Excited Italians.

A number of Italians attracted considerable attention at the corner of Hunter and water streets on Tuesday afternoon. They made not a little noise, and although they illustrated their conversation with their hands and heads, few or none of the spectators could understand them. One large man, who was intoxicated, became excited and threateningly placed his hand in his pistol pocket, when he was caught by three others and held firmly until his anger had cooled down. Two of them then escorted the angry man away.

We reprinted some days ago an item from the Campbellford Herald stating that a joke had been played on a man from Peterborough by a friend who had placed him in the lock-up, where he remained two or three hours. But the Peterborough man does not feel inclined to take the matter as a joke, and has instructed his solicitor to enter an action for $2,000. It appears that he was more aggrieved by an epithet applied to him by the man who placed him in the lock-up than by the confinement, as the false friend intimated that he was connected with O'Donovan Rossa or some other revolutionary parties.

A Railway Suit.

The following case, heard in Toronto on Tuesday, is thus reported in the Mail:—"SHAWLEY v. GRAND JUNCTION RAILWAY—Action by the executors of the late Frank Shawley, Esq., to recover compensation for services rendered the defendants as their chief engineer during the years 1871-76. Action tried at Belleville before Burton, J.A., and a nonsuit entered under the statute of limitations. Rand, Q.C., and Walter Read moved to set aside the nonsuit and enter a verdict for the plaintiffs on the ground that the deceased had been engineer up to the time of his death, and that a running account was thus constituted between them, which avoided the statute. McCarthy, Q.C., and Delamater for the defendant, Dickford, and Biggar, Belleville, for the Grand Junction, showed cause. Judgment reserved."

Pencil Points.

—The calls were empty last night.
—A blank at the Police Court this morning.
—The mild weather suggests the question, will we have a "black Christmas?"
—There was a good attendance on the market this forenoon.

—There were fourteen loads of wood on the market at one time this forenoon, and seven of them were on wheels and seven on runners.
—Nothing was done on Monday evening towards organizing a snow shoe club. A wave of a handkerchief—"The Queen's Lace Handkerchief"—drew the boys away from the proposed meeting. Another meeting will be called.
—A lady the other day purchased a turkey in a town grocery, and when she took it home she found that a rat or something had eaten a piece of flesh out of it, and that a piece of meat had been sewed into the vacant place. The grocer laid the blame on the farmer.

Wm. Bow & Co's.

Celebrated Indian Pale Ale on draught at St. James' Hotel. Try it.

Very Remarkable Recovery.

Mr. Geo. V. Willing, of Manchester, Mich., writes: "My wife has been almost helpless for five years, so helpless that she could not turn over in bed alone. She used two bottles of Electric Bitters, and is so much improved, that she is able now to do her own work. Electric Bitters will do all that is claimed for them. Hundreds of testimonials attest their great curative powers. Only fifty cents a bottle at Taylor & McDonald."

Forty-Eighth Congress.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Long before noon the galleries of the House of Representatives were filled with spectators to witness the opening of the Forty-eighth Congress. On the floor political feelings were laid aside for a time, and friendly greetings and merry conversation were the order of the day. At 12 o'clock the Clerk called the House of Representatives to order and proceeded to call the roll. Mr. Carlisle was elected Speaker. After taking the chair he delivered his inaugural address, which was received with much applause. On its conclusion the Speaker took the oath of office and called the House to order. States were then called and the representatives qualified. The House at 3.40 adjourned, after adopting a resolution that the daily hour of meeting shall be 12 o'clock. The Democrats are already talking about the probable length of the session. Some say they expect it to close by the 1st of June, but the general belief is that Congress will be in session long after that date.

Fluid Lightning.

Is the only instantaneous relief for Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, etc. Rubbing a few drops briskly is all that is needed. No taking nauseous medicines for weeks, but one minute's application removes all pain and will prove the great value of Fluid Lightning. Twenty-five cents per bottle at John McKee's Drug Store.

A GOOD REMEDY.—Children are not often tortured now-a-days with bitter Aloes, Erimones, and Treacle, and the many nauseous remedies of the olden times. Freeman's Worm Powders are pleasant to take, contain their own purgative, and safely and effectually remove all ordinary species of worms afflicting children or adults.

THE VITAL FORCES are speedily renewed by Mack's Magnetic Medicine, the great brain and nerve food. It is the best and cheapest medicine ever discovered. Guarantees issued only by Ormond and Walsh. See advertisement in another column.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the Secretary of the Department of Railways and Canals, and endorsed "Tenders for Trent Navigation," will be received at the Resident Engineer's office, Peterborough, until FRIDAY, the TWENTY-FIRST DAY OF DECEMBER NEXT, inclusively, for the construction and completion of a Regrinding Dam, &c., across the Otonabee River at Young's Point, on the Back Lake Division of the Trent Valley Canal.

Plans of the work may be seen, and specifications and printed forms of tender will be furnished upon application as the Resident Engineer's office, Peterborough, on and after FRIDAY, THE SEVENTH DAY OF DECEMBER NEXT.
Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and prices offered to the whole of the items stated therein, and signed with their actual signatures. Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted bank cheque for the sum of $100, made payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Railways and Canals, which can be forfeited if the person tendering declines to enter into contract for the execution of the works, at the rates and prices submitted, subject to the conditions and on the terms stated in the specification. If the tender is not accepted the cheque will be returned.
The Department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

B. LAURANCE'S SPECTACLES

MR. B. LAURANCE, of the above mentioned Establishment, has the honour to announce to the Citizens of Peterborough and surrounding country that he will locate his Office at

The MEDICAL HALL, (Taylor & Macdonald)

Corner of George and Hunter Streets, Peterborough.

For a few days only, commencing THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6th, with a complete assortment of the above Lenses. Laurance's Spectacles, so well known and appreciated in the United Kingdom, will be offered by him to spectacle wearers at the same prices they are sold at in England. Ground on scientific principles, from either the clearest and purest globe, or from optical glass especially manufactured for the purpose, they are without exception best adapted to restore the ravages of age and to restore perfect vision. For these reasons they are especially recommended by the most eminent men of the faculty.

MR. B. LAURANCE will adapt Lenses without extra charge, and his invaluable services will be placed at the disposal of Messrs. Taylor & Macdonald's customers for a few days only, commencing on the above mentioned date. Each eye will undergo a special examination, and the Spectacles will be fitted with the particular lens best suited to the condition of each eye, and as no better opportunity will ever be offered for persons with impaired sight to be properly suited, he trusts this opportunity will be daily appreciated. Mr. Laurance has also received testimonials from the following distinguished persons and thousands of others:—

Lieut.-Gen. Sir Patrick McDougall, K.C.M.G.
Chief Justice James McDonald, N.S., late Minister of Justice
Rev. Edward J. Moob, Pastor of the Baptist Church, Belleville.
Rev. David Mitchell, Pastor Presbyterian Church, Belleville.

Protection of Foreigners in China.

It is semi-officially announced that England, Germany, America, Russia, and France will participate in a joint protection of their subjects and interests in China in the event of war. The object is to protect the lives and property of Europeans and Americans in the event of a recurrence of troubles similar to those in Canton. The five powers will form a flotilla of gunboats on the Canton river, the command of which will be given to the power having the largest naval force in Chinese waters. At present France has the greatest number of vessels there.

Dangerous Travelling.

New York, Dec. 1.—Yesterday morning a train of two cars, containing 30 passengers, was derailed on the City Hall branch of the Elevated railroad. The train rattled along on the ties for fully fifty yards, but fortunately did not fall to the street below. Had it done so, the loss of life would have been terrible, as the street immediately under-nath was packed close with wagons and vehicles of all descriptions. For a moment the excitement was intense.

A Constancy Purchased.

Our city contemporary says that Lennox has been "redeemed." We are quite willing to take the word of the Times for it. Webster says that to redeem is "to purchase back; to regain possession of by payment of a stipulated price." Yes; Lennox has been redeemed.—Hamilton Spectator.

An Editor's Tribute.

Theron P. Keator, Editor of Ft. Wayne, Ind., "Gazette," writes: "For the past five years I have always used Dr. King's New Discovery, for coughs of most severe character, as well as for those of a milder type. It never fails to effect a speedy cure. My friends to whom I have recommended it speak of it in some high terms. Having been cured by it of every cough I have had for five years, I consider it the only reliable and safe cure for Coughs, Colds, etc." Call at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store and get a Free Trial Bottle. DAILY EVENING REVIEW

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1883.

It must be a relief to the province to know that Mr. Mowat's army at Rat Portage, of gael birds, and others, has been disturbed, for this joint filibustering and electioneering force was costing us an enormous amount.

Four hundred farmers of Etobicoke and its vicinity have remonstrated with Mr. Mowat on account of the injury done to them by the disgraceful state of the Government property, bought more than a dozen years ago for a model farm, but which the present administration has allowed to become a public nuisance.

Mr. G. W. Ross has publicly announced that he intended to keep politics and education distinct. His colleague and leader, Mr. Mowat, pledged himself in the House to keep his choice of liquor license officials distinct from politics, but he shamelessly broke his promise and exposed himself for giving a virtual monopoly of office to his partisans, by the insult to Conservative temperance men of stating that they would not enforce the law. Can we expect the new Minister of Education to be more scrupulous than his chief?

O. P. E. CONSTRUCTION.

Gen. Van Horne's Report to the Minister of Railways.

OTTAWA, Dec. 3.—Mr. Van Horne, General Manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in his report to the Minister of Railways, says that tracklaying has been completed eastward from Port Arthur to Napierin river, and will be continued to a point thirty-five miles beyond before the close of the season. From that point eastward for a distance of 100 miles is encountered the heaviest rock work on the Lake Superior section. This is covered by one mile contracts, and is heavily manned. The work will be continued throughout the winter, and it is expected that a considerable portion of this section will be ready for track in the spring. The track of the main line extension westward from Lake Nipissing has advanced beyond Sudbury Junction. This section is also heavily manned, and the work will be pushed forward throughout the winter.

A COLLEGE ELECTION.—On Saturday afternoon, in the course of a society election in connection with Queen's University, an interesting discussion took place. The candidates for presidency were Prof. Nicholson and J. Hearld, M. A., of the Royal Medical College. The professor's supporters had secured the favor of some students in the Women's Medical College. The Herald party were determined to prevent these votes being given. When the ladies presented themselves for ballots, they were challenged by Mr. Herald and his agent, Mr. Mundell, on the ground that they had never been admitted to the society, because, though a motion had been made admitting Freshmen, nothing had been said as to Freshwomen. Prof. Nicholson's agents, Messrs. MacLellan and Wright, contended that this was a mere quibble, and that by a decision of English judges in such cases, the term man includes woman. Treasurer Kidd sided with the meddles and refused ballots. The ladies withdrew to one side of the hall and patiently waited the issue. For over an hour the discussion lasted, with the result that the Nicholson party won 10 votes. The women were greatly pleased at the discomfiture of their brothers, who, last year, caused them so much annoyance. About 312 votes were polled, Mr. Herald being elected. His supporters were disappointed, and were going on in the City Hall, where an elegant pair of slippers had been put for competition between Queen's, the Royal Medical and the Royal Military, at ten cents a pair. Mr. Herald's party secured the slippers, which they presented to their candidate. For the slippers 485 votes were cast, thus making their value $485.50.

O'DONNELL'S SENTENCE.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—Mr. Gay, O'Donnell's solicitor, is endeavoring to induce the members of the jury which convicted O'Donnell to sign a memorial asking the Home Secretary to commute the death sentence. Some of the jurymen are willing to sign, but it is expected the majority will decline.

THE MURDER OF MRS. SMYTHE.

DUBLIN, Dec. 5.—A true bill has been found against Elliott for the murder of Mrs. Smythe, wife of a landlord of Westmeath. True bills have also been found for conspiracy to murder against fourteen others in connection with the same crime.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—The Times says President Arthur's message is somewhat colorless. It sees a tribute to the Irish vote in the language the President uses regarding pauper emigrants. The press generally express disappointment that the President does not recommend reductions in the tariff at this session of Congress. All the papers refer to the picture the message presents of the great prosperity of America.

For the Actual Settlers.

The change in the land regulations made by Mr. Macpherson, the new Minister of the Interior, appears to be designed in the interest of the actual settler and not of the speculator. The great drawback to the development of the new country is that there has been too much land taken up by speculators and not sufficient by actual settlers. Mr. Macpherson has thrown the reserved lands open for homesteads and pre-emption, the pre-emption rates being two dollars and a half per acre. The forfeiture clauses are not to apply to actual settlers who show that they are in earnest and are not holding the land for speculative purposes. The lands in the North-West should be reserved for those who cultivate them.—Toronto Telegram.

French Troop-Ship for Algeria.

PARIS, Dec. 4.—The available transports at Toulon are to be despatched to Algerian ports, where they are to embark 12,000 men, with provisions for seventy days and large supplies of ammunition. The greatest activity prevails in the arsenal at Toulon.

BAND CONCERT.—The V.B.B. will hold their first grand concert on the 20th of this month in Keene Hall. They have secured the best local talent and also the Peterborough Orchestra. The programme will consist of overtures by the Orchestra and Band, Solos, Duets and also a few Dialogues. Some old Bandmen who had not heard the band for some time were very much surprised and pleased at the progress the band had made under the able leadership of Prof. A. Freeman.

WAS CANADA BOUND?

In reply to our query whether it maintained that Mr. Mackenzie's instructions as to the Boundary Award were binding upon the Canadian Parliament, which alone is empowered by the constitution of our Dominion to decide such questions, the Belleville Ontario before the matter with a cloud of words, without touching the point at issue.

To begin, we may clear away the preliminary objection to our terming the instructions "Mr. Mackenzie's." Of course we are well aware that they were given by the Governor-General in Council, but it was on the advice of the Administration of the day, of which Mr. Mackenzie was Premier, and it is a usual and recognized practice in such cases to ascribe the act to the head of the Cabinet, who, with colleagues chosen by himself, is in fact responsible. For instance, we frequently hear that Sir John Macdonald has done this or that, though his action may be endorsed by his colleagues, by the Governor-General, and even by Parliament, and we make no objection to the phrase, unless it is intended to imply that he is stretching his powers unconstitutionally. Not only in popular parlance, but by grave historians, the course of an Administration is attributed to its chief. All this, however, is comparatively of slight importance, so we will come to the main point.

The difficulty of our contemporary, as of many of its party, appears to be a confusion of ideas as to the executive functions as distinguished from the legislative powers of a constitutional representative government. The Administration of the day has certain executive powers, but they are constitutionally limited, and in other matters parliament has the control. Within its executive province the Administration may bind its successors, but within its province as a constituent part of the parliament it cannot bind its successors or pledge the faith of the country. In fact a change of government rather favours the presumption of a change than of an identity of parliamentary action.

It may be very true that Mr. Mackenzie, or the Cabinet, or the Privy Council, or the Governor-General, (there is no practical difference between them) gave certain instructions to the arbitrators which bound both them and that Administration. But this executive act could not bind parliament, if parliamentary intervention was necessary. Now our written constitution, the British North American Act and amendments, especially reserves the power in such matters, not to the executive, but to Parliament, which consequently, has to decide on its own judgment, and not in accordance with the instructions of anyone. How, then, could the instructions or pledges of the executive, being ultra vires, bind the Parliament of Canada? If Parliament, to which the power is given, had taken action, then the faith of Canada would have been pledged, but it was not so. Even Parliament could only have decided for Canada, and for the future. Any body or individual interested could still have appealed to the Courts to determine where the real boundary had been, if his rights depended upon such a decision. That is one reason among others why we prefer the judgment of the highest court to a Parliamentary settlement.

We may reply to the concluding remark of our contemporary that we do not question the power of the Administration to enter upon such an arbitration, subject to ratification by Parliament. We do, however, question the policy of entering upon such an arbitration when Parliament might reject its conclusions. The Courts were open to us and could settle the question impartially and finally, giving us our full rights with an indisputable title.

One expression used by the Ontario shows very plainly the erroneous nature of its premises, for it says: "The Government of Canada, which controls the Parliament." Now we utterly deny the correctness of this theory. The government of the day—the Administration—does not control the Parliament, but the Parliament, as representing the people of Canada, does control the Administration. With this fact clearly understood we would have no more of the faith of Canada being pledged to an award.

The Globe says that "Big Push" was in Cardwell on Saturday. We understood that the Hon. George Brown, late editor of the Globe, was dead, but it seems that we were mistaken.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

YOUNG'S POINT ROAD.

The main road leading to the back country from here and passing through Young's Point is a disgrace to the county of Peterborough. At certain seasons of the year it is almost impassable. It is one of the most travelled of the few leading roads in the county, and it is very largely used by the lumbermen of the county. This road to all intents and purposes is a boundary road between the townships of Smith and Douro (the real boundary of these townships being the Otonabee River and Clear Lake) and hence it should be considered a county road. The people of Smith and Douro do not to any extent require this road, so far as that part of it between Lakefield and Burleigh is concerned. The part between Lakefield and Young's Point passes through Douro, and is so situated as to be comparatively of no use to the ratepayers of Douro, and the part between Young's Point and Burleigh passes through Smith where it cannot be of any great benefit to the ratepayers of that township. The country through which it passes nearly its whole length is so sparsely settled that the statute labor available is not a tenth of what would be necessary to keep it in a decent state of repair. That part of it between Lakefield and the Point has been greatly improved this last fall. Mr. Chalmers, of Young's Point, set to work last summer with commendable energy and took up a subscription from the people at both ends of the road, and by a good deal of importunity induced the Douro council to supplement this subscription with a sufficient sum to make the amount $200 to be spent. This amount was well and judiciously expended and there is no doubt but that it did wonders, for it made the road passable, which was not the case before. The county should as a matter of right take this road in hand and make a good road of it at an early day. The townships of Douro and Smith have but very little, if any more, interest in this main road than Otonabee or any other municipality in the county, and it is not just to expect them to bear the whole burden of improving and maintaining so important a county road. It is to be hoped that at least some of the county's representatives in the council will justify the utility of county councils by obtaining a large grant for this important thoroughfare at its next session.

HUNTING PARTIES.

Hunting parties are beginning to return. Reports of success, good sport, splendid time, &c., are going the rounds as usual. Some splendid shots were made but not venison or even beaver. The season is passing through. Some fine opportunities have presented themselves for killing beaver, but then it would not be advisable to kill as the season is so late for bear meat and it is much better to just scare beaver a little than shoot fatally.

C. E. T. S.

The regular monthly meeting of the Lakefield Branch of C. E. T. S. was held in the Old Church on Tuesday evening Nov. 27. A very interesting address was delivered by Mr. Charles Deerpore. The membership of the society is now over fifty. The first steps were taken for the formation of a Band of Hope, and 20 children were enrolled. The next meeting will be held next Tuesday, Dec. 11th, in the Old Church. The Band of Hope will have their meeting from 7 o'clock till 8 p.m. after which the meeting of the older members will be held. The public are invited to attend both these meetings.

How Shot Scatter.

A writer in an English sporting paper, speaking of the scattering of a charge of shot from a gun, gives the following statistics taken from actual experiment. He says that both in the case of choke-bore and cylinder guns, shots occasionally spread as far as 12 feet in 45 yards; and that in one case a choke-bore scattered its shot 17 feet wide in a range of 60 yards. The wood powder seems generally to have scattered its charge less than ordinary black powder, but both the one and the other carried it for such kind of gun with far more irregularity than has been hitherto supposed.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN:—

At the request of many of the ratepayers of the Town, who are opposed to the present management of our Municipal affairs, I appear as a candidate for the Mayoralty for 1884, and beg respectfully to solicit your votes and influence therefor.

My course as Councillor during the present year has been severely criticised, but I can only say that every act of mine in the Council was prompted by my conviction of what was just and right to the ratepayers. I entered the Council without personal interest of any kind to serve, determined to advance the interests of the ratepayers to the best of my ability, and, as far as my single efforts could do so, to conduct the business of the Town on the same sound business principles than every one of you applies to the conduct of your own private affairs.

This course, opposed as it was to the loose and extravagant manner in which the majority in the Council have been accustomed to carry on your business, naturally called down upon me a storm of abuse, which, however, the courage of my convictions has enabled me to bear without difficulty.

Many important matters have been before the present Council, and, as my opponent, Councillor Paterson, holds views on them different from my own, I shall here state a few of them, hoping to have the opportunity of discussing the merits of our opposite opinions before you with him.

FIRE PROTECTION.

I am opposed to paying by a general tax for hydrants taken by the Town for fire protection, believing it to be unjust to ask ratepayers living outside of the fire limits to pay for the protection of the centre of the town.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject are directly opposed to mine.

BANK OF TORONTO BUILDINGS.

As the paying for these buildings this year has caused a considerable increase in the amount of taxation, and a good deal of dissatisfaction has been expressed in consequence, a few words from me on this subject will not be out of place. Early in the year there was a general unanimity in the Council as to the desirability of purchasing these buildings on the terms offered by Mr. Stevenson, namely:—$4,500, payable in debentures bearing interest at 5 per cent, running over either 10 or 20 years, but when this matter came up in discussing the estimates, to my surprise, the whole amount (less about $400 received from the Town Trust Commissioners) was asked for this year. I was opposed to this, but was voted down. (Councillor McNamilton alone supporting me.) Mr. Paterson, whose duty it was, as Chairman of the Finance Committee, to compile the estimates, can perhaps give some satisfactory explanation to the ratepayers for putting this heavy tax upon them. The title to these buildings has not yet, I believe, been perfected. Is it possible that the purchase may yet fall through?

HOUSE OF REFUGE.

As chairman of the Charity Committee this year, I have had excellent opportunities of judging of the necessity for such an institution, and am forced to conclude that at the present time it is not required. No doubt some few cases could be found in our midst which it would be extremely convenient to send to such an institution, if we had it, but the immense cost of building and maintaining a refuge would be out of all proportion to the benefit to be derived from it. In the future this may not be so. You may therefore rest assured that, if I have the honor to be elected by you to the Mayoralty, I will use my influence to prevent the burden being added to your already heavy taxes.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject also are, I believe, opposed to mine.

CIVIC SALARY.

I am not in favor of attaching a salary to the office of either Mayor or Councillor, believing that the opportunity which you afford them of proving themselves faithful servants, and worthy of your confidence, ought to be a sufficient recompense for their time and trouble.

I understand Mr. Paterson's views on this point also are in variance with mine.

CLERK AND TREASURER.

I am opposed to allowing one person to hold the two offices of Clerk and Treasurer. On this point also Mr. Paterson differs from me. There are many other points on which I might touch, but as this address is already too long, I shall only say that I am opposed to all jobbery and rings, and to the transacting of the town's affairs in secret conclaves and not in either open Council or Committee.

I am in favor of progress and municipal reform, and where any thing can be effected in the management of our municipal affairs, I am also strongly in favor of such saving.

If elected, I shall use my best efforts to obtain a dollar's worth of your money for every dollar expended.

I am now in your hands, and it is for you to say by your votes whether my conduct during the year and my position on the foregoing important matters is worthy of your support and confidence.

I remain,

Your obedient servant,

C. W. SAWERS.

A TERRIBLE murder was recently committed near Rathfriland, the victim being Patrick Quinn, an old man of seventy. The murderer, who has been arrested, was a young man named Wade. It is not known what was the cause of the murder, unless it was jealousy, Wade having been discharged by his employer and Quinn was retained.

A Doctor's Rhyme.

The following story, told by London Life, serves to illustrate the love of the French people for the mysterious:—A short time ago a Parisian doctor set up an establishment in the Faubourg Montmartre. He assumed a high-sounding name, furnished his house in a weird and fantastic fashion, engaged solemn looking and taciturn servants and announced that he could only see patients after the hours of midnight or in the grey dawn of the morning. The effect was electrical. Every weak-minded person, with malady real or imaginary, flocked to the new medico, who soon began to reap a golden harvest. At last the suspicions of the police were aroused. The Commissary sent him a personal visit and asked to see his diploma. To his surprise he found out that not only had the suspected individual taken good degrees, but that he had graduated with the highest honors at the Paris University. Just as he was taking his departure, however, the doctor entreated him not to let anyone know of the high qualifications. The Commissary, with some surprise, asked him the reason of his desire to conceal so much intellectual light under a bushel. "Why," replied the other, "if my patients only knew that I was a mere doctor, my practice would vanish like the snow."

Roof Water as a Motive Power.

It occurred to a gentleman resident in Georgetown West Indies, that a possibly valuable source of energy is allowed to run to waste in the tropics in the shape of water which pours off the roofs of the houses whenever there is a shower. The gentleman in question, in a lecture delivered recently before a local society, said that, "having been frequently struck by the great volume of water discharged from roofs during heavy tropical rains, it occurred to me that the power so wasted might be utilized in some way by converting it into electricity by the following means: The water from each roof might be conducted into one main down-pipe, in which would work a small turbine wheel, driving a dynamo-electric machine, the electricity so developed by every passing shower to be stored in accumulators of the type of Faure's secondary batteries. These, as they became charged in variable time, depending on the rainfall, could be collected and stored at central depots, from whence the power could afterwards be distributed uniformly, either by electro dynamic engines, or utilized directly for electric lighting."

The Crocetting of Timber.

As is well known, the preservative properties of crocetes are owing to its preventing the absorption of the atmosphere in any form, or under any change of temperature. It is noxious to animal or vegetable life; and it arrests all fermentation of the sap, which is one of the primary causes of dry rot and species of decay in timber. The action of crocetes—says Mr. Hale, in his work on "Saw Mills—Their Arrangement and Management"—may be thus described: When injected into a piece of wood, the crocetes coagulate the albumen, thus preventing any putrefactive decomposition; and the albumen, as it enters the whole of the capillary tubes, incasing the woody fibre as with a shield and closing up the whole of the pores, so as to entirely exclude both moisture (water) and air. By using crocetes, inferior porous timber and that cut at the wrong season, and therefore sappy, may be rendered durable. The Bethell system of crocetting is as follows: The timber is first thoroughly seasoned and cut to the required dimensions. It is then placed in a wrought iron cylinder, fitted with doors that can be hermetically closed by means of wrought iron clamps. The air and moisture contained in the wood are then exhausted from it, and from the cylinder, by means of a powerful air pump. The preservative material (crocetes oil) is admitted into the tank. When the wood has received all that it will after this manner, more oil is forced into it by means of hydrostatic pumps, exerting a pressure of 120 pounds to 200 pounds per square inch. This pressure is maintained until it appears that the proper quantity of crocetes oil has been absorbed by the wood, which is determined by a gauge. Timber intended for railway sleepers, bridges, etc., should absorb 7 pounds of oil per cubic foot; and timber required to be protected against marine insects, etc., requires at least ten pounds of oil per cubic foot. The cost varies from 4d. to 6d. per cubic foot, according to the quantity of oil required.

Cardinal Manning at Rome.

Cardinal Manning received a correspondent at the English College lately. His Eminence, who is much benefited by his stay in Rome, expects to return to London at the end of next week. Since his arrival there he has lived in strict retirement, taking no part in ecclesiastical matters outside of his own province. In answer to a remark of the correspondent, suggested by the insinuations of certain English papers, the Cardinal said:—"I am quite outside of American Congress, and I know nothing of the Bishop's movements or the rumored appointment of a Nuncio to the United States. These things do not concern me, but the Americans."

Explosives for de Lesseps.

PARIS, Dec. 3.—Three boxes arrived from Nice yesterday, one addressed to M. de Lesseps the others to a contractor on the Panama canal. When one of the boxes was opened a cartridge inside exploded, but no harm was done. De Lesseps, when warned, smilingly said, "They treat me like a sovereign."

Very hard indeed.

There are so many things that appear unnecessary and which for the life of us we can see neither purpose nor end. It may be some are just one of those things in the flesh the why and the wherefore of which we cannot see. Nevertheless they are of the kind that are easily removed. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor makes short work of them. Try it and see how simple it makes them out. Use none other than Putnam's Corn-Extractor. Sold by druggists.

A. L. DAVIS & CO.

Our Canadian Silk Industry

is prosperous. The great difficulty to be contended with is the low grade of goods required. In nothing is this more apparent than in the comparatively small article of sewing silks. The great demand in Canada seems to be for a cheap quality, buyers forgetting that a cheap thread must necessarily be a fine and consequently a weak one. Messrs. Belding, Paul & Co. make three grades of spool silk; of these different qualities the poorest one has by far the largest sale, at the same time they constantly hear of complaints of poor sewing silk. If ladies will take the trouble to ask for Belding Paul & Co's own brand, and see that their name is on the end of each spool, they will be sure of getting the best made.

The East India Exhibition.

CALCUTTA, Dec. 4.—A Calcutta despatch says the Marquis of Ripon, Viceroy of India, accompanied by the Duke and Duchess of Connaught formally opened the East India Exhibition to-day with splendid ceremonies. A large number of native Indian princes participated in the exercise.

THANKS.

I desire to return my thanks to my many friends for their liberal patronage during the year now drawing to its close, and in doing so, I beg to say that all who may favour me with their custom, shall have as heretofore, my best attention.

I recognize the fact that the time to give bargains is when there is a demand for goods. The demand is now here as the Christmas holidays are now drawing nigh, and we shall soon be entering upon the New Year.

I have therefore decided to reduce my stock, and shall offer during this month

A Conference of Workers at Perth—Report of the Proceedings.

A Conference of Young Men's Christian Association Workers of Eastern Ontario held its session in Perth from Thursday evening, 29th November, till Sunday, 2nd December. The following Associations were represented:—Toronto, Peterborough, Kingston, Queen's College, and Ottawa. The Montreal Association was represented by its efficient Secretary, Mr. D. A. Budge.

A welcome meeting was accorded the delegates on Thursday evening, an address of welcome being given by the Secretary of the Perth Association, Mr. J. A. Allan, and responded to by Mr. J. J. Garthshore, of Toronto, Mr. L. Perrin, of Queen's College, and Rev. R. Mackay, of Kingston.

On Friday morning, after devotional exercises, a Business Committee was appointed, consisting of Mr. D. A. Budge, Chairman, Messrs. W. Best, J. R. Jackson, L. Perrin, and J. A. Allan. Mr. G. E. Williams was appointed Secretary of the Conference. The first topic considered was, "What work can Associations successfully prosecute without a General Secretary?"

At the afternoon session the Travelling Secretary, Mr. T. S. Cole, gave an account of his work since entering the office. Following this was a discussion on the "Claims of the Executive Committee on the Associations," and as a result of this discussion the following resolution was adopted by the Conference:—

Whereas claims of the Executive Committee were laid before this Conference and were pressed upon it on the following, among other grounds:—

1st. Each Association has an interest in the success of all other Associations; and as the Executive Committee has the supervision of the Associations throughout the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, it is the duty of the said Committee to help and cheer those Associations which may be discouraged, and to inaugurate new Associations in such places as they are required, therefore each Association has, or at least should have, an interest in the success of the work of the Executive Committee.

2nd. As almost all Associations have their periods of trial and discouragement, and as each Association knows not but that itself may be the next one to require the assistance of the Executive Committee, it behooves them to render such financial aid as may be within its power.

And whereas the sum of $1,500 will be required for the successful prosecution of the work of the executive committee during the following year, and the associations of the cities of Montreal and Toronto together contribute about the sum of $800, leaving a balance of $700 or thereabouts to be raised by the remaining associations, in number about twenty. "It is therefore resolved that the Secretary of the Executive Committee be and he is hereby authorized to write to the secretaries of the different associations throughout this district enclosing a copy of this resolution and personally presenting the rendering of assistance by the associations or individuals in them to the Executive Committee, and further that the members of this conference do pledge themselves to use all reasonable means to advance the cause of the said Committee."

The evening session on Friday was partly occupied by the reading of a paper prepared by Mr. John Earle, of Toronto, on "Work among Railway Men," and a discussion on that topic. At half-past eight the session was resolved into a gospel meeting, six or seven of the delegates taking part in it.

The session on Saturday morning was taken up with the consideration of the question "Have associations been successfully carried on in villages of from 500 to 1,000 inhabitants and in towns of from 3,000 to 5,000 populations." The following suggestions were made during the discussion on that topic:—

1. One man should be secured upon whom the burden and responsibility of the work should rest.
2. Care should be taken to avoid elaborate machinery.
3. The work should be confined to the young men and not find its whole outlet in holding evangelistic services in the surrounding country—no matter how important it may seem.

4. The educational class work can be carried on and should be pressed because of its need in some communities, and because of the interest it awakens on the part of business men, upon whom the Association depends for support.

The importance of libraries in villages and small towns was advocated and illustrations showing its possibility given.

The Saturday afternoon session was taken for considering the importance of the Bible in our work, both in preparation for public service and in personal growth. The subject was to have been opened with a paper by Mr. Alfred Sandham, of Toronto, but up to the time of discussion it had not arrived. The Rev. R. Mackay opened the discussion, after which a number of the delegates gave important suggestions on the topic. At this session a district committee was appointed, who would be expected to take an interest in the work at their respective places and endeavour to create an interest in neighbouring towns. The committee appointed consisted of the following gentlemen:—OTTAWA—Messrs. B. H. Teakles, and W. J. Topley.

BELLEVILLE—Messrs. A. H. Northrup, and Lockett.

KINGSTON—Messrs. B. W. Robertson, W. M. Robertson, and the Rev. R. McKay.

KINGSTON COLLEGE—Messrs. S. W. Dyde and Louis Perrin.

PORT HOPE—Mr. Clark.

PETERBOROUGH—Messrs. J. F. Jeffers and J. A. Hall.

PERTH—Messrs. F. B. Allen and Dr. Kellock.

BROCKVILLE—Messrs. Judge McDonald and E. J. Reynolds.

CORNWALL—Mr. C. W. Patterson.

LANCASTER—Mr. Scott.

The last business session was held on Saturday evening, and was occupied with the consideration of the topic, "Our Work a Definite Work for Young Men and Why." In opening the subject, Mr. Brady, of Montreal, gave an interesting address, stating reasons why the work of the Y. M. C. A. should be definitely for young men. Other delegates followed, and the meeting was one of the most profitable ones of the Conference.

Votes of thanks were passed to the people of Perth for the hospitable manner with which they had entertained the delegates, and also to the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Railways for reduced rates, and to the Midland Railway for the granting of free passes to delegates from Peterborough. The last business session of the Conference was then closed with the usual devotional exercises.

On Sunday afternoon a gospel meeting, which was addressed by Messrs. Williams and Best, of Peterborough, and Perrin, of Queen's College, Kingston, was held in the same hall. The meeting was a large one and of great interest to all present. In the evening Mr. Brady, of Montreal, and Mr. Cole, of Toronto, addressed an audience of about seven hundred people very impressively.

Mr. B. Laurance.

Owing to press of business elsewhere, Mr. B. Laurance will not arrive in Peterborough until Tuesday, the 11th inst.

R. T. of T.

A special meeting of Peterborough Council Royal Templars of Temperance will be held on Friday evening next.

The Mayoralty.

Mr. C. W. Sayers, a member of the Council for No. 2 ward, announces himself a candidate for the Mayoralty. His address to the electors appears in another column.

Police News.

Two men found shelter in the cells last night, and there was still another blank at the Court this morning. The revenue derived from the Police Court this year will not be an enormous sum.

Firewood.

Mr. Jas. Stevenson is bringing a thousand cords of hardwood off the line of the Grand Junction, so there will be no scarcity of firewood in town even if we have no good sleighing this winter.

Sale of Useful Articles.

The Ladies' Aid Society in connection with St. Andrew's Church will hold a sale of useful and fancy articles in the School Room adjoining the Church on Thursday evening, 30th December. Further particulars next week.

Peterborough Literary Society.

At the second meeting of the Peterborough Literary society, held on Wednesday evening, the question "Resolved, that annexation to the United States would not benefit Canada," was discussed and decided in the affirmative.

The Late Mr. Nichol's Will.

The will of the late Mr. Robert Nichol has been admitted to probate, the personal estate, (owned in Canada), being sworn at $493,717.53. The widow of the testator is appointed sole executrix and all property, real and personal, is left to her.

Methodist Bazaar.

The second annual bazaar of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church will be held at the residence of Mr. Geo. A. Cox during the afternoon and evening of Friday, Dec. 7th. A programme of choice vocal and instrumental music will be an attraction at the evening sale. Admission in the afternoon 10c; evening 20c.

Dr. Sutherland.

Those who heard the Rev. Dr. Sutherland in the discussion on the basis of union last June will be glad to have an opportunity of hearing the reverend gentleman again. He is now about to keep a promise made last June to the management of the George Street Methodist School to conduct the Sunday School Anniversary services for them. The doctor will preach in the George Street Church next Sunday evening and deliver an address at the annual public meeting on Monday evening, Dec. 10th.

At Chamberlain's Restaurant. Bass' English ale on draught in a few days, bill of lading for same just received.

Rain or Snow.

The weather probabilities for this district, for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—

Winds shifting to east and south and increasing in force; fair to cloudy weather, followed by rain in southern and snow in Northern Ontario by night; not much change in temperature.

Ontario and Quebec Bridges.

The mason work on the Ontario and Quebec Railway bridges across the Ouse and Indian Rivers is completed, and the mason work on the bridge across the Otonabee will be finished on Saturday. Men went east this morning to place the superstructure on the Ouse bridge. The tracklayers coming from the east were within a mile and a half of Norwood at noon.

An Interesting Case.

The case of Levey v. The Midland Railway Co. is, says the Mail, interesting in more ways than one. It arose under the following circumstances:—A little boy named Levey was sent on a message by his mother to a house across the line of the Midland railway in Lindsay.

While running across the track the poor little fellow caught his foot under a bent spike, and before he could extricate it a train of cars, which was backing down the grade without an engine, passed over his leg, which had subsequently to be amputated. An action for damages was brought against the railway on the grounds that they had been guilty of negligence in not having a man on the end of the first car, as they are required to have by R. S. O. cap. 165, sect 93, contending that if the man had been there he might have put on brakes, or might have jumped off the rescued the boy, thus preventing the accident. The case was tried at Lindsay before Chief Justice Hagarty and a jury, and a verdict awarded to the plaintiff for $1,000.

Mr. Bethune, Q.C. and Mr. Biggar, of Belleville, moved on Wednesday before the Queen's Bench Divisional Court at Toronto to set aside the verdict on the ground that the railway had a man on the last car, but he was at the far end of it, which it was claimed was quite sufficient under the statute. The difficulty is on the construction of the Act, the man was working the brakes on the far end of the car, and the question is, should he have been at the foremost end. Mr. Hudepeth, Q.C., of Lindsay, supported the verdict, and judgment was reserved.

Very Remarkable Recovery.

Mr. Geo. V. Willing, of Manchester, Mich., writes: "My wife has been almost helpless for five years, so helpless that she could not turn over in bed alone. She used two bottles of Electric Bitters, and is so much improved, that she is able now to do her own work. Electric Bitters will do all that is claimed for them. Hundreds of testimonials attest their great curative powers. Only fifty cents a bottle at Taylor & McDonald."

The Vital Forces are speedily renewed by Mack's Magnetic Medicine, the great brain and nerve food. It is the best and cheapest medicine ever discovered. Guarantee issued only by Ormond and Walsh. See advertisement in another column.

TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION.

The advertisement calling for tenders for the construction of a regulating dam at Young's Point on "the Back Lake Division of the Trent Valley Canal," will be observed with satisfaction by our readers as another evidence that the Macdonald Administration has no intention of neglecting the completion of this great navigable route. We hope that before long we will see a similar advertisement in regard to the dam at Lakefield. These improvements will greatly facilitate navigation by our local steamboats, in the interim of this section being used as a portion of the through route.

We trust that in next year's estimates we will find an appropriation for further construction. The section between Lakefield and Peterborough should be the next placed under contract, for with that comparatively inexpensive work navigation would be open from Hesley Falls, below Hastings, to Balsam Lake, with branches in one direction to Port Perry, on Lake Scugog, and in another to Cobourg, on the Gull River. This would be a great boon to a large district in advance of the completion of the through route, with its national, and even international, importance.

MR. ROSS' ROYAL ROAD.

There is one aspect of the choice of Mr. G. W. Ross by Mr. Mowat as his new Minister of Education that is very curious. We allude to the fact that Mr. Ross has in the past shown himself far from scrupulous as to trafficking in any public position he might fill, and therefore is in the future more likely to foster than to check the irregularities prevailing in the Educational Department in favor of those who have friends at court.

Mr. Ross has been a member of the House of Commons, and as such was precluded by law from accepting an office of emolument from the Dominion authorities. He was too careful then to break the letter of the law, but he violated its spirit by being a party to the conspiracy by which the Reform Ontario Administration agreed to reward with public patronage those who rendered services to the Reform Dominion Opposition, taking the position and pay of a school inspector from Mr. Mowat. Thus, in fact, while a Member of Parliament he was subsidised for partisan services with public money.

Subsequently our new Minister of Education grew bolder, and no longer restricted himself to infringing the spirit of the law, but broke its letter also. It was not sufficient that he should sit as a Member of Parliament while the paid servant of the Educational Department under the Mowat Administration, but he also had the effrontery while an official under the Minister of Education to make an engagement by which his services were secured by a school publisher. He put himself in this dishonorable position in plain defiance not only of official decorum, but also of the statute prohibiting such traffic in his public position. It is true that we are informed that this agency was terminated eighteen months ago, but we are not told whether this was in consequence of his employer's disaffection with him as a canvasser or his own fear of the penalties of the law.

Mr. Ross seems to be enamoured of bypaths, instead of pursuing the straightforward way. He had to obtain special legislation to become a lawyer, while less fortunate men had to study and pass their examinations, without even the consolation like Mr. Ross of drawing two or three simultaneous salaries meanwhile. He also expected a degree by some similar crook. He wished to secure his re-election to parliament, with its contingent "pocketings," and his course was, not to rely upon the free votes of the electorate, but to give instructions to "stand" for distant electors, and then to repudiate the very obvious understanding that their expenses should be paid. Even these far from creditable steps led Mr. Ross to another short cut for his advancement. Mr. Mowat, wishing to keep to his quota of five lawyers out of six in his Cabinet, procured upon this ex-bookkeeper's agent and brand new lawyer (by act of the Legislature) to take a vacant portfolio. Mr. Mowat being afraid to open most of the seats in the Province, bethought himself of this gentleman, who had just been unseated in a law court for practicing which he took care to guard from investigation by "throwing up the sponge" at the first onset, and made him a Minister.

From these circumstances we can imagine how, under the auspices of Mr. Ross, the very dubious purity of the officials of the Educational Department and their hangers on will become almost superhuman—that is if the Province is inflicted with him as Minister of Education.

CAMPBELLFORD.

A NORTH-WEST POTATO.—Mr. Wm. Johnston, formerly of Campbellford, sent a potato from Indian Head, Manitoba, to the Herald office, that weighed two pounds two ounces.

NOT FOUND.—The Herald says that the body of the boy Montgomery has not been found and possibly may not be until next spring.

RECOVERY.—Rev. Mr. Dunkley, Bible Christian Minister, has recovered from his last illness, and is enabled to move about. He will resume his ministerial work in a few days.

ANOTHER SHIPMENT.—Mr. W. Whitton shipped one thousand head of poultry on Monday. Four hundred geese were driven to the station in one flock. Mr. W. is doing a large trade with the American people, and hundreds of geese and turkeys will adorn their Christmas tables through his agency.

GROWING.—Trent Bridge, or the Narrows, as it is called, is improving in its appearance and increasing in commerce. Another blacksmith has just opened the doors of another building, the proprietor being Mr. Stephen Watson. There are now three stores, two blacksmith shops, and a shoemaker's shop in the place.

DELAY ON THE RAIL.—A carload of cattle consigned to Montreal was left standing at the station here for many hours on Monday last and was not attached to the train until Tuesday. Upon its arrival in Montreal one of the cattle was dead and the others were in a famishing condition from neglect and exposure. The cattle were shipped by Mr. Whitton. He intends to enter an action against the Midland Railway Company to recover the loss.

COBBOURG.

FIRE.—There was a small fire in St. Peter's Church on Tuesday, but it was extinguished before much damage was done. Again at about half past three on Wednesday morning the alarm bells were rung, when it was found that the residence of Mr. G. S. Bickle was on fire. The house was entirely gutted, but most of the furniture was saved in a damaged condition. There was a small insurance, but not nearly enough to cover the loss. Mr. Bickle had just let the house and possession was to have been given to-day. The origin of the fire is unknown. Mr. Bickle has the sympathy of his friends in Cobourg at his loss.

BELLEVILLE.

ANOTHER CANDIDATE.—Mr. Charles Wilkins has announced himself as a candidate for the mayoralty, for which office there are now four aspirants in the field.

BATTALION DINNER.—Lieut.-Col. Villiers, D. A. G., attended the annual dinner of the officers of the 15th Battalion on Tuesday afternoon, which was a very successful affair. The D. A. G. inspected the armory of the companies of the 15th, and was much pleased with the good order in which he found them.

PICTON.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH.—About noon on Tuesday, Mr. Wakeman Loe, a retired farmer living in Pictou, accidentally ran a sharp shoe knife into his thigh, severing an artery, from the effects of which he died to-day. Mr. Loe was about 35 years old and was highly respected. He retired from his farm about two years ago and came to Pictou to reside.

AUSTRALIAN ANNEXATION.

The extremely interesting Conference now in progress at Sydney, N. S. W., is discussing two important questions: 1. The proposed annexation of the New Hebrides, New Guinea and other South Sea Islands to Australia; and 2. The federation of the provinces of Queensland, New South Wales, South Australia, Western Australia, Tasmania and New Zealand. The premier of New South Wales is president, and delegates are present from each of the Provinces. The population and revenue of the communities represented are as follows:

	Population.	Revenue.
Victoria	920,000	$27,500,000
New South Wales	850,000	$5,000,000
New Zealand	550,000	$2,000,000
South Australia	18,750,000	$1,750,000
Queensland	250,000	$1,250,000
Tasmania	128,000	$5,500,000
Western Australia	25,000	$2,500,000
Total	2,088,000	$104,250,000

A cable despatch says the conference has unanimously passed a resolution in favor of the annexation of the New Hebrides, New Guinea and other South Sea Islands.

A Good Man to the Fore.

The presence of Mr. Thomas Cowan, the extensive manufacturer of Galt, upon the platform in West Middlesex, speaking in the Liberal Conservative interest, is a powerful testimony in favor of the Policy of that party to the country. Mr. Cowan was one of those old-time Reformers who saw that the salvation of Canadian industry rested only with altered fiscal regulations. He was one of those who appealed in vain to Sir Richard Cartwright for a measure of protection to Canadian labor; one of those whom the Grit-rulers sent away empty, declaring that it were better to be dependent upon foreigners than to make an effort toward self-help. It was not until all argument had failed to impress the Cartwrights and Mackenzies with the gravity of the case, that Mr. Cowan, and those who thought with him, decided to throw off allegiance to Gritism, and support any party that would restore the lost ground of our industries.—London Free Press.

France and Tongkin.

PARIS, Dec. 5.—A correspondent transmits a despatch from Haiphong, Tonquin, which states that owing to the attack by the Black Flags upon Hakinong on the 17th of November a state of siege had been proclaimed at the latter place by Admiral Courbet. Some Annamite mandarins who have been convicted of complicity in the movements of bands of Chinese have been arrested. The despatch says offensive operations on the part of the French forces are imminent, and that the health of the troops is excellent. It is stated that the Marquis Tung, the Chinese ambassador, has received a reply from the Government of China to the last note of Prime Minister Ferry regarding the Tonquin question.

Dakota vs. Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 5.—Assistant Land Commissioner Hamilton says the new land regulations will cause many Dakota settlers to make homes in southern Manitoba. He predicts they will come over in flocks, as they will have many advantages here more beneficial than in Dakota.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN:

My course as Councillor during the present year has been severely criticised, but I can only say that every act of mine in the Council was prompted by my conviction of what was just and right to the ratepayers. I entered the Council without personal interest of any kind to serve, determined to advance the interests of the ratepayers to the best of my ability, and, as far as my single efforts could do so, to conduct the business of the Town on the same sound business principles that every one of you applies to the conduct of your own private affairs.

This course, opposed as it was to the loose and extravagant manner in which the majority in the Council have been accustomed to carry on your business, naturally called down upon me a storm of abuse, which, however, the courage of my convictions has enabled me to bear without difficulty.

Many important matters have been before the present Council, and, as my opponent, Councillor Paterson, holds views on these different from my own, I shall here state a few of them, hoping to have the opportunity of discussing the merits of our opposite opinions before you with him.

FIRE PROTECTION.

I am opposed to paying by a general tax for hydrants taken by the Town for fire protection, believing it to be unjust to ask ratepayers living outside of the fire limits to pay for the protection of the centre of the town.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject are directly opposed to mine.

HOUSE OF REFUGE.

As chairman of the Charity Committee this year, I have had excellent opportunities of judging of the necessity for such an institution, and am forced to conclude that at the present time it is not required. No doubt some few cases could be found in our midst which it would be extremely convenient to send to such an institution, if we had it, but the immense cost of building and maintaining a Refuge would be out of all proportion to the benefit to be derived from it. In the future this may not be so. You may therefore rest assured that, if I have the honor to be elected by you to the Mayoralty, I will use my influence to prevent this burden being added to your already heavy taxes.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject also are, I believe, opposed to mine.

CIVIC SALARY.

I am not in favor of attaching a salary to the office of either Mayor or Councillor, believing that the opportunity which you thus afford them of proving themselves faithful servants, and worthy of your confidence, ought to be a sufficient recompense for their time and trouble. I understand Mr. Paterson's views on this point also are at variance with mine.

CLERK AND TREASURER.

I am opposed to allowing one person to hold the two offices of Clerk and Treasurer. On this point also Mr. Paterson differs from me.

BANK OF TORONTO BUILDINGS.

As the paying for these buildings this year has caused a considerable increase in the amount of taxation, and a good deal of dissatisfaction has been expressed in consequence, a few words from me on this subject will not be out of place. Early in the year there was a general unanimity in the Council as to the desirability of purchasing these buildings on the terms offered by Mr. Stevenson, namely:—$4,500, payable in debentures bearing interest at 5 per cent, running over either 10 or 20 years, but when this matter came up in discussing the estimates, to my surprise, the whole amount (less about $400 received from the Town Trust Commissioners) was asked for this year. I was opposed to this, but was voted down, Councillor McNaughton alone supporting me. Mr. Paterson, whose duty it was, as Chairman of the Finance Committee, to compile the estimates, can perhaps give some satisfactory explanation to the ratepayers for putting this heavy tax upon them. The title to these buildings has not yet, I believe, been perfected. Is it possible that the purchase may yet fall through?

There are many other points on which I might touch, but as this address is already too long, I shall only say that I am opposed to all jobbery and ring, and to the transacting of the town's affairs in secret conclaves and not in either open Council or Committee.

I am in favor of progress and municipal reform, and where any reform can be effected in the management of our municipal affairs, I am also strongly in favor of such saving.

If elected, I shall use my best efforts to obtain a dollar's worth of your money for every dollar expended.

I am now in your hands, and it is for you to say by your votes whether my conduct during the year and my position on the foregoing important matters is worthy of your support and confidence.

I remain,

Your obedient servant,

C. W. SAWERS.

ENGLAND.

WALTER POLLOCK, who has acted as assistant conductor of the Saturday Review, has succeeded Mr. Harwood in the editorial chair.

An English physician recommends girls who would be beautiful to eat meat once a day, pickles once a week, and sweetmeats once a year; also to take a cold bath and a five mile walk each day.

At a recent auction sale in Worcestershire, England, some old tankards and spoons of the period of James II. and Anne were bought in at the almost incredible rate of thirty-eight shillings per ounce.

As London grows bigger it appears to grow better. In 1831, when the population of London was little more than a million and a half, there were 31,316 apprehensions for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. In 1882, with a population which had increased to 4,990,932, the apprehensions had fallen off to 26,296.

On the day following the Guildhall banquet, according to old custom, a large number of poor persons who had received tickets of recommendation from the Lord Mayor and Sheriff's Committee attended at Guildhall yard, where the usual distribution of such viands as had not been consumed at the Lord Mayor's banquet took place. All kinds of dishes left untouched from the previous night were equitably divided among those possessed of the necessary tickets, many a home being gladdened by the welcome gifts.

THREE sailed for America last month probably one of the oldest emigrants that ever left England. He is known in Acornington as old James Howarth, and is 82 years of age. He has worked at Plantation Mill print works for 50 years, and returns with his son, who has been in America 21 years. He received a farewell greeting from four sisters, the youngest of whom is over 60 years of age. He is hale and hearty.

For several weeks in the publishing department of the Religious Tract Society the demand for the books specially prepared for the Luther commemoration has been so incessant as to make it difficult to keep pace with it. The "Luther Broadsheet," which is simply a large bill with a portrait of the Reformer and the dates of the chief events in his life, has been very popular. The first issue of 10,000 was taken up in a day, and the demand for it since by the heads of Sunday and day schools has been at the rate of not less than 12,000 a day. The cheap and popular edition of "The Life of Luther," issued in October last, has been received with such general favor that the eighth thousand is now in course of printing.

"Twenty-four a Clock." The endeavor to make a uniform time standard throughout the country gives especial interest just now to another proposed change, which has frequently heretofore been suggested. It is that of numbering all the hours of a day up to twenty-four consecutively, instead of using the "A.M." and "P.M." as has always been the custom. One of the western railroads, the Cleveland, Akron and Columbus, has recently adopted this system, and issued time cards on the twenty-four hour plan, counting the day to begin and end at midnight, which, it is said, has been used with great satisfaction by the employees and the public. To change watches and clocks to accommodate the new system it is proposed to put the additional numeral in a circle on the dial just inside of those now on the face, reading the outside figures for the time up to 12 o'clock noon, and those on the inside thereafter after up to "24 o'clock" midnight.

The sending out of "standard time" from the National Observatory at Washington to principal places in the country has been a regular practice, and the authorities are ready and willing to telegraph the time regularly to any point in the United States to those who are prepared to receive it. The following is a description of time signals, 7th meridian, mean time, to be sent out by the United States Naval Observatory on and after November 18:

The signals to be sent out by the Observatory are wholly automatic, and consist of a series of short "make" marks, produced in an open telegraph circuit by the beats of a mean time clock, the pendulum closing the circuit at each beat. The signals begin at 11 h. 56 m. 45 sec., and cease at 12 h. 00 m. 00 sec., 75th meridian, mean time. During that interval there is a "make" at the beginning of every second, except that in each minute the "make" corresponding to the 29th second, and to the 55th, 56th, 57th, 58th, and 59th seconds are omitted. Thus the first "make" after the pause of five seconds always marks the beginning of a minute, and the first make after the pause of one second marks 30 seconds. In order to distinguish the last minute and give time to manipulate switches to time balls, controlling clocks, etc., the make ceases after 11 h. 59 m. 59 sec., and until 12 h. 00 m. 00 sec., when there is a single make, and the signals cease. When these signals are received at points where the time of 90th meridian is used, they will give the time from 10 h. 56 m. 45 sec., to 11 h. 00 m. 00 sec., or just one hour earlier than when representing 75th meridian time; otherwise the signals will be read in the manner above described. Seventy-fifth meridian time is 8 m. 12.03 seconds earlier than Washington time.

Foundrymen Coming to Toronto. The World learned on Wednesday that Messrs. E. Leonard & Sons, the well known manufacturers of farm engines, etc., of London, Ont., were prospecting in Toronto with a view to removing to that city. This firm employs 200 men.

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure. The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, when as if pin-worms were crawling above the parts affected. If allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT" is a pleasant, sure cure. Also for Itch, Red, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barbers Itch, Eczema, all early, crusty Skin Diseases. Sent by mail for 50 cents; 3 boxes, 1.25. (In Canada add 25c.) FROM ALL OVER.

THE Chicago wheelmen will make another tour through Canada next year, beginning at the Falls.

A new German loan of twenty-eight million marks, bearing four per cent. interest, has been authorized.

A DUEL is pending between two journalists, members of the German Reichstag, on account of obnoxious remarks concerning the Liberal press uttered by one of them.

BEWARE of that Cough! It may kill you; cure it at once with Dr. Carson's Pulmonary Cough Drops, it never fails. Large Bottles at 50 cents. For sale everywhere.

A CURE FOR SORE THROAT.—Mr. Wm. Allen, of Acton, speaks highly of Hagar's Yellow Oil as a household remedy for colds, sore throat, stiff neck, croup, etc., as well as for burns, scalds, and other injuries of common occurrence in every family.

THE immigration returns show that up to November of this year nearly seventeen thousand more people settled in the Dominion than at the corresponding date in 1887.

A SECRET agreement is said to have been concluded between Spain and Germany against "revolutionary eventualities," which has received the adhesion of other monarchies.

AFTER TWENTY YEARS.—A Lough of Alpena, Michigan, was afflicted for twenty years with dyspepsia and general debility. All treatment failed until he tried Burdock Blood Bitters, which gave him speedy and permanent relief.

THE Grand Trunk western express had a narrow escape by one of the wheels of the locomotive bursting while passing St. Romild. It was finally brought to a standstill opposite Hadlow without further casualty.

HE SPEAKS FROM EXPERIENCE.—R. N. Wheeler, of Everton, some six years ago was attacked with a severe form of inflammation of the lungs, leaving him with a severe cough. He speaks highly of Hagar's Pectoral Balsam, which cured him, the complaint not having troubled him since.

It is now considered certain that the Canada Southern intends to acquire the charter of the St. Catharines and Niagara Central railway and build a road connecting with the Canada Pacific system at Toronto.

A GOOD REMEDY.—Children are not often tortured now-a-days with bitter Aloes, Brimstone, and Treacle, and the many nauseous remedies of the older times. Freeman's Worm Powders are pleasant to take, contain their own purgative, and safely and effectually remove all ordinary species of worms afflicting children or adults.

AN AFFLICTED CLERGYMAN.—The Rev. Wm. Stott, an English clergyman, of Warton, who for 23 years a terrible sufferer, with Scrofulous Abscess, which the best medical skill failed to cure. The internal and external use of Burdock Blood Bitters cured him, and for nearly three years he remained hale and hearty.

MRS. ELIZABETH MASON.—Dr. M. Souville & Co. Gentlemen.—Yours of last week to hand, and in reply to your enquiry I have much pleasure in stating that from the first time of using the spirometer and the medicine I have improved very much. The bronchitis has entirely left me. I sleep well and have a good appetite. I must also add, that coming to you as I did as a last resort, the cure effected has been wonderful. Gratefully yours, Mrs. E. MASON.

Our Canadian Silk Industry is prosperous. The great difficulty to be contended with is the low grade of goods required. In nothing is this more apparent than in the comparatively small article of sewing silks. The demand in Canada seems to be for cheap quality, buyers forgetting that a cheap thread must necessarily be a fine and consequently a weak one. Messrs. Belding, Paul & Co. make three grades of spool silk; of these different qualities the poorest one has by far the largest sale, at the same time they constantly hear of complaints of poor sewing silk. If ladies will take the trouble to ask for Belding Paul & Co.'s own brand, and see that their name is on the end of each spool, they will be sure of getting the best made.

Advice to Mothers. Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer. Mothers who use it will find it a great relief. It is so simple and easy to use. It cures dysentery and diarrhea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

THANKS.

I desire to return my thanks to my many friends for their liberal patronage during the year now drawing to its close, and in doing so, I beg to say that all who may favour me with their custom, shall have as heretofore, my best attention.

I recognize the fact that the time to give bargains is when there is a demand for goods. The demand is now here as the Christmas holidays are now drawing nigh, and we shall soon be entering upon the New Year.

I have therefore decided to reduce my stock, and shall offer during this month

All Dress Goods,
Mantles,
Mantle Cloths, and Millinery,

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES, and all other goods in proportion.

It will pay you to give me a call, and to call early is the best.

Wishing all the compliments of the Season.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1883.

LOCAL NEWS

Lager Beer.
A fresh supply of Lager Beer just received at Calise House.

The Waterworks.
The Waterworks Company have ordered a car load of five inch pipe from Hamilton. The pipe will be used in extending the mains to the Midland station, as the railway has arranged for a supply of water.

Methodist Bazaar.
The second annual bazaar of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church will be held at the residence of Mr. Geo. A. Cox during the afternoon and evening of Friday, Dec. 7th. A programme of choice vocal and instrumental music will be an attraction at the evening sale. Admission in the afternoon 10c; evening 20c.

Midland Railway of Canada.
The traffic of the above railway for the week ending Dec. 1st, 1883, was as follows:—Passengers and mails, $6,510.09; freight, $17,996.61; Total, $24,506.70, as compared with $16,877.35 for the corresponding week of 1882, being an increase of $7,629.35; and the aggregate traffic to date is $1,045,883.21, being an increase of $45,642.23 over 1882.

Cold and Stormy To-Night.
The weather probabilities for this district, for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Strong winds and gales from the south and south-west; mild, cloudy weather, with rain, followed by colder weather; snow and northwesterly gales by night.

"London to Jerusalem."
On the evening of Thursday, Dec. 13th, the Rev. Hugh Johnston, M. A., B. D., of the Metropolitan Church, Toronto, will deliver a lecture on "From London to Jerusalem," in the George Street Methodist Church, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. Mr. Johnston is an able and eloquent speaker, and has won high praise from the Toronto press for a course of descriptive lectures delivered in that city.

The Auburn Mills.
During the last few weeks rumours have been circulated in Peterborough, and especially in some neighbouring villages, that the Auburn Woollen Mills were not working full time and that probably they would soon close down. These reports are entirely without foundation. We understand that the mills are not only working full time, but the employees in some departments are working over time, and the mills were perhaps never more crowded with work than at present.

University of Toronto.
At a meeting of the Peterborough Association of Graduates held at the Mechanics' Institute on Wednesday the following resolutions were passed:—"That in the opinion of this Association the funds now at the disposal of the University of Toronto and University College are inadequate to enable them to properly carry on the work imposed upon them, and to keep pace with the times, and that the Government should be requested to furnish such additional assistance as may be required to put the national institution in a thorough state of efficiency." Mr. Jeffers and Mr. E. B. Edwards left on Thursday for Toronto to attend the meeting of the Executive Committee of Convocation.

L. O. L.
At the regular monthly meeting of L. O. L. No. 49, held on Thursday evening in the District Orange Hall, the following officers were duly elected and installed for the ensuing year:—
Bro. Jas. Batten, W. M.
" Wm. Green, D.
" Robert Baker, Chap.
" J. S. Hall, Sec.
" J. George Browne, Treas.
" J. Graham Weir, D. of C.
" Wm. Robinson, 1st Com.
" R. Leeson, 2nd Com.
" Thomas Chapman, 3rd Com.
" I. Dorman, 4th Com.
" Chas. Manning, 5th Com.
" J. G. Browne, P. M.

Police News.
Three tramps occupied the cells last night, and there was a clear sheet at the Court this morning. An intoxicated man was arrested to-day and lodged in the lock-up.

Spectacles.
Testimonial from Peter Lynch, Esq., Q.C.:—
HALIFAX, N.S., May 29, 1883.
I hereby certify that I have been using a pair of Mr. Laurance's Spectacles for the last eighteen years, with great satisfaction and benefit to my eyes.
PETER LYNCH.
Mr. Laurance has located his office for a few days at the Medical Hall, Peterborough, after Dec. 11.

HASTINGS.
SAD CASE OF PARALYSIS.—The Hastings Star says:—"We regret to hear that Mr. Jas. S. Fowlds has been stricken with paralysis."
CONCERT.—A concert under the auspices of the Presbyterian Sabbath School will be held in the Town Hall, on the evening of Friday, 14th inst.

LITERARY ASSOCIATION.—The Hastings Literary Association met on Friday evening in the council chamber. The meeting was opened in the usual way, the minutes were read and approved. The general business, which consisted of the election of officers for the ensuing month, are as follows:—Mr. W. Oakman, President; Mrs. Thompson, Vice-President; Mr. Paton, critic; Mr. Oakman, H. Nelson and E. Brough, committee. Miss Tucker was duly proposed and admitted as a member. The programme consisted of a reading by Miss Shaw, "Lead us not into Temptation," an essay by Miss E. Peters, on truthfulness; a recitation by Miss W. Fowlds, "The last hymn." By the request of the meeting Miss Hood gave a reading, "The Two Glasses," and Mr. Paton, "How he saved St. Michael." The meeting adjourned at 10 p.m.

Mr. Chamberlain on the Irish Franchise.
LONDON, Dec. 5.—Mr. Chamberlain, President of the Board of Trade, speaking at Wolverhampton, said the members of the Government are firmly united. All are pursuing the same general object, and are animated with equal loyalty to the great chief. It is the bounden duty of the liberal party to do its utmost to remove just causes of discontent and dissatisfaction in Ireland; it must no longer tolerate such a sham, fraud, and transparent imposture as the present Irish Parliamentary representative system, where only one in twenty-five has a vote. The perpetuation of this injustice would justify disaffection and give the leaders of the Irish party the strongest arguments for separation, as showing that it was impossible to obtain justice from the British Parliament, and give fresh vigour to the agitation which it is our duty to ally.

Word from Hanlan.
Hanlan, writing from San Francisco of Stevenson, the California man, says:—"I have seen Stevenson rowing, and think he is one of the best men in the world if some one would show him how to row. You know that sometimes men can row faster than at other times, but he is a great man. Now, mind you, I don't think he can row three miles in fifteen minutes. He stands six feet three, with a long reach, and weighs about 150 pounds. I am not in the best possible condition myself, but I think that, with four or five good rows, I can beat him. I have just received a cablegram from Australia, which says they will match Trickett with me for £1,000 a side, and allow me £300 for expenses, also one-third of the gate money. I will do nothing until I get there."

The Cost of Mowat's Madness.
A Rat Portage correspondent of the Mail says:—"By the way, I hear that during the last year the Mowat Government has spent its wages for constables, whiskey, firearms legal advice for their law breakers, and the equipment of the expedition—and this is exclusive of the sums that Pattullo, Burden, Lyon, and other carpet-baggers who have been electioneering will draw from the treasury—the considerable sum of $57,000! This is a pretty big sum for Ontario to pay for an affair which has resulted in nothing but bad feeling and injury to us, and for proceedings which after all leave us where we were before they were commenced."

Peace or War.
Public opinion, says the Paris correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph, is as it has been gauged in Paris, is altogether in favour of war. Even the Conservatives maintain that the honor of France is engaged, and it is now too late to withdraw. No Frenchman has the slightest doubt of the ease with which the enterprise will be speedily brought to a successful issue. A man whose position entitles him to be thought a reasonable politician, said:—"A war with China is nothing more than a short and brilliant campaign, plenty of loot for the troops, a number of flags and valuable curiosities brought home and our colonial empire established."

The House of Representatives.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. Ex-Clerk McPherson has prepared a statement showing that the House of Representatives is composed of 198 Democrats, 118 Republicans, 5 Read Justers, 3 Independents, and 1 Greenback Labour. There are two vacancies.

An Editor's Tribute.
Theron P. Keator, Editor of Ft. Wayne, Ind., "Gazette," writes: "For the past five years I have always used Dr. King's New Discovery, for coughs of most severe character, as well as for those of a milder type. It never fails to effect a speedy cure. My friends to whom I have recommended it speak of it in some high terms. Having been cured by it of every cough I have had for five years, I consider it the only reliable and sure cure for Coughs, Colds, etc." Call at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store and get a Free Trial Bottle. Large size $1.00.

THE VITAL FORCES are speedily renewed by Mack's Magnetic Medicine, the great brain and nerve food. It is the best and cheapest medicine ever discovered. Guarantees issued only by Ormond and Walsh. See advertisement in another column.

A DIFFICULTY OVERCOME—It is often very difficult to get children to take medicine, and especially worm remedies, which they often require. Dr. Low's Pleasant Worm Syrup is not only agreeable to take, but a safe and certain cure for all varieties of worms, including tape worms, that produce serious disturbance with children and adults.

The Greatest Healing Compound.
Is a preparation of carbolic acid, vasoline and cerate called McGregor & Park's Carbolic Cerate. It will cure any sore, cut, burn or bruise when all other preparations fail. Call at John McKee's Drug Store, and get a package. Twenty-cents is all it costs.

B. LAURANCE'S SPECTACLES

MR. B. LAURANCE, of the above mentioned Establishments, has the honour to announce to the Citizens of Peterborough and surrounding country that he will locate his Office at

The MEDICAL HALL, (Taylor & Macdonald)

Corner of George and Hunter Streets, Peterborough.

For a few days only, commencing TUESDAY, DECEMBER 11th, with a complete assortment of the above Lenses. Laurance's Spectacles, so well known and appreciated in the United Kingdom, will be offered by him to spectacle wearers at the same prices they are sold at in England. Ground on scientific principles, from either the clearest and purest glass, or from optical glass especially manufactured for the purpose, they are without exception best adapted to restore the ravages of age and to restore perfect vision. For these reasons they are especially recommended by the most eminent men of the faculty.

MR. B. LAURANCE will adapt Lenses without extra charge, and his invaluable services will be placed at the disposal of Messrs. Taylor & Macdonald's customers for a few days only, commencing on the above mentioned date. Each eye will undergo a special examination, and the Spectacles will be fitted with the particular lens best suited to the condition of each eye, and as no better opportunity will ever be offered for persons with impaired sight to be properly suited, he trusts this opportunity will be duly appreciated. Mr. Laurance has also received testimonials from the following distinguished personages and thousands of others:—

Lieut.-Gen. Sir Patrick McDougall, K.C.M.G., Chief Justice James McDonald, N.S., late Minister of Justice,
Dr. Sullivan, President Medical Association of Canada,
Professor of Principles and Practice of Surgery, Royal College Physicians and Surgeons, Kingston.

Large Hogs.

Large hogs appear to be plentiful this season. One purchased this morning by Mr. Flavell from Mr. John Morrow, of Belmont, weighed 545 pounds, and another weighed by Mr. Edward Hickey, of Emily, weighed 485 pounds.

Found Guilty.

A telegram from Chicago on Dec. 7th says that John Fleming and Frank Loring were on that day found guilty of participation in the "Fund W" frauds. The firm known as Fleming & Merriam advertised to do a commission business, and induced a great many people to invest in "Fund W." It is estimated that they collected over $1,000,000. Merriam is supposed to be a myth.

The Last Stone Laid.

The last stone of the Ontario and Quebec bridge across the Otonabee was laid this afternoon in the presence of the inspectors and contractors. The masonry on the bridge is now complete. We learn that the track layers reached Norwood, from the east, on Friday, and the rails are laid westward from Peterborough about twenty-seven miles. The station houses along the line are well advanced, and everything promises a speedy completion of this great undertaking.

Personal.

Mr. W. C. Langdon, travelling agent for the Toronto Morning News is at the O'Connell House and proposes to remain in town a few days in the interest of that paper, which is meeting with much success.

The Rev. S. A. Dyke, of the Canadian Baptist, will occupy the pulpit of the Baptist Church to-morrow.

We are happy to learn that Mr. Grundy, acting Registrar of the county, is much better, and that he expects to be in his office again in a few days.

Messrs. E. S. Vinden, of Port Hope, and J. R. Dundas, of Lindsay, Directors of the Midland Railway, and Wm. J. Davis Bennett, Mechanical Superintendent of the same road, registered at the Oriental Hotel to-day.

Fenelon Falls Canal.

Mr. Hector Cameron waited upon the Acting Minister of Railways and Canals with reference to the utilization of the canal at Fenelon Falls for water power.

Very Remarkable Recovery.

Mr. Geo. V. Willis, of Manchester, Mich., writes: "My wife has been almost helpless for five years, so helpless that she could not turn over in bed alone. She used two bottles of Electric Bitters, and is so much improved, that she is able now to do her own work. Electric Bitters will do all that is claimed for them. Hundreds of testimonials attest their great curative power. Only fifty cents a bottle at Taylor & McDonald.

If there is a burglar lurking in the dry goods trade, Turnbull covers it. Beautiful Green Bannock Towels only twenty cents a pair. Remember the place.

POLICE COURT.

THEFT.

SATURDAY, Dec. 8.—Charles Sims was charged with stealing an overcoat belonging to Samuel Mathers, out of the Croft House, on Saturday, Nov. 24th. He pleaded not guilty.

SAMUEL MATHERS identified the coat as his by the cloth and by marks on it. Some changes had been made in it; the fly had been taken off and new buttons put on. The silk handkerchief in it was also his. He paid $21 for it. He left it in Croft's Hotel on Saturday Nov. 24th, and missed it the next evening.

WM. CROFT, hotelkeeper, said that Mr. Mathers told him on Sunday evening that his coat had been stolen. He (Mr. Croft) made enquiries about it, and also got a piece of the cloth and gave it to the constables. He found that a young man had left a coat which answered the description of that of Mr. Mathers, at T. Dolan & Co.'s to get it changed to a double-breasted coat. He got a description of the man and found that he worked at the pulp mill and called himself Josiah Hays. He got out a search warrant and gave it to Constable Pidgeon.

P. C. PIDGEON said that he went to a boarding house and asked whether a man named Sims or Hays boarded there. The landlady said that Hays boarded there, and conducted him to his room. Found the overcoat hanging up in the room. Went to the pulp mill and arrested the prisoner, who returned to the room in which the coat had been found to change his clothes. The prisoner said he got the coat in Rochester.

PETER SIMONS testified that the prisoner brought the coat to T. Dolan & Co.'s and got the fly taken off and the coat made into a double-breasted one.

ANDREW MCNEIL, merchant, recognized the coat as one made in his place for Mr. Mathers. The price of it was $21.

The PRISONER, having received the usual warning, said that he got the coat at Bethany on Monday, the 26th of November; that he traded a gray coat for it, giving $7 to boot.

C. W. ALLEN, foreman at the pulp mill, testified that the prisoner commenced work at the pulp mill on the morning of Monday, Nov. 26, and worked all day.

PETER SIMONS, recalled, testified that the prisoner left the coat in the tailor shop on the night of Saturday, Nov. 24.

The MAGISTRATE said that he found the prisoner guilty, but as he was a young man, and this might have been his first offence he would inflict a light punishment. He sentenced him to three months in gaol at hard labour.

DISCHARGED.

Daniel Cushing, who had been arrested on the suspicion of having assaulted a man on the corner of Hunter and Water streets the previous evening, was called.

The MAGISTRATE said that as the parties at whose instance he had been arrested, did not choose to lay an information he was discharged. He might thank those who did not lay the information, and not the magistrate, for his release.

AN OLD ACQUAINTANCE.

Robert Burns was charged with being a vagrant. "You and I are getting very familiar with each other," said the Magistrate. This was the prisoner's ninth appearance in the Court. He was sentenced to gaol for six months at hard labour, "and," added the Magistrate, "they may take you to the Central Prison."

Turnbull has just placed on his counters a large consignment of bankrupt stock, which he is offering in many instances at less than manufacturer's prices, consisting of goods that every family wants, such as Blankets, Flannels, White-curtains, Gingham, Towelling, Carpets, Hosiery, etc. Call early; these goods are sure to sell quickly at the prices offering.

Bishop of Huron's Departure.

The Bishop of Huron left for his diocese on Friday morning, and will preach in the Oshkosh and in St. Paul morning and evening on Sunday in London. His Lordship's visit will only be temporary, as he returns next week to Montreal, for a brief period however only.

Earthquake in Arkansas.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 6.—A severe shock of earthquake occurred yesterday at Hot Springs, Ark., which lasted 40 seconds and broke glass-ware and crockery. Large rocks were loosened and fell in the cuts of the Kansas City, Springfield, and Memphis Railroad. The shock was accompanied by a loud noise and violent jar.

Our Canadian Silk Industry

is prosperous. The great difficulty to be contended with is the low grade of roads required. In nothing is this more apparent than in the comparatively small article of sewing silks. The great demand in Canada seems to be for a cheap quality, buyers forgetting that a cheap thread must necessarily be fine and consequently a weak one. Messrs. Belding, Paul & Co. make three grades of spool silk; of these different qualities the poorest one has by far the largest sale, at the same time they constantly hear complaints of poor sewing silk. If ladies will take the trouble to ask for Belding Paul & Co's own brand, and see that their name is on the end of each spool, they will be sure of getting the best made.

DR. CAMBON'S Pulmonary Cough Drops.

The prescription of an old Canadian Practitioner. The best remedy for the Lung, in large bottles at 50 cents. For sale everywhere.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS.

CABLE.

A VISIT TO THE POPE.

BRUSSELS, Dec. 7.—The news that the Crown Prince intends to visit the Pope when on his way back from Spain comes, as a Berlin paper expresses it, as a thunder out of a clear sky. The Centre party was quite ignorant of any such intention on the part of the Prince. The visit is considered here as prospective of peace with the Papacy, and probably the abolition of the May laws.

MOB OUTBREAK IN CANTON.

HONG KONG, Dec. 7.—Another mob has destroyed the chapel built by native Christians at Canton. The city is in an excited condition. People think a general panic has arisen for the purpose of driving out foreigners.

COURBET'S PREPARATIONS.

HONG KONG, Dec. 7.—Admiral Meyer telegraphs that Admiral Courbet's preparations in Tonquin are far advanced, and all his steam launches are ready to support Courbet's operations by movements on the canal near Haioi, Bac Ninh, and Sontay.

DOCUMENTS DESTROYED.

BRUSSELS, Dec. 7.—All the documents connected with the foundation of Belgian independence, including the original constitutional charter, were destroyed by the fire in the legislative palace at Brussels yesterday. The damage amounts to twelve million francs.

A TRIPLE ROYAL MEETING.

BRUSSELS, Dec. 7.—The National Zeitung publishes to-morrow a rumour current in diplomatic circles of a probable meeting of the three emperors, namely, the Emperors of Germany, Russia, and Austria. It is said that a meeting was arranged by M. de Giers when he was visiting Prince Bismarck here recently.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT JOBBERY.

Is it advisable that the Department of Education should be under the control of a gentleman, who has given practical proof that he thinks it right for officers of the Department to have their services "secured" by publishers of school books? Is it likely that under the auspices of Mr. G. W. Rose, who has thus illegally trafficked in his official position, the reign of favoritism, improper influences and disregard of economy in our schools will come to an end? In future, when chronicle the periodical official visits of our School Inspectors, our reporters may also have to mention for what publishing firm they are travelling, and what they say as to their success in pushing business.

THE SOUTH HURON BOTTEN BOROUGHS.

Some of Mr. Mowat's supporters are objecting to Conservative criticisms of the arrangement by which Mr. McMillan has retired from the representation of South Huron in order that a safe seat may be found for Sir Richard Cartwright. In so doing they altogether miss the force of the objection. There can be no doubt that a member is at liberty to resign if he thinks fit, and that it may even be a meritorious act for him to practice self-abnegation in order that a leader of his party may find a seat in Parliament. The objection is to a member agreeing that he shall be at the back of a party leader, as in the arrangement between Mr. McMillan and Mr. Blake. Such an understanding degrades the member from the constitutional position of representative of his constituency to being the mere nominee and creature of his party leader, who can thus discharge him without even a month's notice.

CANADA IN EUROPE.

At the luncheon tendered to our late Governor-General on his arrival at Liverpool, the Marquis of Lorne gave expression to the following remark:—

"Parts of Canada which used to be terra incognita are now populated with Britons, and much more interest is evinced in that beautiful land than formerly."

However much those who, because they happen to belong to the opposition, deem it their duty to depreciate and underestimate the prosperity of the Dominion, it is impossible to be blind to the fact that Canada has, within the last few years, been brought most prominently and favourably before the notice of her Mother Country. The deplorable ignorance that existed in England a short time ago, not only as regards our actual condition, but also of our immense commercial powers of progress, has given place to an enlightened admiration and praise. For example, the Times, in its article on the departure of Lord Lorne, describes us as

"The least costly, the least troublesome, and the greatest of our colonial possessions. Canada is a young country and a growing country but it is quite recent that its rate of progress has been at all equal to its opportunities, and that the ample gifts of nature in its more distant provinces have ever begun to be turned to account." "Canada has begun to move and to move rapidly." "The possibilities of the future must be set down as incalculable."

Listen to the panegyrics of Lord Carnarvon in his speech on Canada and Emigration. "No one can doubt how great the future of Canada must be if the people only persevere with the same judgment and moderation and good sense which has characterized the whole of their legislation and proceedings for many years. I will only say, in conclusion, that, although I would never advise any man hastily or lightly to leave the Old Country, but if he once made up his mind to go, I honestly believe that no where would he find a healthier life, a friendlier welcome, or a better home than in British North America."

We cannot for one moment believe that these distinguished men, holding high and influential positions, who are looked up to for advice and information, and who have themselves tested the merits of this country by personal inspection, are merely uttering words of flattery. Especially so, as they speak at a time when the vital questions of over-population, emigration, choice of destination etc., are clamouring for answer. No possible cynical motive could induce them to utter anything but the veriest truth. Is not this a sufficient answer to the contemptible detractors of our country?

An action is to be brought against the United States Government by parties in Texas to recover the value of slaves emancipated during the war.

HURWOOD.

READERS ADOPTED.—The Register says that the Hurwood School Board have adopted Gage's readers for use in the schools.

PROPERTY SOLD.—Mr. J. N. Paget, of Dummer, has purchased Mr. J. D. Ackerman's beautiful residence on Spring St., paying therefor the sum of $1,000. Mr. Paget intends going into grain buying as soon as the O. & Q. is completed.

ANOTHER NEW BUILDING.—Mr. Stewart, of Belleville, will complete the erection of a handsome dwelling house, north of Mr. Thom. Dick's residence on Colborne Street, in the spring. The building will cost between $7,000 and $8,000. The Messrs. Harper's, of this place, have the contract.

ROXBURGH'S NEW BUILDING.—The fourth and last story is being added to Roxburgh's new block. The brickwork was completed last week, the work being performed in a very creditable manner by Mr. H. Davis. The contractors, the Messrs. Harper's, are rushing the job through and will have the building ready for occupation at an early date.

TWELVE DEER IN SIX DAYS.—Messrs. Thom. and Jas. Wilde, Havelock; and W. Ellis, of Blairton, went back to Deer Lake the other week for their customary fall hunt, and succeeded in bagging twelve deer during the short time they were out—only six days. They report having spent a very pleasant time—the weather being all that could be desired and game plentiful. The success of the party is attributed in a great measure to the presence of Messrs. T. and J. Wilde, two veteran hunters and capital shots.

OMAKEE.

ACCIDENT.—The Herald says that Mr. G. W. Shaw, of this village, while shopping wood on his father's farm last week, managed in some way to let the axe glance giving himself a bad cut on one of his feet.

FOOT SHAKED.—One day last week a young man named George Johnson, met with a very painful accident while assisting at a threshing on the farm of Mr. Thomas Graham, Kelly. It seems that when he was in the act of stepping upon the horse power he slipped and his left foot getting caught between the cog wheels was so badly smashed from the ball of the big toe that it was found necessary to amputate the toe a few days after the accident.

FIRE IN EMILY.—We regret to learn that Mr. Isaiah Wilson who lives on the 15th cor. of Emily, about two and a half miles from Omsome, suffered great loss by fire on Saturday night, having had his two barns, stable, all the season's crop of grain, hay, straw, implements and one calf destroyed. The cause was a fire that of an incendiary as there had not been a light of any kind used in the barn or stable that night. There was a slight insurance, but we could not learn the amount.

METHODIST CHURCH MEETING.—The protracted meeting in the Methodist Church are still continued, and are doing much good.

BOARD OF HEALTH.—At the meeting of the Council on Monday evening a by-law was passed appointing E. F. Kidd, M.D., H. S. Ruby, Robt. C. Cain, F. J. Ryan a board of health.

BUSINESS CHANGE.—The furniture and undertaking business which has been successfully carried on here for a number of years by Mr. B. Davis, has been purchased by Mr. John B. Morrow, who will keep up the good reputation of the establishment. Mr. Morrow will also deal in Organs and Pianos. We wish him success.—Free Press.

COBOURG.

FIRE.—The Standard Star says that at about 11 o'clock on Tuesday an alarm of fire was sounded. It was found to be located in St. Peter's Church, where a leak from a defective gas pipe had ignited, it is supposed, the evening previous unknown to the sexton, causing the alarm. Shortly after 3 o'clock on Wednesday morning the fire department were called out, the residence of Mr. George Bickle, Durham street, being discovered on fire. They succeeded in saving the building from total destruction, but the contents including clothing, &c., were almost totally destroyed. The origin of the fire is unknown. Insurance $2,500.

An interview with the Pope.

Bishop Cleary, who is now at Rome, has written a letter to Monsignor Farrelly, giving a detailed account of his interview with the Pope. The Pope's questions were searching and minute, showing how deep an interest he took in every diocese. Amongst other questions, he asked: Do you find your clergy obedient to you? Are they zealous in the cause of religion? Do they give an edifying example of life to their people? His Lordship was also questioned on the state of education in his diocese; the social relations existing between Roman Catholics and Protestant communities; their treatment by the Governor-General, etc.

The Great Lone Land.

Col. Butler, author of the "Great Lone Land," is in the capital. He has revisited the field of his labours, and expresses himself more warmly in favour of the great North-West than ever. He is surprised at the advancement made by the country since he was there before. Fifteen centuries ago it was a wilderness of forest and growth, and the region north of the north branch of the Saskatchewan, which he explored he pronounced to be good land. Thus the further exploration is carried beyond the present known regions the more is made manifest that the Dominion's heritage in the North-West is a goodly one.

Cheese and Butter Factories.

The Agricultural Department of Illinois has been collecting information about the number of cheese factories and creameries in the state. The total number is 409 distributed among the counties in the proportion of from 1 to 43 in each. Nineteen counties have only 1 factory in each, a number have from two to a dozen. Depeque county has 29; Kane 43 and McHenry 51.

French Transports not Wanted.

PARIS, Dec. 6.—Le France states that Admiral Peyron has telegraphed that since the fresh despatch of troops for Tonquin it is not expected that it will be necessary to employ more transports. The statement is considered improbable.

Thousands Say So.

Mr. T. W. Atkins, of Grand, Kan., writes:—"I never hesitate to recommend your Electric Bitters to my customers, they give entire satisfaction and are rapid sellers." Electric Bitters are the purest and the best medicine known and will positively cure Kidney and Liver complaints. Purify the blood and regulate the bowels. No family can afford to be without them. The Mayoralty.

GENTLEMEN:—

As Mr. H. H. Smith, our present Mayor, some time ago signified his intention of not seeking re-election to the office of Mayor of the Town of Peterborough, at the earnest request and solicitation of a very large number of the representative ratepayers, I now offer myself as a candidate for that office.

For many years I, as a Councillor, have represented you and have always striven diligently and faithfully to perform my duty towards my constituents and the public at large, and I now confidently refer you to, and rely upon, my labors and honest exertion in your behalf.

If elected, it will ever be my pleasure and honor to do my utmost to preserve and advance the interests of your town, and by strict integrity, economy and attention to your affairs, to merit the good will and esteem of my fellow citizens.

I do not intend, nor will I be able to make a personal canvass, but take this means of asking the votes of each of the independent electorate of this town, remaining

Your obedient servant,

W. PATERSON, JR.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN:—

My course as Councillor during the present year has been severely criticised, but I can only say that every act of mine in the Council was prompted by my conviction of what was just and right to the ratepayers. I entered the Council without personal interest of any kind to serve, determined to advance the interests of the ratepayers to the best of my ability, and, as far as my single efforts could do so, to conduct the business of the Town on the same sound business principles than every one of you applies to the conduct of your own private affairs.

This course, opposed as it was to the loose and extravagant manner in which the majority of the Council have been accustomed to carry on your business, naturally called down upon me a storm of abuse, which, however, the courage of my convictions has enabled me to bear without difficulty.

Many important matters have been before the present Council, and, as my opponent, Councillor Paterson, holds views on a few of them, hoping to have the opportunity of discussing the merits of our opposite opinions before you with him.

FIRE PROTECTION.

I am opposed to paying by a general tax for hydrants taken by the Town for fire protection, believing it to be unjust to ask ratepayers living outside of the fire limits to pay for the protection of the centre of the town.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject are directly opposed to mine.

HOUSE OF REFUGE.

As chairman of the Charity Committee this year, I have had excellent opportunities of judging of the necessity for such an institution, and am forced to conclude that at the present time it is not required. No doubt some few cases could be found in our midst which it would be extremely convenient to send to such an institution, if we had it, but the immense cost of building and maintaining a Refuge would be out of all proportion to the benefit to be derived from it. In the future this may not be so. You may therefore rest assured that, if I have the honor to be elected by you to the Mayoralty, I will use my influence to prevent its burden being laid to your already heavy taxes.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject also are, I believe, opposed to mine.

CIVIC SALARY.

I am not in favor of attaching a salary to the office of either Mayor or Councillor, believing that the opportunity which you thus afford them of proving themselves faithful servants, and worthy of your confidence, ought to be a sufficient recompense for their time and trouble. I understand Mr. Paterson's views on this point also are at variance with mine.

CLERK AND TREASURER.

I am opposed to allowing one person to hold the offices of Clerk and Treasurer. (In this point also Mr. Paterson differs from me.)

BANK OF TORONTO BUILDINGS.

As the paying for these buildings this year has caused a considerable increase in the amount of taxation, and a good deal of dissatisfaction has been expressed in consequence, a few words from me on this subject will not be out of place. Early in the year there was a general unanimity in the Council as to the desirability of purchasing these buildings on the terms offered by Mr. Stevenson, namely:—$4,500, payable in debentures bearing interest at 5 per cent, running over either 10 or 20 years, but when this matter came up in discussing the estimates, to my surprise, the whole amount (less about $400 received from the Town Trust Commissioners) was asked for this year. I was opposed to this, but was voted down. Councillor McNaughton alone supporting me. Mr. Paterson, whose duty it was, as Chairman of the Finance Committee, to compile the estimates, can perhaps give some satisfactory explanation to the ratepayers for putting this heavy tax upon them. The title to these buildings has not yet, I believe, been perfected. Is it possible that the purchase may yet fall through?

There are many other points on which I might touch, but as this address is already too long, I shall only say that I am opposed to all jobbery and rings, and to the transacting of the town's affairs in secret conclaves and not in either open Council or Committee.

I am in favor of progress and municipal reform, and where any saving can be effected in the management of our municipal affairs, I am also strongly in favor of such saving.

If elected, I shall use my best efforts to obtain a dollar's worth of your money for every dollar expended.

I am now in your hands, and it is for you to say by your votes whether my conduct during the year and my position on the foregoing important matters is worthy of your support and confidence.

I remain,

Your obedient servant,

C. W. SAWERS.

THE MANIAC SKATER.

A TALK OF CANADIAN LIFE.

One of the Canadian rivers—a branch stream that empties itself into the Ottawa, many miles above the modern Canadian capital—stands the town, or village, of P—. It is a pretty place, picturesquely situated on the river's bank, and backed by hills of bold outline, upon whose sides the maple sheds its broad, bright leaf, while their crests are covered by forests of the evergreen hemlock and spruce. Romantic in appearance, the town is also of romantic interest in its history; having been in the earlier days of Canadian colonization a noted rendezvous of fur traders, trappers, and voyageurs—the boatmen made immortal by Moore in his celebrated song.

That was in times past. The fur bearing animals are still found near it, but not in such numbers as of yore; and the trade has sought other centres of activity, and other depots, further off in the great north-western wilderness of Prince Rupert's Land. Still, the town of P— has not been deserted. A considerable population yet remains in it, chiefly descendants of the ancient trappers, voyageurs and coureurs du bois; while the axe of the colonist, echoing in the woods, where once was heard only the crack of the rifle, has brought a new era of prosperity to the place. Above and below it, on the river's bank, large clearings have been made, and handsome houses are seen, reflecting their images in the water.

A mile below the town, and just before the stream mingles its waters with those of the Ottawa, it makes a leap over a bar of rock that runs transversely to its course—forming a beautiful waterfall of some forty or fifty feet in height. Although the stream itself is of inconsiderable size—that is, for Canada—the rocky ridge, thus damming it up, gives it a breadth of two or three hundred yards, which is continued up to the town, and for some distance beyond. This also imparts tranquillity to the current, leaving the river surface as smooth as a sleeping lake; so that during the long Canadian winter the ice formed upon it is of the very best quality for skating.

As a large proportion of the inhabitants of P— are of French origin—Acadians, in short—it need not be told that they are fond of cheerful amusements, and take full advantage of the pastime offered them. On the bright, crisp evenings, almost peculiar to the Canadian winter, men, women and children may be seen in scores, clustered in garments tastefully trimmed with fur, standing in groups upon the smooth shining ice, or shooting and circling about in every direction; while the air resounds with their merry laughter, and the metallic ringing of their skates.

Contests are often carried on between them, as to who can perform the most difficult feat, and out the most complicated figures; and excellence in this pastime—in Canada truly national—is held in high estimation.

About Christmas time these contests are especially common, and full of exciting interest; for in Canada, as in all Christian lands, this is the season of most merriment. Fortunately it is for the villagers of P— when the ice during the last days of December is in good condition; that is, free from snow. If not, however, they will not be balked of their sport. A band of volunteer sweepers, armed with birchen brooms, will soon clear space sufficient for this; and if the white mantle be too dense and heavy for brooms, horses and the snow plough will be employed in its removal.

On a Christmas eve some few years ago the villagers of P— were out in force upon the ice. This was in perfect condition—clear as plate-glass. Not a cloud was to be seen above the long reach of river extending below the town; although a white mantle covered the earth on either bank, when the ice closed in of the hemlocks, and the spreading fronds of the spruce trees were loaded with snow-flakes.

On this Christmas eve King Winter seemed to have taken especial delight in spreading a table so attractive as to draw from out of their houses nearly the whole population of P—. Men, women and children had assembled on the river ice to participate in the delightful sport of skating, or to watch the evolutions of the skaters.

It was, in truth, a grand sight to observe hundreds of both sexes, dressed in various costumes and gliding rapidly over the smooth translucent surface; while shouts and peals of laughter mingled with merry on the still evening air. The low winter sun had already sunk behind the hemlock clad hills, and a bonfire, kindled on the ice, sent up its flames that cast their red glare far along the river. From the village, nestled near its bank the light glided away to the frosted forest on the opposite side—rendering the scene so vivid and beautiful that the skaters as they swept to and fro might easily have been mistaken for the ghostly inhabitants of some supernatural world.

"What splendid skaters!" was the exclamation passing through the crowd, as a young gentleman and lady made their appearance upon the ice, coming rapidly from the bank. They were skating hand in hand, now backward, now forward, now performing some difficult feat, or whirling around in wide, sweeping circles.

"Who are they?" was the question asked by many among the spectators.

"Kate Mackenzie and Frank Scott," was the reply, pointing them out as belonging to the two most prominent families in the neighborhood, whose splendid mansion stood near the river's bank a little further down.

The two skaters, who had thus unexpectedly made their appearance, at once became the object of universal attention, and an admiring crowd soon collected around them.

Observing this, and not appearing to like such a public exhibition, the young lady whispered some words in the ear of her companion, who, suddenly wheeling so as to face down the river, and carrying her round about with him, they few furiously skates shot clear of the crowd, and skated rapidly away from it.

A murmur of dissent followed their departure; while glances of something like disapproval were cast after them, as they glided off under the gleaming twilight. The villagers appeared to think they had been unfairly dealt with, to be thus cheated of a spectacle.

"They are vexed at our leaving them," remarked the young gentleman, as he swept along by the side of his beautiful companion, her hand held in his.

"For what reason?" she innocently asked.

"They do not often see such an accomplished skater as you, Kate."

"As yourself you mean, Frank. It was your performance they so much admired; and now I think of it, it wasn't very graceful of me to have been the cause of disappointing them. Suppose you go back and show them a little more of your skill. Do Frank! I can stay here till you return."

"Anything to please you, my dear Kate." And so saying the young man released the tiny gloved hand of his charming partner, and, after a few long shots was once more in the midst of the villagers, gratifying them with the display to much desired.

More than five minutes were thus spent, during which time the accomplished skater was repeatedly cheered on a greeted with complimentary speeches. Then, bethinking himself of the fair creature he had left alone and in the cold, he was about to break off when the pleased spectators entreated him to remain a moment longer, and once more show them a figure that had especially attracted their eyes.

He consented; repeated the figure called for; and then, realising all further appeals, with one grand stroke he glided from among the people, and off toward the spot where he had left the young lady on the ice.

On peering the place he saw that she was not there, or anywhere in sight.

Where could she have gone?

It occurred to him that while he was entertaining the villagers she might also have rejoined them, and become one of the spectators.

With all speed he hastened back again, and quivered the crowd—in every direction scanning the faces and figures by the red fire-light.

But among them he saw neither features nor form bearing the slightest resemblance to those of the beautiful Kate Mackenzie.

"So," soliloquized he, "she's playing a little trick to surprise me. She has slipped under the river bank, and while I am rushing to and fro in search of her, she is no doubt standing in the shadow of a hemlock and quietly laughing at me."

Yielding to this conjecture he once more pined his skates and shot rapidly back down the river —keeping close alongside the bank, and scanning every spot overshadowed by the dark fronds of the hemlocks.

But he saw no trace there, either in the moonlight or shadow; nor was there any mark made by skates upon the inshore ice.

It now occurred to him that he might discover where she had gone by getting upon the track of her skates and following it up. With this intent he hastened back to the spot where he had left her.

On reaching it a cold thrill shot through his frame, as if the blood had suddenly become frozen in his veins. In addition to the two sets of skate tracks made by himself and the young lady in their passage up and down, he now saw a third, whose deep scores upon the ice showed them to have been made by a man! There were confused curves around the spot, and zig-zagging as if there had been a struggle or some slight difficulty in starting; but beyond that point there were two sets of straight, continuous furrows, running parallel and side by side, as if the skaters had gone away at a rapid rate and with joined hands.

The direction was down the river—towards the home of Miss Mackenzie.

At a glance the young man recognized the thin, tiny mark left by the slender skates of the late partner. But the man who had taken her off, skating so close by her side—who was he? This was the question put by Frank Scott to himself.

A painful suspicion shot through his brain. He remembered that, shortly after leaving the house, they had passed a man upon the ice, who was also on skates. They had brushed so near this man as to see who he was; and in the moonlight had beheld a countenance bearing a most sinister cast. It was the face of Charles St. Clair, a French Canadian, whom Frank knew to be a rival—like himself a suitor for the hand of Miss Mackenzie.

This man had made his appearance in the neighborhood some three months before; coming, no one knew whence. In fact, there was nothing known of him except his name; and this might have been an assumed one. He put up at the principal hotel of the village; appeared to have money, and to be a person of good education. Was it he who had joined Miss Mackenzie upon the ice, and carried her away with him? It could be no other; for Scott now remembered having heard the ring of skates behind, as they were coming up the river from the place where St. Clair had been seen, and where shortly after they had passed him.

The first thought of the lover was one of a most painful nature. It was, in fact, the bitter pang of jealousy. The whole thing had been pre-arranged, and she had willingly gone away with St. Clair, who, though a stranger to others, might be better known to her. The French Canadian, if not what might be called a very handsome man, was, nevertheless, good-looking enough to give cause for jealousy.

It was a fearful reflection for Frank Scott, who was exasperated beyond bounds at being as he fancied, thus duped and slighted. It passed like a spasm; another nearly as painful taking its place. He recalled a rumor that had been for some days current in the neighborhood—of a strangeness observed in the behavior of St. Clair; and he could not but be his sanity. And more forcibly came back to Frank Scott's mind, what he had learned that very morning. How the Frenchman had presented himself at the house of Miss Mackenzie's father; proposed marriage to her; and when refused, had acted in such a strange manner, uttering wild speeches and threats against the life of the young lady—that it had been necessary to use force in removing him from the premises.

Could this be the explanation of her disappearance? Was the man in reality a maniac? Was he now in the act of carrying out the menace he had made—some terrible deed of revenge—under the wild promptings of insanity?

The thoughts came quick—for this whole series of conjectures did not occupy ten seconds of time—and with the last of them Frank Scott threw all his strength into a propulsive effort, and shot off like an arrow down the ice-bound river.

A bend was soon turned, beyond which appeared a stretch of clear ice extending for more than half a mile, and was as smooth as glass. Two forms were dimly discernible; while upon the still frosty air could be heard the faint tinkling of skates at quick intervals repeating their strokes.

Frank Scott had no doubt about one of the distant figures being that of Kate Mackenzie. Nerved by the sight, he threw forth vigor into his stroke, and went sweeping over the smooth surface like a bird upon the wing.

On, past rock, and tree, and hill, and farm-houses sleeping in silence; on in long nervous stride; his eyes flashing, but fixed upon the two forms—every movement becoming more discernible, as the distance lessened between.

And now he was near enough to see that one of the forms was Miss Mackenzie, and the other St. Clair.

The latter, glancing back over his shoulder, recognized his pursuer; and taking a fresh hold on the wrist of his apparently unwilling partner, he carried her on with increased velocity.

She looked back, and saw who was coming after her. The silver light of the moon, falling upon her face, showed an expression of sadness, suddenly changing to hope; then, raising her gloved hand in the air, she sent back a cry for help.

It was not needed. The man, countenance, seen under the soft moon in its appeal for protection, was enough to nerve Frank Scott to the utmost exertion of strength; and he kept on without speaking a word, his whole soul absorbed by the one great desire to overtake and rescue her.

From what? From the grasp of the destroyer—a maniac, as the behaviour of St. Clair now proved him to be.

Merciful heaven! What is that sound heard ahead, and at no great distance?

Scott did not need to ask this question. He knew that it was the roar of water—he knew that a cataract was below. And near below; for, on sweeping round another curve of the river, the black, smooth water could be seen shooting forth from under the field of ice, quick whitened into froth as it struck against some rocks that created the fall.

The pursued saw it first; but soon after the pursuer.

"Stop!" he cried, in a voice choking with agony. "Can the man mean to carry her on—over? Stop, madman!"

St. Clair heard the call, and looked back. The moonlight, falling full upon his face, revealed an expression horrible to behold. His eyes were no longer rolling, but fixed in a terrible stare of determination; while upon his features could be traced a smile of demonic triumph. He spoke no word; but, raising his unemployed arm, pointed to the cataract.

There could be no mistaking his gesture; but what followed made still clearer the dreaded design, giving a loud shriek, that ended in a prolonged peal of laughter, he sped once more in the direction of the open water. Then, throwing all his mad energy into the effort, he shot straight towards it, dragging the young lady along with him.

The crisis had now come; a moment more, and Kate Mackenzie, struggling in the arms of a madman, would be carried over the edge of the ice—over the cataract, and down to certain destruction to the rocks below.

With heart hot, as if on fire, her lover saw her peril, now proximate, and apparently hopeless of being averted. But his head was still cool, and at a glance he took in the situation.

By bearing direct down upon them, he would only increase the momentum of their speed, and force both over the edge of the ice. His only hope lay in making one last vigorous effort to get between them and the open water. A grand sweep might do it; and, without waiting to reflect further, he threw his body forward in the curve of a parabola.

With hands and teeth both tightly clenched, with eyes fixed upon one point, and thoughts concentrated into one great purpose, he passed over the smooth surface like an electric flash. The effort ended in a shock, as his body came in contact with that of St. Clair. A blow from one arm, already raised, sent the latter staggering off along the ice, at the same time that it detached his hold from the waist of his intended victim. This was instantly grasped by her rescuer; who, continuing the sweep thus intercepted, succeeded in carrying her on to a place of safety.

In vain the madman tried to recover himself. The momentum he had obtained by his own previous speed, increased by the powerful blow he received from Scott's clenched fist, forced him on to the extreme edge of the ice, where, losing his equilibrium, he fell flat upon his face. Perhaps he might still have been saved, but for his own frenzied passion. But as the skaters, swept close to the spot where he was lying, the toe of the young lady almost touched him. Clutching rapidly up, he made an effort to seize hold of her ankle, still desirous to drag her down along with him. In this fortunately he failed. But the movement was fatal to himself.

H. LeBRUN, The CITY CLOTHING STORE.

The piece of ice on which he rested on was rotten. It gave way beneath his weight, breaking off with a hoarse crash; and the detached fragment, bearing his body along with it, in another instant whirling over the fall—both to be shattered on the rocks below.

The lovers, now no longer in danger, stood hand in hand, silent and listening. They heard the caudron seething below, but nothing more. That one wild shriek that came from the maniac's lips—as for a moment, his body balanced on the combing of the cataract—was his last utterance. It was succeeded by the hoarse monotone of the waters—to be continued on to Eternity!

INCITING TO VIOLENCE.

We are happy to see that so far the Reformers of West Middlesex, West Simcoe and Cardwell have refused to be led astray by the desperate appeal made to them by Mr. Mowat's leading organ, to lynch Conservatives who may go into these ridings in order to assist their party friends in the pending elections. It was not likely that these incentives to illegal and murderous violence would have effect, for the Reformers of Canada are, happily, superior to their leading journal. They will not treat political opponents, in accordance with the advice of the Globe, as a "band of house-breakers, or of horse thieves," nor take the law into their own hands, because the statutes' laws do not afford sufficient protection. It will be remembered that the same journal advocated the shooting of settlers by squatters, but we fancy that the Globe will have to go south if it cannot be happy without lynch-law.

Railway Notes.

The Toronto World says it is likely that the Ontario and Quebec road will be ironed and bridged right through to Perth before February 1st, and that on that date freight will be run over it to Ottawa. It is not probable that passenger traffic can be accommodated before July 1st, by which time the ballasting ought to be completed. When that is done Toronto and Ottawa will not be more than seven hours apart, with the tendency in the direction of still further reduction.

The Norwood Register of last week contained the following description of the Ontario and Quebec bridge over Crow River:—

"Very little is known of Crow River Bridge on the Ontario and Quebec Railway by the people of this section—the bridge being situated quite a distance from any travelled road. The structure is not so insignificant as some persons would have you believe. Over the river there are two spans of 180 feet each, divided from each other by an island of about 300 feet long. The foundations of the abutments rest on the solid flat rock, of which there is not a lack just there, the stone for the masonry being quarried right alongside the work. These abutments are about twelve feet high, and are both solid and substantial. On these rest an iron truss superstructure, the top of which is about 24 feet above the masonry, and the train running between the iron upright work. This superstructure consists of light sections, bolted together, the four inner sections being cross-tied. Oak ties, 4 inches apart, are laid on the flooring beams, forming a smooth and solid bed for the rails, which are protected by two sets of guard rails on either side. The bridge crosses on a level grade, and on the straight line, and will admit, with perfect safety, the crossing of trains at any speed and of any weight."

Testimonial from John W. Pickup, M. D., L. R. C. S., Edinburgh:—

DEAR SIR,—The spectacles which I purchased from you recently give me every satisfaction, and as an aid to reading, particularly at night, are a luxury with which I could ill afford to dispense. Having had some opportunity of observing the care and attention exhibited by you in adapting lenses, and from the satisfaction expressed by several who have availed themselves of your services as an optician, I can cheerfully endorse the recommendations of Drs. Sullivan and Macdonald in every particular.

Yours sincerely,

POLICE COURT.

COMMITTED AS A FAVOR.
MONDAY, Dec. 10.—Daniel Sullivan, who said he was from Liverpool, was charged by P. C. Adams with being a vagrant. He had appealed for lodging at the police cells every night for a week. He pleaded guilty and asked to be committed to gaol. "Well," said the Magistrate, "I will give you one month in gaol, as a special favor, but when you get out you must leave town, for if you come before me again I may send you to the Central Prison." The prisoner showed his gratitude by returning thanks.

TOWN TIME.

To the Editor of the Review.
Sir,—Is it not disgraceful and discreditable to a town of the size and importance of Peterborough that the Town Council cannot manage and see that the town time is regulated by the railway time. I, and other gentlemen, have just returned from the station too late for the train to Port Hope. We were there at 11 o'clock by the town; the train left at 11.05 Railway time. We were five minutes too soon by the town time, and five minutes too late by the Railway time. This evil should be remedied at once.

Yours truly, X.

A Clergyman Garrotted.
NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—The Rev. Jno. O. Bache, of Grace church, Harlem, was garrotted and robbed of $300, a gold watch and diamond pin by three men on 51st street early last evening. Mr. Bache was severely injured in the struggle. He had drawn money out of the bank, and was probably followed from there.

Departure of the Prince.

MADRID, Dec. 7.—The German Crown Prince with his suite started for Seville to-day incognito. King Alfonso, the Cabinet Ministers, the diplomatic body, and other notables took leave of the Prince at the depot, where the king and prince embraced and kissed each other. It is stated the prince will proceed from Genoa to Rome, to visit the Pope.

Distress Caused by the Constantinople Fire.
A Constantinople special gives particulars of the great fire in the suburb of Haaskioy. Ten thousand persons at least must be rendered homeless, and the hills outside Haaskioy for a couple of miles are covered with poor wretches, men, women and children, sitting by a few household goods that were saved. The sight is most distressing. A great deal of property rescued was subsequently burned by flying embers. The fire commenced in a quarter inhabited by the very poorest class of Jews.

Congress of Cattlemen.
Dr. Loring, Commissioner of Agriculture for the United States, decided to call a National Congress of cattlemen, which was held at Chicago on Thursday, Nov. 15th, during the Fat Stock Show, to consider the question of contagious diseases among domestic animals. It seems contagious pleuro-pneumonia does exist in some portions of the New England States, and this is assigned as a principal reason why British ports are closed against the free admission of American cattle.—Canadian Stock Journal.

Action for $10,000 Against the Herald.
The venerable old Herald has got itself into the legal net by commencing in its dotage to slander citizens. On Thursday an action for libel claiming $10,000 damages was entered by Mr. Greenfield's law firm at the suit of Mr. Geo. W. Craig against the company running the paper, and it is said the action will be pressed to an issue with all despatch. The ground of the suit is that in intriguing to get a new city limit, which is a rarity in the morning, in Montreal, for the next day's issue, the reporter drew upon his fertile imagination, and stated that plaintiff had mysteriously disappeared from his home in the city.

Winter Prices.
Under the august presence of Jack Frost our oyster trade has become very brisk. We are having a lively run on our superior large bulk Oysters, which we are now selling at 35c per quart. Our customers tell us that they are the best for the money in town. Canned Oysters at all prices according to quality. Try our Selects, 40c per can. When once used they will recommend themselves. The public can rely at all times on getting nice fresh Oysters, as we import direct from the packers in Baltimore, therefore we are always sure of getting fresh stock. Don't forget the place, north store, opposite the express office; south store, opposite the market square, George street.

O'DONNELL'S SENTENCE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—A large delegation of Congressmen called upon the President to-day and presented a petition urging him to exert his influence to obtain a respite for O'Donnell. The President said the Department of State would at once telegraph to Minister Lowell to obtain all possible information regarding O'Donnell's citizenship, and he (the President) would do all he could with propriety to further the wishes of the delegation.

Snowstorm in Colorado.

DENVER, Col., Dec. 7.—A snow and wind storm visited this section on Wednesday night, which, in disastrous effects, is without parallel in the history of Colorado. Snow commenced falling at noon and continued all night. The weather being warm, the snow attached itself to the telephone wires until they were two inches in diameter. At four o'clock yesterday morning the wind blew a gale, and in about half an hour three hundred poles, eighteen inches in diameter, were blown down, carrying down with them a mass of wires. On Lawrence street a dozen squares were blocked. All trains were delayed until yesterday evening. Outside communications were completely cut off. The damage to railroad, telegraph, telephone, electric light, and district messenger companies is heavy. Fortunately no loss of life is reported, and few serious accidents. The storm was entirely local.

Our Canadian Silk Industry.
In prosperous. The great difficulty to be contended with is the low grade of goods required. In nothing is this more apparent than in the comparatively small article of sewing silks. The great demand in Canada seems to be for a cheap quality, buyers forgetting that a cheap thread must necessarily be a fine and consequently a weak one. Messrs. Belding, Paul & Co. make three grades of spool silk; of these different qualities the poorest one has by far the largest sale, at the same time; they constantly hear of complaints of poor sewing silk. If ladies will take the trouble to ask for Belding Paul & Co's own brand, and see that their name is on the end of each spool, they will be sure of getting the best made.

Very Remarkable Recovery.

OUR INLAND NAVIGATION.

The Trenton Courier has an article on the canalisation of these waters. After some remarks on the importance of the route, and the prospects of its being opened it declared its opinion that "the signs of the times favour a prediction of its early completion and it gives its reasons for coming to that conclusion as follows:—

"For two months past we have spent some time in soliciting and collecting subscriptions towards the survey of a dam at the mouth of our river. At the request of the contributors we made application through the minister of railways and canals supported by letters from Alex. Robertson, Esq., M. P., and John White Esq., M. P., also by letters from Messrs. Gilmore & Co., and from J. B. Morris, Esq., Mayor of Trenton, for the services of an engineer to locate the site of a dam that was proposed to be built. We also called on Mr. Balch, engineer of the Trent Works, and were encouraged by him in our contemplated construction of a dam. Our Town Council also felt interested in the matter that at its last session resolutions were brought forward in Council declaring its urgency.

On Tuesday we received the following letter:—

"Ottawa, Nov. 28th, 1883.
George Young, Esquire, Trenton.
Sir,—With reference to the application made by you referred to in your letter received on the 17th inst. for permission to construct a dam at the mouth of the River Trent and supported by letters from Messrs. Gilmore & Co. and the Mayor of Trenton I am directed to inform you that full consideration has been given to your request, but in view of the contemplated improvement to the navigation of the locality indicated, it is not found practicable at present to grant such a work as that which you propose.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
A. P. BRADLEY, Secretary."

"Ottawa, Dec. 1st, 1883.
George Young, Esquire,
Dear Sir,—I feel very much disappointed to learn by a letter received to-day from the Hon. J. H. Pope, acting Minister of Railways and Canals, that the Department have decided not to send at present an engineer to locate the site of the dam at the mouth of the River Trent by reason of contemplated improvements to the navigation of the River in that locality. I shall feel it my duty as an early day to ascertain what these contemplated improvements are, and see that they are not only carried into effect but in what way they interfere with the construction of the work which you propose.

Yours very truly,
ALEX. ROBERTSON."

The above letters from the Acting Minister of Railways and Canals to us at least, quite plainly intimates the early construction of the canal. The delay in answering our application, suggested to us as much, and the promise of both Mr. Charles Tupper and Sir Leonard Tilley fully justified such a supposition. Sir Charles was prepared to undertake the work as soon as the finances of the country would warrant it, and Sir Leonard has had surplus on surplus, so that nothing now remains to hinder the redemption of these promises, and to render substantial justice to this important section of the Dominion. We are further justified in our belief, in the fact that a third of a million dollars is now being expended in the completion of the new work on the central section of the canal. Indeed the letter from the Minister states "the contemplated improvements to the navigation in the locality indicated," as the sole ground for refusing our request.

"Now if the Government did not contemplate the immediate construction of the canal, their treatment of a request so strongly and influentially supported, would be a grave error. We think no Government would blunder into our request in harmony with the fostering policy of the Government, and it would be suicidal for this reason, as well as a matter of justice, to offend a community by refusing the petition to help themselves in the development of their natural resources.

"Should our interpretation of the contents of the Minister's letter to us be correct, and the next session of Parliament, two months hence, will settle that question, Trenton is about to enter on a new era of prosperity such as few towns in Ontario witnessed for many years past. Now is the time for patriotic citizens to give up their hands, and shoulder to shoulder secure for our rising town the full fruition of her natural resources. In union is strength. A little liberality and enterprise and the next decade will see us the foremost city of Central Ontario."

It cannot be said that the arguments of our contemporary are unreasonable. As it says the present Ministry is pledged to the completion of this very important work, and funds are not wanting in the Dominion Treasury. The assertion by the Department of Railways and Canals of improvements to the navigation being in contemplation, shows that it has not lost sight of the promise to open the whole route.

If our contemporary is a little sanguine of the results to its own town, there can be no doubt that the opening of this great navigable route will have a most favourable influence upon the district through which it passes; while it will be absolutely necessary for the economical conveyance of the produce of our great North-West to our Canadian shores.

CANADA. Pacific shares were weak on the New York market last week.

LORD CARNARVON ON CANADA AND EMIGRATION.

The Earl of Carnarvon delivered an interesting address on his recent Canadian tour, at the Highgate Reading Room, on the evening of November 9th. His Lordship who was very cordially received, said he proposed to confine his remarks mainly to the English province of Ontario, and the great country beyond, touching very lightly on both, and saying nothing of the maritime provinces of French Canada, deeply interesting as both undoubtedly were. As regards Ontario, he explained that life and scenery there were thoroughly English in character. Far and wide there were signs of its being a new country. The fields told their own tale. In many of them there were the rough blackened stumps of the trees left by the settlers who first came there in the old days. The great enemy, after the Indians, which the early settlers had to encounter, were the forests, and he persuaded himself that the best thing was to get rid of the trees. The idea was often carried too far, and trees were destroyed which the people would be very pleased to replace. Other features consisted of the lakes, which were, in fact, great inland seas, and to all intents and purposes like the sea, except that the water was fresh instead of salt, and the wooden boats along the edges of those lakes. There was no limit or bound to the hospitality and kindness of the Canadians, indeed, from morn to night he was overwhelmed with kindness, and he certainly never experienced more kindness in England than he did in Canada. So also was their loyalty to the Queen, and their love to the old country of England. (Cheers.) But there was another point, and it was this: What struck the traveller with very great pleasure was that from one end of Ontario to the other there were scarcely any signs of real poverty, and no sign of distress. (Cheers.) Every town, every house, and every face had a look of solid comfort and contentment. It was not a country where there were many luxuries. Happily, as he thought, for the people, they had not yet arrived at that stage, but they had an abundance of all the necessities of life. He was much impressed with their singular simplicity of life, and was never tired of telling them how much he admired, and even envied, that simplicity of life. Of course there, as in every country, would always be two classes, the rich and the poor. But he remarked that there was much less contrast and much less conflict than we see in the Old World between the rich and the poor. The time might come when the great continent would become filled up, and there would arise the same struggle which distinguished the older communities, but in the mean while there was a happier state of things, and all classes seemed to him to have less of the jarring and conflicting interests than we have in the Old World. Lord Carnarvon then offered a few words about the vast and beautiful country which lay to the west, and which exceeded Ontario and the maritime provinces, in point of area, over and over again, pointing out that only a few years ago that great country was one vast wilderness, but now it had been explored, towns built, and railways constructed, and they knew what marvellous wealth laid there, and what an abundance of supplies for human industry, happiness, and contentment in the future. Having described the remarkable character and richness of this immense country, and the rapidity with which it was being populated, he went on to say that a large portion of the land was admirably suited for corn growing. A great deal of it was magnificent loam, extending many feet deep, and sometimes without a single pebble, so rich indeed that it encouraged men to adopt a wasteful system of husbandry, as they put no manure into the land, and went on growing wheat from year to year, a system which, although profitable at present, was wasteful for posterity, and must have an end. It was said that the country beyond—towards the Rocky Mountains—was exceedingly well fitted for the raising of cattle in the States, and also in Canada, they originally imported our best strains of English cattle, and so admirable was the effect of the Canadian climate that the animals raised on Canadian soil had in some cases become better than their progenitors in England, and had actually been exported from Canada for English purposes. The country abounded in large cowfields, and in some cases the soil lay close to the surface, and therefore very little labor was required to take it out of the soil, and also in Canada, they originally imported our best strains of English cattle, and so admirable was the effect of the Canadian climate that the animals raised on Canadian soil had in some cases become better than their progenitors in England, and had actually been exported from Canada for English purposes.

had seen them, seemed to have been very wisely and judiciously drawn up. No one could doubt how great the future of Canada must be if the people only persevered with the same judgment and moderation and good sense which had characterized the whole of their legislation and proceedings for many years. He would only say, in conclusion, that, although he would never advise any man hastily or lightly to leave the old country, yet if he once made up his mind to go, he honestly believed that nowhere would he find a healthier life, a friendlier welcome, or a better home than in British North America. The Mayoralty.

GENTLEMEN:—

As Mr. H. H. Smith, our present Mayor, some time ago signified his intention of not seeking re-election to the office of Mayor of the Town of Peterborough, at the earnest request and solicitation of a very large number of the representative ratepayers, I now offer myself as a candidate for that office.

For many years I, as a Councillor, have represented you, and have always striven diligently and faithfully to perform my duty towards my constituents and the public at large, and I now confidently refer you to, and rely upon, my labors and honest exertion in your behalf.

If elected, it will ever be my pleasure and honor to do my utmost to preserve and advance the interests of your town, and by strict integrity, economy and attention to your affairs, to merit the good will and esteem of my fellow citizens.

I do not intend, nor will I be able to make a personal canvass, but take this means of asking the votes of each of the independent electors of this town, remaining

Your obedient Servant,

W. PATERSON, JR.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN:—

My course as Councillor during the present year has been severely criticised, but I can only say that every act of mine in the Council was prompted by my conviction of what was just and right to the ratepayers. I entered the Council without personal interest of any kind to serve, determined to advance the interests of the ratepayers to the best of my ability, and as far as my single efforts could do so, to conduct the business of the Town on the same sound business principles that every one of you applies to the conduct of your own private affairs.

This course, opposed as it was to the loose and extravagant manner in which the majority in the Council have been accustomed to carry on your business, naturally called down upon me a storm of abuse, which, however, the courage of my convictions has enabled me to bear without difficulty.

Many important matters have been before the present Council, and, as my opponent, Councillor Paterson, holds views on them different from my own, I shall here state a few of them, hoping to have the opportunity of discussing the merits of our opposite opinions before you with him.

FIRE PROTECTION.

I am opposed to paying by a general tax for hydrants taken by the Town for fire protection, believing it to be unjust to ask ratepayers living outside of the fire line to pay for the protection of the centre of the town.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject also are directly opposed to mine.

HOUSE OF REFUGE.

As chairman of the Charity Committee this year, I have had excellent opportunities of seeing of the necessity for such an institution, and am forced to conclude that at the present time it is not required. No doubt some few cases could be found in our midst which it would be extremely convenient to send to such an institution, if we had it, but the immense cost of building and maintaining a Refuge would be out of all proportion to the benefit to be derived from it. In the future this may be so, but I am therefore opposed to it, if I have the honor to be elected by you to the Mayoralty. I will use my influence to prevent this burden being added to your already heavy taxes.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject also are, I believe, opposed to mine.

CIVIL SALARY.

I am not in favor of attaching a salary to the office of Mayor or Councillor, believing that the opportunity which you thus afford them of proving themselves faithful servants, and worthy of your confidence, ought to be a sufficient recompense for their time and trouble. I understand Mr. Paterson's views on this point also are at variance with mine.

CLERK AND TREASURER.

I am opposed to allowing one person to hold the two offices of Clerk and Treasurer. On this point also Mr. Paterson differs from me.

BANK OF TORONTO BUILDING.

As the paying for these buildings this year has caused a considerable increase in the amount of taxation, and a good deal of dissatisfaction has been expressed in consequence, a few words from me on this subject will not be out of place. Early in the year there was a general unanimity in the Council as to the desirability of purchasing these buildings on the terms offered by Mr. Stevenson, namely—$4,500, payable in debentures bearing interest at 5 per cent. running over either 10 or 30 years, but when this matter came up in discussing the estimates, to my surprise, the whole amount (less about $400 received from the Town Trust Commissioners) was asked for this year. I was opposed to this, but was voted down, Councillor McNaughton alone supporting me. Mr. Paterson, whose duty it was, as Chairman of the Finance Committee, to compile the estimates, can perhaps give some satisfactory explanation to the ratepayers for putting this heavy tax upon them. The title to these buildings has not yet, I believe, been perfected. Is it possible that the purchase may yet fall through?

There are many other points on which I might touch, but as this address is already too long, I shall only say that I am opposed to all other taxation, and to the extension of the town's affairs in secret conference and not in either open Council or Committee.

I am in favor of progress and municipal reform, and where any saving can be effected in the management of our municipal affairs, I am also strongly in favor of such saving.

If elected, I shall use my best efforts to obtain a dollar's worth of your money for every dollar expended.

I am now in your hands, and it is for you to say by your votes whether my conduct during the year and my position on the foregoing important matters is worthy of your support and confidence.

I remain,

Your obedient servant,

C. W. SAWERS.

How to Cleanse the Waste Pipes.

One of the most frequent and trying annoyances of house keeping, as many can testify, and which a writer in the Philadelphia Ledger freely asserts, is the obstruction of the free, quick outlet of the waste water of the washstand, the bathtub, and the kitchen sink.

This is caused by a gradual accumulation of small bits of refuse material, paper, rags, bones, or other stuff, which check and finally entirely stop the outflow of the waste water, and then the plumber is called to remove the stoppage with his force pump.

Sometimes this is effective, at others the offending waste pipe is cut out and a new one put in its place at considerable cost.

But the plumber is not always near at hand or free to come at one's call, and the matter demands immediate attention. A simple, inexpensive method of clearing the pipe is as follows: Just before retiring at night pour into the pipe enough liquid potash lye of 50° strength to fill the "trap," as it is called, or best portion of the pipe just below the outlet. About a pint will suffice for a washstand, or a quart for a bathtub or kitchen sink. Be sure that no water runs into it till next morning.

During the night the lye will convert all of the stuff in the pipe into soft soap, and the first current of water in the morning will remove it entirely, and leave the pipe as clean as new. The writer has never had occasion, in over thirty years' experience, to make more than two applications of it in any one case.

A remarkable example of the value of this process was that of a large drain pipe which carried off the waste of an extensive country house near Philadelphia, and ran under a beautiful lawn in its front. A gallon of the lye removed all obstruction in a single night, and saved the necessity of digging up the pipe and disfiguring the greenward of the lawn, as the plumber intended until advised of this process.

The so called potash lye sold in small tin cans in the shops is not recommended for this purpose; it is quite commonly misnamed, and is called caustic soda, which makes a hard soap. The lye should be kept in heavy glass bottles or demijohns, covered with wicker work, and plainly labelled; always under lock when not in actual use. It does not act upon metals, and so does not corrode the pipes as do strong acids.

Save Your Ashes.

Unbleached wood ashes contain all the constituents of plant food that the ordinary soil needs except nitrogen. They also have a good mechanical effect upon land, especially heavy clay and light sandy soils. To the first they add an opesmen, and to the latter a firmness.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the Secretary of the Department of Railways and Canals, and endorsed "Tenders for Trent Navigation," will be received at the Resident Engineer's office, Peterborough, until FRIDAY, the TWENTY-FIRST day of DECEMBER NEXT, inclusively, for the construction and completion of a Regulating Dam, &c., across the Otonabee River at Young's Point, on the Back Lake Division of the Trent Valley Canal.

Plans of the work may be seen, and specifications and printed forms of tender will be furnished upon application at the Resident Engineer's office, Peterborough, on and after FRIDAY, the SEVENTH day of DECEMBER, NEXT. Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and prices offered to the order of the items stated therein, and signed with their actual signatures. Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted bank cheque for the sum of $100, made payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Railways and Canals, which sum shall be forfeited if the person tendering declines to enter into contract for the execution of the work, at the rates and prices submitted, subject to the conditions and on the terms stated in the specification. If the tender is not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender. By order, T. S. RUMDGE, Engineer in Charge. d121-709

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES.

The George Street Methodist Sunday School
—The Public Meeting.

The annual public meeting in connection with the anniversary services of the Sunday School of the George Street Methodist Church was held on Monday evening. There was a large attendance, the gallery being filled with the pupils and teachers and the body of the church with the parents and friends. The Rev.
John Shaw, pastor of the church, presided, and conducted the opening devotional services. On the platform there were, besides the Chairman,
the Rev. Dr. Sutherland, of Toronto; Mr. J. W.
Flavelle, Superintendent; and Mr. A. Clegg,
Secretary of the School.

The CHAIRMAN extended words of congrat-ulation to the school. It was, he said, a model Sunday school. They had a convenient and comfortable school room, a good superintendent, pleasant singing, good teachers, orderly and attentive scholars, and officers and teachers who worked harmoniously together.

Mr. A. CLEGG, Secretary, read the forty-seventh annual report. The report was an exceedingly well written one, and contained several valuable suggestions. We regret that space forbids us to give it in full, but the following is a condensed copy of it:—

The report reminded them that at the last annual meeting, while celebrating their birthday, they did not know the age of the school.
While the conference was in session here last June, however, some words which fell from the lips of the Rev. W. Ames, the first minister sent out from the Peterborough Circuit, led them to believe that he could give some information regarding the early history of the school.
He was, therefore, written to. The following is an extract from his letter:—

"Oxford Centre, Nov. 5, 1883.
"DEAR SIR,—Your letter of the 29th came duly to hand, and I have been thinking of you since.
In answer to the questions you propose, I am quite clear in my recollections when I say a Methodist Sunday school was first organized in 1836. The first teacher was the first Sunday school superintendent. There was a union Sabbath school held in the old Court House, which stood a short distance from where the present Court House now stands.
There was no Methodist Sunday school until after the first church was dedicated in 1836. I cannot say with certainty just at what time in the year the school commenced, but I know it was in full operation for some time before the revival which began on the first day of 1836. I have been thinking of you since because the head of a circuit, the late Rev. John Black being the first superintendent of the circuit."

"I am, dear brother,
Yours very truly,
"W. AMES."

The report proceeded to state that the past year had been in every way a prosperous one and feeling and an earnest Christian spirit had characterized the school in every part of its work. The attendance of teachers and officers had been unusually good, and while they had to record a number of changes in the staff of teachers, they were pleased to report every vacancy filled. They regretted that, on account of poor health, Mrs. Dumble had to resign her charge in the primary department, a work for which she was admirably adapted. This department was now in the charge of Miss Grundy and Miss Minnie Shaw, who were maintaining well the former good standing of the class. Their study during the year had been the international series of lessons, and a teacher's meeting had been held every Friday evening, which the advanced scholars and members of the Church were invited to attend. Financially they were glad to say that their funds had been sufficient for their needs, and they still had a balance in the hands of the Treasurer of $59.14. Their income from the ordinary collections in the school would not cover their expenses, and had it not been for the proceeds of Dr. Vincent's lecture and the Jubilee Concert, they would have had to report a deficit. The hope was expressed that the time was not far distant when an appropriation would be made each year by the Trustees Board of the church to meet the requirements of the school. The average attendance of scholars for the eleven months of this year was 224; average attendance of teachers, 29; average number of teachers absent, 4; average attendance of the whole school, 223; average number of verses recited each Sunday, 214; total number committed during the eleven months, 12,012; average collections $3.80, total collections, $124.62; officers on the staff, 7. They had a church class of boys and girls, conducted by Misses. Elsworth and Scott, which formed a sort of stepping stone from the school to the church. The singing during the latter part of the year has been much improved, Mr. Miller, the leader of the choir, having for some time given his services on Sunday afternoon and taken charge of the singing.

They were glad because of conversions in the school. The number was not large, but they regarded them as the droppings before the shower.
Twice during the year had the shadow of the unseen messenger rested upon them. The report referred in pathetic language to the death of two of the pupils of the school, there were two names less on their class roll, and two names more on the roll of their school in Heaven.
The Rev. A. Sutherland, D.D., then addressed the meeting. Such a meeting as that one was a grand and inspiring sight to be seen nowhere but in a Christian land, and no form of religion except the Christian religion made provision for the children. The Sunday school occupied an intermediate place between the home and the church, and was connected with both, but was a substitute for neither. It should be carried on in co-operation with the church and pastor. The superintendent and teachers were assistant pastors. The purpose of the Sunday school was to teach every child the things of God. He argued that the educational system should not be separated from religious influences. He supported the suggestion made by the secretary, that the school should be supported by the church. The scholars belonged to Christ. The children were in a state of unconscious safety; when they advanced to the age of accountability they must be converted, in the ordinary sense of the term, and change to a state of conscious salvation. One reason why so many children grew up wicked was because they had been taught to expect nothing else.
In teaching they should watch carefully what was taught and how it was taught, and be careful to see that the children got correct ideas of the truths inculcated. The work to be done in the Sunday schools was a great work; there was little time to do it in, and intense earnestness was needed. He closed with a touching reference to the deaths in the school.

The meeting was concluded by the Rev. T.
Manning, B.A., pronouncing the benediction.

The singing was furnished by the pupils of the school, who had been trained and were led by Mr. F. W. Miller, the conductor of the church choir. They sang very sweetly and in good time, and this added greatly to the pleasure and success of the meeting.

Personal.

Among those registered at the Oriental Hotel to-day were Messrs. J. R. Dundas, of Lindsay, Thos. Kalso, of Belleville, J. M. Ferris, M. F.
P., of Campbellford, Wm. Goodenham, R.
Jeffrey, J. D. Edgar, and H. P. Dwight, of Toronto, Directors of the Midland Railway.

agent for the Mutual Marriage Aid Association of Canada, is at the Calise House.

St. John's Church Bazaar.

A Bazaar is aid of the organ fund of St.
John's Church will be held in the rooms formerly occupied by the Club, over the post-office, on the 12th and 13th of December. Dinner and tea will be provided. A musical entertainment will also be held in the same rooms on the evening of the 13th, at 8 p. m., under the auspices of Mr. Chas. W. Kwing. Admission, 10 cents to bazaar; 20 cents after 7 o'clock on Thursday evening.

Lawless Counsel.

The Independent Toronto World, speaking of the Globe's frantic appeals to the Grits of West Middlesex to drive the Conservative canvassers out of the constituency says:—Such an incitement to violence is a disgrace to Canadian journalism. If Wilkinson may be mobbed, why not Col. Walker, or any other Reform stump or canvasser who has graduated from the election courts? We do not believe that the Reformers of West Middlesex are so stupid or careless as to accept the infamous counsel tendered them by the organ, but that does not relieve their councillor from the odium of having made a political blunder while attempting to provide a breach of the peace.

Niagara Falls Park.

New York, Dec. 8.—The Niagara Park Commissioners met to-day and adopted the map prepared by their division engineer, showing the area to be comprised within the proposed park. Copies of it will be filed in the office of the Secretary of State and the clerk of the County of Niagara. The local advisers of the commission are now authorized to apply to the Supreme Court in the eighth judicial district for the appointment of three freeholders who shall act as appraisers of the property comprised within the boundaries decided upon for the park.

AN ASSASSINATION SOCIETY.

DUBLIN, Dec. 10.—McKeown testified that before the murder of Mrs. Smythe the prisoners met in a barn and formed an assassination society for the removal of bad landlords. Five of the landlords whom the society condemned to be shot were Wm. Barlow Smythe, W. E.
Smythe, Earl Longford, Wm. Keating, and Wilde O'Connor.

SOUDAN NEWS.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—The Standard's Cairo correspondent says the defeat proves that the rebels are firmly established south of Suakin on the Berber frontier. The news of the revolt at Bennar leads to daily inspection of an attack on Dongola or Khartoum. A sergeant of the black troops in the late battle stated that the Egyptians would have defeated the rebels but for the conduct of Bashi-Bazouks. There is a panic at Suakin among the Egyptian officials.
The fall of the garrison at Tokar and Sinitak is expected daily, owing to starvation. It is stated that Osman, chief of the slave dealers, was killed in the fight. The British ship Ranger holds the town, and there is no fear for the safety of Europeans.

A PROHIBITED MEETING HELD.

DUBLIN, Dec. 10.—Notwithstanding that the Government had issued a proclamation forbidding the holding of the Nationalist meeting at Loughrea yesterday, the meeting was held near the town. The authorities despatched police to disperse it, but it adjourned before they arrived.
A motion was passed denouncing emigration from Ireland. A letter from the Bishop of Clonfert was read, saying there is room in Ireland for double the present population.

MR. RIDOUTS DISAPPEARANCE.

Had Suicide of that talented Toronto lawyer
—His Body Found in High Park.

The body of Mr. Trevelyan Ridout was found on Monday morning in High Park. It was in an advanced state of decomposition. The mark of a bullet in the forehead, together with the discovery of a revolver (from which one of the chambers had been discharged) grasped in the right hand, proved only too conclusively that the unfortunate gentleman had committed suicide. He was last seen about two months ago. No inquest is to be held, and the body will be buried this afternoon the funeral proceeding to St. James' Cathedral.

Sudden Sinking of a Barge.

Port Huron, Mich., Dec. 10.—The season of 1883 closed this morning on Lake Huron with one of the most terrible disasters that has happened this year, commencing with the steam barge Enterprise going ashore some four weeks ago near Cockburn Island, with a cargo of supplies for Port Arthur, a wrecking outfit on the tag Balize left Detroit to release her. All went well until the Balize, towing the Enterprise, arrived off point-st-Augustin light, bearing south-west, at two a.m., when Capt. J. J. Hardon, who had charge of the outfit, heard the steam whistle from the pumps blowing. He answered the call and had the mate of Balize stop. All hands were called to get the boat down, the low line went out from the barge, and every effort was made to get alongside the wreck before she went down. But just before they could get around, the barge sank from sight. Seven of those on board lost their lives.

MOB LAW.

The Globe, having led the way in inciting the electors of the constituencies where contests are now proceeding to lynch their political opponents, finds apt imitators in the London Advertiser, and, we regret to say, in Mr. G. W. Ross. They are denouncing and threatening Conservatives who venture to exercise their right of aiding the Opposition candidates, at the very time that the ridings in question are swarming with emissaries of Mr. Mowat from Peterborough, Port Hope, the disputed territory, and indeed all the points of the compass. Yet these men are to go free, while Conservatives, according to the Reform press and even to a Reform minister, are to be subjected to mob law and personal violence.

A DISCRIMINATING PREMIER.

The Globe has an editorial in praise of Col. John Walker. It also has an editorial suggesting that bribery should be punished by imprisonment. As Col. John Walker was not only unneeded for bribery, but was actually disqualified for his personal participation in it, we need hardly feel surprised that he should have the warm approval of the leading Reform journal. We do feel some surprise that it should advocate the imprisonment of the Walkers of its party, but perhaps its meaning is that Mr. Mowat should introduce an act to imprison Conservative bribers but to reward Reform bribers, as in Algoma he discriminated between the two political parties, allowing polling places to Reformers, but withholding them from Conservatives.

WHY HIDING?

Not content with the cowardly trick of disfranchising Conservatives in Algoma by refusing them polling places, or by neglecting to open the polls, so that by falsifying the voice of the constituency he can retain power by the support of an impostor, Mr. Mowat is persistently seeking the pollroom in another respect. The law requires that a return should be made at an early date, but our Attorney-General is either inducing or allowing his creature, the returning officer, to violate the statute by withholding the return, though two months have now elapsed since the election. Can any one doubt that this illegal and cowardly secrecy is being practiced on account of their dread of letting in the light upon some of their nefarious deeds in Algoma? The only other supposition is that they remain in hiding in order to perpetrate some other illegality. Is it possible that after all they have not succeeded in counting in Mr. Lyon?

WHAT ARE THEY HIDING?

It is usual for a Minister offering himself for election to give some account of the policy of the Administration, especially if there has been any new development of their policy. This is, indeed, the constitutional course, for a Minister on taking office has to appeal to the electors for the express purpose of enabling them to pronounce on the propriety of his joining the Administration, and how can they give an opinion as to this without being acquainted with their policy? But Mr. G. W. Ross is asking a constituency to elect him on his acceptance of a portfolio, while he is giving no account or explanation of a most important step just taken by the Cabinet he is joining. Attorney-General Mowat has invited Attorney-General Miller to a conference as to the disputed territory. The meeting has taken place, an agreement has been reached, so Mr. Miller informs us, but he also informs us that Mr. Mowat has bound him to secrecy. What reason can the Premier of Ontario have for concealing from its people a matter which so greatly concerns them? What reason can Mr. Ross, appealing to the electors for their approval of his entering the Ministry, have for his hiding from the electors the policy of his colleagues and himself? It can only be with the object of evading the judgment of the electors in the matter, because a knowledge of the truth, which they are entitled to demand, would be prejudicial to the interests of the Mowat Administration. There is no pretence even that this reticence is in the public interest. If everything is straightforward, why this bat-like shrinking from the light of day? Such secrecy is more than suspicious.

FOULING THEIR OWN NEST.

Renewed Attempts by the Reform Press to Injure Canadian Manufacturers.

It seems that the unpatriotic Reform journals are determined to bring about a commercial crisis if they can do so by destroying, by means of the most unblushing falsehoods, the credit of manufacturers. Of course this would be a great injury to the country, and would bring ruin to business men and severe privations to their employees, but what do these harpies care if by causing misfortune and misery they can cause some embarrassment to a Conservative government. The latest performance of these pirates, who would scuttle the ship if they cannot command it, has been to publish in the Globe false and damaging reports in regard to Cobourg manufacturers. These slanders have called forth a prompt refutation from some of the gentlemen thus wickedly assailed, who have replied as follows:—

From Mr. James Croezen.

Cobourg, Dec. 10.—The Globe's statement to-day referring to my car works is untrue in almost every particular. The number of men in my employ in the car works to-day is 132.

JAMES CROEZEN.

From Messrs. Routh & Co.

Cobourg, Dec. 10.—The number of operatives in our employ now is 146, the same number as last December. The pay sheet last November was $3,000; the pay sheet for November this year is $3,344. Wages are the same this month as last, showing an increase of $344 more than last year.

JOHN ROUTH & CO.
Proprietors Ontario Woollen Mills.

RUN THEM OUT, GENTLEMEN

According to the London Advertiser which is not likely to do Mr. G. W. Ross an injustice, the new Minister of Education in a public speech disowned himself by the following utterances:—“He was told the Maskoka brigade was in their midst, that Roddy Pringle, one of the gang, was here. That Big Push Wilkinson was on hand. That another of these chokens was coming here to roost among us for a while. It was an insult on the riding that they dared presume to visit us, and dare attempt their dirty work in West Middlesex. Run them out, gentlemen!”

After this vile abuse, and this cowardly appeal to mob violence, Mr. Ross skillfully relieves the gloom by a touch of comedy in addressing those whom he is inviting to become at once ruffians and cowards as “gentlemen.” What an idea this chief educator of our youth must have of a “gentleman.” We all know that lawyers are gentlemen by act of Parliament and that Mr. Ross is a lawyer by act of the Legislature, so by virtue of these two acts he is undoubtedly a gentleman. But this shows that there may be a vast difference between a gentleman by legislation and a gentleman by nature. Mr. Ross thinks it compatible with his quality as gentleman, to be at once a member of parliament, a paid official of the educational department, and a paid agent for a school-book publisher. He thinks it becomes him as a gentleman to use vile abuse, slander, and the aid of a lawless mob to suppress his political opponents. We can hardly wonder then that he addresses us “gentlemen” those whom he is inviting to become a cowardly band of outlaws, and the introducers of the Ku-Klux system into Ontario.

Excitement over O'Donnell.

Owing to the growing excitement in Irish circles in London relative to the sentence of O'Donnell extra guards have been stationed at all the prisons and the Government offices as a precaution against any effort by O'Donnell's friends in the way of a rescue. At a meeting of Liberal workmen held at Torquay last night for the purpose of petitioning the Home Secretary to commute O'Donnell's sentence, a letter was read from Mr. Samuelson (Liberal), member of Parliament, denouncing the object of the meeting. A motion in favour of a petition to O'Donnell's behalf was defeated by a large majority.

Thousands Say So.

Mr. T. W. Atkins, Girard, Kan., writes:—“I never hesitate to recommend your Electric Bitters to my customers, they give entire satisfaction and are rapid sellers.” Electric Bitters are the perfect and best medicine known and will positively cure kidney and liver complaints. Purify the blood and regulate the bowels. No family can afford to be without them. They will save hundreds of dollars in doctor's bills every year. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Taylor and Macdonald.

DR. CANNON'S Pulmonary Cough Drops. The prescription of an old Canadian Practitioner. The best remedy for the lungs in large bottles at 50 cents. For sale everywhere.

BE CAREFUL WHAT YOU EAT.—The best medical authorities declare that worms in the human system are often induced by eating too freely of uncooked fruit and too much meat, cheese, etc. Whatever may be the cause, Freeman's Worm Powders are speedy and safe to cure; they destroy the worms, and contain their own cathartic to expel them.

The Mayoralty.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN:—

As Mr. H. H. Smith, our present Mayor, some time ago signified his intention of not seeking re-election to the office of Mayor of the Town of Peterborough, at the earnest request and solicitation of a very large number of the representative ratepayers, I now offer myself as a candidate for that office.

For many years I, as a Councillor, have represented you, and have always striven diligently and faithfully to perform my duty towards my constituents and the public at large, and I now confidently rely on you, and rely upon my labors and honest exertion in your behalf.

If elected, it will ever be my pleasure and honor to do my utmost to preserve and advance the interests of your town, and by strict integrity, economy and attention to your affairs, to merit the good will and esteem of my fellow citizens.

I do not intend, nor will I be able to make a personal canvass, but take the means of asking the votes of each of the independent electors of this town, remaining

Your obedient Servant,

W. PATERSON, JR.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN:—

My course as Councillor during the present year has been severely criticized, but I can only say that every act of mine in the Council was prompted by my conviction of what was just and right to the ratepayers. I entered the Council without personal interest of any kind to serve, determined to advance the interests of the ratepayers to the best of my ability, and, as far as my single efforts could do so, to conduct the business of the Town on the same sound business principles than every one of you applies to the conduct of your own private affairs.

This course, opposed as it was to the loose and extravagant manner in which the majority in the Council have been accustomed to carry on your business, naturally called down upon me a storm of abuse, which, however, the courage of my convictions has enabled me to bear without difficulty.

Many important matters have been before the present Council, and, as my opponent, Councillor Paterson, holds views on them different from my own, I shall here state a few of them, hoping to have the opportunity of discussing the merits of our opposite opinions before you with him.

FIRE PROTECTION.

I am opposed to paying by a general tax for hydrants taken by the Town for fire protection, believing it to be unjust to ask ratepayers living outside of the fire limits to pay for the protection of the centre of the town.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject are directly opposed to mine.

HOUSE OF REFUGE.

As chairman of the Charity Committee this year, I have had excellent opportunities of judging of the necessity for such an institution, and am forced to conclude that at the present time it is not required. No doubt some few cases could be found in our midst which it would be extremely convenient to send to such an institution, if we had it, but the immense cost of building and maintaining a Refuge would be out of all proportion to the benefit to be derived from it. In the future this may not be so. You may therefore rest assured that, if I have the honor to be elected by you to the Mayoralty, I will use my influence to prevent this burden being added to your already heavy taxes.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject also are, I believe, opposed to mine.

CIVIC SALARY.

I am not in favor of attaching a salary to the office of either Mayor or Councillor, believing that the opportunity which you thus afford them of proving themselves faithful servants, and worthy of your confidence, ought to be a sufficient recompense for their time and trouble.

I understand Mr. Paterson's views on this point also are at variance with mine.

CLERK AND TREASURER.

I am opposed to allowing one person to hold the two offices of Clerk and Treasurer.

On this point also Mr. Paterson differs from me.

BANK OF TORONTO BUILDINGS.

As the paying for these buildings this year has caused a considerable increase in the amount of taxation, and a great deal of dissatisfaction has been expressed in consequence, a few words from me on this subject will not be out of place. Early in the year there was a general unanimity in the Council as to the desirability of purchasing these buildings on the terms offered by Mr. Stevenson, namely—$4,500, payable in debentures bearing interest at 8 per cent, running over either 10 or 20 years, but when this matter came up in discussing the estimates, to my surprise, the whole amount (less about $400 received from the Town Trust Commissioners) was asked for this year. I was opposed to this, but was voted down, Councillor McNaughton alone supporting me. Mr. Paterson, whose duty it was, as Chairman of the Finance Committee, to compile the estimates, can perhaps give some satisfactory explanation to the ratepayers for putting this heavy tax upon them. The title to these buildings has not yet, I believe, been perfected. Is it possible that the purchase may yet fall through?

There are many other points on which I might touch, but as this address is already too long, I shall only say that I am opposed to all jobbery and rings, and to the transacting of the town's affairs in secret conclaves and not in either open Council or Committee.

I am in favor of progress and municipal reform, and where any saving can be effected in the management of our municipal affairs, I am also strongly in favor of such saving.

If elected, I shall use my best efforts to obtain a dollar's worth of your money for every dollar expended.

I am now in your hands, and it is for you to say by your votes whether my conduct during the past year has merited the money if the important matters is worthy of your support and confidence.

I remain,

Your obedient servant,

C. W. SAWERS.

THE AMERICAN FILTER.

Is a recent invention already allowed by all plumbers to be the best filter ever produced. The Household Filter represented in the cut is as simple in construction as common sense; it is more effective than other filters of twice its size; it does not sensibly retard the flow of the water; it is washed out while the water is running, by one turn of the handle. Sold at one-half the price of filters of other make. To see how simply it works get a dealer with other Household Filters of every capacity are also made, on the same general principle, and at correspondingly low rates.

MILTON ON HIS LOSS OF SIGHT.

FROM THE LATEST EDITION OF HIS WORKS.

I am old and blind,
Men point at me as Milton's blind,
Afflicted and deserted of my kind,
Yet I am not cast down!
I am weak, yet strong;
I murmur not that I no longer see,
Poor, old and helpless, I the more belong,
Father supreme! to Thee!

When men are farthest from Thee, most dear,
When friends pass by, my weakness shows,
Thy chosen I am, my Father dear,
Thy glorious face
Is leaning toward me; and thy holy light
Shines in upon my lonely dwelling place,
And there is no more night—
On my bedded knee
I recognize Thy presence, O my Father,
My vision Thou hast dimmed that I may see—Thyself—Thyself alone!
I have sought to fear!

This darkness is the shadow of Thy wing;
Beneath it I am sheltered, O my Father,
Can come no evil thing.
Oh! I seem to stand Trembling where the foot of mortal hath been Wrapped in the radiance from Thy unseen hand
Which eyes hath never seen.
Visions come and go;
Shapes of radiant beauty round me throng,
From angel lips I seem to hear the song
Of soft and holy love:
It is nothing new.

When Heaven is opening on my sightless eyes,
When a ray of Heaven's radiance shines,
The earth in darkness lies.
In a purer clime
My being fills with rapture—waves of thought Roll in upon my spirit—visions come Break over me unthought;
Give me now my lyre!
I feel the strings of a gift divine;
Within my bosom glows unceasing fire,
Lift by no skill of mine!

THE KNICKERBOCKER CHRISTMAS.

While their neighbors upon Massachusetts Bay were bawling Christmas, the Dutch at New Amsterdam gladly welcomed and honored him, and nowhere has he been so truly at home upon the continent as in the Dutch city. The character of the inhabitants naturally determined that of the day. It was less an ecclesiastical festival than a social and domestic holiday. The glittering tree of gifts was its lighted and decorated altar, and hearty good eating and drinking were its genial ceremonial rites. Hereditary Dutch pride sometimes looks askance and even smugly at the Knickerbocker's story. But it is plain that the gay exaggeration of the old chronicler only emphasized the truth, and that his humorous imaginative touch produced a likeness as accurate as that of Bradford of the pilgrims, or that of Winthrop and Sewall of the Puritans. The tranquil, contented burghers who he drew were sure to make the most of Christmas-tide, and their neighbors who cursed it must have seemed to them the most whimsical of lunatics.

It was natural that the genius which described those burghers with so subtle a sympathy should seem to be kindred with them. Indeed, there was so much of the true Knickerbocker spirit in Irving that he is usually supposed, by those who do not reflect, to be of Dutch descent. It is this quality, perhaps, this ready sympathy with cheerful and simple domestic enjoyment, which made the author of Knickbocker's History the laureate of English Christmas. The holiday that he describes affects him as it affected the citizens of New Amsterdam, as a day of pleasure consecrated by religious association. And the enduring popularity of his charming essay shows that this is the Christmas of the English-speaking race. Even the New England air, which was so black with puritanism that it sufficed for a century to smother the merry Yuletide, has been softened by the influence of the Knickerbocker. The children of the Puritan, God-fearing man who did not rest from labor on that first Christmas morning now rest and rejoice in the happy day whose dawn is a benediction.

But it is no longer a superstition of any sort of woman, no longer a festival whose observance implies a childish adherence to pagan or prehistoric errors. The puritanical spirit, historically known as Puritanism, has been the theological and socialist dream away, and has left the pure gold of religious faith and human sympathy. When the neophyte asked his confessor what was the central truth of Christianity, the old man answered, "Charity." Then he explained that charity meant love, and that love meant the spirit of universal fraternity. The meaning which is the technical interpretation of the word is but a symbol of this giving of the heart and soul and life to help others of which the supreme sacrifice of Christ is the accepted type. The day that commemorates His birth is the festival of humanity, as the inspiring sentiment of actual life. The lovely legends of the day, the stories, and the songs, and the half-fairy-like that gleam around it, the ancient traditions of dusky woods and mystic rites, the magnificence or simplicity of Christian observance, from the Pope to his triple throne, borne upon his pensive throne in gorgeous state to celebrate political high mass of the great altar of St. Peter's, to George Herbert humbly kneeling in his rustic church at Bemerton, or to the bare service in some solitary chapel upon the American frontier, the light of Christmas trees and hanging up of Christmas stockings, the profuse giving, the happy feast, the meeting, the dinner, the games, the dances—they are all the natural signs and symbols, the flower and fruit of Christmas. For Christmas is the day of days which declares the universal human consciousness that peace on earth comes only from good-will to man.—Geo. Wm. Curtis, in Harper's Magazine.

MY LADY'S CHAMBER.

Let me advise you to read Florence Nightingale's Notes on Nursing, to learn the reason for the strict care of bedrooms for sick or well. The human body throws off by insensible perspiration, and by the breath, every night, several ounces of waste animal matter, that has served its purpose, and which the system is in haste to get rid of. This waste is thrown off in a solid form, and is hardly noticed in a chamber, especially when the windows are closed, and the air is stagnant. If these are hung in a draught of air much of it passes off, and if the sun shines on them out of doors, that has still more effect in changing to the harmless form which we mean by saying the sun "sweetens" things. But if the day clothing is left in a heap, the bed just as you get out of it, and the nightgown rolled up or hung in a close closet so that little air reaches them, the waste decomposes and gives the unpleasant body odor complained of in sleeping rooms. Well may they have a disagreeable smell, for day by day, much of the waste has been allowed to gather in the room, and penetrate everything there, which if collected in mass, so as to be seen and recognized, would be shocking and offensive to the last degree.

The waste which saturates clothes and bedding is absorbed again into your body, which is more sensitive to such influences when asleep than awake. You breathe it, your skin absorbs it by those myriad, mysterious vessels of which it is full as a sponge, and the blood carries it waste again, to the injury of your health and complexion. You must make a habit of getting rid of this, taking off all clothing at night, especially that worn next to the skin, and hanging each piece separately, where the air can reach it, and by airing the bed and bed clothes every day, giving them frequent days in the sunshine out of doors. The Southern method is a good one, as told me by an old Louisiana housekeeper, who said that once a week, on Saturdays, all the mattresses and bed clothes were put out in the sun, on frames for the purpose, and left all day, to be made up wholesome and sweet with the weekly fresh linen at night. This is a nice practice, which all ought to adopt some sunny day each week. When you get up in the morning, take off the blankets and spread them on the chairs where the sun will fall on them if possible, throw both sheets off to leave the mattresses to air, open the windows wide, and put the pillows in them to sun. Have your night dress where the air will blow through it. If you must wear an undergarment all the time, let it be light and loose, and have a change for night, and let me tell you, the little habit of changing the clothing next to the skin frequently, has more to do with the complexion than you are aware of. A girl who has an irritable skin will find a great difference in the clearness of her face if she puts on a freshly aired suit of morning every night and morning. Try using the skin to these changes, and to hear the air a few minutes daily, you lessen the risk of taking colds and neuralgia all your life.—Wide Awake.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 13, 1883.

This petition against Col. Tyrwhitt, the Conservative Member of Parliament for South Simcoe, has been dismissed, the judge declaring that the election was as pure as any election could possibly be.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, Dec. 13.—Florence Valois, who said she came from Napanea, was charged by P. C. Pidgeon with having been drunk in a public place. She acknowledged her guilt and said she would leave town. Judgment was reserved, in order to give her an opportunity to fulfil her promise.

Under a New Name.

The hotel of which the Messrs. Daly Bros. are the proprietors, formerly known as the Calcutta House, has been re-named and will hereafter be known as the Grand Central Hotel. The hotel is being repainted and refitted throughout, and it will be in many respects a new hotel.

The Mayoralty.

Mr. G. A. Cox is a candidate for the Mayoralty, having accepted the requests contained in a numerously signed requisition, which, as signatures are still being added to it, will not be ready for publication, as we are informed, till to-morrow. Mr. W. Paterson, Jr., retires from the candidature in favor of Mr. Cox.

The C. P. E. Workshops of Montreal.

The new workshops of the Canada Pacific at Montreal form an important addition to that city, as well as to the whole Dominion. The locomotives and machinery for the entire line from Montreal to British Columbia will be built there, and the enormous quantity of iron and other metals to be used in constructing the railway will no doubt materially help to develop the resources of this country. The Canadian Pacific railway owns about eight acres of land at the site of the workshops, of which six and a half acres are either occupied or enclosed by the workshops themselves, the area covered by buildings being 140,000 square feet, or nearly three and a half acres.

A Good Start.

In 1873 the average charge for hauling grain from Chicago to New York was 53¢ cents a bushel, or $11.65 per car of 20,000 pounds. That was probably the lowest freight charge then in existence. There were five great trunk lines of railway competing for the traffic, and the water route was able to carry at lower rates than any of them could possibly quote. The present charge for carrying grain a like distance on the Canadian Pacific railway is 39¢ a car, or 39¢ cents a bushel—materially less than the Illinois farmer paid only ten years ago. Yet we do not remember that the Illinois farmer complained about being ground beneath the iron heel of a soulless tyranny. He went on with his work and grew rich. The Manitoba farmer will do the same if he will turn a deaf ear to peddling politicians and attend to his legitimate business. —Hamilton Spectator.

Winter Prices.

Under the august presence of Jack Frost our oyster trade has become very brisk. We are having a lively run on our superior large bulk Oysters, which we are now selling at 35c per quart. Our customers tell us that they are the best for the money in town. Canned Oysters at all prices according to quality. Try our Selects, 40c per can. When once used they will recommend themselves. The public can rely at all times on getting nice fresh Oysters, as we import direct from the packers in Baltimore, therefore we are always sure of getting fresh stock. Don't forget the place, north store, opposite the express office; south store, opposite the market square, George street.

Useful Trees.

Close rows of hardy evergreens to the north and west of your house will shelter you from the piercing winds of winter. Two hundred trees cost in the neighbourhood of $15 and in ten years will have reached the height of from twelve to fourteen feet.

Reciprocity Treaty.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—In the House a bill was introduced by Mayberry requesting the President to negotiate with Great Britain for a renewal of the Canadian reciprocity treaty of 1854.

The U. S. Liquor Law.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—As a consequence of District Attorney Peckham's decision that liquor licenses are rendered void by the conviction of a saloon-keeper who breaks the excise laws, many saloons were closed yesterday and thirty arrests made.

Lynching in West Virginia.

WHEELING, W. Va., Dec. 11.—Big Bill Kinney, whose trial for murder resulted in a disagreement of the jury at West Union yesterday, was taken from goal by a mob and hanged last night. It is reported the mob started for Clarkburg, where Kinney's cousin is in goal convicted of manslaughter with the intention of hanging him.

A New Freight Line.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 10.—A fast freight line has been formed, to be called the Nickel Plate Express, to run over the N. Y. C., Boston and Albany, Nickel Plate & Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati & Indianapolis routes from New York and Boston to Cincinnati and St. Louis. The establishment of this line is the outcome of the Central's notice to the Troy & Boston that it would discontinue forwarding freight over that line to Boston.

Accident to an Elevated Train.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—A train on the Third Avenue elevated road while on a steep grade at 67th street this morning proved too heavy for the locomotive, and dragged down the grade with the steam brakes set. The rear car crashed into the locomotive, a train following, wrecking both, and very seriously injuring a fireman. The passengers on both trains were severely shaken up, and travel was suspended for some time.

Killed by a Girl.

HAMILTON, Dec. 10.—In June last a lad named George Mitchell, working at the cotton mills here, quarrelled with a girl named Rachel Babcock, and the girl struck him on the head with a file. He has been very ill ever since and was lately taken to the hospital, where he lay unconscious till 2 o'clock this morning, when he died. The girl was committed for trial for assault on Nov. 28th, and has been in goal ever since. She will now in all probability stand her trial for murder.

Gazette Notices.

The following notices occur in the Ontario Gazette of Dec. 8th:—
A reward of $500 for the apprehension of Greenwood and Phillips, escaped from the Essex County goal.

Notice from the Synod of the Diocese of Toronto to apply to the Legislature of Ontario, for an Act incorporating the Churchwardens of Free Churches and conferring upon the Churchwardens and Vestries of such churches the same powers and privileges as are conferred by the Church Temporalities Act on the Vestries and Churchwardens of churches in which the pews are held by purchase or lease.

A notice from Knox College to empower it to establish an endowment fund.

The Defeat of Hicks Pasha.

The destruction of Hicks Pasha and his army in the Sudan is one of those events which, however startling at first sight, become yet more gravely significant upon further reflection. The more clearly the nature of the catastrophe is realized the more evident does it become that it has a very direct bearing upon England's position in Egypt, and calls for the most serious consideration on the part of Her Majesty's government. It is desirable, however, that all discussion of the question should start from an accurate conception of the attitude officially assumed by the government towards the ill-fated expedition. That attitude has been from the first one of entire disapproval. The Government positively forbade any officer in the active service of Her Majesty from taking a commission under Hicks Pasha, and those who did so, were, like himself, retired officers, over whose movements the government had no control.

Bradstreet's Weekly Report.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's from leading trade centres throughout the United States this week report a continuation of the dullness in most all lines, which have been reported from week to week for a month past. In dry goods, jobbers and agents report increased stagnation at the east. At western points, where until comparatively recently the distribution of fabrics has been exceptionally active, the movement has now become quite nominal. Staple groceries are going into consumers' hands with as much, if not more, activity than goods in other lines, beyond which not much on this point remains to be reported. Restrictions of output among the iron and steel industries has not been sufficient to accomplish the desired result as yet. The iron rolling mills will shut down sooner this month and remain closed longer after the holidays than heretofore this year. American pig iron is as dull as ever, and prices are still 35¢ for No. 1 X. Steel rails are steady at $20, and orders for some 50,000 tons have been given during the week for spring delivery. The want of winter delivery orders by some mills is likely to induce their shutting down. Bar is suffering most in the iron trade at present. The anthracite coal companies will cease production one half of the time during the remainder of the month. The production of anthracite for 11 months of 1883 exceeds that of the like period in 1882, nearly 2,500,000 tons. Wheat has shown weakness, and closed 7-8 cent lower on the week. An increased visible supply, no gain in the foreign demand, and heavy receipts at the west were the moving causes. Corn, however, was stronger and rose from 7-8 to 11-8 cents higher. Reports of the inferior grade of much of the stock received at primary points, and an alleged unexpected deficiency in supply, together with a fairly active demand have had this effect, provisions have advanced but lost a part of the gain. The forces at work were mostly manipulatory. Ocean freights, except for petroleum charters to arrive, have been dull. Petroleum has been lower on speculation, although no change has been noted in refined. Crude in barrels has advanced 1-8 cent. The statistical position of the product continues to favour higher prices. There were 346 failures in the United States reported to Bradstreet's during the past week, being 14 more than the preceding week, 1 less than the corresponding week of 1882, and 77 more than the same week of 1881. Canada had 33, a decrease of 1. There has been a larger movement of fine washed fleece, but in general the consumptive demand for wool has continued moderate. Prices have been well maintained.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

EXECUTIONS IN SERBIA.

BELGRADE, Dec. 12.—Four priests, four merchants, a schoolmaster, and nine peasants have been executed for participation in the recent revolt. Several of these were executed for shooting persons who refused to join the insurrection.

A SECOND SUZ CANAL.

Cairo, Dec. 12.—The Anglo-Egyptian bank has offered the Egyptian Government a loan of £10,000,000 to construct a canal parallel to the present Suez Canal.

GALES IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, Dec. 12.—Violent gales prevailed throughout England last night. Much damage was done in London and the provinces. At Wolverhampton the Exhibition building was destroyed. Thugs were accompanied by heavy seas along the coast. Telegraph lines are much damaged. The gale was especially severe in Scotland, Ireland, and North Wales. In the midland counties of England huge trees were torn up, and there was great destruction of property and personal injury.

NORTHOTE AND THE ORANGEMEN.

LONDON, Dec. 12.—Replying to a resolution of the Orangemen of Blackpool, Lancashire, Sir Stafford Northcote writes that he cannot accept at the invitation of loyal Irishmen at the unequal treatment they have received while striving to support the unity of the empire.

CRUSHED TO DEATH IN MOSCOW.

MOSCOW, Dec. 12.—An immense throng of poor people gathered yesterday before the house of a merchant lately deceased to receive the money that is usually distributed at the demise of a wealthy person. The pressure was so great that several persons were crushed to death and four severely injured.

MRS. O'DONNELL.

LONDON, Dec. 12.—Mrs. O'Donnell who recently arrived from Philadelphia visited her husband yesterday, and will probably have another interview before his execution. O'Donnell is in good spirits, and still has hopes of being reprieved.

THE PARNELL BANQUET.

DUBLIN, Dec. 12.—At the banquet last night to Mr. Parnell in the Rotunda the banquet room was crowded. Among those present were Messrs. Sullivan, Sexton, O'Brien, McCarthy, Biggar, Gray, Healy, O'Connor, and other members of Parliament. Lord Mayor Dawson presided. French, American, and Irish flags, the last with the harp, but without the crown, were grouped over the chairman's seat. Thirty priests were present, most of them being from the diocese of Ards and Down. Bishop Nulty. At the close of Mr. Parnell's speech he was greeted with great cheering. Mayor Dawson presented Mr. Parnell with a cheque for £25,000 as a national tribute. Greetings to and from America by cable were sent and received.

ODONNELL'S JURY.

LONDON, Dec. 12.—The point will be raised that the jury in the O'Donnell trial should be composed of six British subjects and six alien American citizens of Irish birth or parentage, resident in London, are about to wait upon Mr. Lowell to urge him to use his influence with the British Government to obtain a reprieve for O'Donnell, even if proof of his American citizenship do not arrive before the day fixed for his execution. O'Donnell continues calm in his demeanour, and pays marked attention to the priests who visit him. He seems to be prepared for the worst.

Disastrous Fire in Montreal.

An extensive fire occurred on Saturday evening in Craig's great furniture and electric light manufacturing on St. James street, which consumed the whole block of three story buildings in which two or three hundred mechanics were employed. The estimated loss is $40,000 or $50,000, well covered in British insurance offices. The contents as well as the walls were reduced to ashes, and nothing was saved, the efforts of the whole brigade being employed principally to prevent the flames, which brilliantly lighted up the whole city, from extending to other premises. They were successful. A veteran fireman named Guardian Johnston Calne met with some injuries by a wall falling beside where he stood and the flying bricks striking him.

A Successful Institution.

The Canadian Business College, Hamilton, Ont., of which Mr. E. E. Gallagher is principal, is one of the largest and most flourishing institutions of its class in this country. It has been attended this year by upwards of 250 students, representing all parts of Ontario and the neighbouring provinces and States. Its teachers are thoroughly practical men, and the college is highly commended by the press and the commercial men in its own city. —Toronto Mail, Dec. 6.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 13, 1883.

Is an editorial note the Belleville Ontario shows that it is still unable to discriminate between the executive and legislative functions of a Government. If, as it contends, an administration can bind Parliament in regard to a matter expressly reserved for its jurisdiction by the constitution, pray of what use would a Parliament be? It would scarcely pay to maintain such machinery simply to register the previous decisions of the Cabinet.

The Belleville Ontario says that some one has given us the old and time-honored figures used by Mr. Rykert with reference to Ontario finances. Does it not occur to our contemporary that the similarity between the results of the two calculations, arrived at, as they have been, independently, may arise from the figures being correct and the calculations accurate in both instances. Whether old or new, our contemporary cannot point out any inaccuracy in them.

ABUSE OF PATRONAGE.

For more than a year now there has been a vacancy in the Registry office of the County of Peterborough. During the local election in both ridings this piece of patronage was unobtrusively used by the supporters of the Mowat administration to influence votes, the strongest assurances being given to the friends of a number of candidates for the position that the success of the Government would secure the appointment that the particular voter being addressed might desire. So many indeed were promised the Registry that the Government dreads the indignation of those deceived and dare not grieve any one of the applicants. The Mowat administration did not shrink from this dishonest course, but it does shrink from the consequences of an exposure of its traffic in public patronage.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

THE LAKEFIELD DAM.

The people of Lakefield are pleased that the Dominion Government through the Department of Railways and Canals has advertised for tenders for the erection of a new dam at Young's Point, which is much needed. It is pleasing to the people here to note this evidence of the Government's interest in and attention to the important public concerns of this part of the Province which were so long totally neglected by the Social Government. While the advertisement above referred to gives such general satisfaction, it cannot be denied that at the same time one should have appeared calling for tenders for the erection of a new dam at Lakefield. A new dam is much needed at Young's Point and much more so at Lakefield. No one here believes the Government to be at fault because of the building of the one at the Point, but the fault of the neglect of Lakefield in the matter rests somewhere and the people here are determined to find out where it should be placed before meeting out proper condemnation on the responsible party. Lakefield has had its interests neglected long enough about the navigation between Lakefield and Young's Point, and it is now about time to settle down to business one way or the other. It is the intention of the people here to wait a little longer in order to give sufficient time so that there can be no excuse and then call a meeting and take action publicly and if necessary to send a large deputation to Ottawa and lay the matter fully before Sir Charles Tupper. The feeling here about this affair is becoming more intense every day and if the parties interested have any respect for public sentiment an advertisement will appear in a few days calling for tenders for a new dam at Lakefield.

COUNCIL MEETING.

The Lakefield Village Council met in the Council Room on Monday evening last, the 10th inst. Members present: Mr. R. C. Strickland, Reeve, in the chair, and Messrs. Cox, Nelson, McWilliams, and Urquhart, Councillors.

The minutes of the former meeting were read and confirmed. Moved by Councillor URQUHART, seconded by Councillor COX.—That the following accounts be paid, and that the Reeve's order for the several amounts be issued, viz:—
Dr. Amour, medicine furnished to Mrs. McGuire, $1.00
T. Hendon, work on street, ordered three years ago, 4.50
T. Hendon, charity coffin for Mrs. McGuire's child, 3.00
J. Griffin, slaughtering jurors, 1883, 3.00
J. Watson, wages, etc., 6.82
J. Richardson, hire of team, half day, 1.38
F. Barlow, lumber account, 22.55
Total, 52.25

—Carried.
There being no further business before the Council, a general and informal discussion took place about streets, a park, the islands in the corporation, &c. &c.
Moved by Councillor NELSON, seconded by Councillor McWILLIAMS,—that this Council do now adjourn to meet at the call of the Reeve.—Carried.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

The Lakefield Public School Board met in the council room, Lakefield, on Tuesday evening last, the 11th inst. Members present: Mr. Galvin, chairman, occupying the chair, and Messrs. Gordon, Sanders and Dr. Armour.

The minutes of former meeting were read and confirmed. A number of applications for the position of junior teacher were received, and after considerable time was spent in examining them it was moved by Mr. SANDERS, seconded by Mr. GORDON, that Miss Hare be and she is hereby engaged as teacher of the junior department of Lakefield school for the ensuing year at a salary of $200.—Carried.

Dr. Caldwell here entered and took his seat at the Board.

Moved by Dr. ARMOUR, seconded by Mr. GORDON, that the following accounts be paid, viz:—
S. Henderson, school supplies, $5.22
George Nicholls, plastering, &c., 2.20
W. H. Casement, paid for work, 4.50
Jas Brown, repairing wells, 5.00 and that the chairman order issue for the same.

Moved by Mr. SANDERS, seconded by Mr. GORDON,—That the communication of the master be received, but that the matter of the adoption of a new series of books be left over for future consideration.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. SANDERS, seconded by Dr. ARMOUR,—That the Lakefield public school be opened again after the holidays on the first Monday after New Year's day.

It was moved in amendment by Dr. CALDWELL, seconded by Mr. GORDON,—That the school be opened on the Thursday after New Year's day.

The chairman voted for the motion, so that the school will open on Monday, January 7th, 1884.

Moved by Dr. ARMOUR, seconded by Mr. SANDERS,—That Mr. W. H. Casement be and he is hereby appointed returning-officer for the ensuing school election, and that said election be held in the council room, and that he be paid the sum of three dollars for his services.

Dr. CALDWELL moved in amendment to the effect that the returning officer be only paid one dollar if no poll be held, and if a poll be held then three dollars. A good deal of discussion arose on this amendment. Dr. Armour and Mr. Sanders contending that three dollars was the usual fee paid, and taking it year by year that the amount was not too large, and that he was not paid any more if a poll was held.

Dr. CALDWELL maintained that if no poll was held three dollars was too much, and that it was quite sufficient if a poll was held, but he could not get any one to second his amendment, so the chairman declared the motion carried.

Moved by Mr. SANDERS, seconded by Dr. CALDWELL,—That Mr. Isaac Watson, the present janitor be and he is hereby re-engaged at the same salary for the ensuing year.—Carried.

Moved by Dr. ARMOUR, seconded by Mr. GORDON,—That this Board do now adjourn.—Carried.

SLIGHING.

The want of sleighing is very much felt in this part of the country. Wood is scarce and dear on account of the bad roads, and hopes are freely expressed that an abundance of the beautiful will soon come to the rescue.

PERSONAL.

Mr. A. Shearer, formerly teacher of our public school, a position which he filled to general satisfaction, is now in our village on a visit to his many friends.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.
MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.—James Hogan, of Barleigh, while attending to some part of a threshing machine belonging to Mr. Myers, of Julian's landing, his coat got caught by the machinery while in motion, and drew him towards the wheels, when in an instant he made a plunge and left his coat tails behind and broke 11 cogs off a wheel. He was not injured in the least. No person working around the mill saw his predicament until the mill broke down.

THE WEATHER.—Mr. Vennor's prophecy regarding this month so far is pretty nearly correct. It will be bad for lumbermen and all commerce if we are to have little or no sleighing. Nothing like a good Canadian winter for business of all kinds. The farmer gets his grain drawn to market and the man of business gets his accounts more readily collected and all to make his bank payments at maturity.

HENRY.—Walter Young, residing near this place, has commenced a hattery on a small scale, having purchased about 200 (owl) for a commencement. Good for Walter—he has an eye after the egg business, as the price for eggs now-a-days is quite an item.

Thousands Say So.

Mr. T. W. Atkins, Glard, Kan., writes:—"I never hesitate to recommend your Electric Bitters to my customers, they give entire satisfaction and are rapid sellers. Electric Bitters are the purest and best medicine known and will positively cure kidney and liver complaints. Purify the blood and regulate the bowels. No family can afford to be without them. They will save hundreds of dollars in doctors' bills every year. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Taylor and Macdonald."

THOS. W. ROBINSON, Manager.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN:—

My course as Councillor during the present year has been severely criticised, but I can only say that every act of mine in the Council was prompted by my conviction of what was just and right to the ratepayers. I entered the Council without personal interest of any kind to serve, determined to advance the interests of the ratepayers to the best of my ability, and, as far as my single efforts could do so, to conduct the business of the Town on the same sound business principles than every one of you applies to the conduct of your own private affairs.

This course, opposed as it was to the loose and extravagant manner in which the majority in the Council have been accustomed to carry on your business, naturally called down upon me a storm of abuse, which, however, the courage of my convictions has enabled me to bear without flinching.

Many important matters have been before the present Council, and, as my opponent, Councillor Paterson, holds views on them different from my own, I shall here state a few of them, hoping to give the opportunity of discussing the merits of our opposite opinions before you with him.

FIRE PROTECTION.

I am opposed to paying by a general tax for hydrants taken by the Town for fire protection, believing it to be unjust to ask ratepayers living outside of the fire line to pay for the protection of the centre of the town.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject are directly opposed to mine.

HOUSE OF REFUGE.

As chairman of the Charity Committee this year, I have had excellent opportunities of judging of the necessity for such an institution, and am forced to conclude that at the present time it is not required. No doubt some few cases could be found in our midst which it would be extremely convenient to send to such an institution, if we had it, but the immense cost of building and maintaining a Refuge would be out of all proportion to the benefit to be derived from it. In the future this may not be so. You may therefore rest assured that, if I have the honor to be elected by you to the Mayoralty, I will use my influence to prevent the burden being added to your already heavy taxes.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject also are, I believe, opposed to mine.

CIVIL SALARY.

I am not in favor of attaching a salary to the office of either Mayor or Councillor, believing that the opportunity which you thus afford them of proving themselves faithful servants, and worthy of your confidence, ought to be a sufficient recompense for their time and trouble. I understand Mr. Paterson's views on this point also are at variance with mine.

CLERK AND TREASURER.

I am opposed to allowing one person to hold the two offices of Clerk and Treasurer. On this point also Mr. Paterson differs from me.

BANK OF TORONTO BUILDINGS.

As the paying for these buildings this year has caused a considerable increase in the amount of taxation, and a good deal of dissatisfaction has been expressed in consequence, a few words from me on this subject will not be out of place. Early in the year there was a general unanimity in the Council as to the desirability of purchasing these buildings on the terms offered by Mr. Stevenson, namely:—$4,500, payable in debentures bearing at 5 per cent. running over either 10 or 20 years, but when the matter came up in discussing the estimates, to my surprise, the whole amount (less about $400 received from the Town Trust Commission) was asked for this year. I was opposed to this, but was voted down. Councillor McNaughton alone supporting me. Mr. Paterson, whose duty it was, as Chairman of the Finance Committee, to compile the estimates, can perhaps give some satisfactory explanation to the ratepayers for putting this heavy tax upon them. The title to these buildings has not yet, I believe, been perfected. Is it possible that the purchase may yet fall through?

There are many other points on which I might touch, but as this address is already too long, I shall only say that I am opposed to all jobbery and rings, and to the transacting of the town's affairs in secret conclaves and not in either open Council or Committee.

I am in favor of progress and municipal reform, and where any saving can be effected in the management of our municipal affairs, I am also strongly in favor of such saving.

If elected, I shall use my best efforts to obtain a dollar's worth of your money for every dollar expended.

I am now in your hands, and it is for you to say by your votes whether my conduct during the year and my position on the foregoing important matters is worthy of your support and confidence.

I remain,

Your obedient servant,

C. W. SAWERS.

BELLEVILLE.

THE NEW POST OFFICE.—At noon on Saturday over 150 boxes had been taken in the new post office. The buildings were expected to be utilized yesterday.

PHILAN BOXES.—Mr. Alex. Robertson, M.P., has procured from the Postmaster General permission to place letter drop boxes in the outskirts of the city. Twelve localities have been chosen.

POULTRY.—Five tons of poultry was shipped from Belleville to Boston on Tuesday.

COURTY COURT.—The County Court opened on Tuesday morning before Judge Lister.

DEAF AND DUMB INSTITUTE.—There are 238 pupils attending the institution for the deaf and dumb.

FIRE.—Ald. Larocche's stables were burned on Saturday. The loss is covered by insurance in the Western.

THE POST OFFICE.—About six hundred boxes and drawers in the new post-office have been let. There are one thousand in all.

QUARRIES.—Ald. Larocche has leased the quarry on Point Ann, to Messrs. Sidor and Murray, contractors for the Murray Canal, who have arranged for getting out 30,000 cubic feet of stone which is to be used in the construction of that work. This will employ an average of about 150 men and about a year and a half will be occupied in getting out the quantity required. Work will begin in about ten days and the average wages will amount to over $150 a day. This is the largest contract yet let in Belleville and will prove a vast benefit to the city.—Intelligencer.

COBORG.

UNIVERSITY MATTERS.—At a meeting of the resident graduates of Victoria University on Saturday last, the question of an additional endowment to the University of Toronto and University College, by the Local Legislature, came up for consideration, and it was unanimously resolved that "while in no sense desiring to see the efficiency of that institution impaired, in the judgment of this meeting, representing the graduates of Victoria University in Cobourg, it is unnecessary and inequitable for the Legislature of Ontario to expend any additional expenditure of public money to the State University at the present time. A local Alumni Association was formed with Mr. Wm. Kerr, M. A., Q. C., as President.

PORT ROBE.

BIBLE CHRISTIAN ASSISTANCE.—An anniversary service of the Bible Christian Church was held on Sunday and Monday last here. The Rev. S. T. Bartlett of Bowmanville—"the boy preacher," A. C. Courtois, B. A., Cobourg, S. J. Thompson of Perrytown, and J. C. Seymour of Callton took part in them. At a tea on Monday evening $38.00 were gained.

The Duke of Edinburgh's Farm.

It is perfectly true, as reported some time ago, that the Duke of Edinburgh was going in for agricultural pursuits. Very heartily, too, does he seem to have done so. He has entered into possession of the greater part of a park of over 25,000 acres—the second largest in England.

14,000 acres, however, is all the Duke is able to present to manipulate; and of this 400 acres are brake and woodland, and of the remaining 940 acres about three-fourths is pasture. The park absolutely swarms with deer, but these are to be reduced to 500. The Duke hopes to go in largely for the purest breeds of sheep and cattle; 900 Southdowns are to be kept in the best possible condition; 40 Scotch cattle ditto. Then there is a Jersey bull of the best procurable blood as also Jersey heifers equally pure. If the Duke does nothing more he may be sure of prizes at Lillingston.

At all events the farmers may congratulate themselves that one more establishment is in working order for breeding from the best known stocks. One of the cart horses is an old charger that saw service in the Russian war.

The Duke's Immigrants.

We are not going to bandy words with the Times about the immigrants sent out by the Duke's committee. The facts are, simply as we have stated them: Mr. Tuke and Major Gaskell came to Canada last year; they had an interview with Mr. Hardy, and an understanding was reached between them. It was agreed that Mr. Hardy was to cable Mr. Tuke from time to time, how many immigrants could be placed in Ontario, and Mr. Tuke was to send only such immigrants, and so many as he was prepared to send. The understanding was carried out, the dispatches went back, the immigrants came, and the whole responsibility rests with the Mowat Government. We do not find fault with the arrangement, unless it be shown that the immigrants were not of a proper class, for we believe the great need of Canada to-day is for more people. But it is the building hypocrisy for Reform journals to endeavor to put blame on the Dominion Government for the importation of people who come here in consequence of the agreement between Mr. Tuke and Mr. Hardy.—Hamilton Spectator.

Killed on the Track.

TORONTO, Dec. 12.—A fatal accident took place yesterday morning about 7.15 on the Grand Trunk railway's track at the Don station by which a sectionman named John Costello, who has been over twenty years in the employ of the company, was instantly killed. Costello was walking along the north track, and in order to avoid a train which was going east stopped on the south track, along which a train was being backed. Costello did not notice the second train, and before the man who was standing by had time to warn him of his danger the unfortunate man was knocked down by the train and literally crushed to pieces beneath the wheels of the cars.

YOUNG MEN suffering from early indiscretions lack brain and nerve force. Mack's Magnetic Medicine advertised in another column supplies this want, and thus cures when all other preparations fail. Guarantees issued only by J. D. Tully, Belleville, Peterborough.

The epidemic of incendiarism in Milwaukee in the last month has been the work of four thousand boys, sons of respectable people, who, according to the confession of one of the boys, had formed a "Burnt Hill organization," and had "burnt" where they kept time literature, and whence they made incursions into the neighbours' pantries. The boys have been arrested.

"I HAD been for eight months unable to work, and felt as though I would as lief die as live, through dyspepsia and indigestion. I weighed the time of getting a bottle of McKee's Speedy Cure (10 lbs); used 3 bottles and now weigh 165 lbs, and never was better in my life. It was McKee's Speedy Cure that brought me around." So says Wm. Fell, Hamilton. Go to John McKee's Drug Store and get a free trial bottle, or the regular size for 50 cents and one dollar.

The trial of Robert Elliott and others on the charge of conspiracy to murder Wm. Smythe was continued in Dublin, and the case for the Crown closed. Mr. Boyd, counsel for the defence, commented on the fact that Elliott had not been tried on the charge of murder, for which he had been indicted, and said more shallow, unsatisfactory evidence than that evoked in this trial had never been given by the Crown in an important case.

JAMES BRATLEY, Hamilton, says:—"I read the testimonials for McKee's Speedy Cure and found that I had not to go to New York, Philadelphia, Louisiana or Texas to find living witnesses of its value, we had plenty of persons right here to prove its merits. I got a bottle and it helped me right away. I was so bad with bilious fever and indigestion I think any one could be, I have taken three bottles and am nearly well and can eat any kind of food without it hurting me. I may say that I am better than I ever expected to be." Free trial bottles at J. D. Tully's drug store.

Can-Canadian Industry

In preparation. The great difficulty to be contended with in the low grade of work referred to is nothing in this more apparent than in the comparatively small article of sewing silks. The great demand in Canada seems to be for a cheap quality, buyers forgetting that a cheap thread must necessarily be a fine and consequently a weak one. Messrs. Seidling, Paul & Co. make three grades of spool silk; of these different qualities the poorest one has by far the largest sale, at the same time they constantly hear of complaints of poor sewing silk. If ladies will take the trouble to ask for Seidling, Paul & Co. own brand, and see that their name is on the end of each spool, they will be sure of getting the best made.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Beware of cheap imitations. It is a pleasant, safe remedy, and cures wind, colic, soothes the gums, reduces inflammation, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, soothes the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething is placed at the disposal of the best physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Can-Canadian Industry

In preparation. The great difficulty to be contended with in the low grade of work referred to is nothing in this more apparent than in the comparatively small article of sewing silks. The great demand in Canada seems to be for a cheap quality, buyers forgetting that a cheap thread must necessarily be a fine and consequently a weak one. Messrs. Seidling, Paul & Co. make three grades of spool silk; of these different qualities the poorest one has by far the largest sale, at the same time they constantly hear of complaints of poor sewing silk. If ladies will take the trouble to ask for Seidling, Paul & Co. own brand, and see that their name is on the end of each spool, they will be sure of getting the best made.

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure.

The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, seems as if pin-worms were crawling above the prostates.

THANKS.

I desire to return my thanks to my many friends for their liberal patronage during the year now drawing to its close, and in doing so, I beg to say that all who may favour me with their custom, shall have as heretofore, my best attention.

I recognize the fact that the time to give bargains is when there is a demand for goods. The demand is now here as the Christmas holidays are now drawing nigh, and we shall soon be entering upon the New Year.

I have therefore decided to reduce my stock, and shall offer during this month

All Dress Goods,
Mantles,
Mantle Cloths, and Millinery,

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES, and all other goods in proportion.

Will pay you to give me a call, and to call early in the week.

Wishing all the compliments of the Season.

The Rev. Hugh Johnston, of Toronto, who is to deliver a lecture this evening for the Young Men's Christian Association, arrived on the 12.15 p.m. train from Port Hope, and is the guest of Mr. Geo. A. Cox.

This Evening.

Do not forget the lecture to be delivered in the George Street Methodist Church this evening by the Rev. Hugh Johnston, M.A., B.D., of Toronto. The subject is an interesting one, and those who attend may rely on hearing it treated in an able manner.

Was it a Christmas Gift?

A lady who resides on Sherbrooke street was surprised, on returning home on Wednesday afternoon after a short absence, to find that some person had raised the window of the woodshed and thrown in a load of coal. She had not ordered any fuel of this nature, and she did not know where it came from or for whom it was intended.

Midland Railway of Canada.

The traffic of the above railway for the week ending Dec. 8th, 1883, was as follows:—Passengers and mails, $6,482.30; freight, $12,450.57; total, $18,932.87, as compared with $14,308.73 for the corresponding week of 1882, being an increase of $4,624.14; and the aggregate traffic to date is $1,064,315.78, being an increase of $60,366.07 over 1882.

A Great Sale

of dry goods and clothing is now going on at W. Fairweather & Co's. They are clearing out their large and valuable stock at great reductions. Every buyer in town and country should not fail to visit this grand sale. The bargains offered every day are surprising. Dress goods, silks and velvets, millinery and mantles, clothing, bed and table linens, blankets, tickings, sheeting and carpets are selling at prices astonishingly cheap. W. Fairweather & Co. keeps the largest assortment in the trade and cannot be undersold.

A. C. A.

This is the way a western canoeist, not one of your "mauling" Knickerbockers, or rollicking Albany men, but a sober, straight up and down son of the west, writes to a Peterborough friend: "I have the silk A. C. A. badge framed and hanging on my bedroom wall where it greets my eye the first thing on awakening each morning and reminds me of the kindness and hospitality of the Canadian whom I met. How I should love to see you all again. And the ladies, bless their hearts! They were each worth their weight in gold in contributing to the enjoyment of the camp, and I realized there for the first time what an unhappy thing it was not to be able to increase the capacity of my canoe, as will, to accommodate passengers."

Now then ladies, which of you was it?

Routley "Takes the Cake."

Do you hear the cheerful music, the joyous shout and ringing laughter, with which the merry boys and girls, shake the walls and floors and rafters; all in praise of Routley's grand display of holiday novelties piled up in every quarter of his store and windows—upstairs and down stairs—under the counter and all over—as if it was the base of supplies for Santa Claus. In fact, his stock beggars description, and no one, old or young, should have any difficulty in making a selection of a Christmas or New Year's present. The following will give a faint idea of what you can choose from:—Children's Bells, Rocking Horses, Dolls, China Cups and Saucers, Vases, Work Boxes, Writing Desks, Albums, Cabinet Frames, Hand Satchels, Dressing Cases, Jewel Cases, Hand Mirrors, Musical Games, Violins, Concertinas, Accordions, Christmas Cards, Pictures, Plush Goods, and many other articles too numerous to mention.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

A Very Successful Affair—Museum of Curiosities—Musical Entertainment.

The bazaar in the rooms over the Post Office in aid of the building fund of St. John's Church was well patronized both yesterday and to-day.

In addition to our description of yesterday we may add the following features.

In another room Miss Dudman assisted by Miss Boyd and Miss Wilmet, had charge of the museum, containing a great variety of objects of art and curiosities from China, India, the South Seas, Russia, the North West, &c., the collection being well worthy of a visit.

Upstairs in yet another room was an accurate model of the church of St. John's Church, the work of Mr. A. H. Macdonald, assisted by Miss Cooper, and Miss Boyd and Miss Dunsford who provided the communion table and dressed the figures of the choir, &c.

This evening there will be a musical entertainment under the auspices of Mr. C. W. Ewing, organist of St. John's Church.

Cooler To-night.

The weather to-day has been mild and spring like. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh to strong south-west to west winds; very mild weather, with local showers, more especially in the northern portion, cooler north-west winds to-morrow.

Perished on the Lakes.

Mr. John Carbery, who, with his son, perished in the attempt to save the wrecked steam barge Enterprise on Lake Huron, was a cousin of Mr. John Garvey, of Peterborough. The Enterprise had gone ashore near Oxburn Island, and a rescuing party went out from Detroit, among whom were Mr. Carbery and his son Charles, both of whom perished. Mr. Carbery was rescued from the water, but died in five minutes after.

A Display of Taste.

As the holidays draw near, the merchants put forth efforts to make their places of business as attractive as possible. One of the most effective ways of doing this is by dressing a window in such a way as to attract attention. Among the most beautiful windows on George street are those in the store of Mr. A. McNeil, where the handsome handkerchiefs and neckties, with their bright colors harmoniously arranged, and placed in such a way as to be displayed to advantage, are sure to attract attention, and the other articles shown are admirably arranged.

In Memoriam.

The Winnipeg Free Press of Dec. 6th contains the following notice of a monument erected to the memory of the Rev. E. Morrow, M. A., a brother of Mr. W. A. Morrow, of Peterborough. The Rev. Mr. Morrow made a number of friends in Peterborough during his short residence here some years ago with his brother. The Free Press says:—"The executors of the late Rev. E. Morrow, M. A., Messrs. John W. Sifton, S. C. Biggs and Wm. A. Morrow, have just erected a splendid monument over his grave. It is of red Scotch granite, and of a very fine design. The foundation is of stone set in cement, on which are placed two fine stones cut by F. J. Bowles from his quarry; and on the latter is raised the monument, standing eighteen feet high. The lot is enclosed with an iron fence with stone posts. The cost of the monument approaches $7,000, and it is probably the finest in the Province. Mr. Sifton and Mr. Morrow selected the design, and ordered the work, something over a year ago; but has only been completed this fall, just before the setting in of the frost."

The Eyes.

Mr. B. Laurence, the eminent English optician, is now in Peterborough for a few days for the purpose of appointing agents for his firm, as he has done in every principal place on his way from Halifax, choosing business men of the highest standing, generally chemists, who will keep in stock every variety of spectacles, eye-glasses, and the different appliances that the eyes demand, in fact the agent keeping his lenses will have a positive miniature optician's stock equal in variety to that found in leading establishments in Great Britain. This firm have in every town in the three kingdoms agents for their lenses, and the same system is being carried out in Canada.

These spectacles are recommended by the President, Vice-Presidents, Ex-Presidents and Ex-Vice-Presidents of the Medical Association of Canada; the President of the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Quebec; the Dean of the Medical Faculty of Laval University; the President and Ex-Presidents of the Medical Council of Nova Scotia, &c., &c. Mr. Laurence has also received testimonials from some of the leading professional gentlemen of our own town, two of which, from Dr. Kinsland and Dr. McCrea, we publish herewith. Messrs. Taylor & Macdonald will be the representatives of the firm in Peterborough, and their standing alone would be a sufficient guarantee. During his short stay here Mr. Laurence will give them the benefit of his experience, and may be consulted there gratuitously, the unerring accuracy of which Dr. McCrea speaks so forcibly, enabling him to select at once the lenses best adapted to the eyes he is fitting. This is an opportunity which should not be lost by those who require aid for their sight, and who would regret hereafter if they allowed Mr. Laurence to leave without availing themselves of his services. The following are the two testimonials to which we refer above:—

PETERBOROUGH, Dec. 13, 1883.

I take very great pleasure in stating that I consider B. Laurence, Esq. one of the most skillful and practical oculists with whom I have ever met. His knowledge of the eye is such that he cannot fail to give complete satisfaction to those who patronize him.

B. KINSLAND, M. D., D. C.

PETERBOROUGH, Dec. 12, 1883.

Sir,—I find the greatest satisfaction from the use of the glasses I procured from you this morning. I have tried them in reading print of various sizes, and can read any paper or book better with them than with any glasses I have ever tried before. The unerring manner in which you select the lenses is really marvellous.

A. MCCREA.

Glad Tidings.

To the victim of pains and aches no tidings can give greater pleasure than the means of relief. Polson's Nervine exactly fills the bill. Nervine cures rheumatism, Nervine cures headache, Nervine is sure in lumbago. Nervine, the great cure for internal or external pains. Trial bottles costing only 10 cents may be had at Ormond & Walsh's drug store. Buy one and test it. Large bottles of Nervine only 25 cents, at all druggists. Nervine, nerve pain cure.

"Hub" Cough Cure, 25 Cents.

Prescription of a Boston physician, dispensed for years by a Boston druggist. One dose will cure any cough. It acts almost magically. Ask J. D. Tully for a 25 cent bottle of Hub Cough Cure.

PECTORIA! PECTORIA! PECTORIA! the great remedy for coughs, colds, bronchitis, sore throat, influenza, hoarseness, and all affections of the lungs and throat or chest. Pectoria loosens the phlegm and breaks up the cough. 25 cents per bottle. Don't give up until you have tried Pectoria, all druggists and general storekeepers sell it.

DEAR SIR,—For over twenty years I have suffered greatly from Neural Gout; sometimes being unable to smell or taste properly. The disease caused a severe pain over the eyes, and frequently stopped my writing on account of dizziness. The phlegm in my throat gave me much annoyance, especially in company, balls of which would occasionally fall down into my throat, and I could seldom breathe through my nose. I have taken quarts of various medicines without any apparent benefit, until I was induced, by your agent of 60 Water street, to try your Fountain of Health. After using five bottles I am prepared to give it as my honest opinion that for the cure of Gout it is a grand success. I have recommended it to many of my friends, one of whom encloses his testimonial with mine. I am gratefully yours,

THE AMERICAN FILTER.

Is a recent invention—already allowed by all plumbers to be the best filter ever produced. The Household Filter represented in the cut is as simple in operation as a common faucet; it is more effective than other filters of twice its size; it does not require the flow of the water, its flow is regulated by a valve which can be turned on or off at will, and it can be washed out while the water is running, by one turn of the handle. Sold at one-half the price of filters of other make. To see how simply it works get a circular with cuts. Manufacturers' Filters of every capacity are also made, on the same general principle, and at correspondingly low rates.

The Cells.

The police lock-up was occupied last night by one prisoner, who was arrested at about 8.30 p. m.

The Mayoralty.

We have been requested to state that Mr. Geo. A. Cox's address to the electors will be published in to-morrow's issue of this paper.

Personal.

Mr. C. J. Bloomfield, an old resident of Peterborough, but now residing in Haliburton, is in town on business for a few days.

Mr. Fred Winch arrived from Manitoba today.

A Suggestion.

The Port Hope Times, in referring to the handsome monument erected over the grave of the late Thomas Malloy, suggests that a similar tribute be paid to the memory of the late George Brimmer.

Theatrical.

To-morrow evening Miss Annie Brousseau and company will appear in Bradburn's Opera House in "Fanchon, the Merry Cricketer," and on Monday evening in "The Hidden Hand." Fitch Bros. celebrated cornet band, consisting of ten artists, are attached to the company.

Weather.

The weather to-day has been cool and windy. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Strong winds and moderate gales from the west and north-west; cloudy to fair weather, with light local falls of snow; falling temperature, decidedly colder by night, cold weather to-morrow.

Separate School Elections.

The nomination for Trustees to serve on the Separate School Board will take place on Wednesday, Dec. 26th, in the Murray Street School. If a poll is required, the election will take place on Wednesday Jan. 2nd, at the following places:—In the First Ward, at the Separate School, Lake street, A. Williams Returning Officer; Second Ward, at C. McGrath's shop, C. McGrath Returning Officer; Third Ward, at the Separate School, Murray street, John Corkery Returning Officer; Fourth Ward, at Wm. Lee's shop, Wm. Lee Returning Officer.

Manitoba Wheat and Wood.

Mr. Wm. A. King has left with us a plant of wheat from one grain, from which 37 heads have grown. It is the hard Pitt wheat, and was grown on his farm in section 26, township 6, Range 22, west, in the Souris district of Manitoba. He has also left with us a sample of the wheat, which is excellent. The average yield was 30 bushels to the acre. This speaks volumes for the country that can produce such crops, and it is not surprising that Mr. King is enthusiastic in its praise. He has given us a sample of the poplar wood from the same locality.

FROM LONDON TO JERUSALEM.

A Descriptive Lecture by the Rev. Hugh Johnston, of Toronto.

The Rev. Hugh Johnston, M. A., B. D., of the Metropolitan Church, Toronto, on Thursday evening delivered a lecture in the George Street Methodist Church, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. J. A. Fife, M. D., President of the Association, occupied the chair and the Rev. E. F. Torrance, M. A., conducted the opening devotional exercises.

An hour and a half is a short time in which to view the chief places of interest in the great capital of the British empire, and to travel from there, stopping at the points of interest on the way, to the holy city of Jerusalem. Yet so vividly were the scenes described on this journey that one who heard the lecture would almost imagine that he had actually seen the places which he had heard described.

The Rev. Mr. Johnston began by referring to his voyage to the great British Metropolis, and he conducted the audience, in imagination, through that city viewing the sights—the Tower of London, which recalled to their memory many historical events; to the British Museum, with its treasures of ancient and modern art; to the Zoo Gardens, where he pointed out the animals and related anecdotes of them; to hear the Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, whom he singled out as an eloquent and very earnest preacher of the Gospel; to hear the Rev. Dr. Parker; to Westminster Abbey, where Dean Stanley had preached, and where the music was magnificent. Then they crossed the channel, and as they visited the scenes of former battle fields they were reminded of the conflicts which took place between England and France. Entering Paris after visiting London, was like going from a workshop into a drawing room. He described the avenues, boulevards, palaces and cathedrals of Paris and the tomb of Napoleon, &c. One needed a knowledge of the French language to enjoy Paris. He humorously described a journey by night on a continental railway, where there were no Pullman cars to travel in, and referred to the scenery of which they caught a glimpse as they passed along through the mountains, until they reached Milan and Genoa the superb, and Pisa was reached. Here they lingered to view the interesting sights, including the famed leaning tower. Then, having visited Florence, the city of flowers and the flower of cities, with the magnificent edifices and works of art, they proceeded to Rome, the eternal city. Standing on the ancient Forum they viewed the places made interesting by historical events, and then journeyed through the ancient city, to the dungeon where St. Paul was confined, and gazing as they passed in at the ruins of ancient buildings, visiting the colosseum, magnificent in its ruins; the world's cathedral, the grandest edifice ever built by man; the Vatican, the churches of St. Peter and St. Paul; the galleries of art, where there were pictures any one of which it was worth going round the world to see; and the catacombs. A ride of seven hours brought them to Naples. "See Naples and die," it had been said. "See Naples and live," said the lecturer, "but get out of it as soon as you can," for the people were not pleasant. He described the grand scenes to be beheld here, and made the ascent of Vesuvius. After a short voyage, Alexandria was reached and described. Towards Cairo the scenery was more picturesque. He caused much amusement by describing a ride on a donkey through the crowded streets of Cairo, and then described the view from the citadel. The pyramids were of course visited, and the prospect from the great pyramid was referred to as amazing. He called from Port Said for Palestine, and he felt a strangely subdued sensation as he caught sight of the sacred land. From Joppa they passed through the scenes of the Bible towards Jerusalem, lingering at the tomb of Rachel. Cleopatra rested in an unknown place, while thousands visited the tomb of the virtuous Hebrew wife. Bethlehem was visited, and also the Dead Sea, where the audience were advised never to take a bath. Then followed descriptions of the site of Jericho, the banks of the Jordan, a sunset view at Bethany, the mount of Olives, the Mosque of Omar, the synagogue of the Jews, the tower of David and the Garden of Gethsemane. Very interesting was the description of the scenes in Jerusalem, including the site of Solomon's temple, the place where Jesus wore the crown of thorns, the street leading to Golgotha, the church of the Holy Sepulchre, and the reputed sepulchre of Christ, which was the holy of holies among the holy places in Jerusalem. The lecturer concluded by saying that he never expected to see this city again, and would never see anything dearer to him until he saw the City of his God, Jerusalem above.

A vote of thanks was tendered to the lecturer on motion of Mr. G. M. Roger, seconded by Mr. J. Frith Jeffers.

Mr. Johnston acknowledged the compliment, and earnestly commended the work of the Young Men's Christian Association to the sympathy, support and co-operation of the people.

The doxology was sung, and the Rev. Mr. Torrance pronounced the benediction.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—Her Majesty the Queen has further prorogued Parliament until February 5th.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—The War Office is daily issuing orders having reference to the shipment of supplies and war material to British stations in China. The steamer Hankow, which sails for China next Wednesday, is shipping heavy guns and howitzers.

REVOLUTION BROKE OUT.
PARIS, Dec. 14.—A despatch from Hanoi, dated Dec. 5th, confirms the report of the breaking out of a revolution at Hue and the poisoning of King Hiepema. The new King of Annam is Tiphoo. The influence of the anti-French mandarin is paramount at Hue, and war against France has been proclaimed. The French force in charge of Hue is insufficient to meet the new danger, and reinforcements are urgently necessary.

O'DONNELL'S EXECUTION.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—Blinne, the hangman, has arrived at Newgate to prepare for the execution of O'Donnell. Minister Lowell says he is not free to discuss the steps taken to obtain a respite. He is hampered in approaching the British Government by the result of the Lamson case. Efforts are still being made to secure a meeting of the members of the jury. The Exchange Telegraph Company reports that all the jury have been seen, but all efforts to get them to join in a memorial to the Crown for a respite have been unsuccessful. Meetings were held in various parts of London yesterday in support

A Ferry Boat on Fire.
NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—The Ferry boat Garden City, of the East river ferry company, caught fire and was burned at noon to-day. Several horses were burned, but all the passengers and employees escaped as far as known. The boat was valued at $100,000 and had just left the slip on her way to Long Island city when the flames burst from the deck above the boiler. The engines were reversed and the boat backed into single instant and the flames were so close that they lit the ship, but so rapid was the spread of the fire that before it reached the bridge the cabins were wrapped in flames from end to end. In a desperate jump to save himself Pilot Nelson dislocated his shoulder. Engineer Tracey ran through the flames and reached the deck with his clothing all ablaze. Fireman: Riley finding escape to the dock cut off dropped through the port hole into the river. He was saved. A dozen passengers and ferry hands jumped to the bulwarks of the ferry slip or dashed through the flames to the bridge. It is said several teams leaped into the river.

LOVE ONE ANOTHER.

Therefore, if thou bring thy gift to the altar and there rememberest that thy brother hath ought against thee—Matthew 5th Chapter & 23rd Verse.

Leave them before the altar Jesus said, the gift ye bring.

Go thy way and first be reconciled to thy brother: Return again and God will then accept thy offering—The golden rule that Jesus taught was love one another.

Again He says ye must forgive, and He knows how we are tried.

"How many times must we forgive, Lord" said Peter, "seven."

Jesus looked on Peter and rebukingly replied,

"I say not seven but until seventy times seven."

Forgive thy brother's real or fancied wrong to thee; Sometimes the real ones are the easiest far to bear.

But take them all to Him who says Come unto Me; He'll weigh them in the scales of love and take the lion's share.

We must forgive our brother the bitter spoken word, Scarcely uttered or perhaps he sorely does regret;

Take it all to Jesus when the heart is more than stirred; He will draw the poisoned arrow and help us to forget.

We must forgive our brother if we would be forgiven Our many sins of thought and word as well as deed;

Freely forgive, or we shall never enter Heaven; If we forgive then, Christ for us will enterode.

It seems such wrongs from strangers we could have better borne,

Than friends whom we have loved and oft held council sweet;

Deeper, ay, yes! a thousand fold sinks the cruel thrust, But we've our great Physician to heal and to defend.

Could we but see ourselves as seen by other eyes, How often we should pause and ponder o'er we speak;

How oft we wound a friend that is our hearts we prize, Wound his heart, the vital part, worse than sinning on his cheek.

Better try to bury wrongs in dark oblivion mould: Better take to Jesus our sorrows and our care;

Then let our weary hearts grow bolder, hard and cold, Angels then will whisper in Heaven our loving prayers.

When nailed upon the cross our blessed Saviour prayed, Forgive him in His agony even by his chosen few;

He looked upon his murderers and then He bowed His head

Saying "Father forgive them, they know not what they do."

ELIZA DOWNS.

A CHRISTMAS SCENE.

A PLACE FOR EVERYTHING.

The girl set her arms more firmly in her puggish pose, and actually dared me on my own ground.

"Know I not till I get 'em, sir," she declared.

"Not a look'll I budge till you give up the little one—the dear darling doddle!" the biggest, the bravest of the pair—the misers' own picture!

Here was she at it too. I was not only a robber, but with malevolent purpose. Where was Robin? What had I done? What had happened to him?

My mingled demands and denials were out short wildly by Lavinia's cry.

"Don't drive me distracted, Robert!" she cried. "You were in the nursery; you know it. You were seen there, ay, in hiding, too; you ran from it like a thief."

"But there wasn't a child in it," I interposed.

"I saw none, heard none," and at this conclusive proof of the absence of twin life I felt cleared at once.

It ought to have been enough for any one; but my auditors were not themselves, and it brought no conviction to their minds.

"You talk him!" said Phoebe Ann, fixing her beads on me. "Ye know it well. Now where is 'ee'?"

I don't get till ye tell!"

In a panic I began to hunt about. I had been a little absent that day, distracted rather; was it possible I had buried him up? The admission conveyed in the act of search I was soon to repeat. Soberly I turned up the cushion of my chair and lo!—there he was!

"He has laid upon him!" she cried. "O Phoebe, he has laid upon him!"

But he wasn't there, and when I saw the two women dashing round the room, upsetting books, papers, even my ink-bottle, violating the sanctity of my drawers and pigeon-holes, I felt that the world was coming to an end. My head was gone, at all events, for, instead of resenting the outrage, I helped vigorously in the battle.

In my anxiety I even raised the lid of the chest, and thereupon I felt Lavinia's grasp on my arm.

"O Robert! you couldn't—you wouldn't put him there!" she broke out piteously.

"No, no," I had nothing to say.

"Then, why did you look?" and her tone was sharp again.

"Ay, why does he look?" echoed Phoebe Ann.

"Couldn't he be a man, an ink-bottle, even in the case of womanhood, I hadn't Robin on that ground, at all events, and I had made a disorderly retreat."

For a second I breathed freely—only for that. Terror arose quickly, lest my eyes should catch my movements if I remained behind, and I fled after them at a gallop. The household had gathered in the kitchen now, and when I entered it was a scene of wild commotion. The festive bolly and ivy had been taken down that morning. Dresses and dish-covers were deposited and dismantled. Furthermore the knife tray was turned out—some murderous deed was plainly suspected—and Polly, with Hood in her arms, was dragging the boiler. The child had one eye shut, and seemed unusually quiet—perhaps he had done it.

Search here proving equally unavailing, a rush was next made to the drawing-room upstairs.

I found this apartment still odorous with the fumes of tea which had been generously dispensed to the dismissed guests. The interior was in disorder, and it was evident that hospitality had run ahead of its limited precincts. Trays, tea-cups, cake-plates, and cream-jugs were in every corner, and the first step I took sent me stumbling over the kettle.

At the noise the three women rushed at me, and though they were all dressed in their best, and saw me catching convulsively at a scolded ankle, they were in arms again.

"What has he done?" cried Phoebe Ann.

"O, what has he done?" Where's Robin? Give him to myself!" and she snatched him wildly from my arms.

"I tell you what it is," I exclaimed, my spirit rising at last against the infamous injustice—"I tell you what it is, Lavinia: one of those old women has taken him."

But the suggestion was rejected with outcries. To suspect mothers and nurses, it appeared, was a sort of sacrilege. My wife threw up her hands and eyes.

"Such a thought!" she murmured. "No one but a man could have it! There were not six babies," she pursued, "I saw them leave, myself. And Robin had fallen asleep long before, when Polly laid him in his little crib in the nursery. No one went in there on the way out—you know that," and there on the way out—points on the premises.

"Well, what has become of him?" I asked sadly.

Polly was a desperate sinner, and that notion of the sleep I didn't believe in for a moment. They told me he rested at times, but I had never known it.

"I haven't seen him," I added, emphatically.

"No, Lavinia, not since we were playing shut-the-book with him this morning."

I did not mean anything unbecoming by the allusion. But at the picture of the two fat babies toasted about, and the way in which I had aided in the exercise, my wife collapsed at once. She burst passionately into tears; then sank on the floor.

Something roused her luckily before I had been led to anything rash. It was a faint piping sound, Robin!—and yet not Robin. In a second she had started up like a lapwing, and beating wildly about, Polly, however, who was on all fours, was the quickest on the scent.

An interval of breathless expectation, and she drew forth something from under the sofa.

A cushion first, then a baby who had partially rolled off it. We were everyone on our knees around it in a trice. I certainly had not sat on the child, and yet something terrible had happened to it. It was partly and placidly a respectable hue in the face, without a tinge of Robin's redness.

"Is that him?" groaned Phoebe Ann, and again she looked at me. But a mother's eye saw further than that.

"It's not him!" she cried. Yes, her grandmother had gone as well as the child. "It's not him, it's not him!" she repeated desperately over and over. "It's not Robin!"

At that juncture there was a fierce knocking at the hall door. Phoebe Ann ran. I will do her this much justice, she was active in the emergency. The next moment there was a step in the hall, one of the double-weighted ones I have noticed, and a full-bodied roach which was quite unmistakable.

Lavinia flew once more, and I am sure if I had nearly choked Hood in the morning, Robin ran every risk of being smothered now. She had him at last, and an aged addled-looking woman tottered into the drawing-room, and caught up the yellow baby.

"O, the ducky diddle!" she croaked.

"Was it left behind? Did it miss its nurse?" "Why did you take him, woman?" I demanded sternly, remembering all I had gone through. "How could you dare to take him?"

"But I didn't," she cried. "Wasn't 'ee forgotten under the sofa, where I always lays 'im for safety when he sleeps?"

"Under the sofa?" I exclaimed. "What an extraordinary place!"

"What's to all it? It's a very good up. He can't be sat upon; leastways, not full in the face."

"And our child—our eldest, our best," and I tried to wax passionate and paternal—"where was he?"

"In my arms, tiddy sure. Hadn't he on little Buttons's things, hood and veil and all, being one on an age, to try 'em 'ed fit? An' when I look my eye of late, with not a drop of gin in 'im, which never crosses my lips, wasn't I that fussed in point away with three of Mrs. Belle's blinks—screchin' in our ears that I popped my baby right under my shawl, and cuddled 'im up? I had given 'im a sup of my tea, and hadn't he dropped off that quiet that I thought 'im was Buttons'?"

At this orifice I became aware of an interposed arm, and my wife was on the sofa.

"Leave, Mrs. Swigg!" she said. "Leave this instant, and come here no more!"

The woman slunk away from her place; the door was shut upon her, and I heard a thud, and a foot on the stairs which must have been fairly noisy, and I did not know how to feel.

"That horrid creature!" she cried. "What a start she has given me! Phoebe says she is quite muddled—that she is often so. But she is nurse to the baby in the next terrace—just the age of our—and I hadn't an idea she was unsteady, or I would never have asked her in. Poor, dear Robert, you were frightened too!"

"Wasn't I just? But I would not be ungenerous since she was repentant. Omnia vincit amor, et nos cedamus amori."

"And Polly," I said—"was she drinking as well?"

"O, no, Robby love. But she's just what you often said to me. She's a born sinner, and I have given her waiting at night. She was busy about the tea, to be sure. Still it was her business to look after the child. I had Hood in my own arms, and she was to be the people of it, I couldn't be every where, you know. Then, when our darling was missed, Polly declared she had put him in the crib."

"Two are too many," I began, instinctively, but I choked up the words when I found Lavinia sobbing on my shoulder.

"You've a right to be so hoarse. I will get an older nurse now, and the children will be less likely to be hurt by her." "The children," I interrupted. "I don't mind them. I am fond of them rather—indeed I am. But I thought you were changed to me, Lavinia."

If I had had from on that point they were silent, and I saw that they were close clasp came from those entwining arms, and such sweet kisses fell from those lips that I knew my wife was the same old woman.

The twins were forgotten, even the newly-found Robin was ignored, while her husband claimed the first place in her heart.

Her tenderness and thoughtfulness seemed renewed from that day, and I could almost pardon Mrs. Swigg, and the surreptitious drama put to her own lips, since they had brought to mine the refreshing draught of a restored love and confidence.

Plain Truths!

The blood is the foundation of life, it circulates through every part of the body and unless it is pure and rich, good health is impossible, if disease has entered the system the only sure and quick way to drive it out is to purify and enrich the blood.

These simple facts are well known and the highest medical authorities agree that nothing but iron will restore the blood to its natural condition; and also that all the iron preparations hitherto made blacken the teeth, cause headache, and are otherwise injurious.

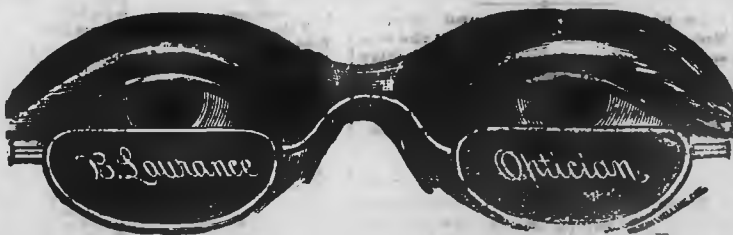

SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS will thoroughly and quickly assimilate with the blood, purifying and strengthening it and thus drive disease from any part of the system, and it will not blacken the teeth cause headache or constipation and is positively not injurious.

St. Johnsbury, Vermont Oct. 23rd 1883.

For six years I have been a great sufferer from blood disease, dyspepsia and constipation, and became so debilitated that I could not walk without leaning on my stomach, in fact I had almost become a burden, and when hope had almost left me, I was induced to give Sulphur and Iron Bitters a trial. I am now taking the third bottle and have not felt so well in six years as I do at present.

MRS. E. L. MOORE. SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS effectually cures dyspepsia, indigestion and weakness, and renders the greatest relief and benefit to persons suffering from such diseases as kidney and liver complaints, dyspepsia, indigestion etc.

B. LAURANCE'S SPECTACLES

MR. B. LAURANCE, of the above mentioned Establishment, has the honor to announce to the Ottawas of Peterborough and surrounding country that he will locate his Office at

The MEDICAL HALL, (Taylor & Macdonald)

Corner of George and Hunter Streets, Peterborough.

For a few days only, commencing TUESDAY, DECEMBER 11th, with a complete assortment of the above Lenses. Laurance's Spectacles, so well known and appreciated in the United Kingdom, will be offered by him to spectacle wearers at the same prices they are sold at in England. Ground on scientific principles from either the clearest and purest globe, or from optical glass especially manufactured for the purpose, they are without exception best adapted to restore the ravages of age and to restore perfect vision. For these reasons they are especially recommended by the most eminent men of the faculty.

MR. B. LAURANCE will adapt Lenses without extra charge, and his valuable services will be placed at the disposal of his customers for a few days only, commencing on the above mentioned date. Each eye will undergo a special examination, and the Spectacles will be fitted with the particular lens best suited to the condition of each eye, and as no higher spectacle will ever be offered for persons with impaired sight to be properly fitted, he trusts this opportunity will be duly appreciated. Mr. Laurance has also received testimonials from the following distinguished persons and thousands of others:—

Lieut. Gen. Sir Patrick Macdonald, R.C.M.G.
Chief Justice James McDonald, N.B., late Minister of Justice.
Rev. David Mitchell, Pastor Presbyterian Church, Belleville.
Dr. Sullivan, President Medical Association of Canada, Professor of Principles and Practice of Surgery, Royal College Physicians and Surgeons, Kingston.

THANKS.

I desire to return my thanks to my many friends for their liberal patronage during the year now drawing to its close, and in doing so, I beg to say that all who have favoured me with their custom, shall have as heretofore, my best attention.

I recognize the fact that the time to give bargains is when there is a demand for goods. The demand is now here as the Christmas holidays are now drawing nigh, and we shall soon be entering upon the New Year.

I have therefore decided to reduce my stock, and shall offer during this month

All Dress Goods,
Mantles,
Mantle Cloths, and Millinery,

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES, and all other goods in proportion.

Gifts will pay you to give me a call, and to call early is the best.

Wishing all the compliments of the Season.

LOCAL NEWS

Snow, Perhaps.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate winds from the west and north-west fair to cloudy, cold weather with light snow in a few localities.

Sale of Useful Articles.

A bazaar and sale of useful and fancy articles will be held in the School Room of St. Andrew's Church on the evening of Thursday, December 20th, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of that Church. A good opportunity to purchase Christmas presents. Admission 10 cents. Refreshments extra.

T. F. M. L. S.

The Young People's Society held their weekly meeting in the school room of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church on Friday night. An interesting debate took place on the question, "Resolved, that the character of Oliver Cromwell is worthy of our admiration." The question was decided in the affirmative. Music and an admirable essay, with the critic's review, completed the programme.

A Great Sale

of dry goods and clothing is now going on at W. Fairweather & Co's. They are clearing out their large and valuable stock at great reductions. Every buyer in town and country should not fail to visit this grand sale. The bargains offered every day are surprising. Dress goods, silks and velvets, millinery and mantles, clothing, bed and table linens, blankets, tickings, sheeting and carpets are selling at prices astonishingly cheap. W. Fairweather & Co. keeps the largest assortment in the trade and cannot be undersold.

Correct Time.

The correct standard time is received every morning at the Central Telephone Office, and transmitted to the REVIEW Office. It is received from Toronto, and is therefore correct, and as the Midland Railway office also get the correct standard time every day, the telephone will be able to regulate the time to correspond with that on which the trains are run. The town clock had another fit last night. It is subject to them. When the caretaker went up to it this morning to put the hands forward he disturbed a whole swarm of pigeons.

"The Spirit of the Age."

We have to thank the Lindsay Press for its generous compliment and good wish. Our contemporary says:—"The Peterborough Review Printing and Publishing Company will assume the business now carried on by Messrs. Toker & Co. on the 1st of January next, with E. J. Toker as managing director. On that date the subscription price of the WEEKLY REVIEW will be reduced to $1 per year. The new company also announce that they are now negotiating for a better and larger press, and that it is their intention to enlarge the WEEKLY REVIEW, and observe great additions to its value during the coming year. The REVIEW has always been an excellent paper and for years led the newspapers of the Midland district. The reduction in price will ensure a large addition to its extended circulation. The reduction in price is in keeping with the spirit of the age, and as the paper is to be much enlarged, the advantage will be clearly on the side of the subscribers. Success to the improved WEEKLY REVIEW."

There is nothing like a fine head of hair. Ladies and gentlemen, go and see the fine display of Waves, Wigs, Switches, &c., at Phelan's Hotel, Dec. 17 and 18.

Personal.
Mr. E. H. D. Hall, of Moosejaw, N.W.T., is in town, and will spend the holidays with his friends here.

A Note for Young Men.

This evening, at the young men's meeting in the Y.M.C.A. rooms, Dr. Clarke will deliver an address on "Vices peculiar to young men."

Entertainment.

An entertainment will be held in the Orange Hall on next Thursday evening, Dec. 20th. The tickets which were issued for the 13th will be good for this date.

at Long Bros. for the best "Xmas Cakes, and you will have them nicely iced and ornamented. Samples can be seen now on exhibition in their stores. LONG BROS.

To-night.

This evening Miss Addie Brouseau and her Company will produce "Fanchon or the Merry Cricket," in Bradburn's Opera House. The colored brass band of the Company paraded the streets at noon to-day.

The Market.

Despite the sudden change in the weather from moderately high to extremely low temperature, there was quite a large attendance on the market this forenoon. Prices generally were high, especially for geese and turkeys, butter and eggs.

A Sudden Change.

On Friday morning the weather was quite mild, but as the day advanced it became colder, and last night was the coldest, by about ten degrees, that we have experienced this season. The Rev. V. Clement's thermometer registered 10° below zero, and in addition to the low temperature there was a strong wind. To-day the weather has continued very cold.

Turnbull's Millinery and Mantle Makers have been very busy all the season, through which to prove positive that his honest endeavours to secure the right articles have been appreciated. Call early if you wish to have a Mantle or Bonnet made up before the holidays.

A New Thing in Socials.

All sorts of ingenious devices for entertaining people, and getting money, are invented. Among the latest developments in this direction is to have a light and pleasing musical or literary programme, and then to have a lunch, which is provided in this way:—Each lady prepares a basket of lunch for two, and puts her card in it. These baskets are then sold to the highest bidder, and the gentleman who is the purchaser eats the lunch with the lady whose card he finds in the basket. Some results of an amusing character are sometimes observed. This kind of social is similar to the netlike and apron socials, but is of an improved plan. We understand that Carwell Lodge, I. O. G. T., will have one of these "basket socials" soon.

An Heir Wanted.

The Postmaster at Ida, Mr. W. H. Lough, has received the following letter, which is published in the Fort Hope Times:—"Mr. Postmaster:—Can you give me any information of any people by the name of Gibson? or if there are any people of that name in your town? I am trying to find my sister, or some one of her children, the names of the children were James Gibson and Willie Gibson; my sister, the last I heard of her, lived in Canada. I had heard from there to a place called the Queen's Bush; or, if you know nothing of any of the Gibsons, are there any person by the name of John Henry, or any of the Henrys? or any by the name of Nesbitt? If you know any one of these persons, will you please hand them this letter, as I am very anxious to find some of my people. I am getting alone in years and have no heirs, and wish to find my sister or some of her children. If she is not living, some of her children are certainly alive. If any of them get this, and will answer and send me their address, they will hear of something to their advantage. My name, before marriage, was Maggie Hooley. Respectfully,
Mrs. MAGGIE HENNELLA,

Winter Prices.

Under the august presence of Jack Frost our oyster trade has become very brisk. We are having a lively run on our superior large bulk Oysters, which we are now selling at 50c per quart. Our customers tell us that they are the best for the money in town. Oyster Oysters at all prices according to quality. Try our Special, 40c per can. When once used they will recommend themselves. The public can rely at all times on getting nice fresh Oysters, as we import direct from the packers in Baltimore, therefore we are always sure of getting fresh stock. Don't forget the place, north store, opposite the express office; south store, opposite the market square, George street.

REQUISITION

To GEO. A. COX, Esq.:

SIR,—The undersigned ratepayers of the Town of Peterborough, having watched with interest the marked ability with which you have managed the affairs of the Midland Railway, and the success which has attended you in every enterprise with which you have been connected, and recognizing the great benefits which have accrued to the Town through your efforts, now desire to show their appreciation of your services by conferring on you the highest position in the gift of the citizens, and respectfully and urgently request that you will allow yourself to be elected Mayor.

asking me to allow myself to be nominated as Mayor for the ensuing year.
If I consulted my own feelings I should promptly decline the honor, but I feel that we have arrived at an important crisis in the history of our town, when it is the duty, not only of the Council, but of all citizens interested in the welfare of the town, to do what they can to promote its interests and preserve its credit.
If I can be of any service in this respect, I am prepared, in response to such a large and influential requisition, to place myself at the disposal of the ratepayers. It is not my intention, however, to ask any person for his support, and if I have reason to think that even a respectable minority of the ratepayers are opposed to my election I shall withdraw from the contest.
I have the honour to be, &c.,
GEO. A. COX.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN:—At the request of many of the ratepayers of the Town, who are opposed to the present management of our Municipal affairs, I appear as a candidate for the Mayoralty for 1884, and beg respectfully to solicit your votes and influence therefor.

My course as Councillor during the present year has been severely criticised, but I can only say that every act of mine in the Council was prompted by my conviction of what was just and right to the ratepayers. I entered the Council without personal interest of any kind to serve, determined to advance the interests of the ratepayers to the best of my ability, and as far as my single efforts could do so, to conduct the business of the Town on the same sound business principles that every one of you applies to the conduct of your own private affairs.

This course, opposed as it was to the loose and extravagant manner in which the majority in the Council have been accustomed to carry out all proportion to the benefit to be derived from it. In the future this may not be so. You may therefore rest assured that, if I have the honor to be elected by you to the Mayoralty, I will use my influence to prevent this burden being added to your already heavy taxes.
Mr. Paterson's views on this subject also are, I believe, opposed to mine.

As chairman of the Charity Committee this year, I have had excellent opportunities of judging of the necessity for such an institution, and am so far from concluding that at the present time it is not required. No doubt some few cases could be found in our midst which it would be extremely convenient to send to such an institution, if we had it, but the immense cost of building and maintaining a Refuge would be out of all proportion to the benefit to be derived from it. In the future this may not be so. You may therefore rest assured that, if I have the honor to be elected by you to the Mayoralty, I will use my influence to prevent this burden being added to your already heavy taxes.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject also are, I believe, opposed to mine.

As chairman of the Charity Committee this year, I have had excellent opportunities of judging of the necessity for such an institution, and am so far from concluding that at the present time it is not required. No doubt some few cases could be found in our midst which it would be extremely convenient to send to such an institution, if we had it, but the immense cost of building and maintaining a Refuge would be out of all proportion to the benefit to be derived from it. In the future this may not be so. You may therefore rest assured that, if I have the honor to be elected by you to the Mayoralty, I will use my influence to prevent this burden being added to your already heavy taxes.

MR. COX'S ACCEPTANCE.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—I observe that Mr. Cox closes his acceptance of the nomination to become a candidate for the mayoralty with the remark that if even there was a respectable minority opposed to him he would at once withdraw. I now ask Mr. Cox to say whether the expression of contempt he uses applies to the number or the character of those who may oppose him. He should, I think, have been a little more definite in the assurance of his disclaim, and I would request him to put it in such words that there may be no equivocation about it hereafter.

Yours &c. RATEPAYER.

Peterborough, Dec. 17, 1883.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—As I have been assured by a number of electors whose names appear on Mr. Cox's requisition that they were led to place their names by the representation that I had retired from the contest, I take this means of publicly denying that I have retired, or that I have any intention whatever of so doing; on the contrary, the assurance of hearty support which I have received from every class of citizens, but especially from the working men of the town, gives me every reason to be satisfied with my candidacy and to persevere in the contest, believing that the principles which I have enunciated, and upon which I rest my cause, meet with the warm approval of the great majority of the people.

Mr. Cox's standard bearers must feel their cause weak indeed when they need to prop it up by such underhand means.

I remain your obedient servant.

G. W. SAWERS.

Peterborough, Dec. 14th, 1883.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—In answer to "Verde," whose letter appears in Saturday's REVIEW, I would remind him that the wage, whose conduct he complains of, "which came so near ending in the election of a coloured barber to fill our civic chair a few years ago, or that which led another crank to prepare an address and expect the nomination on a former occasion," are to be found in the company of "Verde," among the supporters of Mr. Cox. Of course, "Verde" is in a position to put a proper estimate upon the conduct of his friends.

"Verde" thinks it "is too serious" to nominate Councillor Sawers for Mayor, but he wisely refrains from giving his reasons, simply because he has none. He thinks nothing of his "platform" reason for keeping back the popular tide. That Mr. Sawers has the requisite qualifications for Mayor cannot be denied. His intelligence, education and profession eminently fit him for the position, and his "platform" reason for all that they are. Ratepayers can rally to defeat monopolies, wire-pulling, rings and water works aggressions. His qualifications are certainly not confined to money making alone, with all that it implies.

Yours, etc.

Winter Prices.

Under the angust presence of Jack Frost our oyster trade has become very brisk. We are having a lively run on our superior large bulk Oysters, which we are now selling at 50c per quart. Our customers tell us that they are the best for the money in town. Canned Oysters at all prices according to quality. Try our Selects, 40c per can. When once used they will recommend themselves. The public can rely at all times on getting nice fresh Oysters, as we import direct from the packers in Baltimore, therefore we are always sure of getting fresh stock. Don't forget the place, north store, opposite the express office; south store, opposite the market square, George Street.

ERECTING THE SCAFFOLD.

LONDON, Dec. 16.—The scaffold upon which O'Donnell is to hang is being erected. O'Donnell sleeps well, and takes his meals regularly. He does not occupy the cell to which condemned persons are usually assigned, but is placed in a larger one. Two warders watch him constantly.

O'DONNELL.

LONDON, Dec. 16.—O'Donnell passed a good night and continues cheerful. His appetite is fair, but he enjoys smoking more than eating. He was visited this afternoon by Father Fleming and another priest, and was attentive to their exhortations. The strictest reticence is observed by the prison officials. A special guard of twenty-four men is on duty inside the prison day and night, and several detectives are stationed outside. The streets in the vicinity of the prison are empty and quiet. Some feeling being felt about the scaffold, it was thoroughly tested to-day and the machinery again overhauled. It seemed to work well. The exclusion of representatives of the press, and the difficulty of obtaining information is the cause of much dissatisfaction. The execution will certainly take place at 8 o'clock Monday morning. Victor Hugo has written to Queen Victoria, asking her to pardon O'Donnell.

EXECUTION OF O'DONNELL.

LONDON, 8.15 a. m., Dec. 17.—O'Donnell was hanged at 8.02 o'clock this morning. Despite the boisterous squally weather, a considerable crowd assembled at seven this morning outside the prison. Hundreds of workmen passing by stopped to gaze at the black flag. Among them was O'Donnell's brother, who passed so and fro opposite the gallows in a most restless and dejected manner, exciting the sympathy of all present. The hangman's arrangements were perfect, and the execution occurred without a hitch. O'Donnell was calm and collected. He made no statement on the scaffold.

OPPOSITION ORANGE MEETINGS.

DUBLIN, Dec. 15.—Placards signed by the Orange Grand Master have been posted at Dungannon announcing a monster meeting of Orangemen to be held at Dromore on the 1st of January, in opposition to a meeting called by Fenianites. Lord Rosebery will be present.

THE SMYTH MURDER TRIAL.

DUBLIN, Dec. 15.—The trial of Dublin of Elliott and others for the murder of Smyth, has been postponed owing to the illness of a juror.

AN AMBASSADOR INSULTED.

MADRID, Dec. 15.—While M. Andrieux, the French ambassador, was returning from Paris a few days ago, he was maltreated and insulted by officials at Irún, who informed him he was trespassing on ground from which the public were excluded. The scene only ended when the train on which the ambassador was a passenger started for Madrid. M. Andrieux threatened to have the employees dismissed. The Minister of Public Works, however, has refused the request of the ambassador to dismiss them. All the newspapers call the serious attention of the Government to the case.

AMERICAN WHEAT IN AUSTRIA.

VIENNA, Dec. 15.—A cargo of 100,000 cwt. of American wheat has been brought by steamer from Hamburg to Laube in Bohemia. This is the first cargo of American wheat ever imported into Austria.

A WARNING TO THE SWISS.

BERNE, Dec. 15.—Reichonnet, head of the Post-Office Department of the Federal Council, speaking at a military banquet to-day, gave the following exclusive of those bedging Tots and Sinks. There is great want of food and forage at Sankin.

FIRE IN ALEXANDRIA.

ALEXANDRIA, Dec. 16.—The greater part of the temporary buildings erected in the great square after the bombardment of Alexandria was burned last evening.

THE GLASGOW DYNAMITERS.

LONDON, Dec. 16.—The Glasgow dynamiters taken to Edinburgh to-day for trial to-morrow were accompanied by a strong police escort.

EGYPTIAN POLITICS.

CAIRO, Dec. 15.—It is rumoured that the Khedive is about to abdicate. At a Cabinet Council the Ministers of the Interior, Foreign Affairs, and Justice declared in favour of Turkish intervention, while the rest of the Ministers favoured English intervention.

SUAKIN IN WANT OF FOOD.

CAIRO, Dec. 15.—Baker Pasha has received news that there are 20,000 Arabs within nine miles of Suakin, exclusive of those bedging Tots and Sinks. There is great want of food and forage at Suakin.

HICKS' MASSACRE CONFIRMED.

KHARTOUM, Dec. 15.—Three Government couriers arrived from Khartoum fully confirming the first accounts of the massacre of Hicks' army, and also the accounts of Hicks' previous victories.

BAKER PASHA.

CAIRO, Dec. 15.—Baker Pasha's departure for Suakin has again been postponed owing to financial difficulties.

ACTIVITY OF THE CHINESE.

PARIS, Dec. 15.—The latest news from Peking confirms the report of the activity and increasing influence of the Chinese war party. It is reported that Li Hung Chang has been appointed Viceroy of the Province of Kuangsi and Canton, which adjoin Tonquin, and the uncle of the Marquis Tseng has been appointed Viceroy of the Province of Fichili. It is reported that China has submitted a basis of arrangement of the Tonquin difficulty to the judgment of England.

THE NOTORIOUS BELT CASE.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—In the case of Belt v. Lawes, the Court of Appeals to-day decided that there should be a new trial unless Mr. Belt consented that the damages awarded by the Court of Queen's Bench, (£5,000) should be reduced to £500. It is understood Mr. Belt will accept the reduction. Belt, a sculptor, used Lawes for libel in charging that work which the plaintiff claimed as his own was really the production of another person.

THE ADIRONDACK WILDERNESS.

The eminent New York banker and practical philanthropist, Morris K. Jesup, whose name will always be revered by friends of forest protection everywhere, on account of the active interest taken by him in the subject, as intimated by his munificent donation to the Museum of Natural History of New York of the finest collection of specimens of forest trees to be found anywhere, obtained through the agency of Professor Sargent from every state in the union, at an expense of over $100,000, has added another obligation to the many due him by getting the Chamber of Commerce of New York to memorialize the state on the subject of preserving the remaining forests in the Adirondack wilderness.

The memorial presented by Mr. Jesup, after a very able speech on the subject, was couched in the following words:—

"The Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York is alarmed at the dangers which threaten the water supply of the rivers in the northern part of the state through the destruction of the forests which protect their sources. The Chambers believe that the preservation of these forests is necessary to maintain an abundant and constant flow of water in the Hudson, the Mohawk and other important streams, and that their destruction will seriously injure the internal commerce of the state. As long as this forest region remains in the possession of private individuals its protection from fire and lumbering operations will be impossible. Believing, then, that this matter is one of very great importance and that the necessity exists for immediate legislative action, we humbly pray your honorable body to adopt such measures as will enable the state to acquire the whole territory popularly known as the Adirondack Wilderness and hold it forever as a forest reserve.

This memorial was adopted without a dissenting voice, and the Chamber also unanimously authorized the chair to appoint a committee of seven, with power to invite the co-operation of other associations and individuals throughout the state, to secure the necessary legislation. President Geo. W. Lane named the following committee:—Messrs. Morris K. Jesup, Samuel D. Babcock, D. Wallis James, Charles S. Smith, C. N. Bliss, Solon Humphreys and Thomas B. Coddington.—Montreal Gazette.

Gentleness with Horses.

A horse cannot be screamed at and cursed without becoming less valuable in every particular. To reach the highest degree of value the animal should be always gentle and reliable, but if it expects every moment that it is in the harness to be "jaded" at and struck, it will be in a constant state of nervousness, and in its excitement is liable, through fear, to do something which is not expected, as to go along doing what you started it to do.

It is possible to train a horse to be governed by word of mouth, almost as completely as it is to train a child, and in such training the horse reaches its highest value. When a horse is soothed by the gentle words of his driver, and we have seen him calmed down from great excitement by no other means—it may be fairly concluded that he is a valuable animal for all practical purposes, and it may be certainly concluded that the man who has such power over him is a humane man and a sensible one.

But all this simply means that the man must secure the animal's confidence. Only in exceptional cases he is stubborn or vicious. If he understands his surroundings and what is required of him he gives no trouble. As almost every reader must know, if the animal when frightened can be brought up to the object he will become calm. The reason is he understands there is nothing to fear. So he must be taught to have confidence in the man who handles him, and then this powerful animal, which usually no man could handle if it were disposed to be vicious, will give no trouble.

The very best rule, therefore, which we would lay down for the management of the horse, is gentleness and good sense on the part of the driver. Bad drivers make bad horses, usually.—Farmers' Advocate.

Pruning Pine Trees.

Now is the time to trim trees. The frost will prevent the bark from starting off when the limbs are cut close to the bodies of the trees, as they always should be, so that the wound will heal up quicker. It will not injure the tree to trim any season of the year. The best time to commence to take off the limbs is when they are small enough to do with a knife, and follow it up every year or two until the tree becomes large. In this way you get clear timber worth double the price of that untrimmed. I saw a lot of timber I commenced to trim 24 years ago. The limbs grew close to the ground, and now the bodies run up 25 or 30 feet, and they are a fine lot.—Farmers' Advocate.

A Great Sale.

Of dry goods and clothing is now going on at W. Fairweather & Co's. They are clearing out their large and valuable stock at great reductions. Every buyer in town and country should not fail to visit this grand sale. The bargains offered every day are surprising. Dress goods, silks and velvets, millinery and mantles, clothing, bed and table linens, blankets, tickings, sheeting and carpets are selling at prices astonishingly cheap. W. Fairweather & Co. keeps the largest assortment in the trade and cannot be underdone.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1883.

THE ONTARIO BOUNDARY.

The Hon. Wm. McDougall has been lecturing at Ottawa before the Literary and Scientific Society upon the Ontario Boundary question. The opinions of this gentleman should have considerable weight because of his knowledge derived through his former official position in the settlement between Canada and the Hudson Bay Co. and also because he may be supposed to be especially free from any political bias regarding it.

The lecturer was very much in accord with those who hold the reward to be invalid. He holds that the arbitrators did not find the true limits on the north-west, but only a conventional boundary; that they thus exceeded their powers and lost their labour; and that even Parliamentary ratification would not render such an award valid. As a logical consequence he holds that the matter should be left to the Canadian Courts, with an appeal if necessary to the Imperial Privy Council.

Like many of those who object to the ratification of the award, Mr. McDougall does not take this ground to prevent the enlargement of Ontario, but in order to obtain for the Province its full rights by a final and valid settlement. In his idea the arbitrators did not give us an excess of territory in any direction, and indeed his explanation of one of the maps by means of which he illustrated his lecture, pointed very plainly to the feasibility of a claim in favour of the Red River as our rightful boundary.

There was nothing in the lecture by this weighty authority to afford encouragement to those who rant about the faith of Canada being pledged to a ratification of this irregular award. Still less did he afford any support to Mr. Mowat in his little civil war, and the filibustering operations by which he has hindered a settlement of our just claim, and thrown a slur upon our rightful title by an appeal to violence instead of law.

THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

THE Toronto Telegram undertakes to discuss the question of jurisdiction as to the regulation of the liquor traffic, though it must be singularly ill-informed or flagrantly dishonest in regard to it. Our contemporary speaks of the determination of the Dominion Government not to issue liquor licenses till May, as a sign that it is in doubt as to its right. Our contemporary might at least read a statute before assuming to criticize it. The determination of which it professes just to have heard is the necessary consequence of an integral portion of the Dominion Act, which validates all current licenses for the remainder of their term.

From whichever aspect we regard it the Crooks Act is in fact at this moment the undisputed law of the land. If the Province has the jurisdiction of course its Act is valid, and if the Dominion has the jurisdiction the Crooks Act is still valid through its ratification and adoption for the present by the Parliament of Canada.

Lawyers differ as to whether the Dominion or the Province has jurisdiction in regulating the liquor traffic. There cannot, however, be any difficulty in obtaining an authoritative legal settlement of this point, if Mr. Mowat does not prefer to raise a wrangle for the purpose of endeavoring to make political capital.

Irish State Convention.

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 13.—In the Irish State Convention to-day resolutions were reported condemning the British Government; approving the action of the Philadelphia convention calling for allegiance to Parnell; declaring that Ireland's hope lay in the union and fraternity of her sons, regardless of creed or sect, and denouncing as infamous the efforts of the British Government to rekindle the fires of religious intolerance as manifested in the late attacks by English inspired mobs upon meetings of Irish Nationalists in Ireland.

Illness Canal Revenue.

There was collected revenue at the Ottawa office of the Rideau canal for 1883, $3,566. There are two other collection offices, at Smith's Falls and Kingston. But the receipts of the Ottawa office are generally two-thirds, of the whole revenue, so that the entire amount of collections will amount to something over $4,000.

A Railway Foot Humoured.

There are rumours of passengers going on between the local heads of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific with a view to adopting the pooling system which Sir Henry Tyler and Mr. George Stephen had agreed on in London last spring. It is only vague rumour, however, and must be accepted cum grano salis.—Mail.

THE ALGOMA RETURN.

The object of the Mowat Government in passing over the sheriffs and registrars in Algoma, and sending the writ to a creature of their own at Port Arthur, soon became apparent when the bold attempt to disfranchise Conservative voters came out, and received further confirmation in the series of outrages on law and decency perpetrated during the campaign. But perhaps the most ominous sign that the Government are afraid of their doings in Algoma being brought to light is their withholding the return of the writ. The election took place in September, and up to the present day, now nearing Christmas, the Returning Officer has made no return, so that we do not know officially who has been elected. The object of thus keeping back the return in defiance of the law is quite apparent. They know that Mr. Lyon has obtained his apparent triumph by the grossest fraud, and they are holding back the return so that there may be no chance of unseating him before the House meets, and he can hold the place for another session. But another, and fully as potent a motive will be found in the fear of the Government for the exposure of their own doings. They know that the moment the writ is returned a protest will be entered—that it will be pushed with all despatch—and that they must inevitably go down under the storm of indignation that will be roused when the full enormity of their outrages in Algoma is laid bare by sworn evidence in the Court—and they are putting off the evil day as long as possible. They are getting desperate, and by such tactics as these an effort will be made to pull through the coming session. Whether they will succeed in doing so remains to be seen—but what do honest Reformers think of this whole Algoma business?—Owen Sound Times.

A CHALLENGE.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—If the writer of "Ratspayers," in the Review, "Another Ratspayer," and "A. B.," in the Examiner, will take off his mask so that he can be seen, I will expose his deception and MALICE in reference to the "water works." The people would like to see him standing in a row with Connellors Cahill and Rutherford, whom he has so unjustly maligned. Let him drop the nom de plume and make his appearance, that his victims may have a chance, and not, as usual, fire from behind the hedge.

While trespassing on your column, permit me, Mr. Editor, to say that the Peterborough Water Company has never asked a single farthing for the town, with the exception of the request for permission to lay water pipes in the streets, and the town has never been taxed one dollar for the benefit of the water works. On the other hand, the water company has generously and freely given water for the streets, for all tanks, and extinguish fires, for which no charge whatever has been made. I may also be permitted to say that the water company does not interfere with the selection of candidates for municipal honours. I don't suppose the directors of the water company know who are the candidates for election for councillors. I am sure I do not. If the ratspayers were allowed to use their own judgment and not be influenced by the "rascals" of such a despising person as "A. B.," they would, no doubt, select gentlemen who would faithfully discharge their duty in the council, and be a credit to their rising and prosperous town.

Yours truly,
W. CLUXTON.

Peterborough, Dec. 17, 1883.

FOREST CLEARING.

Those who are laudably endeavoring to stop the wholesale destruction which has been carried on in clearing out the forests of this country will be glad to hear that the lumber manufacturers of the northwest have decided that the work of cutting off the valuable timber of the northwestern states must now be retarded. Their reasons for coming to this decision are not from any love of the beauty or the benefits which the forests confer on the country, but simply because they find that it is not paying them to clear off the forests at the rate they have been doing, and that if continued it will pay them still less. They have overstocked all the markets, and as a consequence prices have sunk so low that the trade has become comparatively unprofitable. In this way the destruction of the forests has unintentionally received a check, and before the havoc is resumed perhaps the matter of their better preservation may receive the attention of the national legislature.

It is time that the subject did receive attention. The commissioner of agriculture has shown that the supply of various kinds of timber will be exhausted within a very few years if the present rate of consumption is kept up. In the state of Maine pine will only last four years and spruce 15, and the pine forests of Michigan and Minnesota will be cleared out in 10 years, and those of Wisconsin in 20. Already lumbermen are turning their attention to other states. According to Governor Berry they "are pouring into the state of Arkansas every day from Michigan and Wisconsin." The saw mills in that state have more than quadrupled since 1880, and the production of lumber there is twenty times greater than it was just seven years ago.

As before pointed out, the question of preserving a proper proportion of forests for the benefit of the climate, the streams, the soil, and indeed the general good of the country, is a national one. Private individuals cannot reasonably be expected to sacrifice their rights and interests for the good of the community at large without due compensation. To the lumbermen the forest is just so much money so soon as he can clear it out and place it in the market, but in the northwest he finds he cannot do that profitably and so he has called a halt; however, he will be up and at it again so soon as the markets improve, quite regardless of any other results than simply what the lumber will bring. And no one can blame him; it is not his duty to preserve the forest, but that of the nation or the state.

MR. EDMUND O'DONOHUE the correspondent who was killed in the Sudan, was the son of an Irishman famous in the world of letters and devoted to his country. He came to England entirely unknown, and at once entered into competition in the field of special correspondence with a number of energetic and striving young Englishmen and Scotchmen, and made his way so rapidly that he became perhaps the most distinguished of the race of Special and War Correspondents that England has been famous for of late years. He made himself famous, while in the service of the Daily News, by venturing into places where no European could possibly get before.

SCOTLAND.

It is proposed to get up a Fine Art Exhibition at Kilmarnock.

THE munificent bequests of the late Dr. James K. Newman has now been paid over. They amount in all to over £10,000, the sum of £2446 each being left to the Royal Infirmary and to the Home and Foreign Mission Funds of the U. P. Church.

FOR the vacant position of Inspector of poor at Berwick, salary £85, there were 56 applications, comprising 19 teachers, 10 clerks, 10 inspectors of poor or assistants, 3 railway employees, 2 merchants, 2 engineers, 2 commission agents, 1 accountant, 1 shoemaker, 1 assistant registrar, 1 temperance lecturer, 1 farm servant, and 1 chemist.

Tennyson's Title.

The last section of the title assumed by the poet laureate on being "elevated" to the peerage is the name of an ancient Norman family, the D'Eynourts, from which the Tennysons claim to be descended. The poet's uncle, Charles Tennyson, who was a somewhat noted member of Parliament in his day, in 1836 was made happy by a royal license which permitted him to add D'Eynourts to his name. The poet has always prided himself on his ancient lineage. Reports as to his ability to support the dignity of a peerage are conflicting. A paragraph was recently published to the effect that his total income was only £30,000, but as he was reputed to be worth £1,000,000 a few years ago, his income ought to be double the first-named figure. In person he looks little enough like a peer. His face is strong and his eyes have a certain brightness, but he is seamed, rather than wrinkled, from forehead to chin; he appears to be puffy; he is partially bald; he stoops and shuffles; dresses ordinarily and carelessly, and has a generally rustic mien. His family consists of his wife and two sons, Hallam and Lionel, the last named having about four years ago assumed the surname of Turner to qualify him to succeed to the Lincolnshire estate of his uncle, the Rev. Charles Turner, which is worth over £6,000 a year. This brother of the poet, in his turn, had assumed the name of Turner on succeeding to the property, which had come into the family through his grandmother. The poet, who is now seventy-three years of age, has passed most of his life since his marriage at Farringford, on the Isle of Wight. About fifteen years ago he built himself a second residence, in a picturesque valley in Surrey, where he passes a part of each year for the sake of inland air and scenery. This residence is known as Aldworth, and its name is to be incorporated in the Laureate's title.

Extraordinary Railway Accident.

A very singular and unusual accident occurred to the engine of the Midland (Eng.) Scotch express lately. While running at full speed, the "lagging," or wood packing round the boiler of the engine took fire. The train was stopped at Wellingborough, and the fire extinguished. Afterwards, when the engine was proceeding at great speed, the fire burst out again, and because so serious that the train was again stopped at Rushden, the engine detached, and the fire extinguished. A good engine was secured and took the express to Leicester.

Our Canadian Industry is prosperous. The great difficulty to be contended with is the low grade of goods required. In nothing is this more apparent than in the comparatively small article of sewing silks. The great demand for Canada's goods is a cheap quality, buyers regarding that a cheap thread must necessarily be a fine and consequently a weak one. Messrs. Belding, Paul & Co. make three grades of good silks of these different qualities the poorest one has by far the largest sale, at the same time they constantly hear of complaints of poor sewing silk. If ladies will take the trouble to ask for Belding, Paul & Co.'s own brand, and see that their name is on the end of each spool, they will be sure of getting the best made.

ST. ANDREW'S NIGHT.

Ye've inscribed respectfully to A. F. Morgan for the magnificent spread which he placed before the Scotchmen on St. Andrew's Night.

Well Brother Scott, has ye heard or not
About our celebration?
On St. Andrew's night Scott looked so bright
As if they owned all creation;
They broke the knot that binds the Scot
To his big pouch o' siller;
Young an' auld Scotchmen flocked in like bees,
Big railroads men an' siller,
Came out that night.

Did ye see small in which hotel
They held their feast an' jargon?
Don't shake your head, the sumptuous spread
Was laid by A. F. Morgan;
Scotts were puffed by motives raised,
The room gay decorated;
From side to side hall lanes' wide Class tartan neatly placed—Isolated style that night.

Like Scott glowered like an o'prowled,
Reverend he did stand, man;
The table spread, in hand Scott said,
"God gracious, but that's grand, man!"
Well Morgan knew Scott always do
Like work for their lawless, man;
Like Scott declare he splendid fire
Just placed them to a T, man—
On that same night.

They came an' there to view the whole
An' he has a bit taste, man;
Up like side w' mouths gie wide
They elap'd down in haste, man;
Pawls lay there dead, without their hand,
Scotts at their numbers wondered;
While some jalousied that even roost
By Morgan had been plundered,
To eat that night.

The feathered flock, from Goshier Joe
Do waded, was represented;
It kind ye please, that wine or eat,
No names as flesh invented;
Could port an' ham, roast an' ham,
Pickles in variation;
Oat hodge was there in some main,
Fish to some an' siller,
On the night.

Founders an' p'p' an' paddles likewise,
The sumptuous of depiction;
Next Haggis lay,
Charged beyond all description;
Nice yellow gold, as red as blood,
An' orange quills new, man;
Almonds to quite some raine tak',
As gold as ore new, man;
For Scotts that night.

Ma' things all free, coffee an' tea
Was there to wash them down, man;
Or sparkling pale real Malmale ale,
A little up yer crown, man;
Morgan took notes to keep the Scots
From glib resins' fu, man;
He closed the tap an' not one drop
Of the pure mountain dew, man,
Was there that night.

All that was there with me delectable,
Things reached the highest notch, man;
Whose a just it was the best,
Ever placed before the Scotchmen;
Homes an' heart were cheered in heart
With Scotch like vibration;
The wish declared, both would be spent,
To make like preparation
Next St. Andrew's night.

An Important Work.

We all have the following experience:—
1. On some days we feel more vital and elastic than on other days.
2. On some days we can think more clearly than on other days.
3. On some days our temper is sweeter than on other days.

These results do not happen. They come of course. For example, a man in good health and temper indulges in a week of drunkenness. Now his body trembles and his soul is in despair. If you had seen his elastic movements and happy face before the spree, and now watch his feeble, dragging motions and wretched face, you will cry out,

"What has happened?"

"Nothing."

"Nothing?"

"Nothing?"

"Nothing?"

is so cold near the floor that all prudent mothers say, "Don't lie there, Peter; get up, Joshua Ann; play on the sofa; you will take your death cold lying there on the floor." And they are quite right. If the room be well ventilated, the air down near the floor is very much colder than it is up about our heads. And it is in the cold stratum of air that our feet and legs are constantly. A few Yankees put them on the floor, but the majority keep their feet on the floor.

Besides this, the feet and legs, on account of their being so far away and on account of their size, with the air all about them, are cooled to be too cold, even without being in a atmosphere.

Under all these circumstances, the thickness of the feet and legs, and the fact that they are so far away and on account of their size, with the air all about them, are cooled to be too cold, even without being in a atmosphere.

During the damp and gloomy season the legs should be encased in very warm stockings (which must be changed very often) and the feet should be kept warm by the use of warm socks. If the feet are cold, the circulation is checked, and colds are inevitable. This free circulation is secured by a secured by a loose upper part of the body. It is in fact a matter of the feet, in so far as the circulation of the blood is concerned, and in many other ways. It is well known that a hot foot-bath will relieve the time being any and all of these difficulties. This bath draws the blood into the legs and feet, relieving the congestion above. What the hot foot-bath does for an hour, the broad-soled shoes with thick woolen stockings, and a pair of flannel drawers, with a pair of wash-drawers added, will do permanently.

Of course I am speaking of cold weather. No one hesitates to multiply the clothing about the trunk. Why hesitate to increase the clothing about the legs? As a preventive of many common ailments about the chest, throat and head, including nasal catarrh, I know nothing so effective as abundant dress about the lower extremities.

The bath is a good thing, exercise is a good thing; but our main dependence in the climate must ever be warm clothing. Already we over-dress about our trunks, but not one person in ten wears too much clothing about the legs.—Dr. Lewis' Monthly.

FROM ALL OVER.

SINGERS and public speakers are always benefited by using Down's Kidney, as it removes the impurities and increases the power of the voice. Take small doses often. Price, 25c, 50c, and $1.00.

HIGHLY AGREEABLE.—One very valuable feature of Dr. Lewis' Pleasant, that it is highly agreeable to take, and all varieties of worms, large worms included, can be safely expelled by it, without recourse to harsh and sickening drugs.

CAREFUL WHAT YOU EAT.—The best medical authorities declare that worms in the human system are often induced by eating too freely of broiled meat and too much meat, cheese, etc. Whenever may be the cause, Freeman's Worm Powders are speedy and safe to cure; they destroy the worms and contain their own character to expel them.

HOW TO TREAT WALK LUNGS.—Always breathe through the nose, keeping the mouth closed as much as possible. Walk and sit erect, exercise in the open air, keep the skin clean, and take Dr. Lewis' Kidney Pills for coughs, colds, and bronchial troubles.

THE BEST PROOF.—After all, "I sell more Blood Purifiers than I do any other medicine," says Dr. J. A. Jackson, Toronto. "If the reader will ask any druggist in the city he will get a similar answer to his query—a proof that it is the most popular medicine for the blood, liver and kidneys known."

"I had been for eight months unable to work, and felt as though I would as lief be a live, through dyspepsia and indigestion. I weighed at the time of getting a bottle of Dr. Lewis' Speedy Cure 145 lbs.; used 3 bottles and now weigh 125 lbs., and never was better in my life. It was Dr. Lewis' Speedy Cure that brought me around." No says Wm. F. Hamilton. Go to John McKee's Drug Store and get a free trial bottle, or the regular size for 50 cents and one dollar.

JAMES HARTLEY, Hamilton, says:—"I read the testimonials for Dr. Lewis' Speedy Cure and found that I had not to go to New York, Philadelphia, London or Paris to find living witnesses of its value. I had plenty of persons right here to prove its merits. I got a bottle and it helped me right away. I was an old man, with rheumatism and indigestion and I think any one could be. I have taken three bottles and am hearty and can eat any kind of food without hurting me. I now feel that I am better than I ever expected to be." Free trial bottles at John McKee's drug store.

How a Pasture is Made.

In Great Britain, Holland, and in some of the best districts in this country, land is selected for a pasture as it is for any particular crop. Regard is paid to its adaptability to produce a large amount of fine rich grasses. The soil of land is prepared to receive the seed, which is selected with special reference to the production of grass to be eaten while it is in its green state. Great pains are taken to render the soil as productive as possible. Water is supplied or drained off as the wants of the land require. Weeds and bushes are exterminated or kept in check. Fertilizers are applied as they are found to be necessary. Land is not selected for a pasture, if it is too rocky, broken, or difficult to cultivate; if it is too wet or dry to produce good crops of corn, grain, potatoes or roots, it is devoted to pasturage. Land is selected for other purposes, but the land for pasturage is what was rejected for any other use. Sometimes a piece of land originally productive is devoted to pasture purposes. If this is the case it is generally after it has been cropped to death. It is first planted with corn for several years, then sown with grain for a period equally long, and then laid down to grass suited for mowing purposes. After the crop of grain has been raised that is severely sown for the work of cutting, the farmer concludes that the only thing he can do with the land is to devote it to supporting stock during the summer, when he expects to make the most out of them. There are no evidences of beneficent design in most of the pastures in this country. They are the work of chance or neglect.—New York Times.

Are you

Drowsy, dull and out of sorts? Are you bilious, nauseated and made sick by the thought of food? Is there a dull, dragging pain in your right side? Do your bowels suddenly get sore without any apparent cause? Are the whites of your eyes tinged with yellow? Is your skin wan, clammy and copper-colored? Does your mouth taste badly in the morning? Are you constive? Do you have itching piles? Are your bowels irregular? Are you dizzy and dim-sighted at times? Are you gloomy and despondent? Is your urine highly colored? Are you nervous and full of bad feelings in all parts of your body?

If so, be advised before your case gets more serious—before you are seized by some form of low fever or become otherwise hopelessly sick.

Take SULPHUR and IRON BITTERS. The trouble with you is that your liver is out of order and needs regulating immediately. SULPHUR and IRON BITTERS will help you as nothing else in the shape of medicine can.

THANKS.

I desire to return my thanks to my many friends for their liberal patronage during the year now drawing to its close, and in doing so, I beg to say that all who may favour me with their custom, shall have as heretofore, my best attention.

I recognise the fact that the time to give bargains is when there is a demand for goods. The demand is now here as the Christmas holidays are now drawing nigh, and we shall soon be entering upon the New Year.

I have therefore decided to reduce my stock, and shall offer during this month

All Dress Goods,
Mantles,
Mantle Cloths, and Millinery.

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES, and all other goods in proportion.

It will pay you to give me a call, and to call early is the best.

Wishing all the compliments of the Season.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1883.

LOCAL NEWS

The Rink.

The ice on both curling rinks is in good condition and two matches have been arranged for this evening.

The Cells.

The police cells were occupied on Saturday night by two prisoners, and last night one prisoner had the lock-up to himself.

Musical.

The Boboysen Independent, under the heading of Peterborough, says:—
"The organ recital by Mr. Ewing, the organist of St. John's Church, assisted by his choir, was a musical treat of rare degree. No town in the province can boast of such musical talent as Peterborough."

McConnell Bros.

Have removed to the store formerly occupied by the Liquor Tea Co., in the Opera House block and opposite the Calico Store, where, with increased facilities for turning out first class work, they are prepared to meet their customers.

Christmas Meat.

Mr. H. Winch will open out his Christmas show of meat on Saturday next, which will be up to the standard of former years. A list of the stock purchased by him for the Christmas trade will be published in a future issue.

Finance Committee.

A meeting of the Finance Committee was called for Wednesday evening last, but there was no meeting. Notices have been issued calling the members of the Committee together to-night, and the Chairman would like to have a full attendance.

Address to Young Men.

At the meeting in the Young Men's Christian Association rooms of Saturday evening, J. Clarke, M. D., gave an address on "Vices peculiar to young men," treating his subject from a medical point of view, and giving some excellent advice to the young men present.

Sale of Useful Articles.

A bazaar and sale of useful and fancy articles will be held in the School Room of St. Andrew's Church on the evening of Thursday, December 20th, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of that Church. A good opportunity to purchase Christmas presents. Admission 10 cents. Refreshments extra.

A Suggestion.

The Lindsay Post makes the following suggestion to our city fathers:—
"A people's infant, the public property of the town of Peterborough, costs about $3 per week for 'keep.' The town, rather than submit to such charges, should get up a raffish and dispose of the orphan. Tickets at 50c. per throw would not be a handsome return—and Peterborough would be wiser. Besides it would have the credit of its enterprise."

Bad Order.

Two or three persons who attended the performance at the Opera House on Saturday evening caused considerable annoyance to the Company and the audience by making a noise and interrupting the actors. The performance had to be stopped twice on account of the disturbance, and we hope that such a thing will never occur in Peterborough again.

"Fanchon."

Miss Addie Brown and company produced the play of "Fanchon, the Merry Cricket," at Bradburn's Opera House on Saturday night. The attendance was not very large. "The principal part, that of the Merry Cricket," was taken by Miss Brown. As the play and apparently careless child her acting was very good, but in the pathetic scenes she was not so strong. Mr. Louis Ragan, as "Daddy Barbood," caused considerable amusement and sustained his part in a creditable manner. The may-pole dance was very good. This evening "The Hidden Hand" will be performed.

There is nothing like a fine head of hair. Ladies and gentlemen, go and see the fine display of Waves, Wigs, Switches, &c., at Phelan's Hotel, Dec. 17 and 18.

The Temperature.

On Saturday night the mercury in the Rev. V. Clement's self-registering thermometer stood at 4° above zero; last night at 3° above.

Leave Your Orders

at Long Bros. for the best 'Xmas Cakes, and you will have them nicely iced and ornamented. Samples can be seen now on exhibition in their store. LONG BROS.

Hair Goods.

Mr. Dorenwend, the dealer in hair goods, has arrived, and will be here to-day and to-morrow at Phelan's hotel. He has a large stock of hair goods with him.

Rink Open.

The Grand opening of the Peterborough Skating Rink will take place on Tuesday night at half past 7 p.m. When the City and Orchestra Bands will be in attendance. Admissions 15c.; ticket holders free. See advertisement.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh winds, cloudy to fair weather, with light local falls of snow, stationary or higher temperatures.

Midland Railway Staff.

We learn that notice has been given by the Midland Railway authorities to about 30 employees of that company at Toronto that their services will not be required after the end of the year. Such reductions will be likely to arise from the amalgamation of the roads, and it is to be feared that Peterborough will come in for its share of the reductions that will be made.

St. John's Church Bazaar.

The Committee desire to return their sincere thanks to the Ladies and Gentlemen who so kindly contributed to the success of the Bazaar, both by their work and donations: and have the pleasure in stating that it realized as much as was anticipated.

Mrs. WALLIS,
Mrs. HALLIDAY,
Mrs. HANFORD,
Mrs. WHITE,
Mrs. MERRICK,
Mrs. CHAMBERLAIN,
Mrs. BECK.

Personal.

The Rev. Wm. Elliott, who is at present attending Victoria University, Cobourg, preached in the George Street Methodist Church on Sunday morning and at the Charlotte Street Church in the evening. He delivered excellent discourses on both occasions.

The Rev. John Shaw took part in the opening services of the Beneficent Church, South Monaghan, on Sunday.

The Rev. T. W. Glover, of the Methodist Church of Canada, who is well known in this county, occupied the pulpit of the Bible Christian Church on Sunday morning. There was a large congregation present. Mr. Glover has been troubled for some time by an affection of the throat, but he is recovering.

Christmas Sale of Furniture.

Mr. J. W. Langford having a much larger stock of furniture than he wishes to carry, has decided to dispose of the same, and has constructed Mr. Chas. Stapleton to offer for sale by public auction at my Show Rooms, corner of George and Brock streets, opposite the Post Office, on Thursday, 20th December, the whole stock consisting of over $3,000 worth, which will be sold at whatever it will bring. Sale to commence at 12.30 in the afternoon and 7 in the evening. This sale will afford a good opportunity to return for the holiday season. Catalogues are issued, giving a list of the furniture, as follows: Parlor Suites in Hair Cloth, Parlor Suites in Colored Covers, Ladies' Chairs, Easy Chairs, Platform Rockers, Camp Chairs, Fancy Chairs, Couches, Sofas, Centre Tables, Folding Tables, Extension Tables, Whetstones, Hall Racks, Sideboards, Bedroom Suites in Walnut, Bedroom Suites in Hardwood, Woven Wire Mattresses, Perforated Dining Chairs, Perforated Rocking Chairs, Wood Seat Chairs, Wood Seat Rockers.

If you are troubled with a "backing cough," Dr. J. W. Langford will give you relief at once. Warranted as recommended, or money refunded. Price 25c, 50c, and $1.00 per bottle.

FOR A HARD COUGH, with pain in the head, bones or through the chest, take Dr. J. W. Langford's Cough Drops. It never fails. Large bottles at 50c. For sale every where.

IF YOU HAVE A FADDED CLOAK of mantle make it new by using a package of the Triangle Dye. All the popular colors. Always certain 10 Cents.

Beware of that cough. It may kill you; cure it at once with Dr. Carrara's Pulmonary Cough Drops. It never fails. Large bottles at 50c. For sale every where.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT.—Frank Spink, Wilton Avenue, Toronto, some time ago received a bad injury by an accident on the G.T.R. The severe contusions were quickly healed by the use of Hagar's Yellow Oil.

OF CHOICE
MILLINERY GOODS,

tention always.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1883.

It is gratifying to note the steady and rapid growth of inter-Provincial trade in Canada. There is probably no section of this wide Dominion that has not experienced a great change for the better and upward within the past few years. Nowhere, however, is the change more apparent than along the great inter-provincial highway known as the Intercolonial Railway. The amount of the production of the cotton-growing provinces of the Maritime Provinces passing over the Intercolonial for Quebec, Ontario, and points further west has grown to large dimensions, and this is, perhaps, the most gratifying feature of trade that presents itself just now. For we find that the products of the six cotton mills now running in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia is found in the Upper Provinces and the West, and the same may be said of our sugar refineries. Nor are these industries altogether exceptional. For we find that the products of the lock factory at Moncton, the hat factory at Truro, the skate factories, the nail works and the starch factories all find a ready market in the West, and in the aggregate the benefits derived are not inconsiderable to the Dominion's cotton and wool industry. The sales of the Nova Scotia mines in Quebec and Ontario have wonderfully increased within the past few years. Almost any day there may be seen in the Moncton station a yard evidence of the cotton, wool, sugar, and other manufacturing establishments and the railways of both Quebec and Ontario being large buyers.—Moncton, N. B., Star.

Peterborough, Dec. 18, 1883.

A PARALYTIC STROKE.—W. H. Howard, of Geneva, N. Y., suffered with palsy and general debility, and spent a small fortune in advertised remedies, without avail, until he tried Barbo's Blood Bitters. It did him good and he was restored, and caused it to circulate freely, and quickly restored him to health.

PLAIN BOILED POTATOES.—Choose potatoes of medium size and even shape, saving small and irregularly shaped ones for peeling and using for soup. Wash the potatoes in plenty of cold water with a brush or cloth, and rinse them in clean cold water, then cut from around each one a thin strip of the paring, and again lay them in cold water until half an hour before dinner. Have ready over the fire a large pot half full of actually boiling water, containing two tablespoonful of salt, put the potatoes into the boiling water, and boil them twenty minutes. When the potatoes are done, take them up with a fork, then drain them, cover them with a folded towel, leaving off the cover of the kettle, and place it where the potatoes will keep hot without burning, the folded towel will retain the heat while allowing the steam to escape, and in this way the potatoes will become dry and mealy. Sprouted potatoes are not so likely to be mealy as those in good condition, and the small ones are less likely to sprout. In the course of preparing the sprouts, and their starchy substance partly disintegrated. New potatoes are not nearly so cheap as their starch cells are not matured. Potatoes may be put over the fire in cold water and be boiled mealy, if only the proper point of cooking is preserved; that is, the draining off the water just when the potatoes are tender enough to pierce with a fork. Another way is to put the potatoes over the fire in just cold water enough to cover them, and when they boil to add a little more cold water, peeled potatoes may be made quite mealy by shaking the saucepan several times while they are drying, after being drained.—N. Y. Witness.

Milking.

Milking in the barn yard is an old fashion that should be abandoned. It is inconvenient and unclean. It should go with the wooden pail and hairy butter, and never be heard of any more; gone and forgotten, too. It is a wonder that any farmer would permit it, and still more a wonder that any farmers' wives or daughters would consent to it.—American Patron.

HOW TO SCOLD.

Don't scold at all—if you can help it. Try nature's remedy—kindness; it is a powerful one, if slow, and has a far better permanent effect than the nauseous constant "wailing." But if you must scold, do it scientifically. Doctors, when they drag their patients, take into consideration their temperaments and surroundings, and give them medicines when they will do most good. So you, mothers, if you must resort to harsh measures, bethink you beforehand how and when to administer your castigations. At night is the best time; a little goes a long way then. The pulse is low; your obstreperous son is more inclined to be submissive; the insubordinate vitality of morning has worn off; fatigue has done much to subdue the rebellious spirit; and, above all things, a scolding at night at all events does away with the souring of the temper which, if it does take place, spoils all the comfort of home for the rest of the day. The culprit may go weeping to bed—so much the better if he does—but sleep soon relieves him and takes away the opportunity of brooding over fancied wrongs. When you wake him in the morning—and be sure you do so with the kindest of kisses, and do not on any account refer to last night's proceedings—he will be philosophically submissive. Some vague remembrance of naughtiness and just retribution will remain in his memory, and a motherly embrace is necessary to show him he is again received into mother's favor.

If you do not think this night process of mental purgation, but administer your punishments unmethodically, whenever an act of disobedience crops up, you will find that this will soon deteriorate into a system of nagging—which nothing can be worse. This is sure to spoil the best child's best temper. Everyone knows the results of constantly applying whip and spur to a horse, and the least sensitive child is infinitely more irritable in his character than the horse.

Another beauty of an evening rather than a mutual chastising is that it leaves the offending object of your wrath to himself, removed from the gaze of curious, unsympathetic bystanders and sisters, uncles and aunts, and fathers. He is ashamed to look them in the face, and naturally, but this shame ought not to be made part of the punishment. It generally makes him sulky, often sullen, always to use the expressive word of the Pentateuch—"stiff-necked."

Remember then, if you must scold, do it scientifically.

TRANSPLANTING TREES.

A writer in Form and Finesse, in his directions respecting the treatment of trees before their removal, states as follows:—

"A tree in full leaf may be compared to a powerful pump, the roots being the base of the soil, which is carried upward through the stem and exhaled from the leaves in the form of vapor. This exhalation from the leaves is really the primary operation, however, being simply a process of evaporation. If, now, the principal portions of the roots be cut away, especially the fine rootlets which are farthest from the stem, and through whose extremities nearly all the water is absorbed, the leaves, if allowed to grow, will exhaust the water from the stem and roots more rapidly than it can be supplied by the remnant of the latter, and the consequence will be the destruction of the tree. Hence, in transplanting trees, the leaf-bearing twigs should be cut away in proportion to the loss of roots, and it should be remembered that the root surface is generally equal to that of the twigs; consequently the safest rule is to remove nearly all the branches, trimming to bare poles. It is hard to do this, but the aftergrowth of the tree will be enough more rapid to compensate the apparent loss. In moving large trees it is an excellent plan to dig down and cut off a large portion of the roots a year before transplanting, removing a portion of the top at the same time. This will cause the formation of new rootlets near the stem, which may be preserved in the final transplanting."

Broadstreet's Weekly Report.

New York, Dec. 15.—The general movement of merchandise throughout the country this week, as reported in special despatches to Broadstreet's, has been quite as moderate as in the preceding week. There has been some activity in bleached cotton fabrics, owing to a reduction in price, but aside from the rather free shipments by agents for summer requirements, no special movement has resulted this far. Woolens are dull and have been so for some time, largely owing to the unseasonable weather. For a like cause the clothing trade at retail has not enjoyed the customary activity. At Chicago, Kansas City, and at various points in Iowa the dry goods trade has been maintained in proportion rather in excess of those enjoyed at other interior points of distribution. The industrial situation has not changed much. Some three thousand bituminous coal mines near Pittsburgh have gone out for an indefinite period. The reduction in wages at the steel rail mills will probably be very generally conceded to, as it has been in a majority of instances already. In this way it is probable that more rail mills will not have to shut down. The number of bar from mills which have closed for the holiday season is in excess of the number which usually close at this period, due to the excessive competition and lack of business. There is no change to note in the condition of the iron and steel industry. At the last there are as yet no signs of improvement, although stocks of pig iron are not piling up. A few western points are feeling the pinch of the winter, owing to reduced stocks of pig iron. Petroleum is dull and apparently indifferent to the dullish state of the industrial position. Refined has advanced one-quarter cent and holders are naturally very independent. Coal is in moderately active request. Production of anthracite thus far has caught up with the total for 1883, and now promises about 51,000,000 for 1884, as against 52,120,000 tons last year. Indian corn has enjoyed the most activity, having advanced 5 cents per bushel. It has since lost about one-half of this amount. Wheat is sympathetically advanced 5 cents but dropped one-half on the way back. Provisions sympathized with the advance, aside from margarine and lard. The wool trade has moved quite as the market is very firm and supplies of domestic grades are under exceptionally good control. There were 249 failures in the United States reported to Broadstreet's during the past week, three more than the preceding week, 10 more than the corresponding week of 1882 and 86 more than the same week of 1881. About 75 per cent were those of small traders, whose capital was under $5,000. Canada had 21 a decrease of one.

The Underground Exploitation.

LONDON, Dec. 16.—Another letter has been sent from the Metropolitan underground railway employees to Mr. Lowell in reply to his statement that there was no evidence to show the complicity of any American in the recent underground explosion. The subscribers of the railway may be given advice through the home office, from information from New York, that an explosion had been planned there, and they adduce other evidence that the outrage was connected in America.

BELLEVILLE.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—Last night, shortly after 9 o'clock, Alex. Patterson, treasurer of No. 3 fire company, left his house on Foster avenue with $500 in his pocket. The money was the annual grant of the corporation, which was to be disbursed to the men. On reaching the corner of Dundas street and Foster avenue a man who stood there struck him on the forehead with a club or a slung-shot, knocking him down. His assailant at once threw himself on Patterson, whose pockets he rifled, but did not get the money, which was in an inside vest pocket. Patterson partially recovered his senses and raised an outcry, when the would-be robber ran off. The wound is a bad one, and was sewed up by a doctor. It is said that Patterson knows who his assailant was.

STILL RUNNING.—The Mary Ethel made her regular trips yesterday, cutting through the ice on Saturday morning on her first trip in unusually good time. She was to have gone to Trevelton on Friday evening to tow the Varuna into her winter quarters.

MECHANICAL INVENTIONS.

HEATING RAILWAY CARS.—An improvement bearing on the present manner of heating railway cars has been patented by Mr. Michael Hurly, of Quebec, Canada. The invention relates to safety couplings for connecting steam conducting pipes, the two sliding parts of the coupling being connected together by a spiral spring, to secure a more perfect steam tight joint, etc.

NEW TRUCK.—A railway car truck has been patented by Mr. James E. Sproule, of Glencoe, Ontario, Canada. Its construction is such that the load rests upon the periphery of the wheels in succession as they come under the tread, thus diminishing friction; the wheels are intended to turn only half as often as ordinary trucks with the same speed, so that less oil will be required and there will be no danger of hot boxes.

TWO WHEELED VEHICLES.—An improvement in two wheeled vehicles has been patented by Mr. John O. Bach, of Hillsdale, Mich. This invention is designed to meet a want widely felt since two wheeled carriages have recently become very fashionable. The body is so pivoted as to oscillate at its rear end, and a centrally arranged spring is so made to operate that the body is protected from the swing of the horse so as to prevent the forward and backward rocking motion of the rider.

ILLUMINATION OF STEAM BOILERS.—The lighting up of the interior of steam boilers was long ago suggested. It has lately been carried into practical operation by the Patent Steam Boiler Company, London. They arrange lights within the boiler in such a way that the cascades, currents, and miniature whirlpools of the water may be clearly observed. It is believed that useful information will be derived from observations touching the cause of priming, the best modes of separating steam from water, etc.

DELICATE CALIPERS.—A micrometer calipers have been patented by Mr. Leopold L. Remacle, of New York city. While it can be folded compactly and used to measure considerable spaces, it will likewise measure twentieths and thousandths of inches. A screw works longitudinally in a U-shaped frame, and the rimmed head of the screw is divided into the rimmed head against the head, when the calipers are in use, is brought down a pivoted straightened rule. The pitch of the screw being one-twentieth of an inch, and its rimmed head being marked off into parts, any required measurement as low as thousandths of an inch can be readily obtained.—Sci. Am.

FROM ALL OVER.

TWO HUNGARIAN DEPUTIES fought a duel with pistols on Friday, in which both were slightly wounded, as the result of a heated debate in the Chamber.

SINGERS and public speakers are always benefited by using Down's Balm, as it removes the hoarseness and increases the power of the voice. Take small doses often. Price, 25c, 50c, and $1.00.

THE North German Lloyd's steamer Elder, 1,000 tons burden and 5,000 horse power, was successfully launched at Glasgow yesterday.

M. RASPAIL moved in the French Chamber of Deputies on Friday that the French embassy to the Vatican be abolished. The motion was rejected by 235 to 191.

HIGHLY AGREEABLE.—One very valuable feature of Dr. Low's Pleasant Worm Syrup is, that it is highly agreeable to take, and all varieties of Worms, tape worm included, can be safely expelled by it, without recourse to harsh and nauseating drugs.

A MEETING of Spanish Liberal deputies was held in Madrid on Friday evening, at which the necessity of union among members of the party was urged by Senor Sagasta.

CHRISTIANITY and Mussulmans in Upper Egypt are in a ferment over the doings of American missionaries, and an outbreak among the Copts is believed to be imminent.

BE CAREFUL WHAT YOU EAT.—The best medical authorities declare that worms in the human system are often induced by eating too freely of uncooked fruit and too much meat, cheese, etc. Worms may be the cause. Freeman's Worm Expeller is a speedy and sure cure; it destroys the worms, and contains their own exhalation to expel them.

M. DE COCHET, the French ambassador, has had a long interview with Bismarck. He is satisfied with the views he obtained from Bismarck regarding the relations between France and Germany.

HOW TO TREAT WRAK LUNGS.—Always breathe through the nose, keeping the mouth closed as much as possible. Walk and sit erect, exercise in the open air, keep the skin scrupulously clean, and take Bismarck's Tonic Balm for coughs, colds, and bronchitis.

IT is satisfactory to learn, remarks the Pitt Mail Gazette, that at least the world is to have a complete and trustworthy edition of Bismarck's memoirs. The impulse to the new edition has come from his native city—Vienna.

THE BEST PAPER.—THE GLOBE.—"I sell more Bismarck's Blood Bitters than I can do any other preparation in stock," says H. Jacobs, druggist Toronto. If the reader will ask any druggist in the city he will get a similar answer to his query—a proof that it is the most popular medicine for the blood, liver and kidneys known.

STREPS are being taken in Russia to enforce the law prohibiting the employment of women or children for over sixty hours a week in a store, which is asserted to have been ignored in the large retail establishments.

"I HAD been for eight months unable to work, and felt as though I would die if I did not live, through dyspepsia and indigestion. I was not at all the time of getting a bottle of Dr. McGregory's Speedy Cure 120 lbs.; used 3 bottles and now weigh 145 lbs., and never was better in my life. It was Dr. McGregory's Speedy Cure that brought me around." So says Wm. Fell, Hamilton. Go to John McKee's Drug Store and get a free trial bottle, or the regular size for 50 cents and one dollar.

IT is reported that a battle of entrenchment of the dynasty in Tongking has been commenced to England by China. Admiral Cornhill has been ordered to remain on the defensive until the arrival of reinforcements.

JAMES BRATTON, Hamilton, says:—"I read the testimonials for Dr. McGregory's Speedy Cure and found that I had not to go to New York, Philadelphia, London or Toronto to find living witnesses of its value, we had plenty of persons right here to prove its merit. I got a bottle and it helped me right away. I was laid with bilious fever and indigestion as I think any one could be, I have taken three bottles and am nearly well and can eat any kind of food without it hurting me. I may say that I am better than I ever expected to be." Free trial bottles at John McKee's drug store.

Are you

Drowsy, dull and out of sorts? Are you bilious, nauseated and made sick by the thought of food? Is there a dull, dragging pain in your right side? Do your bowels suddenly get sore without any apparent cause? Are the whites of your eyes tinged with yellow? Is your skin wan, clammy and copper-colored? Does your mouth taste badly in the morning? Are you constive? Do you have itching piles? Are your bowels irregular? Are you dizzy and dim-sighted at times? Are you gloomy and despondent? Is your urine highly colored? Are you nervous and full of bad feelings in all parts of your body?

If so, be advised before your case gets more serious—before you are seized by some form of low fever or become otherwise hopelessly sick.

Take SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS. The trouble with you is that your liver is out of order and needs regulating immediately. SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS will help you as nothing else in the shape of medicine can.

Regulated, stimulated and made to do its proper work in a proper manner by SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS the Liver will resume its natural functions, and all the above symptoms will disappear and be forgotten. But do not neglect them. Use the remedy at once. Sold everywhere, price 50 cents.

THANKS.

I desire to return my thanks to my many friends for their liberal patronage during the year now drawing to its close, and in doing so, I beg to say that all who may favor me with their custom, shall have as heretofore, my best attention.

I recognize the fact that the time to give bargains is when there is a demand for goods. The demand is now here as the Christmas holidays are now drawing nigh, and we shall soon be entering upon the New Year.

I have therefore decided to reduce my stock, and shall offer during this month

All Dress Goods,
Mantles,
Manile Cloths, and
Millinery,

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES, and all other goods in proportion.

As it will pay you to give me a call, and to call early is the best.

An Appeal for Aid.

We publish in another column an appeal from Rat Portage, which has again been visited by a destructive fire, asking aid from the people of the Dominion. The Acting Mayor of Peterborough also received a copy of the appeal by telegraph.

Stormy and Cold.

The weather this morning was mild, but as the day wore on it became colder and the wind increased in velocity. This afternoon was stormy. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Strong winds and gusts from the west and northwest; clearing weather, preceded by light snow; temperature will fall to zero at most places to-night.

Railway Notes.

The Mail publishes the following paragraph, on what authority we do not know:—
"On the first of the year the Grand Trunk will take over the Midland Railway completely and operate it most likely from Toronto instead of from Peterborough. The Grand Trunk has been in virtual control for months, but now it is proposed to do away with the independent organization of the Midland. The one shop, etc., will remain at Peterborough, in accordance with a former agreement between the Midland and that town."

The Orilla Packet says that Mr. Josiah Henderson, son of Mr. J. P. Henderson, and late of the Midland Railway station at Orilla, has been promoted to the position of telegraph operator in the train despatcher's office at Peterborough.

The Ontario and Quebec bridge across the Ottawa is the largest on the line, and is an expensive structure. The stone for the abutments was brought from a quarry near Warsaw, and the drawing of it cost about $4,700 per cubic yard. The cost of the bridge, without the superstructure, is about $50,000. The work has been well done by the contractors, Messrs. McDermid & Hendrie.

His Name a Household Word.
The Christmas holidays are essentially a time of sociability, feasting and good cheer, and the name of the man best able to supply the requisites for such occasions becomes well known. Mr. B. Morrow's name, as everyone knows, has thus become familiar in every household in the town and vicinity. This year he has an unusually large and attractive stock of Groceries, Wines, &c., to offer to his patrons for Christmas supplies. The windows of his store, filled with tempting fruits and viands, give the passer-by a good idea of the excellent quality of the larger stock within. Mr. Morrow is enterprising and has always an eye to business. He has prepared for a good holiday trade, and announces the fact in an advertisement in the Review, and is bound to have a rush of customers. A visit to his place of business will convince one of these facts, and they will there see a complete stock of General Groceries, Fruits, Canned Goods, Wines and Liquors, at prices that cannot fail to please. Just drop in and see "Barney," anyway.

"New West" Ale.
A special brewing of the above Celebrated Ale now on draught at the Croft House.

The Skating Rink.
The ice on the skating rink is not being in a good condition, the opening, which was to have taken place this evening, has been postponed. The ice will be all right to-morrow evening, so get your skates ready.

The Christmas Fair.
The Christmas fair, supposed to be held on the Tuesday before Christmas, has grown gradually smaller until it has almost faded away. Indeed, it could not have been much smaller than it was to-day, as the only animal offered for sale on the market was one cow.

"The Hidden Hand."
"The Hidden Hand," a drama adapted from Mr. E. D. E. N. Southworth's novel of the same name, was produced at the Opera House on Monday evening by Miss Addie Broussard and company. The attendance was not very large, but the audience appeared to be pleased with the performance. Miss Broussard, who is a young actress of considerable merit, appeared to better advantage as "Capitola" in this drama, than in the "Merry Oriskany." The "Old Hurricane" of Mr. Louis Egan was very good, but the other actors were not so efficient. A song by the negro musicians, "Star of the Twilight," was loudly applauded. If this company should return to Peterborough they would be greeted by larger houses.

Carling Notes.
A practice match of curling was played on the ice last night, and the ice was in very good condition.

The rinks for the annual match between the President and Vice-President were drawn last night. The match is for a barrel of flour to be given to the Protestant Home, and it will be played this evening, at the same time as the opening of the skating rink, and to-morrow night. The following is the composition of the rinks to-night:—

Rink No. One.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:—
GENTLEMEN:—
At the request of many of the ratepayers of the Town, who are opposed to the present management of our Municipal affairs, I appear as a candidate for the Mayoralty for 1884, and beg respectfully to solicit your votes and influence therefor.

My course as Councillor during the present year has been severely criticised, but I can only say that every act of mine in the Council was prompted by my conviction, of what was just and right to the ratepayers. I entered the Council without personal interest of any kind to serve, determined to advance the interests of the ratepayers to the best of my ability, and as far as my single efforts could do so, to conduct the business of the Town on the same sound business principles that every one of you applies to the conduct of your own private affairs.

This course, opposed as it was to the loose and extravagant manner in which the majority in the Council have been accustomed to carry on your business, naturally called down upon me a storm of abuse, which, however, the courage of my convictions has enabled me to bear without difficulty.

Many important matters have been before the present Council, and, as my opponent, Councillor Paterson, holds views on them different from my own, I shall here state a few of them, hoping to have the opportunity of discussing the merits of our opposite opinions before you with him.

FIRE PROTECTION.
I am opposed to paying by a general tax for hydrants taken by the Town for fire protection, believing it to be unjust to ask ratepayers living outside of the fire line to pay for the protection of the centre of the town.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject are directly opposed to mine.

HOUSE OF REFUGE.
As chairman of the Charity Committee this year, I have had excellent opportunities of judging of the necessity for such an institution, and am forced to conclude that at the present time it is not required. No doubt some few cases could be found in our midst which it would be extremely convenient to send to such an institution, if we had it, but the immense cost of building and maintaining a Refuge would be out of all proportion to the benefit to be derived from it. In the future this may not be so. You may therefore rest assured that if I am elected to be elected by you to the Mayoralty, I will use my influence to prevent this burden being added to your already heavy taxes.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject also are, I believe, opposed to mine.

CIVIL SALARY.
I am not in favor of attaching a salary to the office of either Mayor or Councillor, believing that the opportunity which you thus afford them of proving themselves faithful servants, and worthy of your confidence, ought to be a sufficient recompense for their time and trouble.

I understand Mr. Paterson's views on this point also are at variance with mine.

CLERK AND TREASURER.
I am opposed to allowing one person to hold the two offices of Clerk and Treasurer. On this point also Mr. Paterson differs from me.

BANK OF TORONTO BUILDINGS.
As the paying for these buildings this year has caused a considerable increase in the amount of taxation, and a good deal of dissatisfaction has been expressed in consequence, a few words from me on this subject will not be out of place. Early in the year there was a general unanimity in the Council as to the desirability of purchasing these buildings on the terms offered by Mr. Stevenson, namely:—$4,500, payable in debentures bearing interest at 5 per cent. running over either 10 or 20 years, but when this matter came up in discussing the estimates, to my surprise, the whole amount (less about $400 recently paid from the Town Trust Commissioners) was asked for this year. I was opposed to this, but was voted down, Councillor McNaughton alone supporting me. Mr. Paterson, whose duty it was, as Chairman of the Finance Committee, to compile the estimates, can perhaps give some satisfactory explanation to the ratepayers for putting this heavy tax upon them. The title to these buildings has not yet, I believe, been perfected. Is it possible that the purchase may yet fall through?

There are many other points on which I might touch, but as this address is already too long, I shall only say that I am opposed to all jobbery and rings, and to the transacting of the town's affairs in secret conclaves and not in either open Council or Committee.

I am in favor of progress and municipal reform, and where any saving can be effected in the management of our municipal affairs, I am also strongly in favor of such saving.

If elected, I shall use my best efforts to obtain a dollar's worth of your money for every dollar expended.

I am now in your hands, and it is for you to say by your votes whether my conduct during the year and my position on the foregoing important matters is worthy of your support and confidence.

I remain,
Your obedient servant,
C. W. SAWERS.

REPLY.
To WALTER PATERSON, Jr., Esq.,
And 328 others.
GENTLEMEN:—
I appreciate the honor done me in being presented with a requisition, signed by such a large number of my fellow-townsmen, asking me to allow myself to be nominated as Mayor for the ensuing year.

If I consulted my own feelings I should promptly decline the honor, but I feel that we have arrived at an important crisis in the history of our town, when it is the duty, not only of the Council, but of all citizens interested in the welfare of the town, to do what they can to promote its interests and preserve its credit.

If I can be of any service in this respect, I am prepared, in response to such a large and influential regulation, to place myself at the disposal of the ratepayers. It is not my intention, however, to ask any person for his support, and if I have reason to think that even a respectable minority of the ratepayers are opposed to my election I shall withdraw from the contest.

I have the honor to be, &c.,

GEO. A. COX.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN:—
At the request of many of the ratepayers of the Town, who are opposed to the present management of our Municipal affairs, I appear as a candidate for the Mayoralty for 1884, and beg respectfully to solicit your votes and influence therefor.

My course as Councillor during the present year has been severely criticised, but I can only say that every act of mine in the Council was prompted by my conviction, of what was just and right to the ratepayers. I entered the Council without personal interest of any kind to serve, determined to advance the interests of the ratepayers to the best of my ability, and as far as my single efforts could do so, to conduct the business of the Town on the same sound business principles that every one of you applies to the conduct of your own private affairs.

This course, opposed as it was to the loose and extravagant manner in which the majority in the Council have been accustomed to carry on your business, naturally called down upon me a storm of abuse, which, however, the courage of my convictions has enabled me to bear without difficulty.

Many important matters have been before the present Council, and, as my opponent, Councillor Paterson, holds views on them different from my own, I shall here state a few of them, hoping to have the opportunity of discussing the merits of our opposite opinions before you with him.

FIRE PROTECTION.
I am opposed to paying by a general tax for hydrants taken by the Town for fire protection, believing it to be unjust to ask ratepayers living outside of the fire line to pay for the protection of the centre of the town.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject are directly opposed to mine.

HOUSE OF REFUGE.
As chairman of the Charity Committee this year, I have had excellent opportunities of judging of the necessity for such an institution, and am forced to conclude that at the present time it is not required. No doubt some few cases could be found in our midst which it would be extremely convenient to send to such an institution, if we had it, but the immense cost of building and maintaining a Refuge would be out of all proportion to the benefit to be derived from it. In the future this may not be so. You may therefore rest assured that if I am elected to be elected by you to the Mayoralty, I will use my influence to prevent this burden being added to your already heavy taxes.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject also are, I believe, opposed to mine.

CIVIL SALARY.
I am not in favor of attaching a salary to the office of either Mayor or Councillor, believing that the opportunity which you thus afford them of proving themselves faithful servants, and worthy of your confidence, ought to be a sufficient recompense for their time and trouble.

I understand Mr. Paterson's views on this point also are at variance with mine.

CLERK AND TREASURER.
I am opposed to allowing one person to hold the two offices of Clerk and Treasurer. On this point also Mr. Paterson differs from me.

BANK OF TORONTO BUILDINGS.
As the paying for these buildings this year has caused a considerable increase in the amount of taxation, and a good deal of dissatisfaction has been expressed in consequence, a few words from me on this subject will not be out of place. I was opposed to this, but was voted down, Councillor McNaughton alone supporting me. Mr. Paterson, whose duty it was, as Chairman of the Finance Committee, to compile the estimates, can perhaps give some satisfactory explanation to the ratepayers for putting this heavy tax upon them. Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1883.

MR. MOWAT'S PECK.

The Victoria Warder publishes a very large number of documents having reference to the friends committed by S. S. Peck, when Treasurer of the County of Haliburton, and his position on the bench by Mr. Mowat's appointment. In a letter containing a number of enclosures, to his friend and patron the Attorney General of Ontario, this upright magistrate, S. S. Peck has the opportunity to depict the truth of his having defrauded the county, of steps being taken against him as a criminal, of his being a non-resident, &c., &c.

In reply there is a letter on the subject with many enclosures from the Rev. of Dymark to Attorney General Mowat, which show that S. S. Peck was a defaulter as Treasurer of the County of Haliburton, in a heavy sum according to the finding of Judge Dean as Master in Chancery; that he promised to repay the amount embezzled but has not yet done so in whole or in part; that an application was made by Mr. H. Bain, former Reeve of Dymark and Warden of Haliburton, to the municipal council of Dymark to co-operate in having S. S. Peck arrested for misappropriation of County funds, but that they passed a motion deferring action till after the Auditor had reported; that instead of being a continuous resident, neither he nor any of his family had slept in his pretended residence from April to August, &c., &c.

It is futile for S. S. Peck to pretend that he is not a criminal and that of the worst type, a betrayer of the trust placed in him, and whose thefts from within cannot be guarded against by burglar-proof safe or bars and bolts. The decision of Judge Dean, unfortunately only in the capacity of Master in Chancery is conclusive on that head. Equally absurd is it for S. S. Peck to represent himself as a resident since Attorney General Mowat made the blunder of placing him on the bench instead of in the dock, for it is too well known that the defuncting Treasurer, having thought it safer to invest his plunder in Dakota, was there, looking after the interests of himself and his associates, whereby for a time Haliburton was happily spared the disgrace of seeing a criminal upon its justice seat.

It is equally certain that S. S. Peck was a zealous supporter of the Mowat administration, and that when rejected by the people he had to be rewarded for his political services without his disbursement being allowed to interfere. And this is how Attorney General Mowat, the Premier of Ontario, maintains the dignity of the Bench and the purity of the public service.

The Guelph Opera House Company Some time ago, Dec. 17.—The Guelph Opera House Trust Co. scheme, which has been going on quietly for the past few months, was brought suddenly to the public notice by one of the promoters appearing before the Police Magistrate on a charge of carrying on a lottery. There were two summonses issued, one against an agent and the other against a promoter or the scheme. The agent was fined $30 and costs for selling tickets. This charge occupied the attention of the court until late in the evening, and the magistrate adjourned the case against Mr. J. L. Murphy, who is charged with being the originator and prime mover in the whole affair, until Tuesday. The lottery, which up to this time has not been talked of or thought of in Guelph in now the absorbing topic, and developments are waited for with interest not only by the citizens, but by those who have invested in "shares" throughout the country, the sale of tickets having been large and not confined to Ontario alone. Another point in the case which makes the public feel curious is the fact that the drawing for prizes was to have taken place today, but whether this will be carried out or not is doubtful.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE MATTERS CONSIDERED IN COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

A High State of Efficiency to be Maintained.—A Proposal to Reduce the Staff of Teachers Negative and the Matter Referred to a Committee.

The Board of Education met as a Committee of the Whole, according to adjournment, on Tuesday evening. Present.—Mr. Wrighton in the chair, and Messrs. Sproule, Stevenson, Burnham, Sawers, Keady, Robinson, Dene, Rutherford, Weir, Dambie, Cox, Stratton and McClelland.

THE PRESENCE OF REPORTERS.—Mr. DUMBLE said that in committee they desired freedom of discussion, and it would be in the interest of the school not to have the meeting reported.

Mr. STEVENSON said that the reporters would not publish anything that should not be made public.

Mr. SPOULE said that a report of the last meeting had been published in one of the town papers that was garbled and unfair.

Mr. STRATTON—You might better tell how it was garbled.

Mr. SPOULE—You know very well.

After further discussion as to whether the meeting should be public, the matter dropped.

THE INSTITUTE MUST BE EFFICIENT.

Mr. DUMBLE moved, seconded by Mr. STRATTON.—That every facility should be given whereby the youth of our town may obtain at their own home a thorough education in all those branches of learning, a knowledge of which is required to enable them to give the most valuable services to the state, and to this end it is in the interest of this town that our Collegiate Institute should be maintained in a high state of efficiency.

Mr. KENDRY said he understood that the school was now in a high state of efficiency, and he did not know what the resolution was driving at.

Mr. STEVENSON said he saw no objection to the resolution.

Mr. SPOULE said there was a difference of opinion as to what constituted a high state of efficiency.

Mr. RUTHERFORD said the point he wanted to get at was whether the school could not be maintained in as high a state of efficiency with four teachers as with five.

Mr. DUMBLE—This resolution would not commit you to anything regarding that.

The resolution was adopted.

A MOTION TO REDUCE THE STAFF.

Mr. RUTHERFORD moved, seconded by Mr. DUMBLE.—That in order to carry out the long-felt and necessary reform in the Collegiate Institute, be it resolved, that the present staff of teachers be reduced to four.

Mr. RUTHERFORD said there were only about 75 pupils in the school, and it had been demonstrated that four teachers were sufficient.

Mr. DUMBLE said he would like to have more information before voting for that resolution. It was the almost unanimous opinion at the last meeting that they had made a mistake in displacing the lady teacher, and if they had made a mistake in that regard, he supposed that the way to remedy it was to get a lady teacher again.

THE CHAIRMAN read a card from Cobourg, giving information regarding the high school there.

Mr. DUMBLE said that they had the University in Cobourg, and had an able, energetic Principal, who had received $200 more than was given to the Principal here.

Mr. RUTHERFORD said that when they found they could do with one teacher less, it was their duty to do so.

Mr. James had said that he could teach classics along with modern languages.

Mr. DUMBLE said that they should try to work up the school so that there would be more pupils.

Mr. KENDRY said that he believed Mr. James had now all that he could do.

Mr. STEVENSON said that all Mr. James said was that he had taken honors in classics, and that he would undertake to do Mr. Campbell's duties with his own. If they put more duties on a man he would expect a larger salary.

The motion would reduce the Institute to a High School.

Mr. RUTHERFORD contended that Mr. James could perform the duties now performed by Mr. Campbell without impairing the efficiency of the school, while they would save the amount of the salary.

Mr. DUMBLE—Would it not be well to let Mr. James take Mr. Keady's duties?

Mr. SPOULE said that the small attendance at the Institute was on account of the absence of a re-arrangement of the classes and reduction of the teaching staff of the High School he referred to a special committee composed of Messrs. Dumbie, Cox, Stevenson, Sproule, Rutherford, Burnham, Dene, and the mover and second, to consider and report to this Board.

Mr. McCLELLAND said a similar committee had previously been appointed, and had not held a meeting, but he hoped this committee would do something, if appointed.

Mr. RUTHERFORD said he did not want it understood that they would do away with a classical teacher, but he thought that by a re-arrangement of the classes they could do with one teacher less.

Mr. COX said he would oppose the motion, as it did not come before them in a proper way. Such changes should be recommended by a responsible head of the school, and when the Principal made a recommendation that was accepted, he should take it as a vote of want of confidence and resign.

Mr. KENDRY said he did not see why the whole Board could not deal with the matter as well as it could be dealt with in a hole and corner meeting.

Mr. WEAVER said he could not tell what they should do, until they heard the Principal as to what was required. The Committee, if appointed, could take evidence and investigate the matter more thoroughly. It would not be wise to discharge a man until they knew the vacancy would be better filled. They all desired re-arrangement, but they did not wish to impair the efficiency of the school. He was satisfied that five men could do the work more efficiently than four. He was willing to pay a few cents to help to educate the richer man's son at the Institute, when the rich man paid $20 or $30 to educate his children at the public schools.

Until he had received more light he could not say which teacher they should dismiss, if they should dismiss any.

Mr. STEVENSON said Mr. Weir's remarks were as sensible as any he had heard for a long time. The question was, could they save $1,000 without impairing the efficiency of the school?

They were not prepared to answer that question to-night, and the committee could gather further information. It was as necessary to educate the masses as it was to keep up an army. If they did not place a good education within the reach of all, they would be retrograding. A man had to choose between paying higher fees and sending his children away to be educated, they would pay higher fees, and they might increase the fees for the town pupils.

Mr. COX said it was a gross insult to the poor man to insinuate that the High School was only for the rich man's sons. He could remember when he attended a High School, and if there had been high fees, he could not have paid them, as it was as much as he could do to purchase the necessary books.

Mr. RUTHERFORD said he remembered Mr. Cox saying that he was prepared to move a motion to abolish the High School.

Mr. COX said that he made that statement on account of the persistent and underhand efforts to break up the Institute, but he had always supported the Institute. The Principal should be a competent man, and the Board should not interfere with his arrangements of the classes. To illustrate this, he said that if the Directors of the Auburn Woolen Company should interfere with Mr. Keady, their superintendent, moving one man here and another there, Mr. Keady would not like it.

Mr. RUTHERFORD said that no Principal would say that four teachers would do, as he would feel that he was trespassing on delicate ground. They were too much given to this country, religiously, politically and scholastically.

Mr. McCLELLAND—And municipally.

Mr. RUTHERFORD said that this resolution would not bind them to dismiss any certain teacher. By referring the matter to a committee, he thought they were only throwing it overboard altogether. The present staff was too numerous for the number of pupils attending the Institute.

Mr. McCLELLAND said that the committee could gather information and impart it to the Board.

Mr. KENDRY said that the Principal should have full power in the school. If Mr. Cox's illustration held good, he should have power to dismiss a teacher under him.

Mr. RUTHERFORD's motion was put and lost, and Mr. Stratton's amendment was carried. The Board then adjourned.

The Franco-Canadian Treaty.—From information a short time ago received from Paris, we published a report that Sir Charles Tupper was negotiating in France for a commercial treaty with that country. Sir Charles, it will be observed, is only reported to deny that he was successful, or that he went to Paris for that purpose. We are assured on very good authority, that Mr. Chaplain is certainly working to obtain such a treaty as would satisfy and unite all French Canadian, and that negotiations have actually been carried on in the French capital.—Montreal Witness.

THE ANGEL AND THE MATCH-GIRL.

FOUNDED ON A DASHING TALE OF HANS CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN.

The cold wind blew, the snow fell fast,
As night was drawing near;
Around was winter's mantle cast,
The last day of the year.

Along the dusky cheerless street
A little match-girl pined;
Bare-headed she, with shivering feet,
Was freezing in the blast.

Within her ragged dress she tried
To bear her little load that tied,
Of matches, all in bundles tied,
To sell along the road.

She'd wandered far and now was worn
With hunger and with cold;
But not one bundle of the morsel
Of matches had she sold.

With chattering teeth she went her way,
A shiver of worldly woe;
Her fair locks, to the wind a play,
Made hoary by the snow.

In every window 'long the road,
Though sad to her so near,
A cheerful light there glowed,
To greet the coming year.

She thought of home, how to return
With sore, tired, weary feet;
O, could she win a penny more
In walking through the street!

Ah, home! It was not home to her,
No cheering father smiled;
Here were no mother's accents dear
To meet the shivering child.

At length she in a corner crept,
To shelter from the blast;
And there she lay and sighed and wept,
Unseen by those who passed.

Beneath her tattered skirt she drew
Her frost-enraptured feet;
A gust from the wind that blew
In gusts down the street.

Alas, she thought, could I but light
The flame of one small match,
The glow would be so warm and bright,
'Till I could warm my face.

She drew one forth, she lit it with a hand
Upon the cold wall-side;
And soon the flame, by nothing marred,
A grateful glow supplied.

How warm and cheerful was the light!
And how it warmed and cheered;
To her it brought a vision bright,
As if it were a friend.

She sat before a polished stove,
And saw the firelight play;
She thought from thence she would not move
Until the dawn of day.

But soon the little flame had waned,
The large warm stove had fled,
And in her hand there now remained
A match and cold and dead.

A second match against the wall
Was struck; it burned so wild,
Again a vision, glowing bright,
O'ercame the starting child.

She saw into a chamber fine,
The tables all outspread;
Set out were viands, fruit and wine,
From which the guests had fed.

Again the little match-light waned,
Again the vision fled;
The snow once more her bed.

But soon another match's light
Recalled another vision;
A Christmas tree, in beauty bright,
Before her eyes had risen.

The tapers on the branches green
In thousands shone their light;
The presents, set in showy rows,
Seemed laughing at all sight.

The starving child stretched forth her hand
To seize the tapers' light;
Again, as by a fairy wand,
The festive scene uplifted.

The match went out, the lights rose high,
Until they vanished in the sky;
She saw them from her bed.

In turn another match she lit,
In turn another dream;
Angels bright shone through the lights,
Arrayed as one bright gleam.

Alas she saw amid the sky
Her mother's angel bright;
"O mother, take me home to die,"
She cried, with childish might.

"I know your form will disappear
When the match-light wanes;
Yet I will take the food and fire,
And leave me in my pain."

But ere this one small light had died,
Before her mother fled,
She struck the match with her hand,
To keep her by the bed.

And as the match's ruddy glow
Made night more bright than day,
She minded not the wind or snow,
She let her wild locks play.

Her mother's form before was seen
So beautifully arrayed;
Be'hold in angel's robes she shone,
The lights around her played.

Within her arms her child she pressed,
Far up she drew the blissed,
And gave the reason of the blessed,
Beyond the happy skies.

There, free from hunger, care and pain,
Where none but saints have trod,
The mother-angel took again
Her bright her child to God.

The New Year's trumpet now had come,
The child was cold and dead;
It shone upon a body dumb,
From which the soul had fled.

Husbands and Wives.

Many husbands, from indifference or indolence, allow their wives to manage at home as they please. But the husband who thinks that his wife has the same right to manage her household affairs that he has to manage his business, is a very rare man. Some men are good-natured at first, and besides they may think they are better when they recognize the wife's independent responsibility. Such husbands usually pride themselves upon their amiability. I let her manage pretty much as she likes.

To show how things round, reverse it. The husband is a builder of houses. The wife says, with a gracious condescension,
"Oh, I let him manage pretty much as he pleases."

Two men engage in the grocery business. One sells, the other buys, delivers and collects. One does the inside, the other does the outside work. This is a common division of labour. Now imagine one of these men to be a woman.

"I manage the outside to suit myself, but I let my partner manage the inside pretty much as he pleases." If the partner happens to be a man of spirit, and bears this remark he will probably make short work of his companion's impudence.

If one of the grocery men were heard pleading with his partner—
"Please let me have five dollars, I promise you I will spend it promptly," the latter would exclaim:

"What does it mean? I thought they were partners; but I see they are master and servant, or at the very least employer and small boy."

In human life there are few women so wise as a wife begging for money. She is perhaps educated and refined, her husband, perhaps, coarse and tobacco-soaked. But he does the outside work, including the collecting, and she does the inside work. If you have the heart, listen.

"John, dear, I hate to speak to you about it, but I have put it off till I can't put it off any longer."

"Well, what is it now? Come, out with it!"

"John, dear, don't look so cross; it frightens me."

"What are you up to this time? Some more gimcrack?"

"No, my dear, I must have a pair of shoes. I took a dreadful cold yesterday from getting my feet wet."

"Well, how much is it? Five hundred dollars?"

"I can get a pair for $5."

"What do you get such miserable trash for? The shoes are nothing but paper."

"If you are willing, John, I can get a good pair for six dollars, and they are a great deal easier."

"Well, there is $2.00; make him throw off the ten cents."

This is a faithful report of an actual conversation. It is more expatiating than the violence of a drunken brute.

Talk of economy? The men of America waste more money on tobacco and drink in one day than our women waste on all their appetites in a year. A few women spend a good deal on dress; but outside a flannel dress, women spend less, even on dress, than men.

Agreeing many wives are treated so like children that they have children's notions about money. They have no idea of its value. But the husband fully explains his financial position to his mate; then let him let all the money in a drawer and give her a duplicate key, telling her with convincing sincerity that all his spare cash will be placed there in other words, let him take her into full and loving confidence, and he will be astonished and much troubled by her parsimonious economy.

We are told that thousands of men are ruined by the extravagance of their wives. If we could know the number of men who suffer from the extravagance of wives whom they have taken into their full confidence, I am estimated it would turn out to be smaller than the number of men killed by lightning. The inconceivable simplicity with which our countrymen manage their money is one of the marvels of human ingenuity.—D. L.

"Our Young Women."

It is fast becoming a popular and favorite pastime for such men as Dr. Morgan Dix, Dr. Howard Crosby and others, is the point and elsewhere, to expatiate upon the sins and follies of women. We try to be patient with them, and to believe them honest. As it cannot be expected that a human being will know everything, we naturally conclude that these gentlemen have not given the woman question much attention. To me it has been the thought of my life; to me the woman question is a great question, involving the interests and destinies of a world.

These gentlemen should not forget that the false teachings of men from Adam down, have had a tendency to degrade woman. It is only by her own effort that she has risen above the standard "plaything," "toy" or "slave."

The great need of to-day is not the theorizing of men infested with male superiority. Give to women and girls the same opportunities, the same privileges of choosing for themselves in life as men and boys, and you will have the remedy in a nutshell.

But so "Our Young Women," by Dr. Crosby, I deny that girls are older than boys, or that they are more careless or selfish. As a class, girls are better disciplined, more obedient, more temperate, more economical and more sensible than boys.

I agree that society should be so organized that marriage should "help to help." It is the organization and rectitude of the husband, rather than the individual and rectitude of the wife, that counts. If various evils have been recently opened to women's intellects, but do they receive the same compensation as young men?

The "well-off" portion of the community does not suffer any sympathies as does the vast army of young women who labor from sunrise to sunset for their bread. They are not so much as much as a dollar as men, and are driven by this injustice and the enormous task, to receive a salary of $100,000 a year, when those who have deprived them of an average of $100,000 a year, resulting in suicide or divorce.

As for the "well-off" "little girls" who have ability, let the pretensions to be so, and do not lay stumbling blocks in their way. Abandon your theological dogmatism about the "subordination of woman" to men, and let Anna Oliver in the land who are called of God, step in the night. What are your theories? Is it of no use calling a woman to preach as a man? Let the question be settled by the results of a lifetime of effort. Let the results of a lifetime of effort be the result of a lifetime of effort. Let the results of a lifetime of effort be the result of a lifetime of effort.

Our Canadian Industry
The great difficulty to be connected with the low grade of goods required in this country is the more apparent than in the comparatively small article of sewing silks. The great demand in Canada requires to be supplied with quality, buyers forgetting that a cheap thread must necessarily be a fine and consequently a expensive. Sewing silks, French or made from the best grades of raw silk, are of different qualities, and as the time they are made, they are of different quality. If you will take the trouble to ask for "Helding" and "Cotton" brand, and see that their name is on the end of each spool, they will be sure of getting the best made.

Attempted Assassination.

An infamous attempt was made at Montreal on Monday to assassinate Corbett, the agent who employed the labourers for the Canada Pacific who were disappointed in getting employment on the road at Lake Superior. The agent, who had received threatening letters before this, was dining at the hotel in Chaboullier square, when two hard-looking characters came up, and one raised his arm and fired a pistol through the window, the ball passing close to Corbett's cheek and lodging in the wall behind. Before the frightened man could run out the would-be assassins had disappeared.

Trial of Inevitables.

The trial of seven Inevitables charged with connection with a murder conspiracy in County Mayo, was begun in Cork on Monday. The Attorney General stated that he would prove the Land League had subscribed a fund for the murder of certain persons. Andrew Coleman, the principal witness for the prosecution, testified to the existence of a branch of the Fenian Brotherhood in county Mayo. He said he had been giving information to the police while assisting the accused. He then disappeared some of the prisoners to murder certain people, but the gentlemen escaped because he had previously warned them.

Another Great Lumber Failure.

There was some commotion observable in financial circles at Montreal on Monday on the news of the great lumber export of St. John, N. B., Mr. George F. Hood's suspension for a quarter of a million dollars. The information came privately, and has not been published yet, but it was well known at the bank of Montreal, with which Mr. Hood did some of his business. His account, however, was kept in the Bank of New Brunswick, where the most of his paper is held. The Bank of Montreal has only $20,000 of it maturing, and the authorities here do not anticipate any loss, as Mr. Hood shows a large surplus and is only asking time to pay in full.

The Cantilever Bridge.

The opening of the new cantilever bridge across Niagara river will take place to-morrow. The structure will be tested by running about thirty locomotives upon it. About 300 invitations have been issued to scientific men and railroad managers and managers throughout the United States and Canada. It is expected fully 250 guests will be present at the test and the banquet to be held at the Monticello hotel, which will be opened for the occasion. This will be the largest gathering of railway managers and scientific men ever held on the American continent. There will be special trains run from Chicago, New York, and Toronto to carry guests.

English Land owners in America.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Representative Hopkins, of Pennsylvania, has been investigating the subject of ownership by aliens of land in the United States, and has drawn up a bill placing restrictions upon such owners. The Earl of Dunraven owns 60,000 acres in Colorado; Earl of Dunmore 100,000 acres, and a Scotch company of Dundee 50,000; a Danish vice-consul 60,000 acres in Minnesota; Phil. Marshall & Co., of London, 130,000 acres in Mississippi; another English company 700,000 acres in Texas, Delta, and 3,000,000 acres in Texas; and Benjamin Newgas, of Liverpool, 100,000 acres in Arkansas. These are only a few cases in the list prepared by Hopkins.

Glasgow Dynamiters on Trial.

An Edinburgh despatch says:—The names of the men brought from Glasgow for trial on the charge of participation in dynamite outrages are McDermott, Devany, Callaghan, McCann, McCulloch, Donnelly, Kelly, McCabe, Dunn, and Casey. It is alleged the prisoners are members of a secret society, the object of which is to overthrow the authority of the Queen in Ireland and constrain parliamentary legislation in regard to Ireland, and that acting with Featherstone and Dalton they conspired to blow up public buildings at Glasgow. The prisoners pleaded not guilty. A jurymen who stated that his mind was biased on the case was withdrawn and another substituted.

Another Lake Disaster.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Dec. 17.—The schooner Mary Ann Hubert, which was being towed to Michipicoten by the steamer Kincardine, foundered off St. Ignace Island on Friday night. The Hubert carried a crew of five, in addition to fifteen laborers, all of whom went down with the vessel. The Kincardine arrived at Port Arthur at 3 o'clock Saturday morning, and reported that a terrible storm came on very suddenly. The steamer's officers held on to the vessel as long as they possibly could, but finally decided to cut her loose to save themselves, the vessel being full of water and in a sinking condition. A few moments after they parted the Hubert was seen to give a terrible lurch and go down with all on board. Those on the steamer were unable to render any assistance or attempt a rescue on account of the hurricane and the heavy seas running at the time. Both boats were loaded with supplies from Port Arthur, and consigned to railway contractors at Michipicoten.

Terrible Fire at East Portage.

EAST PORTAGE, Dec. 17.—About eleven o'clock last night a fire was observed in the second flat of the store of Wm. L. Baker, on Main street. The alarm was given and the citizens turned out, but having no apparatus for suppression, the raging element was not subdued until a great part of the business portion of the town was consumed. The total loss is $71,000. The principal losses being as follows: Wm. L. Baker, general merchant, $25,000; Wm. McKinnon & Co., general merchants, $5,000; Chadwick & McLellan, hardware, $15,000. The insurance is slight. The cause of the fire is unknown. The Manitoba mayor and the Ontario reeve of the town have appealed to the principal cities and towns of the Dominion as follows:—"East Portage has again been visited by the fire fiend. Owing to the dispute between Ontario and Manitoba as to provincial rights during the past few months the business men have materially suffered; they are now in some cases wiped out or seriously inconvenienced. What the people of Ontario have done for St. John and other fire-victim towns let them do for East Portage. The people are hard working and deserving. What is wanted is fire protection, but owing to previous losses they are unable to purchase a fire engine and other appliances. We ask you to help us."

FENIAN FALLS.

A LYNX SHOT.—The Gazette says that one day last week as Mr. John Copp, of Fenelon, was walking through the woods he heard a scrambling sound, and looking in the direction from which it proceeded, saw a lynx descending a tree backwards with all possible haste. Mr. Copp ran to cut off the animal's retreat, but was too late, and it reached the ground and escaped. Just at that instant, however, there was more scrambling, caused by another lynx backing down a tree a short distance off, and Mr. Copp was just in time to intercept the fugitive and send him up again. He then stood guard at the foot of the tree while a boy who was with him went to the house and returned with a gun, with which Mr. Copp took a steady aim and killed the lynx at the first shot. As the animal was a young one, not more than half grown, it is probable that the old pair as well as the one that escaped, are in the vicinity.

BELLEVILLE.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT.—Napoleon Larame, a Grand Trunk brakeman, had two of his fingers crushed whilst coupling cars on Monday morning. Both of the injured digits had to be amputated.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY.—Thomas Parsons was arrested charged with the assault on and attempted robbery of Alexander Patterson on Friday night.

THE BAY.—The ice was sufficiently strong on the bay on Saturday to permit people to cross over.

THE SALVATION ARMY.—There was a fight at the foot of the stairs leading to the Salvation Army hall, on Saturday night, in which two young men were engaged. On Saturday night a woman fainted during the service.

THE PRIZE OF BARLEY.—The price of barley has declined to 50c. to 60c. for the best samples.

Sir Charles Tupper Interviewed.

Sir Charles Tupper recently returned to Canada. A Witness reporter visited him, and in answer to enquiries he said the greatest enthusiasm prevails among the members of the British Science Association, who look forward with the greatest pleasure to the prospect of visiting Canada and the States. An attendance of five or six hundred persons is looked upon as certain. As to Manitoba, the North-West and Canada generally, they have never stood so high in the estimation of the British public as fields for emigration as they do at present. The Marquis of Lorne had much to do with this result, his recent speeches and papers—especially his speech at Birmingham, being well received.

SINGERS and public speakers are always benefited by using Down's Balm, as it removes the hoarseness and increases the power of the voice. The small doses often. Price, 25c, 50c, and $1.00.

MODICUM AGREEABLE.—One very valuable feature of Dr. Low's Pleasant Worm Syrup, that it is highly agreeable to take, and all varieties of Worms can be safely expelled, can be safely expelled by it, without recourse to harsh and disgusting drugs.

BE CAREFUL WHAT YOU EAT.—The best medical authorities declare that worms in the human system are induced by eating too freely of uncooked fruits and too much meat, cheese, etc. Whatever may be the cause, Freeman's Worm Powders are speedy and safe to cure; they destroy the worms, and contain their own antidote to expel them.

HOW TO TREAT WHEEZY LUNGS.—Always breathe through the nose, keeping the mouth closed as much as possible. Walk and sit upright, in the open air, keep the chest scrupulously clean, and take Hagar's Federal Balm for coughs, colds, and bronchial troubles.

THE BEST PROOF.—THE GLOBE.—"I sell more Burdock Blood Bitters than I do any other preparation in stock," says B. Jackson, druggist, Toronto. If the reader will ask any druggist in the city he will get a similar answer to his query—a proof that it is the most popular medicine for the blood, liver and kidneys known.

"I HAD BEEN for eight months unable to work, and felt as though I would as lief die as live, through Dyspepsia and Indigestion. I weighed at the time of getting a bottle of McCreary's Speedy Cure 150 lbs; used 3 bottles and now weigh 115 lbs, and never was better in my life. It was McCreary's Speedy Cure that brought me around." So says Wm. Fell, Hamilton. Go to John McKee's Drug Store and get a free trial bottle, or the regular size for 50 cents and one dollar.

JAMES BRATLEY, Hamilton, says:—"I read the testimonials for McCreary's Speedy Cure and found that I had not to go to New York, Philadelphia, London, or Texas to find living witnesses of its value, we had plenty of persons right here to prove its merits. I got a bottle and it helped me right away. I was so laid with biliousness, fever and indigestion as I think any one could be. I have taken three bottles and am positively well and can eat any kind of food without hurting me. I may say that I am better than I ever expected to be." Free trial bottles at John McKee's drug store.

"Hub" Cough Cure, St. Catharines. Prescription of a Boston physician, dispensed for years by a Boston druggist. One dose will cure any cough. It acts almost magically. Ask J. D. Tully for a 25 cent bottle of Hub Cough Cure.

McCreary's Speedy Cure. "I never hesitate to recommend your Electric Bitters to my customers, they give entire satisfaction and are rapid relievers." Electric Bitters are the purest and best medicine known and will positively cure kidney and liver complaints. Purify the blood and regulate the bowels. No family can afford to be without them. They will save hundreds of dollars in doctors' bills every year. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Tully and McCreary.

Written for the REVIEW.
BABY CLAIRE'S SANTA CLAUS.

We were filling our mother's stocking.
Filling it full and tight;
Each had some gift from a loving hand,
Offered by all of her born band,
As we stood round the fire that night.
Soon was our mother's stocking
Full from the very top;
All had some gift of the dearest form,
From Christmas cards to a cloud so warm,
Knitted white as the drifting snow.
All did I say? No, our baby,
Our blue-eyed darling Claire,
Lipped out to sister her baby tears,
With sweet eyes dimmed with her falling tears
That "Baby puts noses in there."
We ran put in a kiss for mummy,
It "taint take much room so know;
But 'tis it might loose itself among so rest,
Me thinks it would just be so very best
To pop it 'light down at xmas."
No, our baby lips kissed a paper,
It was folded and put with the rest,
While the children round her laughed and smiled.
We felt that our innocent baby child
Had offered her gift the best.
Though precious was every offering
In our loving mother's sight,
She has treasured that folded kiss for years,
And looks at it often with falling tears,
For Claire is in Heaven to-night.
M. E. MURRAY.

Why Not?
Give your wife a vacation.
She needs one. Little cares are harder to be borne than great responsibilities; and she has many more little cares than her husband, and sometimes as great responsibilities. The doctors tell us that more women break down mentally than men; and they also tell us that this is because they have more cares to carry, and have to carry them continuously. When your wife does you can look it up in your office and put the key in your pocket. But she never looks her work up till sleep comes and turns the key upon it. "A woman's work is never done." Who needs a vacation if she does not?
And she cannot get it at home. The more quiet and restful the home is to you, the more evidence that it is a care, if not a burden to her. If you see no friction, it is because she is so skilful an engineer. If you see no machinery, it is because she makes it run so smoothly. A housekeeper can no more take a vacation in her home than a merchant in his counting-room or a Prime Minister in his council-chamber. The better rest your home affords you, the more need of rest. How long have you been married? How long since she has had a vacation? How long since she had a night when she had not to see that the children were safe in bed? Or a morning when she had not to see that breakfast was provided for you and them? Or a day when she had not to see that the home was a harbor for her husband when night suffered him to come into port?
It is true that it is always difficult to make a wife and mother take a vacation. The better wife and mother she is, the greater is the difficulty. She thinks that no one can take care of the house as she can. And she is right. She is sure that no one can take her place in the care of the children. Right again. Nevertheless, she needs her vacation, and she will be a better mother-keeper and a better mother for a week's rest. The house will value her more for a week's abdication of her throne. Her children will appreciate her more for a week's laying down of her scepter. Is she sometimes irritable? She is tired. Is she sometimes depressed and gloomy? She is over-worked and over-wearied. Send her off to take her off; where she can sleep without keeping one ear open to hear the children uneasily tossing in their sleep; where she can sit down to a table that will present some unexpected dishes to her; where her nights will be without dreams and her day without cares; where the blunders of servants will bring no self-reproaches, and she can even hear the crash of crockery without dismay. Such a vacation will take the tired look out of her eyes and put the old light back again; it will give the rippling merriment of girlish to her laugh, elasticity to her step, color to her cheek. Woman's power of recuperation is wonderful, if it has but half a chance. Try the experiment. Why not?—Christian Union.

Technical Education.
The man who would take a hundred colts, picked up at random, and, without regard to their pedigree, build or action, train them all for the turf, would be pronounced an idiot, and yet his course would not be one whit more idiotic than that pursued by those who have the intellectual training of the youth of the land. In the opinion of this journal, nothing can be more absurd than forcing a boy or girl to spend a dollar's worth of time in acquiring five cent's worth of information, and yet it has been persistently done for years from one end of the Dominion to the other. Not long ago we saw among a string of items in the humorous column of an exchange the following question: "If a man pays $30 to have his daughter taught drawing, and the young girl produces two sketches worth forty-five cents, what is the net profit of the transaction?" and we could not help thinking that the question had somehow got under the wrong heading, and that it had been propounded originally in anything but a funny spirit. Perhaps the same impulse of vanity that induces many a father to squander money he can ill-afford on having his children taught accomplishments for which they have no natural ability, also impels the State to squander it in the public school on useless learning that is acquired with great difficulty, and often with great disgust, and forgotten in a year or two after the unhappy recipient goes into the world to earn a living. But there is one great difference between the two cases, namely, that while the private individual has a right to spend his own money as he thinks fit, the State has no right to apply the public money to a worse than useless purpose. That the present system of forcing all sorts of studies upon every boy and girl, without regard to inclination or ability, is a pernicious one has long been felt by a few, and is now beginning to be generally admitted. Every child has a right to be taught (under compulsion, if necessary) to read, write, to write plainly, to speak correctly, and to figure in the first four rules expeditiously; but to spend money raised by taxation in a vain attempt to impart a high class education to all is a great mistake, and is doing downright harm. For some reason there is a deadly antagonism between education and perspiration, and it is a lamentable fact that the boys whose fathers can afford to support them, and who consequently can attend school until they are sixteen or seventeen, will scarcely ever consent to become farmers or learn a trade; and all the cities are swarming with unfortunates who think it beneath them to earn a living by the sweat of their brow, and who can only earn half a one at any genteel occupation. The fault of the existing educational system are becoming so apparent that there is beginning to be some talk of abolishing several of the common school studies, and substituting therefor instruction in the various mechanical arts, or, in other words, imparting the rudiments of a technical education. Whether this is advisable or not is a question yet to be debated; but the suggestion shows that a change is felt to be needed, and that substitutes are being sought for the studies likely to be discarded, as it would be too great a descent to come down all at once to "the three R's."—Peterborough Daily Gazette.

MRS. ELIZABETH MASON—Dr. M. Souville & Co., Gentlemen—Yours of last week to hand, and reply to your inquiry I have much pleasure in stating that from the first time of using the aspirator and the medicine I have improved. The trouble has been in the chest. I sleep well and have a good appetite. I must also add, that coming to you as I did as a last resort, the cure effected has been wonderful. Gratefully yours, MRS. E. MASON.

THANKS.

I desire to return my thanks to my many friends for their liberal patronage during the year now drawing to its close, and in doing so, I beg to say that all who may favour me with their custom, shall have as heretofore, my best attention.

I recognize the fact that the time to give bargains is when there is a demand for goods. The demand is now here as the Christmas holidays are now drawing near, and we shall soon be entering upon the New Year.

I have therefore decided to reduce my stock, and shall offer during this month

All Dress Goods,
Mantles,
Manile Cloths, and
Millinery,

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES, and all other goods in proportion.

It will pay you to give me a call, and to call early is the best.

Wishing all the compliments of the Season.

Have removed to the store formerly occupied by the Lignoe Tea Co., in the Opera House block and opposite the Calves House, where, with increased facilities for turning out first class work, they are prepared to meet their customers.

Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate winds, fair weather, with light local falls of snow, not much change in temperature.

New Year's Chances.

During the balance of this week I will offer extra inducements to those who desire to purchase furniture of any description. My goods have not been made for auction purposes, but will be sold at less than auction prices. You are invited to call and judge for yourself, as this is a genuine offer and will be strictly carried out. D. BELLEFLEUR, Hunter street.

Mymenial.

On Wednesday afternoon, Mr. F. H. Newton, of the Lindsay Warder, and Miss Sarah Green, daughter of Mr. B. Green, of Peterborough, were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's father by the Rev. T. Manning, B. A., and the happy couple departed by the 4.50 o'clock train for Lindsay. The wedding presents were handsome, valuable and large in number. We wish Mr. and Mrs. Newton a long life of uninterrupted felicity.

Curliana.

The match between the President and Vice President's risks was concluded on Wednesday night, the score being as follows:—

PRESIDENT.
Risk No. 1.
A. Brodie, 10.
R. Boucher, 10.
John McEldown, 10.
E. Dundas, skip. 10.
Risk No. 2.
F. J. Lewis, 10.
R. W. Thompson, 10.
O. McGill, 10.
M. Miller, skip. 10.
The Vice-President then won the match by ten points.

A Saturday Night Sale.

On Saturday night the well known firm of W. Fairweather & Co. advertise a grand sale of Christmas and Holiday Goods, with a general reduction on the whole stock in order to give purchasers at this season an opportunity of buying at low prices Christmas Presents and Holiday Goods. The store is to be illuminated for the occasion, and bargains may be expected. Intending purchasers who are too busy during the day to do their shopping will have a convenient time at this evening sale for procuring what they require. Perhaps Mr. Fairweather might be induced to continue the sale on Monday evening also.

Fire.

At a few minutes before seven o'clock this morning an incident fire was discovered in the cellar of the Review office. The alarm was at once sounded, while some of the employees, attempted, by using pails and utilizing the small hose and water service, to extinguish the fire. The Brigade turned out very promptly, and the hose having been attached to a hydrant in front of the office, a powerful stream of water was soon playing into the cellar, and it was not long until all danger was passed. The fire was caused by an employee, who was lighting the gas, letting a piece of burning paper fall into the cellar. The damage caused by the water and smoke to paper stored in the cellar will probably not exceed $30, and is covered by insurance.

BEEF FOR CHRISTMAS.

How Harry Winch has Catered for the Festive Season.

As Christmastide once more approaches Harry Winch is again as usual "to the fore" in providing the solid material for leading the festive board. Hard as he must have found it to beat his own record, he has this time surpassed even himself. He has scoured the country to secure the best of our farmers' stock for the purpose. Among other fine animals are the following:—A thoroughbred Durham from the herd of Mr. Edward Sutton, of Cavan, purchased last spring for the Christmas market with a view to which it has been fed for two years; one steer and one heifer bred and fed by Mr. R. Molony, of Douro, and reflecting great credit upon the feeder; one heifer from the herd of Mr. Wm. Armstrong, of Otonabee, whose reputation is too well established for any comment to be necessary; one heifer fed by Mr. John Malony of Douro, Warden of the county of Peterborough, and is worthy of notice as a specimen of his skill as a feeder; two heifers purchased in the spring and fed for the occasion by Harry Winch himself, whose customers will be able to judge if they have received the necessary attention. He has in addition a plentiful supply of sheep and lambs from the folds of Messrs. R. Molony, of Douro, Geo. Wilson, of Cavan, Edward Bulmer and James Davidson, of Smith, all of which will be found "up to the mark." He has also a varied assortment of fancy meats of all kinds, besides an abundance of turkeys, geese, &c. The Christmas show will take place on Saturday in order to give his customers and the public in general ample time to make their selection.

Sale of Useful Articles.

A bazaar and sale of useful and fancy articles will be held in the School Room of St. Andrew's Church on the evening of Thursday, December 20th, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of that Church. A good opportunity to purchase Christmas presents. Admission 10 cents. Refreshments extra.

Lunch Basket Social.

A musical and literary entertainment with a Lunch Basket Social will be held in Cartwell Hall, Water street on Friday evening, Dec. 21st. Do not fail to attend this novel, and interesting social where there will be fun for all. Ladies bringing baskets admitted free. Admission to social and concert only 10c. This is Christmas time, therefore come one, come all. Chair taken at 7.45 o'clock.

A Great Sale

of dry goods and clothing is now going on at W. Fairweather & Co's. They are clearing out their large and valuable stock at great reductions. Every buyer in town and country should not fail to visit this grand sale. The bargains offered every day are surprising. Dress goods, silks and velvets, millinery and mantles, clothing, bed and table linens, blankets, tickings, sheeting and carpets are selling at prices astonishingly cheap. W. Fairweather & Co. keeps the largest assortment in the trade and cannot be undersold.

Christmas Offer.

We do not advertise to sell our goods at wholesale prices, for no one is foolish enough to believe such nonsense, but we do offer to sell them at a very close margin, and our success during the past two weeks is due to our low prices and quality of goods. We now make the following offer: We will allow 10 per cent off all cash purchases until after Christmas. Take advantage of this liberal offer and buy your Christmas cards and presents from us, and you will never regret it. Our stock is the largest and best in town. All goods marked in plain figures. J. SALABURY & Co., Bookbinders and Stationers.

Winter Prices.

Under the august presence of Jack Frost our oyster trade has become very brisk. We are having a lively run on our superior large bulk Oysters, which are now selling at 25c per quart. Our customers tell us that they are the best for the money in town. Canned Oysters at all prices according to quality. Try our Selects, 40c per can. When once used they will recommend themselves. The public can rely at all times on getting nice fresh Oysters, as we import direct from the producers in Baltimore, therefore we are always sure of getting fresh stock. Don't forget the place, north store, opposite the express office; south store, opposite the market square, George street.

IF YOU HAVE A PAINED CLOAK OF RHEUMATISM make it now by using a package of the Triangle Drys, all the popular colours. Always certain 10 cents.

Beware of that cough. It may kill you; cure it at once with Dr. Cameron's Pulmonary Cough Drops. It never fails. Large bottles at 50 cents. For sale everywhere.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Taylor & Macdonald.

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure. The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, seems as if pin-worms were crawling about the parts affected. If allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT" is a pleasant, sure cure. Also for tetter, itch, salt rheum, scald head, erysipelas, barber's itch, blotches, all sores, crusty skin diseases. Sent by mail for 50 cents; 3 boxes $1.50 (in stamps). Address DR. SWAYNE & SON Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by Druggists.

Our Canadian Industry is prosperous. The great difficulty to be contended with is the low grade of goods required. In nothing is this more apparent than in the comparatively small article of sewing silks. The great demand in Canada seems to be for a cheap quality, buyers forgetting that a cheap thread must necessarily be a fine and consequently a weak one. Messrs. Belding, Fawcett & Co. make three grades of spool silk; of these different qualities the finest one has by far the largest sale, at the same time they constantly hear of complaints of poor sewing silk. If ladies will take the trouble to ask for Belding, Fawcett & Co's own brand, and see that their name is on the end of each spool, they will be sure of getting the best made.

THE MARCH
—OF—
WINTER DRESS GOODS.

Goods well bought are said to be half sold. The march began before ours were fairly on stock, and the march has been kept up since.

We had the best of assortments to begin with, gathered literally both from abroad and at home. The best fabrics picked with the eye of an expert—just such goods as sell.

Never have we had a season of greater activity. Never did our prices seem more inviting. Never was there better proof of it either, for with very few exceptions our prices—remain unchanged. Yet customers assure us that they are lower than where stocks have been professedly reduced.

Remember our goods are the freshest from the most famous weavers.

Prices, you know is one of our strong points always.

CARD OF THANKS.

We beg to offer our cordial thanks to the Fire Brigade, the Water Company and our neighbours, who by their prompt action aided in extinguishing the fire in the cellar of the Review Office and thus prevented what might have otherwise been a disastrous conflagration.

December 20, 1883.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 21, 1883.

BECAUSE Alfred Tennyson has accepted an honourable title bestowed upon him by his sovereign, the leading Reform journal says that he has "a falling intellect." It also aims at the wife and family of the poet laureate some dastardly insult.

OUR HIGHEST COURT.

In discussing the subject of the assessment of Dominion civil servants, the Ottawa Free Press says:—

"The City Council advised the present assessment of the Dominion of Canada as contained in the British North America Act, which is an act of the Imperial Parliament, conferring certain specific powers upon the Parliament of Canada, and certain specific powers upon the Provincial Legislatures, finally interpreted by the highest appellate court in the British Empire. This has been the recognized tribunal for the decision of all questions of this kind by all the Provinces composing the Dominion—it having been generally admitted that the Imperial Act should receive a judicial interpretation from an Imperial Court."

This is quite sound, yet when the Ontario boundary is in question, the Free Press is in accord with those who have been opposed to allowing the Privy Council to interpret the British North America Act, preferring Mr. Mowat's plan of a little civil war.

WHOLESALE THIEVES.

THE Globe, in an article on defalcations says: "Defalcations seem to be the order of the hour. There is a continued outcry. Who would have thought it! We had such confidence in him." And yet in spite of the "confidence" there it is. That cashier who had been twenty years in the bank has "gone off," and his accounts are anything but straight. The manager who was thought a perfect jewel of honesty, has turned out little better than a wholesale thief."

In spite of all this, however, the Globe thinks that "matters at present are not so very bad, after all." Mr. Mowat evidently agrees with the Globe, and thinks that such offences are mere peccadilloes. Indeed, he does his best to encourage such offenders by placing and maintaining one of the "wholesale thieves" upon the Bench, to try minor criminals. With such encouragement we may in future have to measure the crop of rogues of this description by the bushel, and not as at present by the "peck."

THE NEW CABLE CABLE.

LONDON, Dec. 18.—Messrs. Siemens to-day invited the Mail correspondent to inspect the Mackay-Bennett cable now being manufactured at their works. All the materials had been collected and tested, and three hundred miles of cable are now completed, lying coiled in great tanks. The works are at Charlton Pier, Woolwich, and their tall chimneys are rising from the banks of the Thames. They form almost a township, and more than two thousand men are employed on the new cable work, which is continued night and day. One relay succeeds another except on Sundays. Some of the engines are always busy, and new coils of cable never cease to be wound to the great white make which sleeps in the tanks. "The progress," said Mr. Mittelhauser, the manager, "is from twenty-five to thirty miles a day. In two or three months the cable will be ready to lay to the bottom of the Atlantic. Every inch of the material is constantly tested, and if the slightest defect is seen in the galvanometer the work is begun over again. No matter what depth of cable lies in the tank, when the flaw is discovered it is instantly remedied. Thus if the progress is slow it is sure. Before midsummer every inch will be completed."

Messrs. Siemens' yards are filled with materials, fourteen days' supply being kept on hand. In a great store house are bales of hemp and jute, used for sheathing at the rate of fifteen tons a day. Round the court yard lie coils of iron and steel wire, used for armatures at the rate of eighty tons a day. A separate workshop is devoted to the making of the core of the cable. Formerly the core consisted of one stout brass wire; to-day the same wire is wrapped in ten others, each steeped in gutta serena and woven together by a machine familiar in rope-making. The weight of the conductor thus formed is 350 pounds per nautical mile, and its composition marks the most perfect stage of cable manufacture. Another excellence of the new cable is in the gutta-serena covering, the fitting of which to the wire is a most delicate operation. Tests are applied to every part to make it impervious to water, and then the sheathing of the galvanised steel wire is woven round by huge spindles. These with two layers of canvas and two layers of the compound the deep sea portion of the cable is finished, and winds slowly through the roof into tanks thirty-one feet in diameter and fifteen feet in depth, where it will lie till the steamer Faraday takes it to sea in July. You see, said Mr. Mittelhauser, "that the above ends are much thicker, but the deep sea cable is the finest example of our art, the idea of which is to combine lightness with strength." "Then the new cable" said the correspondent, "will have a great advantage over its predecessors?" "It will be the best ever laid," said Mr. Mittelhauser.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—I see by Ratepayer's last effusion that he has been making free with my name in connection with the Mayoralty contest, and I desire now to give Mr. Ratepayer to understand that if all his statements are as far from the truth as his assertion that I am a stockholder or employee of the Water Company, he had better be a little more certain of his facts before rushing into print.

It is scarcely necessary that I should state what is well-known to every person who takes any interest in the Water Company, viz.: that I have no interest whatever in the Company, having never paid or received from the Company one cent or one cent's worth, and have not any investment whatever either personally or in trust in the stock of the Company, and I may add that I have it on good authority that I am not the only person mentioned in that letter who is in the same position.

So far as the Water Company being instrumental in bringing Mr. Cox into the field, I need only mention the names of those most active in circulating the requisition for signature, viz.: Mr. T. G. Hazlett, Mr. J. A. McClelland and Mr. A. McNeill, to show the absurdity of such a statement. Of these, Mr. Hazlett exhibited the most energy, and certainly neither Mr. Ratepayer nor Mr. Sawers will venture the assertion that Mr. H. has a kindly feeling towards the Company.

It would be a great satisfaction to have Mr. Ratepayer disclose his identity. If he thinks he has such a good cause, why not make himself known, and correct the current impression that he and Mr. Sawers are one. If Mr. Ratepayer declines to make himself known in answer to this letter, I, for one, shall feel confirmed in my opinion that he is Mr. Sawers himself.

There is another aspect to this question. Are Mr. Claxton, Mr. Morrow, Mr. Stevenson, and the other stockholders of the Water Company deprived of their franchise because they are such stockholders? And more, are men like Mr. Cox, who has more interest in the welfare of the town than Mr. Ratepayer, Mr. Sawers, and all connected with them, to sit idly by and see the town disgraced by such proceedings as were over and over again witnessed in the town council during the past year. An effort is being made to get our best citizens to enter the Council and transact the business of the town with dignity and to the satisfaction of the people. Will this object be attained by electing to the Mayoralty the man who was the ringleader in all the tumult and abuse that has made the Council what it is to-day?

If it is Water Company influence that is bringing Mr. Cox into the field why have Messrs. John Burnham, J. E. Belcher, and other stockholders not signed the requisition? Yours very truly,

R. E. WOOD.

P. S.—Since writing the above, I have discovered that Mr. Stevenson is not a stockholder in the Water Company, and I don't think he is an employee.

The Winnipeg Strike.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 17.—Superintendent Egan, of the C. P. R., is confident that the striking engineers will have to give in very shortly. He denies that the company proposes to close down the line for the winter, although he admits it could be the proper course to pursue. He has the sympathy of the public in the struggle, and is content with that. In the railway service matters are improving. It is getting regular again. The strikers have had recourse to tampering with the engines by putting scrap in the boilers and manipulating the switches. Threats of shooting have been made against the engineers at present working the road. The company claim that everything will be in its usual running order on Wednesday, and all the shops along the line will be reopened on that day. The city is crowded with engineers willing to take the place of the strikers, but afraid of the threats.

Affairs in Quebec.

LONDON, Dec. 18.—The taking by the Prince of Wales of the degree of Grand Master Mason has resulted in giving an impetus to the Mark Master Mason Lodges throughout the country. Efforts will be made to reconcile the difference between Grand Chapter of Quebec and the Grand Mark Lodge of England. English Freemasons consider that the recent communication issued by the Quebec Chapter was ill-advised; that the Quebec Chapter has had nothing to do with the Mark grade, and that the system prevailing in Ireland, Scotland, the United States, and Canada in regard to Mark Masonry is unsound. A number of Provincial Masons assembled to witness the cremation with Masonic honours of Warden Haslam in Dorchester. This was a new departure in Masonry. There was an elaborate and sensational ceremony.

A Murderous Wife.

DENVER, Dec. 18.—Last Saturday Mary Kofford called on Dr. Rose, a prominent dentist of Leadville, and made the startling request that he furnish her poison which couldn't be detected by an autopsy. She offered three hundred dollars as compensation, reluctantly admitting that she wished to get rid of her husband, Hans Kofford, that her husband's brother, who was enamoured of her, and herself might together enjoy an inheritance of $5,000 which her husband carried. After making an appointment to meet both of them at his office last evening, Rose arranged with the police and several insurance men to be present, concealed at the interview. The whole diabolical plan was thus exposed. Both were immediately arrested and jailed. The parties are all Danish. The youngest brother is 60 years of age and the woman 35.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN:—At the request of many of the ratepayers of the Town, who are opposed to the present management of our Municipal affairs, I appear as a candidate for the Mayoralty for 1884, and beg respectfully to solicit your votes and influence therefor.

My course as Councillor during the present year has been severely criticised, but I can only say that every act of mine in the Council was prompted by my conviction of what was just and right to the ratepayers. I entered the Council without personal interest of any kind to serve, determined to advance the interests of the ratepayers to the best of my ability, and, as far as my single efforts could do so, to conduct the business of the Town on the same sound business principles than every one of you applies to the conduct of your own private affairs.

This course, opposed as it was to the loose and extravagant manner in which the majority in the Council have been accustomed to carry on your business, naturally called down upon me a storm of abuse, which, however, the courage of my convictions has enabled me to bear without difficulty.

Many important matters have been before the Council, and, as my opponent, Councillor Peterson, holds views on them different from my own, I shall here state a few of them, hoping to have the opportunity of discussing the merits of our opposite opinions before you will him.

FIRE PROTECTION. I am opposed to paying by a general tax for hydrants taken by the Town for fire protection, believing it to be unjust to ask ratepayers living outside of the fire limits to pay for the protection of the centre of the town.

Mr. Peterson's views on this subject are directly opposed to mine.

HOUSE OF REFUGE. As chairman of the Charity Committee this year, I have had excellent opportunities of judging of the necessity for such an institution, and am forced to conclude that at the present time it is not required. No doubt some few cases could be found in our midst which it would be extremely convenient to send to such an institution, if we had it, but the immense cost of building and maintaining a Refuge would be of all proportion to the benefit to be derived from it. In the future this may not be so. You may therefore rest assured that, if I have the honor to be elected by you to the Mayoralty, I will use my influence to prevent this burden being added to your already heavy taxes.

Mr. Peterson's views on this subject also are, I believe, opposed to mine.

CIVIC SALARY. I am not in favor of attaching a salary to the office of either Mayor or Councillor, believing that the opportunity which you thus afford them of proving themselves faithful servants, and worthy of your confidence, ought to be a sufficient recompense for their time and trouble.

I understand Mr. Peterson's views on this point also are at variance with mine.

CLERK AND TREASURER. I am opposed to allowing one person to hold the two offices of Clerk and Treasurer. On this point also Mr. Peterson differs from me.

RANK OF TOWN BUILDINGS. As the paying for these buildings this year has caused a considerable increase in the amount of taxation, and a good deal of dissatisfaction has been expressed in consequence, a few words from me on this subject will not be out of place.

Early in the year there was a general unanimity in the Council as to the desirability of purchasing these buildings on the terms offered by Mr. Stevenson, namely:—$4,500, payable in debentures bearing interest at 5 per cent, running over either 10 or 20 years, but when the matter came up in discussing the estimates, to my surprise, the whole amount (less about $400 received from the Town Trust Commissioners) was asked for this year. I was opposed to this, but was voted down. Councillor McNaughton alone supporting me. Mr. Peterson, whose duty it was, as Chairman of the Finance Committee, to compile the estimates, can perhaps give some satisfactory explanation to the ratepayers for putting this heavy tax upon them. The title to these buildings has not yet, I believe, been perfected. If it possible that the purchase may yet fall through?

There are many other points on which I might touch, but as this address is already too long, I shall only say that I am opposed to all jobbery and rings, and to the transacting of the town's affairs in secret conclaves and not in either open Council or Committee.

I am in favor of progress and municipal reform, and where any saving can be effected in the management of our municipal affairs, I am also strongly in favor of such saving.

If elected, I shall use my best efforts to obtain a dollar's worth of your money for every dollar expended.

I remain, Your obedient servant,

C. W. SAWERS.

Peterborough, 6th December, 1883.

THANKS.

I desire to return my thanks to my many friends for their liberal patronage during the year now drawing to its close, and in doing so, I beg to say that all who may favour me with their custom, shall have as heretofore, my best attention.

I recognize the fact that the time to give bargains is when there is a demand for goods. The demand is now here as the Christmas holidays are now drawing nigh, and we shall soon be entering upon the New Year.

I have therefore decided to reduce my stock, and shall offer during this month

All Dress Goods,
Mantles,
Mantle Cloths, and

LOCAL NEWS

Sunday School Times.

All persons desirous of subscribing for the Sunday School Times can derive the advantage of club rates by leaving their names at Taylor & Macdonald's drug store, before Tuesday next.

McConnell Bros

Have removed to the store formerly occupied by the Liquor Tea Co., in the Operadion block and opposite the Calise House, where, with increased facilities for turning out first class work, they are prepared to meet their customers.

That Siding.

After the Court adjourned on Thursday afternoon, the railway men returned to where they had been working, at the corner of Bethune and Murray streets, and filled up the holes that had been made and relaid the plank on the crossing, to await the decision of the Magistrate.

Entertainment.

A musical and literary entertainment was held in the Orange Hall on Thursday evening. The attendance was large, the hall being filled to the door. Mr. R. Weir occupied the chair. The programme consisted of readings, recitations, and singing, and was a very entertaining one. The readings and recitations were well chosen, some of them being serious ones imparting valuable truths, and others both amusing and instructive. The singing was good, including both humorous and sentimental songs, and the vocalists deserved the applause and recalls they received.

A Farewell Supper.

The official connected with the Ontario and Quebec Railway about Peterborough became quite popular during their residence here. On Thursday evening Mr. David Sang, foreman, was entertained at a supper in the "Little Windsor" hotel previous to his departure from town. There was a large number of his friends present, and they sat down to an excellent spread. Mr. Brown knows well how to cater for such an occasion, and he excelled at this supper. The toast of "the Guest" was received with enthusiasm, and fittingly responded to. After this toast, speeches and songs followed, and one after another testified to the high regard in which Mr. Sang was held. A most enjoyable time was spent by the friends, thus assembled together.

A New Cooking Utensil.

Perfection in cooking is what every house-keeper desires, but seldom can be attained. The nearest attainments are only arrived at by the use of a variety of designs—some are liable to scale off or crack and are then impossible to keep thoroughly clean; in others nothing containing acids can be cooked, or the food becomes discoloured, unwholesome or poisonous. All require continual watching or they burn their contents. The Universal Cooking Crock, just introduced in town, combines many advantages. The cooking is done by the application of the hot air to the sides as well as to the bottom of the Crock, securing a uniform application of the heat. The Crock cannot become hotter than the air surrounding it, consequently the contents will not burn. Anything can be cooked in it. It is for sale by HENRY BERT, George street.

Bazaar.

A very successful bazaar and sale of useful and fancy articles was held on Thursday evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Andrew's Church, in the school room of that Church. The tables around the room were loaded with beautiful articles, which were highly ornamental and adapted for various uses. The greater portion of them—if not all—were made by the lady members of the congregation, and reflected credit on their taste and skill. The young ladies who had charge of the counters did a lively business disposing of their wares, and while they were carrying on business for the benefit of the church those present were enjoying themselves by pleasant conversation and social intercourse. The refreshment tables, which were well supplied with tempting edibles, were well patronized. The attendance at the bazaar was very good, and financially it was quite successful.

THE RAILWAY DISPUTE.

The Case in the Police Court—The Company Stand on Their Rights.

On Thursday afternoon the case against John Piller, Daniel Hillier and John Donnelly, who were charged with causing an obstruction to a street, was called in the Police Court. These men were engaged in laying down a siding from the Midland Railway at the intersection of Bethune and Murray streets, which siding was to run into Mr. Yelland's lot, when they were arrested by Mr. Johnston, Street Inspector and Chief of Police.

AN EPISODE.

When the men were arrested, and taken to the Court room, a number of spectators gathered in the room to learn the result. The Police Magistrate was sent for, and soon appeared and took his seat on the bench. There was a pause while the counsel were preparing the preliminaries, which was interrupted by a cross-fire of words between the bench and the bar. The Magistrate turning towards the gentlemen he addressed with a smile, remarked:—"That was a very clever letter in the Examiner, Mr. Sawers." "And I am told that it was written in your office," replied that gentleman. "I didn't write it," returned the Magistrate. "I could not write as clever a letter as that is." "I didn't say that you wrote it," replied Mr. Sawers, "but they tell me that it was written in your office." "I do not believe it was," said the Magistrate. Further words passed between the two gentlemen, and then Mr. Sawers was heard to repeat, "they say that the letter came from your office," and intimated that it was not unlikely that it was true. "It's a lie!" exclaimed the Magistrate, in a passionate tone. "That's nice language to come from the Bench," remarked Mr. Sawers. "It's the only language fit for such men as you," the Magistrate replied, and the excitement then gradually cooled down.

THE CASE COMMENCED.

The three men who were charged with obstructing the street pleaded not guilty. Mr. E. B. Edwards appeared for the prosecution and Messrs. Poussette & Roger for the defence.

Mr. Poussette objected to the information, on the ground that it did not charge that the obstruction was created by impeding the passage of any person or vehicle passing along the street.

The Magistrate noted the objection, but overruled it.

GEORGE JOHNSTON, Street Inspector, was sworn and said that his attention was called that morning to men working at the corner of Murray and Bethune streets; the defendants were among them; he forbade them working there and they stopped; he went back after dinner, and the men commenced filling in the excavations they had made in the forenoon; these trenches were deep enough to take a tie in; the railway track is at present in the centre of the street, and they were working on the east side of it; the holes he considered an obstruction to the street, after the men had commenced to fill in the holes, in the afternoon, Mr. Yelland told them to go on with the work; the witnesses then came down street, and when he went back they were still working.

CROSS-EXAMINED—This work was being done between the track and the side of the street; the obstruction was caused by digging holes in the street and throwing up the dirt; the holes were seven or eight inches deep; he understood that they were railway men; he did not ask them what they were doing; he believed they intended to lay a siding into Mr. Yelland's lot.

RE-EXAMINED—The work done was entirely on the street; they had not gone a full length of a tie from the main line.

A plan of the siding was put in by Mr. Poussette.

JOHN DOUGLAS was sworn and gave similar evidence as to the work done. It was on Bethune street, on a line with Murray street.

WM. YELLAND was called for the defence and said that the work referred to was being done by the Midland Railway at his request, for the purpose of laying a siding into his lot; the siding would leave the main track eight or ten feet south of the southern limit of Murray street; it was intended to strike his lot a little north of the northern limit of the street; the work done that day was on the intersection of Bethune and Murray streets; the men were Midland Railway men, and he did not know they had commenced the work until he saw them working.

JOHN PILLER, section foreman, said that he was doing the work under instructions received from John Osher, Road Master of the Midland Railway; they were doing the work to put a siding into Mr. Yelland's property; he was told the starting point and instructed to get the track on to Mr. Yelland's property as quickly as he could.

Mr. Poussette claimed that the siding simply crossed a highway, and the railway company had a right to do that.

Mr. EDWARDS commenced to argue that the railway was not before the Court.

The Magistrate said that if Mr. Edwards took that ground, he would grant an enlargement to give the defence an opportunity to prove that the railway was doing the work. There was no desire to punish the men personally.

Mr. EDWARDS said that in case of an enlargement he would ask that the work should not be gone on with in the meantime.

The Magistrate said that he would hold, under the evidence given, that the railway company was doing the work.

Mr. EDWARDS said that it had not been shown that the Midland Railway was doing the work. It was part of the plan to run the track along Bethune street, crossing Murray street, and that they had no right to do.

The Magistrate said the whole question was whether the railway company had a right to put in a siding. He reserved judgment until Saturday.

It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 30 cents per box. For sale by Taylor & Macdonald.

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure. The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, seems as if pin-worms were crawling above the parts affected. If allowed to continue of sewing skin. The following "HAYNES' OINTMENT" is a pleasant, sure cure. Also for tetter, itch, salt rheum, scald head, erysipelas, barber's itch, blotches, all scaly, crusty skin diseases, sent by mail for 50 cents; 3 boxes, $1.25 (in stamps). Address DR. HAYNES & SON Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by Druggists.

Our Canadian Industry is prosperous. The great difficulty to be contended with is the low grade of goods required. In nothing is this more apparent than in the comparatively small article of sewing silk. The great demand in Canada seems to be for a cheap quality, buyers forgetting that a cheap thread must necessarily be a fine and consequently a weak one. Messrs. Seidling, Paul & Co. make three grades of spool silk; of these different qualities the poorest one has by far the largest sale, at the same time they constantly hear of complaints of poor sewing silk. If ladies will take the trouble to ask for Seidling, Paul & Co's own brand, and see that their name is on the end of each spool, they will be sure of getting the best made.

THE MARCH
—OF—
WINTER DRESS GOODS.

Goods well bought are said to be half sold. The march began before ours were fairly on stock, and the march has been kept up since.

We had the best of assortments to begin with, gathered literally both from abroad and at home. The best fabrics picked with the eye of an expert—just such goods as sell.

Never have we had a season of greater activity. Never did our prices seem more inviting. Never was there better proof of it either, for with very few exceptions our prices remain unchanged. Yet customers assure us that they are lower than where stocks have been professedly reduced.

Remember our goods are the freshest from the most famous weavers.

Prices, you know is one of our strong points always.

BOGUS EMIGRATION AGENTS.

Mr. J. JONES EVANS writes to the Toronto World as to the falsehoods put forth by such agents of the steam boats and shipping companies as Mr. Lee and his fellows, who mendaciously represent themselves as emigration agents of the Government of Canada, and by untrue statements and figures, allure to the Dominion an unfit class of emigrants. After mentioning the flaming placards and other methods by which these harpies delude their victims, Mr. Evans asks if the Dominion Government could not "take steps to nullify or in a great measure render inoperative this disgraceful traffic in the misfortune of the poorest of our fellow creatures," and so clear themselves of the accusation of being responsible for the flooding of our shores with pauper labour, "mistakenly supposed to be brought here by assisted emigration."

Of course it is very desirable that this should be done, and these false statements are in a measure being counteracted by the dissemination of truthful information. It appears that it may be necessary to take even more active steps, but it must be remembered that there are grave difficulties in the way of their adoption. With the active tanning that is always going on in the British Islands and on the continent of Europe for emigration to the United States, Australia, &c., and the evidently unscrupulous nature of some of the agents employed, it is absolutely certain that any active warning from the Dominion Government that certain immigrants are not wanted in Canada would be misrepresented and twisted to our disadvantage, so implying that we have no such field to offer for immigration as have the United States and other colonies.

But there is even a greater difficulty. Our rivals in the competition for the surplus population of the older countries, have not in their midst a set of domestic traitors who are bent upon thwarting the progress of the country, as long as it is not under their management. We do not find an opposition in the United States, Australia or South Africa busily employed in showing that there is a very poor country to live in. As long as our so-called Reformers insist upon saying, on the one hand, that Canadian farmers have to pay dearer for all they buy, while getting insufficient prices for their produce, and on the other hand, that food is made artificially dear while manufactured articles so glut the market that they have to be sold at a loss, as long as they falsely maintain that factories are being generally closed and that commerce is on the verge of a panic, so long is it very difficult for the Dominion authorities to give any warning against immigration with the imminent risk of their action being misconstrued into an acknowledgment of the truth of these vile and unpatriotic falsehoods. Canada with its vast territory has room for an almost unlimited number of immigrants of the right stamp, and it is almost impossible to take efficient steps to prevent these from being unaccompanied by some of the wrong stamp, so long as a reckless opposition greasy for office and eager for the overturn of the Administration, persists in doing its very utmost to belittle our country, and to thwart all efforts to attract the population we require for its development.

THE SENTENCE ON O'DONNELL.

When the verdict had been rendered in the trial of O'Donnell the Clerk of the Court said: Prisoner at the bar, you stand convicted of the crime of wilful murder. Have you anything to say why the Court should not sentence you to death according to law?

The prisoner looked straight at the judge, but made no reply.

The usher of the Court then proclaimed silence, and

The Judge, having put on the black cap, said—Patrick O'Donnell, if I could feel any gratification in any part of this case, it is in the fact that the jury have not convicted you in haste, but have taken full time for deliberation, and that they have considered doubts which were even beyond those suggested by the most able and powerful advocates who have defended you so ably and powerfully to-day. The case is one which has not taken you or any one else by surprise, because even at the last sessions of this Court application was made to me on your behalf on affidavits which were before me when I sat here on that occasion, intimating that there were persons who might throw further light on the subject, persons who were said to have been on the ship itself, and could have given further evidence. Ample time was allowed you and no hurry has really taken place from the beginning to the end of this case. You have had as ample opportunity and as powerful a defence as ever fell to the lot of any prisoner to enjoy. In the result the jury have come to the conclusion that you did fire the pistol, that you did kill James Carey, and that you did it under such circumstances as that you could not properly say, and could not honestly say, that you did it in self-defence, or did it in such a way as to reduce your offence to manslaughter. I must say that I do not disagree with the verdict. I must say that I do not see any reason to disbelieve the evidence of the witness Cubitt. That evidence did make it, I think, clear that you were reckless of the life of that man, that you were ready to use a weapon to destroy the life of that wicked—abominable wicked—man; that you did take the life of that dreadfully wicked man. There is no doubt about that. But it would be a most lamentable thing if in this court of justice, or in any court of justice in any civilized land it could for one moment be laid down that to take the life of a man—wicked though he might be—full of crime and hypocritical and abominable in every way—was justifiable; that it was justifiable in another man armed with a deadly weapon to kill the man simply because he was wicked and abominable. There would be no civilization—no happiness in this world if such a doctrine as that could for one moment be laid down in a court of justice. It is not so—it is not the law—it is a dreadful and abominable doctrine to think of, and I fear it is only too plain that you have been induced by bad lawyers and bad advice from people as wicked as Carey himself to think that you would be justified in taking the life of this man, and that, contrary to the law, and because you abominated his wicked deeds, you have made yourself the executioner of a fellow creature contrary to the law and in violation of every principle of right. It is quite certain that it could not be permitted in any civilized country to be for one moment supposed that such a doctrine should prevail. The jury have found in your case that you did purposely take the life of that man, and I cannot doubt with what object. I do not say this for the purpose of hurting your feelings. I trust to God that you will repent before you die of this act in order that you and others may thoroughly understand what peril and misery people who allow themselves to be led into such horrible doctrines lay themselves open to. I have nothing further to add but to pass upon the sentence of the law, which is, that you be taken from hence to the place from whence you came, and from thence to a place of lawful execution, there to be hanged by the neck until you be dead, and that you be buried in the prison from which you are taken, and may the Lord have mercy on your soul.

THE LUMBER TRADE.

The Quebec Chronicle of Dec. 18th publishes a length review of the lumber trade during the past season, of which the following is an extract:—As regards the stocks wintering, square white pine will be about 8,000,000 feet, but it must be remembered that there is not this year any old timber left behind in the Ottawa streams to come down next spring, and considering the reduced production contemplated, and the fact that it will be late next season before the bulk of the new wood can reach the market, it may be inferred that all of this quantity that is good enough to be shipped will be wanted for the spring season. The wintering stock of waney will be small, and it contains very little large wood. In oak and elm the wintering stock will be light, not more than about one-half that of last year in oak and about one-fifth in elm. The production of both pine and spruce deals will be curtailed at least one-third, probably one-half. We hear that the Montmorency establishments will not operate at all during the winter, and some other mills have also decided to shut down. These are favorable omens, and if the square timber manufacturers abide by their very distinct avowals as to a limited production the trade may come right again in time. Nature may be said to be working with these gentlemen in their own interests this season, for, if we are to believe the weatherwise, the present winter is going to be anything but favorable for lumbering operations, there being up to the present, no snow in the lumbering districts of Western Canada and the States, which will materially interfere with heading to the different streams. Under all the circumstances, and from all we have been able to gather, we should hope that the end of next winter will show that things have taken a turn for the better. This season has been depressing enough. We cannot close this review without alluding to the unfortunate financial difficulties which have seized upon certain lumber firms in this city, in which they have the sympathy of the community. We have, however, fortunately been free from any panic or very great fluctuation in values, and had as things are, they might certainly have been worse.

COBBOURG.

A BANQUET.—The retiring Warden, Mr. H. Elliott, entertained the members of the County Council to a supper at the Horton House, on Friday evening last. The spread was a credit to the hotel, and the things provided, were done ample justice to. The chair was occupied by the Warden, and the Vice-Chair by Dr. W. H. H. Dr. Clarke, and Mr. A. E. Eggleston. A large number of toasts were proposed, and responded to in neat speeches by various members of the council, and a most pleasant evening was spent. Sentinel Star.

Failures in the Lumber Trade.—There were rumours about the 18th of this month that another extensive lumber firm at Quebec had succumbed to the financial depression in the export trade. The liabilities are set down at a large figure, but the assets are said to be equally large, and there will be little if any loss.

The Beaver Lumber Company below Quebec has failed, and owes banks in Quebec & Montreal as well as other creditors $108,000. About $90,000 are due to the banks, which are all safely secured, but the other creditors are expected to fare badly.

Laborers at Kingston.—Kingston, Dec. 20.—In about a week Captain Gaskin will be prepared to hire all the idle men in the city who can handle carpenter's tools at five shillings, from $1.25 to $3 per day, according to their ability. The Montreal Transportation Company will do all the repairs to their boats at this port during the winter.

Children's Reading.

As a rule, parents give themselves too little concern about what their children read. It is regarded as a praiseworthy act simply to read. If a mother is convinced there is nothing immoral in the book her boy is reading, she is far happier when he is in-door curled up with his book, than when he is tearing his clothes by climbing fences. It is possible by spending two hours a year in examining collections of books, looking over publishers' lists, and reading suggestions made by wise heads, to discover not only good books, but the best books for our young folks. Add to this five minutes' conversation each day with a child upon what he has read, and what he had better take up next, and a basis for a thorough education in books is laid. That some discrimination is needed in choosing books for children is readily seen from the enormous quantity of juvenile literature published each year. Probably in the English tongue alone a thousand books are issued each year for children. These are, for the most part, story books of varying degrees of merit; and incredible as it may seem, many children read a good proportion of this number. One librarian asserts that "three-fourths of our school children average a library book a day, which they claim to read through." The town for which he speaks, I am forced to believe, is exceptional, yet the fact remains, that the child of to-day devours a vast deal of reading-matter.

It is far better for the child every day that the amount he reads be small. In saying this I am aware that the responsibility is thrown upon parents of providing some occupation for the hours which would be otherwise quietly spent over the story book. Nevertheless, the best development of a child's mind is secured by an amount of reading small in comparison to that enjoyed by most city children. A scroll saw, a set of tools, of cooking utensils, of gardening tools, or a paint box will suggest ways of profitably employing leisure time. The proportion of pure fiction to other reading should also be small. Hundreds of story books for children have been written, all most delightful in literary style, in purity of tone and elevation of thought. The books of Hawthorne, Jacob Abbott, Miss Alcott, Sophie May, Susan Coolidge, and Mary Mapes Dodge, are a delight to the old as well as to the young. But stories should not be allowed to crowd out more important matter. While many stories have a moral, they yet serve for the most part simply to amuse, and much reading for amusement tends to slovenly reading. Receiving ideas merely for the pleasure of the passing moment, the mind becomes averse to the continued effort necessary to gain the full good of reading serious books.—Twining.

Glad Tidings.—To the victim of pains and aches no tidings can give greater pleasure than the means of relief. Folio's Nerve Pills exactly fill the bill. Nervine cures rheumatism. Nervine cures headache. Nervine is sure in lumbago. Nervine, the great cure for internal or external pains. Trial bottles costing only 10 cents may be had at Ormond & Walsh's drug store. Buy one and test it. Large bottles of Nervine, 25 cents, at all druggists. Nervine, nerve pain cure.

JAMES BRATLEY, Hamilton, says:—"I read the testimonials for McGregory's Speedy Cure and found that I had not to go to New York, Philadelphia, Louisiana or Texas to find living proof of its value. I had plenty of persons right here to prove its merits. I got a bottle and it helped me right away. I was sick with bilious fever and indigestion as I think any one could be. I have taken three bottles and am nearly well and can eat any kind of food without it hurting me. I may say it is better than I ever expected to be." Free trial bottles at John McKee's drug store.

Turnbull's Millinery and Mantle Makers have been very busy all the season, through which is proof positive that his latest endeavours to secure the right articles have been appreciated. Call early at your wish to have a Mantle or Bonnet made up before the holidays.

TRENT NAVIGATION, ONTARIO.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the Secretary of the Department of Railways and Canals, and endorsed "Tenders for Trent Navigation," will be received at the Resident Engineer's office, Peterborough, until FRIDAY, the TWENTY-FIRST DAY OF DECEMBER NEXT, (last day for the construction and completion of a Regulating Dam, &c., across the Otonabee River at Young's Point, on the Back Lake Division of the Trent Valley Canal.) Plans and specifications of tender will be furnished upon application as the Resident Engineer's office, Peterborough, on and after FRIDAY, the SEVENTH DAY OF DECEMBER, NEXT.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless on the printed forms supplied, and prices offered to the whole of the items stated therein, and signed with their actual signatures. Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted bank cheque for the sum of $100, made payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Railways and Canals, which sum shall be forfeited if the person tendering declines to enter into contract for the execution of the works, at the rates and prices submitted, subject to the conditions and on the terms stated in the specification. If the tender is not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order, TOM S. RUMBLE, Engineer in Charge. d1137-50

NO NEGRO NEED APPLY.—The poor negroes who accompanied the "Hidden Hand Co." were refused admission to the hotels here, on Thursday. They found lodging, however, with some one who overlooks color in the human race.

FACTORY REPORTS.—The books of the "Woodland" cheese factory in Seymour west, show that during last season there were 1,233,349 lbs. of milk delivered, and that from this quantity there were 114,109 pounds of cheese manufactured. The total receipts from the cheese were $11,689.83, and the average price of cheese for the season was 10 and one-fifth cents per pound. During the year 1883 the Woodland cheese factory received 1,578,063 pounds of milk, from which was manufactured 159,189 lbs. of cheese, thereby taking 9.91 lbs. of milk to one pound of cheese. From the sale of cheese the sum of $16,676.57 has been realized, the average price being 10 and 40-100th cents per lb. The standard of 8,000 lbs. of milk has made 802 and 58-100th lbs. of cheese, and returned $23.13 per standard to the stockholders. Herald.

BELLMONT.

MARBLE BEDS.—A marble quarry is said to exist near Round Lake, in the township of Belmont, about ten or twelve miles north of Campbellford. The Stone is said to be among the finest produced, and there is an inexhaustible quantity lying in readiness for the enterprising speculator. Some devices have been done, but the cost of transportation so far distant from a line of railway, made the venture too expensive to realize a respectable profit, and the work was abandoned. The opening of the O. & Q. Railway may bring the hidden wealth of this mine of stone more prominently into view, and it may yet become a place of busy operations. The railway will pass within a short distance of the quarry, and the marble could be drawn to a station by teams at a cost which will leave a good round margin of profit from its sale. Herald.

PORT HOPE.

SCHEME ABANDONED.—The scheme for converting the Drill Shed into a skating rink has been abandoned. It was intended to flood the floor with a good depth of water and form a rink, with a view to devoting the proceeds to band fund. The Deputy Adjutant-General, we understand will not consent to the scheme, as it would injure the arms stored in the building. Times.

Mysterious Death Explained.

DETROIT, Dec. 18.—A thirteen year old son of Barney Van Cleave, old Osceola county, a farmer, whose death was a mystery, has confessed that he accidentally shot his father while hunting for a hawk but refrained from telling through fear, and invented a story to detain himself. He is in jail awaiting trial.

Changes in Baseball.

One of the most important changes made in rules of play by the American Baseball Association at its recent meeting was that relating to pitchers. It is a clause which gives a batsman his base when fairly hit with a pitched ball. A clause, was also adopted instructing umpires to strictly enforce the rule requiring the pitcher to keep his hand below the shoulder when delivering the ball.

A New Railroad Movement.

DETROIT, Dec. 19.—A movement is talked of here among prominent railroad men looking to the extension of the Canadian Pacific to a connection with the Wabash at Detroit. It is understood that prominent officials of the former company have recently been in conference with Wabash executives in New York, and that the project is being pressed by both companies vigorously.

Assignment of Mr. G. W. Craig.

Mr. Geo. W. Craig, brother of the absent president of the Exchange Bank, has assigned to a member of the wholesale shirt manufacturing firm of Messrs. Skelton Bros. & Co., who set him up some years ago in opposition, it is said, to a friend of theirs in the same trade in shirts and fancy goods, where the young man had been serving as salesman previously. He has repaid the kindness of the firm by owing it now $14,000.

A Mysterious Death.

MARKHAM, Dec. 18.—There is considerable excitement here over the peculiar circumstances attending the death of an aged farm labourer named Geo. Robbins, who lived on the seventh concession of Markham. He was found dead last night in his cottage with a bullet in his brain. The corpse of the second attempt to show that the pistol had been fired downward from the top of the skull. His wife, son and daughter, however, say he came home drunk and quarrelsome, and after a few words uttered, an attempt is to be held to-morrow, when evidence concerning the affair will be taken.

The Canadian Pacific Railway.

OTTAWA, Dec. 19.—In conversation with Mr. Van Horne, General Manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, a Mail correspondent learned that the work of construction around the northern shore of Lake Superior is progressing rapidly, that large parties of men are at work, and that the telegraph line will be established by spring from Sudbury Junction to Port Arthur, thus completing the connection. He states that the work around Lake Superior is not so difficult as it was at one time thought to be. A considerable portion of land, very good in quality, has been found a few miles back from the shore.

Preparing for a Retreat.

The Berlin News says:—Mr. A. W. Rom, the new Provincial Treasurer, can't have much faith in the permanency of the Mowat Government. He has long been County Treasurer for Huron, and when the County Council met last week they fully expected his resignation, now that he was a member of the Government. But he didn't see things in that light, thinking, no doubt, that a bird in the hand was worth two in the bush. He refused to resign and the County Council couldn't do anything but give him the grand bounce. They dismissed him in spite of his determination to hang on, and appointed Dr. Holmes in his stead.

The Rule of Life in a Watchdog.

The father of the late Benjamin Fitch, the millionaire philanthropist of New York city, who died on Wednesday, was a Quaker. Early in life the father wrote a letter to his son, these extracts from which deserve preservation as a specimen of a concise and complete guide to success in life:

First, keep yourself out of harm's way, be honest, and at all times speak the truth, be faithful and trustworthy, letting your money and your name be paid. Don't be guilty, my dear son, of any mean or ungentlemanlike thing or action.

But in all things and in all places, and in whatever situation your lot is cast, be the man of honour, yes, the honest gentleman. Farewell. —Uncle Oliver.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN:—

My office as Councillor during the present year has been severely criticised, but I can only say that every act of mine in the Council was prompted by my conviction of what was just and right to the ratepayers. I entered the Council without personal interest of any kind to serve, determined to advance the interests of the ratepayers to the best of my ability, and as far as my single efforts could do so, to conduct the business of the Town on the same sound business principles that every one of you applies to the conduct of your own private affairs.

This course, opposed as it was to the loose and extravagant manner in which the majority in the Council have been accustomed to carry on your business, naturally called down upon me a storm of abuse, which, however, the courage of my convictions has enabled me to bear without difficulty.

Many important matters have been before the present Council, and, as my opponent, Councillor Peterson, holds views on them different from my own, I shall here state a few of them, hoping to have the opportunity of discussing the merits of our opposite opinions before you with him.

FIRE PROTECTION.

I am opposed to paying by a general tax for hydrants taken by the Town for fire protection, believing it to be unjust to ask ratepayers living outside of the fire limits to pay for the protection of the centre of the town.

Mr. Peterson's views on this subject are directly opposed to mine.

HOUSE OF REFUGE.

As chairman of the Charity Committee this year, I have had excellent opportunities of judging of the necessity for such an institution, and am forced to conclude that at the present time it is not required. No doubt some few cases could be found in our midst which it would be extremely convenient to send to such an institution, if we had it, but the immense cost of building and maintaining a Refuge would be out of all proportion to the benefit to be derived from it. In the future this may not be so. You may therefore rest assured that, if I have the honor to be elected by you to the Mayoralty, I will use my influence to prevent this burden being added to your already heavy taxes.

Mr. Peterson's views on this subject also are, I believe, opposed to mine.

CIVIL SALARY.

I am not in favor of attaching a salary to the office of either Mayor or Councillor, believing that the opportunity which you thus afford them of proving themselves faithful servants, and worthy of your confidence, ought to be a sufficient remuneration for their time and trouble. I understand Mr. Peterson's views on this point also are at variance with mine.

CLERK AND TREASURER.

I am opposed to allowing one person to hold the two offices of Clerk and Treasurer. On this point also Mr. Peterson differs from me.

BANK OF TORONTO BUILDINGS.

As the paying for these buildings this year has caused a considerable increase in the amount of taxation, and a good deal of dissatisfaction has been expressed in consequence, a few words from me on this subject will not be out of place. Early in the year there was a general assembly in the Council as to the desirability of purchasing these buildings on the terms offered by Mr. Stevenson, namely:—$4,500, payable in instalments bearing interest at 5 per cent, running over either 10 or 20 years, but when this matter came up in discussing the estimates, to my surprise, the whole amount (less about $400 received from the Town Trust Commissioners) was asked for this year. I was opposed to this, but was voted down, Councillor Macdonald alone supporting me. Mr. Peterson, whose duty it was, as Chairman of the Finance Committee, to compile the estimates, can perhaps give some satisfactory explanation to the ratepayers for putting this heavy tax upon them. The title to these buildings has not yet, I believe, been perfected. Is it possible that the purchase may yet fall through?

There are many other points on which I might touch, but as this address is already too long, I shall only say that I am opposed to all jobbing and rings, and to the transacting of the town's affairs in secret conclaves and not in either open Council or Committee.

I am in favor of progress and municipal reform, and where any saving can be effected in the management of our municipal affairs, I am also strongly in favor of such saving.

If elected, I shall use my best efforts to obtain a dollar's worth of your money for every dollar expended.

I am now in your hands, and it is for you to say by your votes whether my conduct during the year and my position on the foregoing important matters is worthy of your support and confidence.

I remain,

Your obedient servant,

O. W. SAWERS.

THANKS.

I desire to return my thanks to my many friends for their liberal patronage during the year now drawing to its close, and in doing so, I beg to say that all who may favour me with their custom, shall have as heretofore, my best attention.

I recognize the fact that the time to give bargains is when there is a demand for goods. The demand is now here as the Christmas holidays are now drawing nigh, and we shall soon be entering upon the New Year.

I have therefore decided to reduce my stock, and shall offer during this month

All Dress Goods,
Mantles,
Mantle Cloths, and Millinery,

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES, and all other goods in proportion.

Write me to give me a call, and to call early in the week.

Wishing all the compliments of the Season.

LOCAL NEWS

Fire Alarm.

The fire alarm was sounded at about eight o'clock on Friday evening. A burning chimney was the cause.

The Temperature.

The temperature last night was lower than it has yet been this winter. The mercury in the Rev. V. Clement's self-registering thermometer stood at 12° below zero.

Look out for It.

See our illuminated Xmas Tree on Saturday night and Christmas Eve. And bring the little ones out to have a look at it. CARTON BROS.

Band of Hope.

An entertainment will be held on Thursday evening next, in the school room of St. Luke's Church by the members of the Band of Hope. The entertainment will be provided for by the members themselves.

Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, commencing from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh to strong winds from north-west to north-east; fair, decidedly cold weather.

Midland Railway of Canada.

The traffic of the above railway for the week ending Dec. 14, 1893, was as follows:—Passengers and mail, $6,597.12; freight, $11,564.39; total, $18,161.51, as compared with $14,439.98 for the corresponding week of 1892, being an increase of $3,721.53, and the aggregate traffic to date is $1,082,537.79, being an increase of $54,137.00 over 1892.

Entrance Examination.

The examination of candidates for entrance to the Collegiate Institute, took place on Thursday and Friday in the Institute building. Mr. J. A. Stratton, I. P. S., and Mr. W. O'Connor, Principal of the Institute, were the examiners. Thirty-seven candidates were examined, thirty-three being females and thirty-four males. The papers will be examined by the department at Toronto, and the result will then be made known.

A Few Questions Easily Answered.

Why is our store so crowded? Why is our trade this December so far, 60 per cent ahead of last year? Because we are selling so cheap, and our selection of fancy goods is so extensive and appropriate. Our goods were bought so low that we can sell them at wholesale prices, our paper-mache goods were bought at 25 per cent under the wholesale price, which advantage we are giving to the public. No wonder we are doing the trade. A. L. DAVIS & Co.

Christmas Festival.

The eighth festival of the Sunday School of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, was held on Thursday evening. Tea was served to the children in the Town Hall at about 5 o'clock, after which an entertaining magic lantern exhibition was given in the school room, followed by some clever tricks of legermain, performed by Mr. R. Maeda, which greatly amused the children. During the time this entertainment was going on, the parents and friends of the children were enjoying tea in the hall. After all had been served with refreshments, the programme proper was commenced. Songs, readings and carols made up the entertainment of the evening, and a good entertainment it was. The Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, incumbent, delivered a brief address descriptive of the progress of the school and announced the names of the prize winners. Forty prizes were distributed, seventeen being first prizes nine second and fourteen third. The prizes were books, all carefully selected and above the average. The awarding of the prizes was based on regular attendance and on diligence and intelligent study of the lessons. The children heartily enjoyed themselves at this festival, and the hall was crowded during the entire evening. The bounteous repast was provided by the friends of the school. The net proceeds must have been a tidy sum.

CHRISTMAS BEST.

New Mr. Jas. Howden Has Supplied for the Holiday Season:

"Christmas comes but once a year, and when it comes it brings good cheer" to James Howden's customers. The like of his stock of beef for this Christmas has never been seen in Peterborough before, and even Montreal and Toronto cannot surpass it. He has spent the greater part of the summer in preparing for this and his customers can rely on getting prime beef. Among the fine animals purchased were the following:—

Two thoroughbred Devons from the well-known stock farm of Dr. Kinsaid. One fine Durham heifer, fed specially for this purpose by Mr. J. Redmond, and the best reddest great credit on the feeder. One heifer from Mr. Sison, of Oshawa. There can be no doubt as to the quality of any beef fed by Mr. Sison. Two heifers purchased in the spring from Mr. G. Hovey, of North Monaghan, and fed since especially for the Christmas market. One fine thoroughbred Durham heifer, fed by Mr. Kennedy, of South Monaghan, which is 673 days old, and is indeed very fine beef. Two fine heifers from Mr. Johnston, of North Smith, which were purchased early in the summer, and fed especially for the Christmas market. Two fine heifers by Mr. Howden himself, and with which he has not spared the feed. These heifers took the first and second prizes at the fall show. A fine calf, fed especially for this purpose, by Mr. A. Stewart, of Oshawa. Mr. Howden has also sheep and lambs of the best quality, in abundance, as well as fancy and spiced meat of all kinds. His customers may depend upon being satisfied at his shop.

POLICE COURT.

PROFANE LANGUAGE.

SATURDAY, Dec. 22.—S. S. Way was charged by P. C. Adams with having made use of profane and blasphemous language in a public place. He pleaded not guilty. The evidence of P. C. Adams, and of two witnesses called for the defence, was taken. He was found guilty and fined $2.

The Schools.

The Christmas holidays begin in the Public and High Schools to-day.

Personal.

A number of young men from Peterborough, who have been attending college at Kingston, have returned home to spend the holidays.

Rich Fruit Cakes.

Raisin Cakes, Sponge Cakes, Lady Cakes, Chocolate Cakes, Oatmeal Cakes and other varieties too numerous to mention, with and without icing. CARTON BROS.

McConnell Bros.

Have removed to the store formerly occupied by the Liquor Tea Co., in the Opera House block and opposite the Calase House, where, with increased facilities for turning out first class work, they are prepared to meet their customers.

A Novel Social.

A "lunch basket social" was held on Friday evening, under the auspices of Carwell Lodge, I. O. G. T. Each lady brought a small basket with lunch for two, and in her basket placed her card. These baskets were then sold to the highest bidder, and the gentlemen who purchased a basket ate the lunch with the lady whose card he found in it. The bidding was lively, and some of the baskets brought a good figure. The entertainment, which consisted of readings, songs and a dialogue, was a very pleasant one, and the social was very successful in every way.

The Market.

There was a very large attendance on the market this morning, this being the last market day before Christmas. The trading was slightly improved by the fall of snow, and, although the weather was severely cold, a large number came in from the country around produce. Prices generally showed very little change. Turkeys sold at from 70 cents to $1.50; geese at from 60 to 80 cents; butter 25 cents a pound and eggs 25 cents a dozen. Judging from the number of persons in town and the appearance of the streets, the merchants must have done a good stroke of business to-day.

Turnbull has been literally over-crowding his counters with fresh goods, believing that there always will be a steady demand for reliable goods at reasonable prices. Farmers waiting for the first snow to go and buy a big gun, will be convinced of the good value they can get, if they allow the goods to speak for themselves.

Christmas Offer.

We do not advertise to sell our goods at wholesale prices, for no one is foolish enough to believe such nonsense, but we do offer to sell them at a very close margin, and our success during the past two weeks is due to our low prices and quality of goods. We now make the following offer: We will allow 10 per cent off all cash purchases until after Christmas. Take advantage of this liberal offer and buy your Christmas cards and presents from us, and you will never regret it. Our stock is the largest and best in town. All goods marked in plain figures. J. S. LAMBERT & Co., Bookbinders and Stationers.

An Important Correction.

OTTAWA, Dec. 20.—The statements made in the Calgary Herald that the Castle mountain, where some of the richest discoveries have been made, has been proclaimed a mining reserve is incorrect. The region has not been withdrawn from the public who may desire to prospect for mining locations. It is also incorrect that the region has been sold to an English syndicate or that the Government has stopped in and taken advantage of the hard labor of the prospectors. Miners and prospectors will find the Department of the Interior fully alive to their claims.

A Great Sale

of dry goods and clothing is now going on at W. Fairweather & Co's. They are clearing out their large and valuable stock at great reductions. Every buyer in town and country should not fail to visit this grand sale. The bargains offered every day are surprising. Dress goods, silks and velvets, millinery and mantles, clothing, bed and table linens, blankets, tickings, sheeting and carpets are selling at prices astonishingly cheap. W. Fairweather & Co. keeps the largest assortment in the trade and cannot be underbid.

It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Taylor & Macdonald.

Thousands Say So.

Mr. T. W. Atkins, Girard, Kan., writes:—"I never hesitate to recommend your Electric Bitters to my customers, they give entire satisfaction and are rapid sellers." Electric Bitters are the purest and best medicine known and will positively cure kidney and liver complaints. Purify the blood and regulate the bowels. No family can afford to be without them. They will save hundreds of dollars in doctors' bills every year. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Taylor and Macdonald.

Mrs. ELIZABETH MASON—Dr. M. Sonville & Co., Gentlemen.—Yours of last week to hand, and reply to your inquiry I have much pleasure in stating that from the first time of using the sphygmometer and the medicine I have improved very much. The bronchitis has entirely left me. I sleep well and have a good appetite. I must also add, that coming to you as I did as a last resort, the cure effected has been wonderful. Gratefully yours, E. MASON.

THE MARCH
—OF—
WINTER DRESS GOODS.

Goods well bought are said to be half sold. The march began before ours were fairly on stock, and the march has been kept up since.

We had the best of assortments to begin with, gathered literally both from abroad and at home. The best fabrics picked with the eye of an expert—just such goods as sell.

Never have we had a season of greater activity. Never did our prices seem more inviting. Never was there better proof of it either, for with very few exceptions our prices remain unchanged. Yet customers assure us that they are lower than where stocks have been previously reduced.

Remember our goods are the freshest from the most famous weavers. Prices, you know to be one of our strong points always.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1883.

CHRISTMAS GREETING.

ONCE more the great Christian festival—the chief holiday of the civilized world—is at hand. Before we again address our readers Christmas Day will have come and gone. We cannot let the occasion pass without offering our greetings and good wishes to those between whom and us there is, if not, as in so many instances, personal friendship, at least the sympathy of ideas, and the tie of mental intercourse. To those who have for long years been readers of the REVIEW we may look with confidence for friendly appreciation, generous encouragement, and lenient consideration—even their criticisms, as it is well known that every reader of a newspaper thinks that he could afford valuable hints to the editors as to what should be said and left unsaid, would be genial and free from bitterness. To our numerous readers and friends of more recent date we cannot appeal on the ground of old memories, but we hope to gain their confidence, good will, and approbation. They will find, as our older friends are aware, that we aim at interesting, as well as informing, them, and that we exert ourselves to the utmost of our ability to further their best interests.

But Christmas is not only the epoch of friendly greetings, it is also the season of reconciliations, of the termination of estrangements, and the healing of differences. It may be that during the past year we have sometimes held opinions, and have favored a policy not in accord in certain instances with those of friends whose acquaintance we value; but we can only say that they have been honest differences of opinion, which need not interfere with mutual friendship and respect. It may be, even, that in the heat of argument we have hurt the feelings of some, but if so we may say that there has been no willful intention to wound, and can only regret it if we have done so unintentionally. On the other hand, we are ready to submit without impatience and captiousness to honest difference of opinion and to fair criticism.

We hope that to the great majority of our readers this may be a season of innocent enjoyment, that it may witness happy household festivities, joyful reunions of friends and relations, the renewal of old friendships and the reconciliation of unhappy differences—that it may be a time of peace and good-will. To all our friends and readers we wish especially a HAPPY CHRISTMAS.

AT LAST.

This Province in particular and the Dominion in general are to be congratulated that after years of unnecessary delay, and despite the obstinacy and perverseness of Mr. Mowat, the Boundary question is at last in a fair way of being settled in a legitimate, a legal, a peaceable and a business like manner by a reference to the chief questions in dispute to the highest court in the realm.

After resisting for years all overtures from Sir John Macdonald looking to just such a reference as that now agreed upon by the Attorney General of Ontario and Manitoba, Mr. Mowat has at last been "compelled" by Sir John Macdonald's extension of the limits of Manitoba eastward to the western limit of Ontario—wherever that may be—to succumb to Mr. Miller's declaration, that "this boundary question MUST BE SETTLED."

The agreement which has been entered into, is of considerable length, but we shall lay before our readers at least a full abstract of it at the earliest opportunity. In the mean time we may however, say that it is one which appears to be calculated to promote the peace and prosperity of the disputed territory in the mean time and to secure a final and satisfactory decision as to the legal boundaries of this Province at the earliest possible moment.

It provides for the Government of the territory in the meantime practically in the same manner as was suggested by Sir John Macdonald in his interview with Mr. Mowat in November 1881, while the evidence upon which the Privy Council is to be asked to decide the questions to be submitted to it is the same as that suggested in the resolution passed by the House of Commons in April 1882.

In fact the only question to be now submitted to the Privy Council, which can by any torturing of language be made to appear as not covered by the preceding suggestions of either the Dominion authorities or the Ontario opposition is the one as to "whether the award is or is not under all the circumstances binding"—a claim which has never been seriously advanced by Mr. Mowat or his friends until the present season, and which is evidently only put into this agreement as a piece of bombast for the purpose of raising a cloud of dust, through which they may escape from the unenviable position in which they now stand with regard to this whole matter, and to divert attention from the fact that the present agreement contains no reference to, much less provision for the management of the lands, timber and minerals in the disputed territory—and the sole management of which by this Province Mr. Mowat caused the Ontario Legislature in March 1883 to declare, must be a condition precedent to any reference to the Privy Council.

Instead therefore of having the joint control of the lands, &c., in the meantime as suggested by the Dominion authorities, this Province now goes to the Privy Council without any reference thereto at all and instead of "its population" being "subject in all respects to the laws of this Province" it is to be under the joint control of the two Provinces.

Such is the result of Mr. Mowat's great Boundary policy, and a humiliating one it must be acknowledged it is for him and his friends, and for this Province so far as it is responsible therefore. But this aspect of the question is too large to deal with at the moment. We shall, however, return to it, as we have now reached a stand-point from whence Mr. Mowat's own batteries can be turned upon himself, to his own confusion and for the vindication of those whom he and his friends have been traducing as the enemies of Ontario.

HOW TO SPEND CHRISTMAS.

PRIZE ESSAY BY FARMER'S DAUGHTER.

This subject is one which, it is evident, can be discussed only on general principles. To lay down a programme for even one family of whose circumstances, tastes and general "environment" we are ignorant, would be to court an ignominious failure. In what way, then, shall we keep Christmas? To answer, we must remember what Christmas is. It is the day celebrated by general consent of Christendom as the birth of One who came "not to be ministered unto, but to minister," and who, in pursuance of His life-work, "went about doing good." If then, our observance of it is to be appropriate, it must be in the spirit of him whose coming it commemorates.

When the first Christmas morning dawned upon the world, the song of its angel heralds was "Glory to God in the highest; on earth peace, good-will to men." Giving glory to God must ever be an appropriate part of a Christmas celebration, and if within reach of church services, it is fitting for us to join in them. If we do so sincerely, we will be better prepared to sing the other strains of the angel's song—peace and good will.

It should be our endeavor, on Christmas morning, to radiate these over as wide a circle as possible, beginning with those nearest to us; and to do so our plans for the day must be laid before the previous midnight. If the members of a family are scattered, let them seek, as far as possible, a common meeting place. It will do them good to gather again, and clasp each other's hands as in the old days. If the son, in his young manhood, has gone into the world to earn for himself, let him come back to the old hearthstone not forgetting to bring some token (it may be little or large) of his regard for those at home if there are children, see that the stockings are not empty when the feet are ready for them. And it were well not to stop with the stockings, but that all the members of the household should find by their plates at breakfast, or receive in any way that may be preferred, some gift, however small, expressive of thoughtful kindness and good will. Make the day one of rejoicing, and carry that out in whatever way is most to the family taste, remembering whose birthday is being honored. It is sometimes said that gifts cannot be afforded. The number of families, however, of whom this could be said truthfully, are very small. It is not the amount of money paid for the gifts, but the love of which they are the expression, which gives them their value, and if nothing better can be done, a rag doll or a ball made from an old stocking wound over a cork and neatly covered, may give as much happiness as though a considerable sum had been spent for gay toys. In the case of children, too, there is always their clothing as a resource. Whatever its quality, new clothing they must have at times. Plan to give something of that kind, then, and a new frock, or (oh, joy!) but once had!) the first pair of long boots, will be hailed with as less delight than the more costly but less useful gifts of wealthy parents. Whether the money you can afford to spend be little or much, let the aim be to make all happy. Even in the matter of money, it will be found that in this as in other things, "Where there is a will there is a way." Economies for it in some other direction, pinch if need be, but make the memories your children carry with them into the world alike of their Christmas pleasure, and of their home in general, be happy ones. They will thank you more in after years for plenty of love, than for many broad acres or thousands of dollars. It is quite possible, however, to labor and spend for Christmas enjoyment, and yet to do all in a spirit of the purest selfishness; that we and ours may have the good things of life, material and other wise, while no thought is taken for the poor, the lonely or the stranger. While we plan the pudding and the roast or the turkey, can we remember some that is likely to be piddling, and to which a little of our stundance, sent with care, not to hurt sensitive feelings, would bring brighter hearts and brighter faces for days to come? Are there none to whom empty shelves or other cages would make their own home sad, who might be invited to ours? Are there none whose life is passed mostly in the shadow to whom we might bring a little sunshine? If so let us see that the one we might like to gladden for our remembrance, and we will find that our own burdens will be lighter and our own cup more full because we have thought of our neighbors. Better still, it is said that the One who was born on Christmas remembers such deeds, and that He will one day say to those who do them: "Inasmuch as ye did it unto the least of these, ye did it unto me."

BURGESS entered the house of S. P. Crossingham, Maple Rapids, Mich., charged with him, sold $2,500, and fired the house and contents, costing $28,000. The owner escaped by a miracle.

THE MYSTIC'S CHRISTMAS.

BY JOHN C. WHITFIELD.

"All hail!" the bells of Christmas ring,
"All hail!" the monks at Christmas sing;
The merry monks who kept their cheer,
The gladdest day of all their year.

But still apart, unmoved thereat,
A pious elder brother sat
Silent, in his accustomed place,
With God's sweet peace upon his face.

"Why sit'st thou thus?" his brethren cried,
"It is the blessed Christmas-tide;
The Christmas lights are all aglow,
The sacred Hallel and blow."

"Above our heads the joy bells ring,
Without the happy children's ring,
And all God's creatures tell the story
On which the holy Christ was born."

"Rejoice with us; no more rebuke
Our gladness with that quiet look,"
The grey monk answered, "Keep, I pray, Even as ye like, the Lord's birthday."

"Let heathen Yule logs flicker red,
Where thronged riotous feasts are held;
With mystery play and masque and mime
And wait-song speed the holy time!"

"The blindest faith may haply save;
The Lord accepts the things we have;
And reverence, however's strays,
May find at last the shining ways."

"They needs must grope who cannot see,
The blade before the ear must lie;
As ye are feeling I have felt,
And where ye dwell I too have dwelt."

"But, now, beyond the things of sense,
Beyond occasions and events,
I know, through God's exceeding grace, Release from form and time and place."

"Keep while you need it, brother mine,
With honest soul your Christmas 'gin,
But judge not him who every morn Feels in his heart the Lord Christ born!"

Our Canadian Industry

is prosperous. The great difficulty to be contended with is the low grade of goods required. In nothing is this more apparent than in the comparatively small article of sewing silks. The great demand in Canada seems to be for a cheap quality, buyers settling that a cheap thread must necessarily be a fine and consequently a weak one. Messrs. Belding, Fort & Co. make three grades of silk, of these different qualities the poorest one has by far the largest sale, at the same time they constantly hear of complaints of poor sewing silk. If ladies will take the trouble to ask for Belding, Fort & Co. own brand, and see that their name is on the end of each spool, they will be sure of getting the best made.

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure.
The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching; very distressing, particularly at night, as when the pin-worms were crawling above the parts affected. If allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT" is a pleasant, sure cure. Also for tetter, itch, salt rheum, scald head, erysipelas, barbers' itch, blotches, all scaly, crusty skin diseases. Sent by mail for 50 cents; a box, $1.25 (in stamps). Address: DR. SWAYNE & SON Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by Druggists.

Wide Awake Druggists.
Messrs. Taylor & Macdonald are always alive to their business, and spare no pains to secure the best of every article in their line. They have secured the agency for the celebrated Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption. The only certain cure for consumption, cough, hoarseness, asthma, hay fever, bronchitis, or any affection of the throat and lungs. Sold on a positive guarantee. Trial bottles free. Regular size $1.00.—3

A Cure for Cuts, Sores, &c.
The finest healing ointment under the sun is McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Ointment. There is no sore that will not succumb to its wonderful healing properties. It is an invaluable remedy for scalds, cuts, etc. Price 25 cents at John McKee's Drug Store.

"Hub" Cough Cure, 25 Cents.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1883.

CRYING DOWN OUR COUNTRY.

We have lately talked with a good many settlers in Manitoba and the Northwest, who have come either to visit their friends in this neighbourhood or to complete business arrangements consequent on their change of residence. One and all unite in saying that though there are some complaints and some grumbling there have heard much more of them in Ontario than in Manitoba. Affairs, they represent, are improving after the reaction from the speculative boom, and steady industrious settlers are well satisfied with their prospect. It is the politician, the disappointed speculator, the chronic grumbler who supply materials which the Reform papers of Ontario use in their dirty work of fomenting discord and crying down our country, being quoted abroad wherever these columns can do most harm.

That there should be some privations in inevitable in the work of settling a country—that there should be room for improvement in some respects is a thing that may be predicated of all human affairs—but that there is any good foundation for the exaggerated statements of hardships and discontent can be truthfully denied. The very list of grievances, got up by political caravans, sufficiently prove this, for we read of land regulations contrasted with the far more onerous rules in Dakota, the tariff compared with the far heavier rates in the United States, the desire for a railway to Hudson Bay which nobody is prevented from building is considered advisable, of low prices for frozen wheat resulting generally from too late sowing, and of want of competition among buyers, an evil which must shortly cure itself, and of light freight rates of a brand new rail, way—all advanced by the political wire pullers as being to the discredit of Conservative administrations.

For their own interest the genuine settlers should not be deluded by these trinkets, for such a medley of heterogeneous grumbling prevents due force being allowed to complaints as to matters that could probably be improved if attention was concentrated on them, and none can gain by false representations belittling the country and checking settlement.

THE BOUNDARY QUESTION.

Agreement Between the Administrations of Ontario and Manitoba Reformers to the Privy Council.

The following are the introduction and more important clauses, in full, of the agreement between Attorney-General Mowat and Miller as to the disputed territory—other clauses being abridged:—

"In order to have the question of the title to the disputed territory set at rest at the earliest possible day as between the two provinces, so far as the same is possible by the action of the said provinces, and in order to avoid unnecessary conflicts or collisions in the meantime between the courts or officers of the two Governments, and to make the best practicable arrangement on which the two Governments can now unite as to matters within provincial jurisdiction for the administration of justice and the preservation of peace and order, the said Governments of Ontario and Manitoba agree as follows:—

1. Neither government abandons any claim heretofore set up.
2. Neither government is to be required to withdraw existing courts from the territory in which they have exercised jurisdiction.
3. The terms are to be carried into effect by legislation in each of the provinces next session, and in the meantime to be binding.
4. In the territory south and east of the Height of Land which divides the waters which flow into the great lakes from those which flow into the Hudson Bay, the laws of Ontario only shall be in force; and its courts, officers, government, and legislature shall have the jurisdiction therein pending the dispute which they have heretofore assumed and exercised, and which they would respectively possess in the said last mentioned territory if the same were an undisputed part of the Province of Ontario."

"5. All proceedings, suits, and actions in respect to past assaults on, or arrests or imprisonments of, the officers or the Honours of either government, or in any manner growing out of such assaults, arrests or imprisonments, and all other suits and actions in respect to past acts where the liability depends on whether the locality in which the same took place is in Ontario or Manitoba, are hereby suspended until the decision of the Privy Council."

"6. Declares that clauses to refer to portion of territory north and west of Height of Land."
7. Provides for appointment of a Commissioner of Police each by Ontario and Manitoba for Rat Portage and district along the railway, to be ex-officio police magistrates, and to appoint and control constables."

"13-10. Make regulations as to liquor and billiard houses, confirming those existing for current term; the Police Commissioners granting future licenses, appointing an inspector, and making regulations in case the laws of the two Provinces conflict; fee and fines at Rat Portage, after deducting expenses, to be given to the municipal board, and for the rest of the territory north and west of the Height of Land, to be deposited to joint credit of the two Provinces; the Commissioners to account to both governments."

21-23. Provide for the extension of the rival municipal councils of Rat Portage, and the election of a municipal board of five members.
24-25. Provide that the two Provinces shall have concurrent jurisdiction as to suits and actions, &c., but magistrates hereafter appointed north and west of the Height of Land must be commissioned by both governments."

30. States that the "joint case" (which we have already given), is agreed to by both Governments, Mr. Mowat being counsel for Ontario and Mr. Christopher Robinson for Manitoba.

31. The case to be argued before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in June or July 1884 if possible.

32. "For the purpose of considering the question of the true boundary, the following evidence is to be submitted to the Privy Council, quantum valent:—

(1) "The book of arbitration documents, the cases submitted to the arbitrators on behalf of the Dominion of Canada and the Province of Ontario respectively, and all maps referred to in the said book of said cases."
(2) "The Acts of the Legislature of Ontario on the subject of the boundaries."

(3) "All other documents which were produced before the Select Committee of the House of Commons, or which have come into the possession of either Government."
(4) "The notes of Chief Justice Sewell on the trial of the De Rhinard case, on the authenticity being established to the satisfaction of the judges or judge hereinafter referred to, or of the Attorney-General of Ontario."

(5) "In case of any question arising with respect to any documentary evidence as to whether it should be included in the joint case the question is to be referred at the instance of either party to the chief judges of the Appeal Court at Toronto, viz., the Hon. Messrs. Spence, Hagarty, Wilson, and Boyd, or a majority of them, or the Attorney-General of the two Provinces, or their agents in this behalf are to have power to jointly refer any such questions to one or two of the said chief judges, or to the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada. The decision in any such case if certified to by the judges or judge before the 15th of April next shall be final as regards the submission of such evidence to the Privy Council quantum valent, and the evidence with the certificate of the judge or judges shall be forthwith printed. No evidence not certified before the 15th of April next shall be submitted."

(6) "The papers set forth in Ont. Sec. Pap., 1882, numbered 69, and the subsequent correspondence between the Province of Ontario and the Dominion, in Ont. Sec. Pap., 1883, and numbered 28, and any other correspondence between the said two Governments, which either party may desire, may also be submitted, quantum valent."

The next six sections of this clause provide for the printing of the documents; the 13th says they are "to be submitted quantum valent and not otherwise;" and the 14th maintains the right of any court to consider such particulars to ascertain its own jurisdiction in the disputed territory."

33. The non-printing of any of these documents not to be cause for a postponement.
34. Papers may be served to the solicitors of the Province of Manitoba being Messrs. Blashford, Bonney, and Dodgson, 4 Westminster Buildings, London, E.C., and of the Province of Ontario being Messrs. Freshfield, and Williams, 5 Bank Buildings, London, E.C.
35. The decision of the Privy Council shall be carried into effect by such (if any) future legislation as may be necessary, or as may be recommended by the said Judicial Committee."

36. If in any suit or proceeding within provincial jurisdiction the boundary between Ontario and Manitoba do in the meantime come in question, the court or other judicial authority before which the question arises is, in dealing therewith, to take judicial notice of all the documents and facts which it is agreed to submit to the Privy Council on the next question, and with out the said documents and facts being put in evidence before such court and other judicial authority, is to have power to draw such inferences from the said documents and facts as may be necessary."

37. "To give legal effect to the present agreement the Government of each Province will introduce at the next session of the Legislature thereof, and procure to be passed, a bill in the terms of the bill in that behalf hereto annexed."

38. "The costs of the reference shall be in the discretion of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, which is to have power to award or to withhold costs."

39. "The said agreement is understood to be entered into on the part of the Ontario Government, without prejudice to any question which there has been, or may be, between the Dominion and Ontario Governments in relation to the territory in dispute between them, or in relation to any matters which have been the subject of negotiation or correspondence between the Dominion and Ontario Governments, and the rights or claims of the Province of Ontario as to the same are hereby expressly reserved."

Harrowsmith Burglary.
BELLVILLE, Dec. 20.—A delegation from Harrowsmith, composed of Messrs. Spooner, David Dunsen, T. B. Cook, and Robert Thompson, all of whom are victims of the depredations of George Foster, the burglar arrested here, arrived this morning. The first named gentleman owns the house, Mr. Dunsen the barn, Mr. Cook the well, and Mr. Thompson the place of the dry goods. The parties called at the police station, and after identifying their property were permitted to see the prisoner, Mr. Cook at once recognized him as one who had committed a burglary in Harrowsmith a few years ago, and was sentenced to serve fifteen months for the offence. His right name is said to be John Jackson, who was sent to the penitentiary from Toronto in 1877, at which he was a member of the Spring Hill gang. He is also wanted in Halton for horse stealing. Mr. Thompson missed some other property which was taken from his store on the night it was burglarized, but it was not found among the goods Foster brought here. Mr. Spooner's harness cannot be found either, nor will the prisoner tell where he disposed of it. The chestnut horse which Foster brought here were identified by its owner yesterday and taken away. The Police Magistrate this afternoon decided to send the prisoner to Kingston for trial.

A Priglitful Accident Harrowsmith Averted.
LONDON, Dec. 21.—Yesterday morning the express train leaving London at 2.35 might have come to grief badly near Gloucester had it not been for the care and quickness of the night watchman, James Woodhead. As the time for the passing of the train approached he looked out to see if the signal was properly set, and in doing so he thought he observed something wrong about it. Running up to the point, he found that some miscreant had by using a cross-bar displaced the switch so that the train came on to it at its usual speed a frightful accident must have ensued. As it was, Woodhead had just time to rectify the displacement when the train came in sight.

BURGOLARS entered the house of S. F. Oresinger, Maple Rapids, Mich., chloroformed him, stole $4,500, and fired the house and contents worth $25,000. The owner escaped by a miracle.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

A RAILWAY COACH BURNED.

At one o'clock on Saturday morning the 22nd of Dec. the bell of St. John's Church, Lakefield, sounded the alarm of fire for the first time in many months. Large numbers of people were soon on the streets. A bright blaze was readily seen in the direction of the old station, and it as quickly became known that a passenger coach, the property of the Midland Railway, was on fire. It seems that the fire caught on the roof from the stove, and enveloped the whole car so quickly that some employees who were sleeping in the car had barely time to escape with their lives, not being able to get all their clothes out. The burning car was with considerable difficulty separated from the balance of the train. The car was totally destroyed, but no further damage was done.

LINDSAY.

FIRE.—We appear to have had and epidemic of fire this week, but fortunately all were of little consequence. On Friday afternoon during the high wind the establishment known as Anthony Claus' residence succumbed to the flames in short order. There was no one in the house at the time and the fire was a mystery. The same evening another fire broke out in a house, it was found to be the stable this time, which had managed to escape earlier in the evening. Of course no one knew any thing about this either. Early Monday morning the shed of Mrs. McIntosh was discovered in flames, but was subdued. Then followed the stable and sheds of Mr. Graham in the east ward. In the afternoon Mr. Brady's sheds were destroyed and considerable difficulty was experienced in saving the house. Finally Mr. J. Filkins' stable was found to have been started but failed to burn. Incendiarism is evident in nearly all the cases, but so far no proof has been brought home to any one. The police are, however, on the lookout for some parties they appear to have some suspicion about. They have also three young lads under arrest on suspicion, but nothing is known definitely concerning them.—Warder.

A Mexican Riot.

CITY MEXICO, Dec. 21.—Trouble broke out to-day among the lower classes, caused by nickle money. Nickle was refused in the market this morning, and quarrels, with firing and cries of "Down with nickle," ensued. A panic spread and all the business houses were closed. The mob passed through the streets breaking lamps and windows. The trouble fired blank cartridges at the mob, and a force of cavalry charged through the crowd several times. Order was finally restored without bloodshed. The troops are still patrolling the streets.

HASTINGS.

ANNUAL CONCERT.—The Star says that the St. George's Church Sunday School held their annual concert and Christmas Tree in the Town Hall on Friday evening. There was a very good audience and a choice programme of instrumental music, songs, glee and recitations.

PRESENTATION.—On the evening of Friday, 21st inst., a pleasant surprise was given to Mr. and Mrs. Thomson at the Masons' Hall, Hastings. The congregation desiring to show in some tangible form their appreciation for their minister and his better half, appointed Mrs. Moore, Mrs. H. Fowler and Mrs. Peters to present them with the compliment of the season and also a purse of $50 and numerous other presents. Mr. Thomson thanked the congregation on the Sabbath following for their kindness.

CLOSING EXERCISES.—The closing exercises in the Hastings 19th inst. The pupils in general acquitted themselves admirably, their thorough discipline being especially marked. Everything in connection with the examination, and notably the large attendance of parents, evinced the high esteem in which the retiring teacher was held. It might be said that the scholastic year just ended has been most prolific in good results and marked improvement, a fact which I feel bound to testify that Mr. Mahony whilst among us "did not waste his sweetness on the desert air." At the conclusion of the examination an address was presented to the teacher, Mr. Mahony.

OTONABEE.

HONOR ROLL.—The following is the honor roll of S. S. No. 7, Otonabee, of which Mr. E. Stuart Wood is teacher, for the months of November and December:

FOURTH CLASS.—Bella McFarlane 1st, Bertie McIntyre 2nd, Jennie Thompson 3rd, Annie Kent 4th.

THIRD CLASS.—Edna Hunter and Ida Howson 1st, Bertie McIntyre 2nd, Mary Conrie 3rd, Lillie O'Brien 4th.

SECOND CLASS.—Ada and Ida McFarlane 1st, Amy Drummond 2nd, Mary Drummond 3rd, Willie Kent 4th.

FIRST CLASS.—Charles O. Thomson 1st, Evie Drummond 2nd, Maud Kent 3rd, and James Lang 4th.

SEN. PART 2.—Wilbert Mathew 1st, Maggie West 2nd, Herbert Doris 3rd.

JUN. PART 2.—Scott McFarlane 1st, Herman Howson 2nd, Wesley Howson 3rd.

SEN. PART 1.—Robert Macbeth 1st, Laura Kent 2nd, Willie Howson 3rd.

JUN. PART 1.—Lillie Kent 1st, Ubas Hunter 2nd, Eva Hay 3rd.

PROMOTED TO THIRD CLASS.—Ada McFarlane, Ida McFarlane, May McFarlane, Amy Drummond, Mary Drummond.

TO SECOND CLASS.—Wilbert Mather, Herbert Doris, Maggie West.

TO PART 2.—R. Macbeth.

BELLEVIEW.

STRANOR ACCIDENT.—Mr. A. Post had his horse drop through the ice in the bay on Saturday morning, but succeeded in rescuing him.

CONDUCTOR'S VAN BURNED.—A conductor's van caught fire in the G. T. R. yard here on Saturday morning and was almost entirely destroyed.

BICYCLE CLUB.—The Bicycle club are having a ball 300 feet by 60 fitted up in connection with their club-room.

Just as Needed!

The Toronto Telegram says:—"The ground taken by a mechanic who wrote to the press the other day in regard to the project to augment the endowment fund of University College has not a little in its favour. He said that the country was spending a good deal of money on the education of lawyers, clergymen and doctors, but very little in teaching trades to artisans. The effect of this policy is to crowd the ranks of the professions, while leaving the other classes in the community to shift for themselves. Artisans are just as useful to a community as are lawyers and doctors. Why not establish technical schools at which they can be taught trades under competent and practical masters, instead of being left to pick trades up for themselves? Even the farmers have their agricultural colleges."

A SCENE IN COURT.

Mr. Howat's Official Electioneers.—At variance as to Their Proper Duties.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—The East Middlesex license commissioners and inspectors are a motley gang, as was brought out during the recent election trial here. It is well known that they fix licenses and the holders of them to suit the requirements of the party, but it was not expected that Commissioner Jarvis would run counter to the inspector, W. H. Niles, as he did this afternoon in the latter's desire to press charges of selling liquor illegally. The trial of four hotel-keepers of London East was set for Squire Hannah's bureau at two o'clock, but at that hour none of them put in an appearance. Commissioner Jarvis' son, a young barrister appeared for them, and insisted on an adjournment of the case because the men were busy during the holiday season and could not attend. This Niles objected to, and an uneasy war of words ensued. The following is a sample of the colloquy:—

Inspector NILES.—It is only a little trick and a mighty small one at that, and I am bound they shall not beat me in this way.

Commissioner JARVIS.—Yes, and they are busy and have no clerks, and they cannot come.

Inspector NILES.—I want you to shut up. You have no business to interfere.

Commissioner JARVIS.—I have business to interfere, and I am—

The MAJESTY (in chorus).—You have no business to interfere in this court.

Commissioner JARVIS.—The presentation did agree to an adjournment this morning.

Inspector NILES.—I most emphatically deny that I agreed to anything of the kind. I did agree, thinking that the parties were going to plead guilty, to an extension of time for payment.

Solicitor JARVIS.—Give me a chance. Don't do all the talking.

Inspector NILES.—I am not doing all the talking, and I am bound you shall.

Squire Edwards here drifted into a long explanation of the grounds on which an adjournment could be granted.

Inspector NILES.—If the parties come here and swear that they are not guilty, then I will drop the case, but they must come, and I want your works to have them here at your earliest convenience.

Commissioner JARVIS.—You can't swear them. Did not the Ontario Inspector, when he was here, tell us so?

Inspector NILES.—Well, this is a pretty how-do-you-do, that a commissioner will come here and endeavor to influence the case in this way. I can tell Commissioner Jarvis that he is wrong. When about sixty inspectors met at Stratford a Government officer was there, and told us that we could swear the defendants.

The SQUIRE.—Yes, and the County Crown Attorney says we can, and we are going to do it.

Commissioner JARVIS.—Of course I have not told the defendants this, and I am only saying so now.

This sort of talk went on for a considerable time, after which the magistrate enlarged the case till Monday, the defendants to be summoned in the meantime.

Commissioner JARVIS on the court closing stated that Inspector Niles had agreed to an adjournment for two weeks before the court opened.

Inspector NILES.—I did not, and I do not give it.—What you say.

Commissioner JARVIS (returning to the room and putting his hand in his pocket).—I'll bet you $100 to $1 that you did, and I'll prove it.

Inspector NILES.—Produce your witness.

Commissioner JARVIS.—You did, you did. Inspector NILES (very emphatically).—I say again I did not.

Inspector NILES (with blood in his eyes, and snatching his coat).—He had better leave.

Thus ended one of the most disgraceful scenes ever witnessed in a court of justice.

Attempted Assassination of the President. The reported arrest of a crank in New York on Evacuation Day who wanted to treat President Arthur as his ill-fated predecessor was treated, and which was subsequently denied and hushed up, is confirmed on unquestionable authority.

The Rectory of Christ Church. The name of the Rev. Canon Carmichael is prominently mentioned in connection with the rectory of Christ Church Cathedral, rendered vacant by the elevation of its former occupant to the Bishopric of Huron. Rev. Mr. Ramsford, formerly of St. James', is also mentioned as the Canon's successor should the latter accept the position.

Trade Healthy. The monetary Times says:—"There is really no ground for general despondency. Canada as many and various interests now, and some of them are in a wholesome and sound condition. The various branches of our importing trade are healthy, as a whole, payments from the interior continue remarkably good. Bills are well met at the banks. Few renewals are asked, purchases are made prudently; credit is given with reasonable caution. Neither in the wholesale nor retail trade is there any general reason for complaint."

Heavy Cotton Failure. PROVIDENCE, Dec. 25.—A. D. Smith & Co. have assigned. Their liabilities are said to be over a million, largely to Providence banks. The firm operated three cotton mills in this city, two in Johnston and one in Woonsocket. The failure involves the suspension of the Providence Steam Mill Co., the Groton Manufacturing Co., and the Franklin Manufacturing Co. Smith & Co. have large property, but it is mostly in plant, and the firm have been working on a large indebtedness and insufficient active capital.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 27, 1883.

THE FRANCHISE.

THERE are various symptoms in the utterances of the Reform press that Mr. Mowat, now that the general election is over, is about to introduce a measure to extend the franchise, though he so violently opposed the efforts of Mr. Meredith and his supporters last session to bring about this Reform. If Mr. Mowat takes this step it will be because he has been driven to it by the action of the Conservative opposition in Ontario, and by the extension granted by the Conservative administration of the Dominion. Of course we are not yet aware whether one of the classes of the proposed legislation will empower Mr. Mowat to close polls in Conservative districts throughout the Province as he did in Algoma.

REGISTRARSHIP FOR REWARDS.

THE Orangeville Star remarks as follows:—"Now that the election is over, we trust that Mr. Mowat will find time to appoint a registrar of deeds for Peel. The result of the election has destroyed the chances which Messrs. Robinson, Patterson and McLaren had for the office, and Mr. Dick, of the Peel Review, will likely get the appointment. Mr. Dick is entitled to the office, and should have been appointed long ago. The Registrarship of Peel has now been vacant nearly eight months."

In our case the Registrarship of the County of Peterborough has been vacant for a still longer period, namely more than twelve months, for the position was dangled before the eyes of so many applicants in order to corrupt the electors that Mr. Mowat shrinks from the consequence of naming any one of them and disappointing the others.

THE COLLEGE QUESTION.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—At the very beginning of this letter let me say that I am connected with the institution in favor of which I write, so that if there is any one who thinks that no good thing can come out of Queen's he may be saved the disappointment of reading something which he should not have noticed. According to the Week, the new publication of Toronto, the question has already been settled, for it says to this effect: "The veto of the Presbyterians and Methodists is decisive, though not legitimate, for no politician would dare oppose the united vote of these bodies." Now, if this means anything it means that religious prejudices have been raised for illegitimate purposes and that Toronto University has been victimized by a perverse and narrow-minded generation having their headquarters at Kingston and Cobourg. Even though the question has been settled it may still have interest for the public, in that friends of Queen's do not wish to be under the imputation of having used religious organizations for illegitimate purposes. Queen's has not opposed Toronto. Queen's stands by a principle. Toronto, misrepresenting her strength, opposed this principle and has failed, but in their disappointment it must be possible to find a way to the manager, "blast," etc., to other colleges. Such remarks avail nothing with those who know what determination, energy and liberality Queen's has shown in reaching her present position. But just here I have not to do with the question or with the many erroneous views regarding Queen's which somehow have been preserved with sanctified conservatism. I want more particularly to refer to the common cry of "dog in the manger," etc., and to the charge that it is somewhat tantalizing to see with what persistence some people air their ignorance on the subject as they speak and write about there being too many colleges, about the immense extravagance of keeping instead of Knox and Queen's. That these colleges are entirely different is such a simple truth that I shall not enlarge upon it. Let us consider one or two reasons why the mistake as to the character of Queen's has arisen. It is said Queen's was founded by Presbyterians, endowed by Presbyterians, and therefore the education it imparts must be Presbyterian. (What such writers mean by Presbyterian mathematics, or classical or science, or philosophy, I can't understand.) Now let us look at the circumstances. Forty-three years ago when Queen's was founded, what was the new University College called King's College, and it is notorious that the education it imparted was secular and narrow in the extreme, so much so that the Presbyterians were forced to found Queen's in order that a broader and more liberal education might be given. To be sure their college has altered since, but does all this go to show that Queen's is secular and narrow? Again, it is said the majority of students in Queen's are Presbyterians, that it is patronized by Presbyterians, and therefore is purely Presbyterian, and should not receive state aid. Well, we think also that the majority of students in University College are Presbyterians; but if not, then the majority must be either Methodists or Anglicans or Roman Catholics, and therefore to use this argument to show its weakness, University College must be Presbyterian, Methodist, Anglican or Roman Catholic as the case may be. But the great cause of mistake has resulted from a confusion or rather a lack of names. The theological department of Queen's University has no special name, and so when occasion is had to speak of the Presbyterian College at Kingston, it is always under the name Queen's College, while the fact is that for all state purposes Queen's College (Arts) is as distinct from the Presbyterian Divinity Hall as University College is distinct from Knox College. Suppose the theological department of Queen's University, instead of being called Divinity Hall, were called, say St. Paul's College, then just as Toronto University comprises University College (Arts), Knox (Theological), Trinity (Medical), etc., so in the Kingston University we have Queen's (Arts), St. Paul's (Theological), Royal (Medical), etc. So much then for the objection that Queen's is secular in the sense it is said to be in this controversy. In conclusion, I would refer to a letter of Mr. D. W. Dumble's to the Toronto Globe and Mail, in which in a few sentences it seems to me he has put this thing in a more common-sense light than many double column letters which have appeared. Mr. D. points out that every graduate of Toronto University costs this country $1,000. Let us apply this to ourselves. At present there are attending at Toronto from Peterborough three students. One of these is preparing for the ministry, leaving two who will take their place in the legal, mercantile, medical, or other professions, and will to some extent benefit their Province by their education. In Queen's there are from Peterborough eight students, two of whom are preparing for the ministry. The remaining six will take their place in the legal, mercantile, medical, or other professions, and will do some Province good. So that Peterborough furnishes University College with work for which it is paid $8,000 by the Province, but Peterborough expects Queen's to do for it $8,000 worth of work for which the Province pays not one cent. Of course in the past the proportion has not been so different, but we deal with the present, and assume any one justifying the present arrangement to a Peterborough public. If it is attempted, perhaps an opportunity will be given to discuss this whole question.

Peterborough, Dec. 26, 1883.

THE POOR MAN'S FRIEND.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—As I have lately pointed to the extravagant and senseless expenditure of our town finances by our Council, the object of my present letter is to ventilate a little the means whereby the favour of some is courted to help the former in their design. The cry I feel some, being the poor man's friend, may not only sound very pleasing and produce the desired effect for those carrying that banner, but who are the poor man, and where are they? Are they those who are born of poor parents, unable to give them a fortune to start in life with? If so, then I was one of the poorest in creation, up to the time I arrived in Montreal, thirty years ago, everything, even the language was foreign to me, and yet I never considered myself poor, as for my wants, which had to be reduced to the smallest compass, I was always able to give an equivalent in labor. As there are people met with who through sickness have been unable to provide for themselves, such cases are only temporary, and can be easily dealt with, but there are hundreds of persons who are dependent on charity and with dissolute habits refuse work like a healthy horse, who would not stoop to pick up a cent unless the coin represented so much value as to buy a drink with. Such are the most of our poor men, who are taken care of by a thoughtless Council, who by their action pay out of the public treasury a premium on laziness. I do not wonder that the poor man is liberally attended to just now, as by example shown in sending a load of wood to one having no need for it. It is a disgrace and a shame to distribute wood, when wood is allowed to decay close to and inside the corporation and wood in abundance floats down the river, and so many poor enough to gather it? Is it more degrading to gather in wood, than receiving assistance? As I have observed by the action of the County Council urging the Town Council for joint action in building a house of Refuge, I claim and would court a reply to show where the need of it exists, should I be in error. A new country with varied and abundant resources of resources and a territory to provide a comfortable home for millions of people willing to work, is it not madness to think of such an institution having the fostering tendency of increasing laziness and poverty? As I said years ago in one of my letters in a Toronto paper, so I repeat it again: there is no country in the world where a poor man has a better chance by industry and economy to work himself up without assistance to independence. Alas! the poor man finds in such a cry, who raises it, but a poor friend, as a weak minded one may thereby have his good resolution shaken. I may now point to the real friends of the poor man, and who are more numerous than the pretenders to that title. The poor man's friends are they who have lifted themselves out of their almost helpless condition, and have by industry, perseverance and charity habits accumulated wealth, able to develop industries and enterprises, whereby they spend their means and give employment and bread directly or indirectly to hundreds, and such cases are not single. Their history can be traced to infancy, born of poor parents, some when opportunity occurs, others who step by step through hard toil are enabled to assist others not by charity, but by giving employment to the like. Such are the true friends of the poor working man has, and as the road is open to all to do likewise, such a cry is only a delusion and no man of common sense will listen to it. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the favour of insertion.

Peterborough, Dec. 26. Yours, W. LECH.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—As I have been assured by a number of electors whose names appear on Mr. Cox's requisition that they were led to place their vote by the representation that I had retired from the contest, I take this means of publicly denying that I have retired, or that I have any intention whatever of so doing; on the contrary, the assurance of hearty support which I have received from every class of citizens, but especially from the working men of the town, gives me every reason to be satisfied with my canvass and to persevere in the contest, believing that the principles which I have enunciated, and upon which I rest my claims, meet with the warm approval of the great majority of the people. Mr. Cox's standard bearers must feel their course weak indeed when they need to prop it up by such underhand means.

I remain your obedient servant, C. W. SAWERS.

The Quickest thing on Record. Is Fluid Lightning for Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, etc. It does not blister or discolor the skin; requires but one application to banish all pain mentally without using any great instrument or carrying your head in a position for weeks. Try a 25 cent bottle from John McKee, Druggist.

"Hub" Cough Cure, 25 Cents. Prescription of a Boston physician, dispensed for years by a Boston druggist. One dose will cure any cough. It acts almost magically. Ask J. D. Fuly for a 25 cent bottle of Hub Cough Cure.

The Mayo Murder Conspiracy.

In the Mayo conspiracy trial at Cork on Saturday, counsel for the prisoners and for the Crown addressed the jury. Judge Johnson then summed up, occupying over three hours. The jury retired, and forty minutes later the foreman returned and announced that they had not agreed on a verdict, and were not likely to agree for some time. After having deliberated for five hours the entire jury returned to the courtroom. They had failed to agree, and were discharged.

Fire at Kingston.

On Sunday morning at five o'clock a fire broke out in the house owned by James Smith, Colborne street, and before the flames were extinguished four buildings were destroyed. The tenants were Smith, Hewitt, Larnant, and Shaw. They are slightly injured.

Bewick's Ammoniated Food for Flowers. Plants like children, require constant attention, this done and they will grow and delight the whole household. To enable all lovers of flowers during winter months to enjoy this, nothing has yet been discovered equal to the "Ammoniated Food for Flowers," sold by J. A. SIMMERS, SEED MERCHANT, TORONTO. Price 35 cents per package, post prepaid. Try it, and success is certain.

FEETORIA! FEETORIA! FEETORIA! the great remedy for coughs, colds, bronchitis, sore throats, influenza, hoarseness, and all affections of the lungs and throat or chest. Feetoria loosens the phlegm and breaks up the cough. 25 cents per bottle. Don't give up until you have tried Feetoria, all druggists and general storekeepers sell it, and success is certain.

of dry goods and clothing is now going on at W. Fairweather & Co's. They are clearing out their large and valuable stock at great reductions. Every buyer in town and country should not fail to visit this grand sale. The bargains offered every day are surprising. Dress goods, silks and velvets, millinery and mantles, clothing, bed and table linens, blankets, tickings, sheeting and carpets are selling at prices astonishingly cheap. W. Fairweather & Co. keep the largest assortment in the trade and cannot be undersold.

The Peterborough Orchestra Band will be in attendance at the rink on Friday night and every Friday night throughout the season, admission 15 cents, ticket holders free. Tickets to be had at Miss Jenkins', A. L. Davis' and T. Menzies'. Special tickets for visitors good for 14 days, only 75 cents.

Railway Construction in the States.
CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—A summary of the railway building in the United States for the past two months shows 6600 miles of main track laid. The approximate cost was $105,000,000, making the total miles of railway in the country to date 120,000. The construction during 1882 was the largest in the history of the country, 11,000 miles. The year before it was 9600.

Ship-Building in Maine.
PORTLAND, Maine, Dec. 27.—The Maine ship building industry has been more satisfactory this year than was expected on account of the prevailing low freight. There were 174 vessels built against 168 last year, comprising 3 steamers, 43 ships, 4 barges, 6 launches, 2 brig, 133 schooners, and 7 sloops. The work was more evenly divided than last year.

A Sewing Match Arranged.
LONDON, Ont., Dec. 27.—Messrs. J. D. McColl and S. Happer, of Parkhill, have accepted the challenge of R. S. Darby and R. Brown, of Bluevale, to match them in sewing. They will "saw" Messrs. Darby and Brown for $200 a side at Parkhill on 1st February, 1884. They would prefer the log to be 22 inches in diameter, or two cuts of a 20-inch maple log, but will leave that matter for their opponents to decide.

THE UNIVERSITY QUESTION

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—I do not wish to enter into the discussion which your correspondent "Queens" seemingly invites, until at least he shall have shown some more accurate knowledge of the subject than his letter displays, but may I ask him a question? Has he or has the printer made one of Professor Rumsch's "mistakes" in taking the number of Peterborough students attending lectures at University College? "Queens" says there are three. I was told a day or two ago there were fourteen. What is the fact?

Again, will your correspondent try to make up his mind whether or not "Queens" is a denominational college? If it is a non-sectarian college so far as its arts course is concerned, where does it differ in its training from the so-called "godless" college?

Yours &c.
E. B. EDWARDS.

WHAT THEY SAY.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—They say that they are patting him on the back and saying, "sick 'em, sick 'em; go for him—yes, we vote for you." But when the vote is taken it will be as it was on the occasion of a certain parliamentary election that is fresh in the memory of quite a number of our citizens. When the candidate at the hustings was greeted with loud cheers and a big show of hands, and after delivering a flowery speech, the candidate retired confident of success; at the close of the poll he had the satisfaction of knowing that he had at least thirteen supporters who had the courage to vote for him.

The "crank" who aspired to civic honours last year, contented himself with giving two entertainments to his friends and supporters in the music hall, and then retired, in a quiet if not dignified manner.

But one who was more successful, was, perhaps, more grateful, and has been enacting a farce at nearly every meeting of the council since, and not contented with the "unprecedented run," he is anxious to keep it up another year. We are deeply grateful, but, unlike Oliver Twist, we have had enough.

Mr. Sawers and his supporters seem to know all about Mr. Geo. A. Cox's views on water-works and municipal matters very much better than Mr. Cox's most intimate friends. While we would not stoop to make a comparison between the two men, we fear if a public meeting were held and both candidates heard, Mr. Sawers would find himself about as badly undone as the frog in the fable of the frog and two geese.

Two geese were about taking their annual autumnal flight when the frog requested them to take him with them, they at once consented on condition that the frog provide some means by which they could carry him, the frog soon returned with a long stalk of grass and proposed that the geese should each take an end and while he held on by the center. They got on very well for a time until passing a farm yard the farmer noticed them, and called to them to know who conceived the plan, the frog opening his mouth to say "it was I" lost his hold and falling to the ground was dashed to pieces.

There is a man for mayor and for councilors intelligent honest representative of the good sense of our citizens. Men who have earned our respect, men whom we delight to honour.

Thanking you for the space,

Railway Intelligence.

Mr. James Stephenson, general passenger agent of the Grand Trunk, is taking a trip over the western part of the line and visiting and inspecting the stations.

The earnings of the Canadian Pacific railroad for the second week in December were:—1883, $96,000; 1882, $47,000; increase, $49,000. Mileage—1883, 1,931, 1882, 1,140; increase, 791.

General Manager Van Horn expresses himself highly pleased with the abundance of coal in the North-West, as the C. P. R. uses a ton every two minutes, and the coal is also a great boon to settlers.

Work on the Canadian Pacific, on the north shore of Lake Superior, is progressing rapidly. A telegraph line will be established between Sudbury Junction and Fort Arthur by spring, thus completing the connection. Work around Lake Superior has not been found to be so difficult as was at one time anticipated.

For several days there have been rumours at Detroit that a change would take place, about January 1st, in the running of the Grand Trunk and Detroit Grand Haven and Milwaukee trains. These changes have been finally determined to take place on Dec. 30th, when both the morning and evening trains for Chicago via Durand, will be discontinued. This action results from the decision of the Grand Trunk authorities to run their through business to Chicago both from Buffalo and Toronto by way of Fort Huron.

The reason for this is understood to be that Superintendent Stiff, of the Great Western Division, finds that heavy through trains cannot be brought around by Detroit and make the necessary running time. Hence they will be run over the Sarnia branch from London, and thence over the entire line of the Chicago and Grand Trunk.

Champ Feed.

Mr. T. R. Allinson, a London (Eng.) physician, has been making some experiments to show how an exceedingly cheap yet entirely nutritious diet is within the reach of everyone. In a letter to the Times he combats the theory that "food is so dear that the poor can scarcely live" and by a practical experiment upon himself, lasting for a month, he conclusively proved that he could live on a little more than sixpence a day, carry on his usual avocations—consisting of 10 to 15 miles walking, visiting patients, &c.—and gain 3½ lbs. His dietary was as follows:—

"Breakfast consisted of a basin of porridge made from a mixture of oatmeal and wheatmeal, which I found more palatable than either singly. This I usually eat with bread to insure thorough mastication. Then came bread fried in melted cod-liver oil, or fried vegetable haggis. For drink I had a cup of cocoa or fruit syrup, with warm water and sugar. The cocoa used was an ordinary one with plenty of starch in it which makes a thick drink, and no milk is then required. Dinner consisted of a thick vegetable soup and bread, potato pie, savoury pie, vegetable pie, vegetable stew, stewed rice and tomatoes, &c. For a second course I had bread pudding, stewed rice and fruit, baked apple, lemon and apple, stewed prunes, figs, raisins and bread. The meal consisted of bread and jam, stewed fruit, or some green stuff, as watercress, celery, tomatoes, &c. I had only three meals a day, and frequently, when very busy, I had only two, and a cup of cocoa and a biscuit for supper."

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

AN OVERDUE STEAMSHIP.

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 27.—Some anxiety is felt here in regard to the White Star line steamer Celtic, which is overdue. Her owners have sent a powerful tug to Queenstown, where she is to await further orders. The Celtic sailed from New York, December 16th.

REUNION OF SCOTCH-IRISHMEN.

EDINBURGH, Dec. 27.—A reunion of representative Scotch-Irishmen will be held in Belfast, July 4th, 1884, when representatives from America, Great Britain, and the British colonies will be present and deliver addresses.

THE PRINCE AND THE POPE.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—The Standard's Berlin despatch says during the visit of the Crown Prince to the Pope the latter repeatedly referred to questions concerning the Church, but the Prince declined to commit himself on that subject.

TRADE WITH CUBA.

MADRID, Dec. 27.—A decree is gazetted abrogating article five of the decree of 1868, whereby goods from the United States pay duty in Cuba as if they had been brought in foreign ships, even when arriving under the Spanish flag. The decree states that the object is to define equitable conditions of reciprocal trade between Cuba and the United States, without prejudice to an ulterior revision of the tariff, and to place the commercial relations of Spain and the United States upon a sound basis.

EARTHQUAKE IN BOHEMIA.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—A severe shock of earthquake has been felt at Zepce, in Bohemia, causing the inhabitants of the town to flee to the neighbouring fields.

AMERICAN MEATS IN FRANCE.

PARIS, Dec. 27.—The Government has decided to prohibit the importation of American salted meats until the Chambers pronounce upon a bill which the Minister of Commerce will introduce at the beginning of next session. The prohibitions will not apply to importations into Havre, Nantes, and Bordeaux, where however, arrivals will be subjected to a rigid scrutiny.

HEAVY FAILURE AT ANTWERP.

ANTWERP, Dec. 27.—Ghislain, Cahn, Palavin & Drion, bankers, have suspended. Liabilities, £400,000.

RENEWAL OF EXPLOSIONS.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—There appears to be a revival of attempts to destroy life and property by explosives. A dynamite cartridge was exploded in Strabane, Ireland, yesterday, destroying the roof of a house. A box of explosives, with a fuse attached, has been found on the track of the Great Western Railway near Axminster. Had a train passed over the box a serious explosion would have ensued.

THE MISSING PLANTY.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—Intelligence has just been received of the arrival at Oporto of 53 men who were on board the missing Belgian steamship Planty, which sailed from New York November 11th, for Antwerp, and has not since been heard from. The men were rescued from the steamer by the brig G.D.T., which sailed from a Canadian port for Oporto.

Hinting as a Cure for Consumption.

May I give you a case which came under my observation during our camp life in California? In the southern part of the State we visited a famous resort for invalids, and found about thirty consumptives lounging about a hotel, feeding well, and sitting in the shade waiting for death. Among these invalids was a young lady of rare intelligence and loveliness. An examination of her lungs discovered not only tubercular deposits, but a considerable abscess.

She begged me to give her an honest opinion. She told me that on her arrival she was better for a few weeks, but was now losing weight and strength. I told her frankly that she was doomed unless she sought relief in the saddle might save her. She was willing and eager to do anything to escape her mother's unhappy fate. At length, after much opposition from her friends, she put on pantaloons, and joined our ladies.

We used no side-saddles. The first night in the open air kept her awake and frightened her. She was afraid of heat and things might swallow her. But that did not last long. It never does in camp life. A curious indifference, if not courage, soon comes to the most timid. In a week her cough and expectation were better, and on the sixty-seventh day she rode thirty-eight miles without fatigue. Her cough and expectation were gone. During the summer she spent nearly four months in the saddle, and is now, or was a few months ago, a healthy woman. If any medicine could perform such a miracle, its name would fill the world.

If a dozen consumptives would join for a summer in the saddle, camping out, they would find it not only a delightful experience, but the pulse, which on leaving home is one of a hundred, in a few weeks fall below 80, and the flame would be extinguished. I have seen such miracles, on horseback, in the cure of consumptives, that I can conscientiously encourage many who are thought on the brink of the grave.

AN UNPATRIOTIC POLICY.

The Ottawa Free Press quotes from the Chicago Press with all the marks of approval implied by double leaded type and a position in the editorial column the following remarks:—"Reciprocity of trade with Canada and Mexico is very desirable. In this way we may partially break down the tariff barrier that walls us in and hampers our manufacturing growth. For trade purposes reciprocity is equivalent to bringing the adjoining countries into our political system."

This is an unusually frank exhibition of the "Reform" policy. It may suit our neighbour to the south of the line and their allies in Canada, to advocate a tariff that is equivalent to bringing us into the political system of the United States, but this is not desired by the Macdonald Administration and its supporters—that is by the great majority of the people of Canada.

A POLITICAL DODGE.

In the reports that we have received of the so-called "farmers' convention" at Winnipeg with its sensational resolutions, there is one thing that strikes us especially. The leading and most influential speakers we do not find to be agriculturalists, but doctors and lawyers, merchants and journalists, speculators and adventurers. It was not the real farmers, the actual settlers on the land who clamoured for independence and threatened secessions—who raged against asserted infractions of the British North American Act and in the next breath urged its repeal.

The farmers may have their grievances, and indeed they must be more fortunate than their fellow men if they have not, and most probably some of these evils may be wholly or partially redressed by taking the proper steps moving in the proper quarters, but any amendment or improvements are only rendered more difficult of accomplishment by reasonable claims being mixed up with the rantings of political demagogues and disappointed speculators.

Those who are led away by their interested leaders into countenancing disruption and cultivating interprovincial jealousies are also adopting an impolitic course from another point of view. They should remember that it is inevitable that in the no very distant future the balance of power will be shifted and the North-Western Provinces will be in a position to control the policy of the Dominion. It will therefore not be to their permanent advantage to push too far the advocacy of local as opposed to general interests.

We have too much confidence in the good sense of the settlers in the North-West to fear that this foolish excitement will do lasting harm.

Farmers' (?) Delegates.

The Farmers meeting has sent three delegates to Ottawa, Mr. Martin, M. P. P., Mr. Bailey and Mr. Purvis. They are three able-bodied farmers. Mr. Martin has done a very considerable amount of back-stitching behind the stove in his law office in Portage la Prairie. Mr. Bailey runs an obscure weekly paper, and barely knows a horse from a buckaw. Mr. Purvis is a land speculator. And these are the farmers' delegates! What can the Ottawa Government say to such a delegation? If bona fide farmers had been appointed, if the convention had been an honest one, and would have resulted. But it does not need the letters published elsewhere to let the world know that the meeting was turned into a Reform cabal; and that its resolutions are of no account, because tainted with extreme partyism. Purvis, Bailey and Martin! Why did they not send three blacksmiths, or three millers, or nobody? This convention has been a most stupendous farce.—Winnipeg Times.

Petition for Dr. Wilson's Return.

On Friday last a petition signed by 104 names was presented to Dean Lytton, Kingston, praying him to secure Dr. Wilson's return. The Dean has forwarded a reply, in which he states that he did not interfere as long as Dr. Wilson exercised his private opinions and persuasions, but that his public ministrations were dangerous and likely to deprave the Church. He encouraged a party which was neither approved of, recommended, nor licensed by the bishop of the diocese. He (the Dean) approved of the old dogma, "Let nothing be done without the bishop." He could not see any grounds for reopening the painful matter, and if he countenanced Dr. Wilson's action he would be a virtual approver and partaker in his erratic actions, for which he has shown no contrition or repentance, therefore he (the Dean) was obliged, for the sake of his bishop and of loyal churchmen, to take the step which gave him so much pain. While he deeply regretted the action he felt bound to take, he was sure Dr. Wilson would get a more lucrative position in another sphere, which, as is well-known, he has been long seeking for. The Dean concluded by saying he could see no hope for the return of Dr. Wilson as his curate.

LAKEFIELD.

SCHOOL NOMINATION.

The nomination of candidates for the office of members of the Lakefield School Board took place on Wednesday last, the 26th inst. Mr. W. H. Casement, returning officer. The following persons were duly nominated, viz.:—Mr. Thos. Casement, Mr. G. J. Galvin, Mr. R. Q. Deuch, Mr. T. G. Griever, Mr. D. Hillman. There were only two vacancies to fill, and there being more than the required number of candidates nominated, the proceedings were adjourned till Wednesday, the 2nd of January, 1884, when a poll is to be opened in the same place at 10 o'clock to complete the election.

COUNCIL NOMINATION.

The nomination of Reeve and Councillors in Lakefield will take place in the Council Room on Monday next, the 31st inst., at noon. A good deal of style is looked for on that occasion.

TAXES.

The Collector of Taxes for the village of Lakefield completed his work and returned his Roll on Saturday last, the 22nd inst. He collected the whole amount of his roll except $16.00, returned as unable to collect.

PRESERVATION.

On Monday last, the 24th inst., a deputation on behalf of the Presbyterian Sabbath School, Lakefield, waited upon the Rev. Mr. Clarke, the pastor, at the manse, and presented him with an address and a costly and beautiful overcoat, and a pair of gauntlet gloves. The overcoat was made of fine beaver, trimmed with fur, and the gauntlets were made of Persian lamb, together valued at about $100. Mr. Clarke thanked the deputation for their consideration, and said that he would take an early opportunity of making a reply to the Sabbath School. The following is the address: To the Rev. N. Clarke:

DEAR PASTOR,—We, the teachers, friends and pupils of the Lakefield Presbyterian Sabbath School, over which you have presided so long and so ably as superintendent, take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation of your services in the arduous and self-denying duties which you have at all times so cheerfully performed in connection with the work of the school. We feel that the order, discipline and general progress of the school in all temporal as well as spiritual sense, have been in a great measure due to the zealous efforts and strict Christian character which you have manifested in connection therewith. You have acted as superintendent and as a teacher, and have given us many words of encouragement and counsel which we have given us. You have improved our many acts of neglect of duty which have caused you much anxiety and sorrow. You have helped us to work for the glory of the Master, and when your life in this world is ended may your reward be that of those who turn many to righteousness. May you be as the stars in the firmament that shall shine for ever and ever.

Signed on behalf of the Sabbath School,

THE TOWN'S CLAIM.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—The letter of your paper (if the statements therein are correct), calling loudly on the ratepayers to take some action in the matter before the 1st of January, 1884. I suggest that a public meeting be held and the matter ventilated thoroughly. I cannot imagine how the affair has been allowed to be dormant so long. Have the gentlemen appointed to investigate the claim ever made a report? If not, why not? They have nearly two years to be sufficient in time for such a purpose. Let the ratepayers awake from their lethargy and not let this thing pass beyond the 1st of January. If they do, they are done for without doubt.

Yours truly,
P. Q.

Heroic Children.

The British Royal Humane Society has just investigated three instances in which children whose ages ranged from 9 to 12 years have gained the usual reward for heroism. One little fellow, S. G. Pile, aged 9 years, has been awarded the medal for the following act: A child named Wyatt fell off the pier at Orleton, near Plymouth, on Aug. 18, and had drifted out about seven yards in twelve feet of water, when Pile plunged into the sea with his clothes on, swam out and reached the child, bringing it into the steps, where they were both assisted out by the launch. W. H. Hayes, aged 12, has been awarded a testimonial for saving a child named Humphreys, aged 4, in the river at Llanberis on Aug. 20. The latter fell off a bridge into the river, near a whirlpool, when Hayes swam out, fully clothed, and brought him ashore. A similar testimonial has also been awarded to a little girl, E. B. Deacon, aged 12, for saving a little girl, Finch, slipped off the rock and became unconscious, when the girl jumped in, fully dressed, and succeeded in holding her charge above water until assistance arrived.

The Cantleaver Bridge.

BUFFALO, Dec. 20.—The new cantleaver bridge at Niagara Falls was thoroughly tested this afternoon. Large crowds occupied every available spot from which a view of the proceedings could be obtained. At nine o'clock eight heavy locomotives passed over the structure. At twelve, twenty locomotives crossed the bridge while observations were made about every fifteen feet. No official declaration has as yet been made, but the test has been pronounced perfect and the bridge thoroughly satisfactory. At three o'clock an elegant repast was served at the Montezuma Hotel at the Suspension Bridge by a Rochester caterer. Provision had been made for 600, but fully 1,000 persons helped to make away with the dinner. The repast cost over $1,000. After dinner the gathering was called to order. Mr. Carter Harrison, Mayor of Chicago, made a vigorous speech, in which he congratulated Canada and the United States on the completion of the splendid structure. General Field, president of the Central Bridge Works, which built the bridge, was loudly called for. He simply said: "I'm not a speech-maker, I'm a bridge builder."

A People Without Consumption.

A paper was read recently before the Tennessee Medical Society with the title "A People without Consumption, and some Account of their Country." The country in question is the Cumberland plateau. The writer, Dr. Wright, has practiced in the region throughout a generation, and in his assertion of fact touching the entire absence of consumption he is supported by the testimony of about twenty other physicians of standing.—Medical and Surgical Reporter.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—As I have been assured by a number of electors whose names appear on Mr. Cox's requisition that they were led to place them there by the representation that I had retired from the contest, I take this means of publicly denying that I have retired, or that I have any intention whatever of so doing; on the contrary, the assurance of hearty support which I have received from every class of citizens, but especially from the working men of the town, gives me every reason to be satisfied with my canvass and to persevere in the contest, believing that the principles which I have enunciated, and upon which I rest my course, meet with the warm approval of the great majority of the people. Mr. Cox's standard bearer must feel their course weak indeed when they need to prop it up by such underhand means.

I remain your obedient servant,

THOS. W. ROBINSON, Manager.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN:—

At the request of many of the ratepayers of the Town, who are opposed to the present management of our Municipal affairs, I appear as a candidate for the Mayoralty for 1884, and beg respectfully to solicit your votes and assistance therefor.

My course as Councillor during the present year has been severely criticised, but I can only say that every act of mine in the Council was prompted by my conviction of what was just and right to the ratepayers. I entered the Council without personal interest of any kind to serve, determined to advance the interests of the ratepayers to the best of my ability, and, as far as my single efforts could do so, to conduct the business of the Town on the same sound business principles than every one of you applies to the conduct of your own private affairs.

The course I proposed as it was to the loose and extravagant manner in which the majority in the Council have been accustomed to carry on your business, naturally called down upon me a storm of abuse, which, however, the courage of my convictions has enabled me to bear without difficulty.

Many important matters have been before the present Council, and, as my opponent, Councillor Peterson, holds views on them entirely opposite to mine, I shall have made a few of them, hoping to have the opportunity of discussing the merits of our opposite opinions before you with him.

FIRE PROTECTION.

I am opposed to paying by a general tax for hydrants taken by the Town for fire protection, believing it to be unjust to ask ratepayers living outside of the fire limits to pay for the protection of the centre of the town.

Mr. Peterson's views on this subject are directly opposed to mine.

HOUSE OF REFUGE.

As chairman of the Charity Committee this year, I have had excellent opportunities of judging of the necessity for such an institution, and am forced to conclude that at the present time it is not required. No doubt some few cases could be found in our midst which it would be extremely convenient to send to such an institution, if we had it, but the immense cost of building and maintaining a Refuge would be out of all proportion to the benefit to be derived from it. In the future this may not be so. You may therefore rest assured that if I have the honor to be elected by you to the Mayoralty, I will use my influence to prevent this burden being added to your already heavy taxes.

Mr. Peterson's views on this subject also are, I believe, opposed to mine.

CIVIC SALARY.

I am not in favor of attaching a salary to the office of either Mayor or Councillor, believing that the opportunity which you thus afford them of proving themselves faithful servants, and worthy of your confidence, ought to be a sufficient recompense for their time and trouble. I have no objection to Mr. Peterson's views on this point also as at variance with mine.

CLERK AND TREASURER.

I am opposed to allowing one person to hold the two offices of Clerk and Treasurer. On this point also Mr. Peterson differs from me.

RANK OF TOWN BUILDINGS.

As the paying for these buildings this year has caused a considerable increase in the amount of the ratepayers' taxes, and a good deal of dissatisfaction has been expressed in consequence, a few words from me on this subject will not be out of place. Early in the year there was a general unanimity in the Council as to the desirability of purchasing these buildings on terms offered by Mr. Stevenson, namely:—$4,500, payable in debentures bearing interest at 5 per cent. running over either 10 or 20 years, but when this matter came up in discussing the estimates, to my surprise, the whole amount (less about $400 recovered from the Town Trust Commissioners) was asked for this year. I was opposed to this, but was voted down. Councillor McNaughton alone supporting me. Mr. Peterson, whose duty it was, as Chairman of the Finance Committee, to compile the estimates, can perhaps give some satisfactory explanation to the ratepayers for putting this heavy tax upon them. The title to these buildings has not yet, I believe, been perfected. It is possible that the purchase may yet fall through.

There are many other points on which I might touch, but as this address is already too long, I shall only say that I am opposed to all jobbery and rins, and to the transacting of the town's business in secret conclaves and not in either open Council or Committee.

I am in favor of progress and municipal reform, and where any saving can be effected in the management of our municipal affairs, I am also strongly in favor of such saving.

If elected, I shall use my best efforts to obtain a dollar's worth of your money for every dollar expended.

I am now in your hands, and it is for you to say by your votes whether my conduct during the year and my position on the foregoing important matters is worthy of your support and confidence.

I remain,
Your obedient servant,

C. W. SAWERS.

GENERAL GROCERIES! New Teas, Sugars, Syrups, Tobaccos, Cigars, Extracts, Essences, Pure Spices, etc. Fresh Canned Tomatoes, Peaches, Pears, Corn, Apples and Pears, Jams and Jellies, Pickles and Sauces, Mustard, Preserved Meats, Beef Tongue, Ham, Chicken, Sardines and Lobsters, etc., etc.

WHISKIES, WINES, &c.!

In Whiskies, Wines, etc., I hold a most complete stock, being by far the most extensive ever offered to buyers in Peterborough including some very old Whiskies, Messrs. Gooderham & Worts' oldest Old Eye, Jameson's celebrated Irish Whiskies, also a large stock of Malt Whiskey: Baas & Co's Ale and Guinness's Porter; Jamaica Rum, Holland Gin, V. O. Brandy, Ginger Wine, etc. Finest Old Ports, choicest brands of Sherries, Natives Wine, etc., imported direct. Mumm's, "Extra" Dry Verzenay, Piper Heidsieck, Dry Verzenay, etc.

AS TO PRICES: I will deal most liberally with all who may favor me with their custom. I am prepared to sell at the lowest possible prices. I do not sell for cash—that can't be done honestly—but I can give you as GOOD VALUE for your money as you can get anywhere. As to my friends who have given me their trade during the past year, I tender them my hearty thanks, and respectfully solicit a continuance of their favours during 1884.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1883.

SIR RICHARD CARTWRIGHT has been returned as M. P. for South Huron, there being no opposition.

Mr. HENRY SMITH, the respondent in the Kent Dominion election petition, has been unseated for bribery by an agent, the personal charges against him being withdrawn.

THE ALGOMA FRAUD.

At length, after defying the law for some time, Mr. Mowat's tools in Algoma have screwed up their courage to the point of making public the return of the bogus election. As a result of the open frauds committed in his behalf, a majority of 114 is shown in favour of Mr. Lyon. An examination of the list, however, shows the remark "no poll" opposite the names of "Algonia Mills" and "Rainy River," while "Fort Francis" does not appear, as the partisan returning-officer has sent the ballots forward uncounted, on account of informalities due to the efforts of Mr. Mowat's employees to deny a poll to the electors there also.

It is obvious then on the face of the returns that Mr. Lyon is not the choice of the people of Algoma, but only of that portion of them that Mr. Mowat and his carefully selected instruments allowed to vote.

Of course a dishonest Premier can easily obtain a fictitious majority, if he is allowed to open a profusion of polling places in districts where his supporters are in a majority, and to refuse polling booths to districts where his opponents prevail.

MORE RIGHT-ABOUTNESS.

The Mowat Government are evidently quite ready to right-about-face on any or all of their past actions provided they can only, by so doing, avert the storm which hangs over them.

Only the other day Mr. Mowat turned right-about-face on his past boundary policy, and now we learn from the following announcement in the Globe of the 27th December that he proposes getting (if he can) out of the school book muddle by turning right-about-face upon his policy of authorizing two or more sets of readers, a policy for which the present Minister of Education as a then member of the central committee of examiners is directly responsible. The Globe's announcement is as follows:—

"We understand that the Minister of Education is desirous of having the question of new Readers further considered, with a view to having only one set for the schools of the Province if this shall appear to be in the interest of the schools and to be practicable without doing injustice to the proprietors of any of the series already published. Under these circumstances it would therefore be advisable that Trustees should postpone for a few weeks the introduction of new Readers into the schools under their control."

The country will watch closely the next move in this Reader matter—especially as we are incessantly told by the Globe that "the interests of the schools" are to be made, as they no doubt were made when the two sets were authorized, secondary to the interests of the proprietors of the Rival Readers—the chief stock holders in the Globe and in one set of the Readers being one and the same family.

We have also to note that the Globe's present announcement fully justifies the wisdom of the advice which we ventured to tender to local boards of school trustees early in this Reader campaign, viz.:—That they should decline to adopt either set until after the ensuing session of the Legislature, as in our opinion the matter was not likely to be allowed to rest where it was—a prediction which has been verified sooner than we anticipated.

Accident to Gen. Grant.

New York, Dec. 27.—Gen. Grant in leaving his residence this morning for his place of business slipped upon the snow and fell. He struck the kerbs with considerable force, injuring his thigh severely, and his system received a sudden and probably serious shock. The surgeons as yet are unable to determine whether his injury is dangerous; they say, however, that the limb will be paralyzed for some time.

A second statement of the accident says:—Gen. Grant while alighting from a coupe at his residence on Monday evening slipped and fell on his left side, sustaining serious injury in the leg, about four inches below the hip joint. The leg, which was broken, and the surgeons suppose is that a bruise of the entire nerve has been sustained. The General was assisted to bed, where he has remained ever since, lying in one position on his back. While the injured leg is most painful the General's health is otherwise good, and he is comparatively cheerful. The surgeons anticipate nothing serious, but it will be several weeks before the patient will be able to leave the house.

Gen. Grant's injuries are less painful to-night and he was resting comfortably at a late hour. His leg is very much swollen, and he will be unable to leave his bed for several days.

A PARTY FIGHT.

The Attack on an Orange Procession at Harbour Grace.

St. John's, N. F., Dec. 27.—Yesterday noon a procession of Orangemen organized and walked out through the principal streets of Harbour Grace, headed by bands of music and carrying flags, banners, and other insignia of the association. They marched unmolested as far as Ship's Head, when they were suddenly fired upon by a mob who lay in ambush behind a high snow mound. The fire was returned by the Orangemen, and four men, named Mercer, Dar-mody, Jones, and Callaghan, two of whom were Roman Catholics and two Orangemen, were killed almost instantly. Doyle the inspector of police, was severely injured. Eight men are reported mortally wounded, and about twenty superficially. At present Harbour Grace is quiet, but the town of Carbonear is on fire with commotion. Business is suspended, and public and private houses are closed and barred. More than a thousand men with firearms and other weapons are congregated in the streets prepared to march to Harbour Grace. From every part of Conception Bay crowds of men are thronging to the scene of the disturbance. The Executive Government has deemed it best to cable to Halifax for military and naval assistance. The police force is powerless to cope with a riot that at an hour may develop into alarming and disastrous proportions.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

A procession yesterday of Orangemen whilst passing Ship's Head, Harbour Grace, was fired upon by a crowd. At first the Orangemen thought the firing was from powder-guns, carried by friends, until they saw their men fall. Four were killed and some ten or fifteen wounded. Police were despatched from here at four o'clock yesterday reached Harbour Grace at nine o'clock last night. Horse police followed part of the way by train, and arrived this morning. The night passed quietly. One hundred special constables have been sworn in. The pent-up excitement in the neighbouring villages is waiting for arrests.

The "Times" on Lord Lorne's Address.

The following is the editorial opinion of the Times on the address delivered recently by the Marquis of Lorne at the Colonial Institute:—

"The able and interesting speech of the Marquis of Lorne at the Colonial Institute regards the interests of the country from a totally different point of view, and forms a complement to discussion upon the regulation of our internal affairs. He has brought back from Canada a hearty belief in its greatness and an evident affection for its people and its institutions, which have borne fruit in a desire to make the Dominion better known to Englishmen, and to impress upon them the importance of cherishing every sentiment that can unite the Mother Country with her colonies. He pleads not for the protection to which they adhere, but for English toleration of their protectionism, declaring that it arises from a wish to be self-contained and self-sufficient, which we in this country can only understand by a sympathetic effort. He holds that there is no reason why differing commercial practices should hinder the closest relationships between us and our colonies, and pleads for a more full and formal recognition of their place in the Empire than is at present vouchsafed. The difficulty does not, however, lie in any failure of sympathy among the people of this country. Whatever seeming difference to colonial interests may be detected is due only to ignorance, and is daily diminishing under the influence of increasing familiarity with colonial ways and wishes. But there are obvious practical difficulties in the way of that confederation of English-speaking peoples to which Lord Lorne's remarks seem to point. The growth of the colonies is an important factor in overhauling these difficulties, and such efforts at grouping into colonial confederations as are now being made in Australia tend powerfully to bring about the same result. Communities approximately upon the same level in such essential matters as power of self-defence will find it easy to solve questions which are very difficult to settle between a Mother Country and colonies at once politically independent and not materially strong enough to carry the burden of Empire. Every day reduces the disparity, and in the meantime it behoves men of all parties to foster every sentiment that may strengthen mutual friendship."

Why do so many ladies say, "I have much trouble in getting the make of Towellings I like?" If they call at Turnbull's first, they will find exactly what they want.

Steamers Carrying Petroleum.

New York, Dec. 27.—A steamer sailed from this port yesterday with 10,000 barrels of petroleum for Italy. Heretofore sailing craft have monopolized this trade. The dullness of the export trade in grain is causing tramp steamers to seek other markets, and the business of the coast is estimated that there are one hundred steamers for sale in British ports now, the building of them has been greatly overdone in the Clyde, and petroleum merchants think some of them may be utilized in their business, especially as New York is gradually absorbing the petroleum traffic of this country.

The Salvation Army.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Dec. 27.—Captain Hunter and two other members of the Salvation Army were arrested this afternoon charged with violating the city ordinance by parading the streets. Captain Hunter has given the chief of police to understand that the army will parade every night regardless of the city ordinance, and the police have been instructed by the mayor to arrest them in every instance.

SINGERS and public speakers are always benefited by using Down's Balm, as it removes the hoarseness and increases the power of the voice. Take small doses often. Price, 25c, 50c, and $1.00.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT.—Frank Spink, Wilton Avenue, Toronto, some time ago received a bad injury by an accident on the G.T.R. The severe contusions were quickly healed by the use of Hagar's Yellow Oil.

HIGHLY AGREEABLE.—One very valuable feature of Dr. Low's Pleasant Worm Syrup, that it is highly agreeable to take, and all varieties of Worms, tape worms included, can be safely expelled by it, without recourse to harsh and sickening drugs.

A PARALYTIC STROKE.—W. H. Howard, of Gen. N. Y., suffered with palsy and general debility, and spent a small fortune in advertised remedies, without avail, until he tried Burdock Blood Bitters. It purified and revitalized the blood, caused it to circulate freely, and quickly restored him to health.

PECTORAL PECTORIA! PECTORIA! the great remedy for coughs, colds, bronchitis, sore throat, influenza, hoarseness, and all affections of the lungs and throat or chest. Pectoria loosens the phlegm and breaks up the cough. 25 cents per bottle. Don't give up until you have tried Pectoria, all druggists and general storekeepers sell it.

"Hub" Cough Cure, 25 Cents. Prescription of a Boston physician, dispensed for years by a Boston druggist. One dose will cure any cough. It acts almost magically. Ask J. D. Tully for a 25 cent bottle of Hub Cough Cure.

THOS. W. ROBINSON, Manager.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN:—

At the request of many of the ratepayers of the Town, who are opposed to the present management of our Municipal affairs, I appear as a candidate for the Mayoralty for 1884, and beg respectfully to solicit your votes and influence therefor.

My course as Councillor during the present year has been severely criticised, but I can only say that every act of mine in the Council was prompted by my conviction of what was just and right to the ratepayers. I entered the Council without personal interest of any kind to serve, determined to advance the interests of the ratepayers to the best of my ability, and as far as my single efforts could do so, to conduct the business of the Town on the same sound business principles that every one of you applies to the conduct of your own private affairs.

This course, opposed as it was to the loose and extravagant manner in which the majority in the Council have been accustomed to carry on your business, naturally called down upon me a storm of abuse, which, however, the courage of my convictions has enabled me to bear without difficulty.

Many important matters have been before the present Council, and, as my opponent, Councillor Paterson, holds views on them entirely different from my own, I shall here state a few of them, hoping to have the opportunity of discussing the merits of our opposite opinions before you with him.

HYDRANT PROTECTION.

I am opposed to paying by a general tax for hydrant taken by the Town for fire protection, believing it to be unjust to ask ratepayers living outside of the fire limits to pay for the protection of the centre of the town.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject are directly opposed to mine.

HOUSE OF REFUGE.

As chairman of the Charity Committee this year, I have had excellent opportunities of judging of the necessity for such an institution, and am forced to conclude that at the present time it is not required. No doubt some few cases could be found in our midst which it would be extremely convenient to send to such an institution, if we had it, but the immense cost of building and maintaining a Refuge would be out of all proportion to the benefit to be derived from it. In the future this may be so, but for the present I am not prepared to incur the expense of building and maintaining a Refuge until I have the honor to be elected by you to the Mayoralty. I will use my influence to prevent this burden being added to your already heavy taxes.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject also are, I believe, opposed to mine.

CIVIC SALARY.

I am not in favor of attaching a salary to the office of either Mayor or Councillor, believing that the opportunity which you thus afford them of proving themselves faithful servants, and worthy of your confidence, ought to be a sufficient reward for their time and trouble.

Understand Mr. Paterson's views on this point also are at variance with mine.

CLEAR AND TREASURER.

I am opposed to allowing one person to hold the two offices of Clerk and Treasurer. On this point also Mr. Paterson differs from me.

RANK OF TOWN BUILDINGS.

As the paying for these buildings this year has caused a considerable increase in the amount of taxation, and a good deal of dissatisfaction has been expressed in consequence, a few words from me on this subject will not be out of place. Early in the year there was a general assembly in the Council as to the desirability of purchasing these buildings on the terms offered by Mr. Stevenson, namely:—$4,500, payable in debentures bearing interest at 5 per cent, running over either 10 or 20 years, but when this matter came up in discussing the estimates, to my surprise, the whole amount (less about $400 received from the Town Trust Commissioners) was asked for this year. I was opposed to this, but was voted down. Councillor McNaughton alone supporting me. Mr. Paterson, whose duty it was, as Chairman of the Finance Committee, to compile the estimates, only perhaps gave some satisfactory explanation to the ratepayers for putting this heavy tax upon them. The title to these buildings has not yet, I believe, been perfected. Is it possible that the purchase may yet fall through?

There are many other points on which I might touch, but as this address is already too long, I shall only say that I am opposed to all jobbery and rinf, and to the transacting of the town's affairs in secret conclaves and not in either open Council or Committee.

I am in favor of progress and municipal reform, and when I have an opportunity in the management of our municipal affairs, I am also strongly in favor of such saving.

If elected, I shall use my best efforts to obtain a dollar's worth of your money for every dollar I receive.

I am now in your hands, and it is for you to say by your votes whether my conduct during the year and my position on the foregoing important matters is worthy of your support and confidence.

I remain,

Your obedient servant,

C. W. SAWERS.

DISTRICT INTELLIGENCE

CAMPBELLFORD.

PRESENTATIONS.—From the Herald we learn that Mr. Knight, Head Master of the High School, was presented with an album in connection with the closing of the school. Mr. Ludlow, Head Master of the Public school, who retires from teaching on account of ill health, was presented with a drawing case. Mr. E. Tree, teacher of S. S. No. 4, Seymour, was also presented with an album.

LAST THE MINISTERIAL FIELD.—From the proceedings of the Kingston Presbytery of a late session, we learn that the venerable Dr. Neill, of Seymour East, who has borne the conflict of the majesty of love in his ministerial labour for forty-five years, has been given permission to retire. The universally esteemed, aged gentleman has been pastor of his late charge for almost the whole period approaching half a century, and full of years and honor he now steps aside to allow youth and vigor to take up the blessed work and carry it forward till the glad tidings are preached to every creature.

MILLBROOK.

DEPARTURE FROM HONESTY.—A deplorable event has occurred, in the fall from honesty and integrity of a young man, long so well and so favorably known in Millbrook. We are not in a position to give details of particulars, but would merely give actual facts. About the first of the month Messrs. Wood & Kells, of this place, sent a draft to Messrs. Kirchoff & Howard, of Brandon, for $14,000, to pay the Government for certain lands. The senior member of the firm has his office at Souris, Mr. A. D. Howard being at Brandon. Mr. Howard seems to have been tempted by the glittering baits, and left for the land of freedom with his ill-gotten gains, having first telegraphed to his wife, at Toronto, to join him at Chicago. Together they proceeded, and were overhauled at Denver, where, we learn, money was obtained from them. Mr. W. A. Curry, of Millbrook, was sent on the way back from this end, and Mr. Kirchoff from the west. Mr. Curry has got home with something over $13,000 of Messrs. Wood & Kells' money, the sheriff's charges for arrest and getting money being $1,250.—Advertiser.

LINDSEY.

ROB OVER.—One afternoon last week Vincent Keenan was considerably hurt by being run over at the corner of Cambridge and Kent streets. One of the horses struck the boy's head with the hoof and with another made a bad bruise on his arm. He is now, however, getting over all his wounds nicely.

LAMP EXPLOSION.—One evening last week Mr. A. Ward, in Mr. Wessie's bar, met with a rather unfortunate accident. The coal oil lamp from some cause exploded while he was writing at the table and before it could be extinguished burned Mr. Ward's hands rather severely, and did great damage to the table and ornaments, books, etc., on the table. In fact it came nearly setting the whole house on fire.

Nearly Killed.—The house of Mrs. Elliot in the south ward came near burning up on Wednesday morning. Shortly before daybreak Mr. McGraw, who lives near, came to his door, when he perceived sparks coming from the side of his neighbor's house, and running over he found the fire making good headway between the outside frame work and the inside plastering. After great difficulty he, with the assistance of others, managed to get it extinguished, but not before considerable damage was done to the building. There is little doubt that the cause of this present but that incendiaries was the cause of the outbreak, as no fire could have possibly been below or worked its way to that side of the building.—Advertiser.

Tuesday, Dec. 28.

We extract the following from an old work, prophesying dire calamities to befall us when Christmas day falls on a Tuesday. As Christmas day fell on Tuesday this year, it may interest our readers to note the ideas possessed in "ye olden times."

Yf Christmas Day on Tuesday,

English Plum Pudding.

Take a pound of raisins, stoned, a pound of currants, which, wash, pick and dry; a pound of good beef steat, minced meat and a pound of stale bread crumbs, and half a pound of flour. Mix the bread, flour and meat in a pan; beat six eggs in a basin and add to them half a pint of sweet milk; pour the eggs and milk into the pan with the meat, flour and crumbs, and beat together with a wooden spoon for some time, then stir in the raisins and currants, mixing well as you proceed; mix in also a quarter of a pound of candied orange or lemon peel, cut small, an ounce of ground ginger, a nutmeg grated, and a little salt. Next add a glass of rum or brandy. The pudding is now ready to be boiled. Put it in a mould or in a strong cloth, allowing a little room for it to swell, and boil for six hours. Serve with brandy or wine sauce.

Dr. Casson's WEAR YOU EAT.—The best medical authorities declare that worms in the human system are often induced by eating too freely of uncooked fruit and too much meat, cheese, etc. Worms may be the cause. Freeman's Worm Powders are speedy and safe to cure; they destroy the worms, and contain their own castor oil to expel them.

"I HAD been for eight months unable to work, and felt as though I would as lief die as live, through dyspepsia and indigestion. I was bed-ridden the time of getting a box of McGraw's Speedy Cure 120 lbs. used 3 bottles and now weigh 165 lbs., and never was better in my life. It was McGraw's Speedy Cure that brought me around." So says Wm. Fell, Hamilton. Go to John McKee's Drug Store and get a free trial bottle, or the regular size for 50 cents and one dollar.

JAMES SHAWLEY, Hamilton, says:—"I read the testimonials for McGraw's Speedy Cure and found that I had not to go to New York, Philadelphia, Louisiana or Texas to find living witnesses of its value. We had plenty of persons right here to prove its merits. I got a bottle and it helped me right away. I was as bed-ridden with biliousness and indigestion as I think any one could be. I have taken three bottles and am nearly well and can eat any kind of food without it hurting me. I may say that I am better than I ever expected to be." Free trial bottles at John McKee's drug store.

Our Canadian Industry
is prosperous. The great difficulty to be contended with in the low grade of goods required in making the more superior than in the comparatively small article of sewing silk. The great demand in Canada seems to be for a cheap quality, buyers forgetting that a cheap thread must necessarily be a fine and consequently a weak one. Messrs. Belding, Paul & Co. make three grades of good silk; of these different qualities the poorest one has by far the largest sale, at the same time they consistently bear of contempt all of poor sewing silk. If ladies will take the trouble to ask for Belding, Paul & Co.'s own brand, and see that their name is on the end of each spool, they will be sure of getting the best made.

Advice to Mothers.
Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depot of the mother, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething is pleasant in the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

DEAR SIR.—For over twenty years I have suffered greatly from Nasal Catarrh; sometimes being unable to smell or taste properly. The disease caused a severe pain over the eyes, and frequently stopped my writing on account of dizziness. The phlegm in my throat gave me much annoyance, especially in company, balls of which would occasionally fall down into my throat, and I could seldom breathe through my nose. I have taken quinine of various medicines without any apparent benefit, until I was induced, by your agent of 50 cents, to try your FOUNTAIN OF HEALTH. After using five bottles I am prepared to give it as my honest opinion that for the cure of Catarrh it is a grand success. I have recommended it to many of my friends, one of whom encloses his testimonial with mine.

Wishing you deserved success,

I am gratefully yours,

"What Shall I Give Him?"

Is a puzzling question. Its easy enough to find things for the "hers," in fact the variety is embarrassing; but the selection of a present for the male sex is more difficult. We have known Ladies to present their Husbands with useful household articles, and its not a bad idea, but if you wish to give the man something for personal use the list to choose from is rather short. CLOTHES are Staple—always in demand. Why not a NEW OVERCOAT or SUIT? A SET OF SHIRTS, some fine HOSIERY, HANDKERCHIEFS, or NECKWEAR? or, if that is not appropriate, give the Domestic Man a HOUSE COAT or WRAPPER. While to the Gay Young Man, SHIRT STUDS, SCARF PINS, SILK TIE or SCARF. Now that you have the hint what to get, we will modestly add that a good place to get everything of this sort is right here, where we are making a Special Holiday Display of Useful and Ornamental Wearing Apparel for Men and Boys.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1883.

TO OUR READERS.

With this number of the REVIEW is completed another volume—the year 1883 is drawing to an end, and the new year is close at hand. During the twelve months so nearly expired we have endeavored to maintain the reputation of the REVIEW, and to keep pace with the steady advance of our town and country. If we have not been able fully to attain the standard at which we have aimed, we have the satisfaction of knowing that our endeavors have been appreciated, as has been evidenced by the approval expressed by our friends and readers, and the constantly growing patronage with which the public has favored us.

It is pleasant to be able to congratulate our readers on the progress that has been made and the prosperity that has been enjoyed during the past year. Peterborough has indeed been exceptionally favored. We have heard, (somehow doubtfully), of business depression and closed factories in other quarters, our merchants, however, state that they have little cause for complaint, and our manufacturers have been busy. Though there has been a rather short crop throughout the Province, the county of Peterborough has been exceptionally favored, the returns showing at least a fair average harvest. In the important matter of internal communications we have also witnessed great advances—the construction and now the running of the "missing link" of the Midland Railway to Oshawa has been of great benefit, the Ontario and Quebec Railway, to afford us a completing line, is rapidly progressing, and work is being steadily pushed forward on the Trent Valley Canal. Our town has welcomed the opening of an efficient system of waterworks, by which a large proportion of its property has secured more thorough protection against the ravages of fire, while the constant supply of water has been of great service for domestic and industrial purposes. Our population has increased, new houses are constantly being erected to be occupied as soon as ready, and in many other respects we have made satisfactory advances. We have every reason to anticipate a continuance of this prosperity.

Beside offering our congratulations for the past and good wishes for the future, the firm of Toker & Co. has to pronounce its farewell. Business changes of which our readers are aware make this a fitting opportunity to thank our subscribers, our customers and our friends for the support and encouragement which they have liberally afforded us for the past six years. While gratefully acknowledging these favors we wish all our friends and readers A HAPPY NEW YEAR.

THE STATE AND HIGHER EDUCATION.
While the advocates of an increased grant to the Toronto University out of Provincial funds have their claims resting upon the ground that it is a necessary stepping stone to our system of state education, and have not hesitated, in several instances, to brand those opposed to such a grant as enemies to our public schools, and while too many of those who have entered the epistolary arena in opposition to such a grant have treated the question as one simply of justice or injustice to the denominational colleges which are doing a similar work for the public at private expense, and have not hesitated to intimate that if the latter were given a quid pro quo they would have no objection to the Provincial purse being bled to an indefinite amount for university education, we are delighted to notice that a few of those who have taken part in this discussion have ventured to take up a broader, and what seems to us the only correct position for this province in this very important matter, by disputing in toto the assumption that the state, as such, is in any way bound to provide for the "higher" education of the "few" because it makes provision for the education of the masses.

Prof. Barwick, of Victoria College, Cobourg, puts this aspect of the question in a nutshell when he says, as he said in a recent letter:—"There is a very essential distinction between the general education necessary for all classes of citizens and the higher education needed by those who aspire to positions of influence and emolument. The state may provide the first free for all without being under obligation to do so for the second." And so far as we have noticed, not a single writer has ventured to question the soundness of such a position. In fact, in our opinion, it is a position which is unimpeachable and an incontrovertible reply to those who are trying to impose the expense of a "higher" education, which is neither "necessary" nor desirable for "all classes," upon a general public, many of whom have already more than they can do to bear the share required of them in giving the masses that general education which is necessary to the humblest as well as to the most eminent citizen, and which either is or ought to be that kind of education given in the public schools of the country.

Instead of being branded as enemies to the public school system, we claim that those who are resisting the claims which are being put forth on behalf of state support for higher education are its true friends. The educational expenditure of this Province is already very large, and, if the present scale is to be even maintained, must increase as our population increases. This latter we venture to assert the financial position of the Province will not permit, and as a consequence either the gross sum expended for this purpose must be increased or an increasing proportion of it must be raised by local taxation. The latter everybody knows, especially in rural sections, is already all that can be borne. Moreover the grant per head now given by the Province for the education of those attending the Public Schools is already so small that if further reduced it might as well be withdrawn altogether, while it is altogether out of proportion to that contributed by the State for higher education. Indeed, measured by this test it would seem that one pupil passing through Toronto university, is deemed by our paternal government worth nearly as much as the attendance of 9000 children at the public schools for a single year—the cost in the former case being estimated at $1000, while the annual contribution in the latter case is but 54 cents per head. Even in the matter of our high schools and Collegiate Institutes the Province appears to consider one pupil in them worth a dozen in the schools of the masses—the contribution for High School pupils being, in 1882, $3.84 per annum. Let us summarize the value which the "State" of Ontario puts on these three classes of education:—

A Toronto University Graduate.....	$1,000.00
A High School or Collegiate Institute pupil per annum.....	6.34
A Public or Separate School pupil per annum.....	.54

But perhaps some one will be disposed to say that this is an unfair comparison for the University, inasmuch as we have only taken into account the Government grant and excluded the direct contributions of the people towards the maintenance of the two last named schools. Very well, we will take the total amount paid for teachers salaries, and here is the result:—

A Toronto University Graduate.....	$1,000.00
A High School pupil per annum.....	19.00
A Public School pupil per annum.....	4.42

So that take it as you will the expenditure of the country for the general education of the people per pupil is very much less than that for the education of a few—there being about 36 children attending the public schools for every one attending the High Schools and Collegiate Institutes.

And yet if we are to accept the advice of a certain class, it is the "higher" and not the "general" schools which require further support out of the Provincial Treasury! And those who venture to take the opposite view and oppose increased grants for higher education in order that the "general education" which is "necessary for all classes" may be rendered more efficient and brought still more within the reach of the poorest as well as the richest are enemies to education and to the best interests of the people, as a whole. Well if that is being an enemy to the people then we fear we must be ranked "as among their enemies."

THE HARBOUR GRACE AFFAIR.

St. John's N. F. Dec. 28.—A special despatch from Harbor Grace just received states that the Harbor Grace riot dates from Monday last, when it was publicly announced that the Orangemen would turn out in full force on the Wednesday following. Angry groups were seen gathered in the streets all day, and several altercations and street fights occurred, but happily with no serious consequences. The officers of the law were strong enough to repress these petty disturbances, and the crowds dispersed quietly to their homes towards evening. No effervescence of hostile feeling manifested itself on Christmas morning, but on Wednesday morning all this scene of tranquillity was changed. At half-past ten o'clock the Orangemen assembled in the British hall, and having donned the regalia of their association marched to the Wesleyan church, where they attended Divine service. Shortly after noon they reformed in procession outside of the church and proceeded to Bear's Cave. From this they marched through Harvey street, and were on the point of turning down on Water street to return to their hall when a mob of armed men confronted them. Head Constable Doyle appeared on the scene and endeavored to prevent a collision, but he was knocked senseless to the ground by the blow of a bludgeon of one of the rioters. The Orangemen halted when the mob immediately fired several heavily loaded snuff-shotguns into their ranks. Five men fell to rise no more. Six arrests have been made by the police at the river head of Harbor Grace. There is a lull at present in the storm, but the authorities are anticipating a fresh outbreak to-morrow, when the funeral of the murdered Orangeman will take place. The society have sworn that they will attend these funerals with all the pomp and circumstances of their order. The police force at Harbor Grace is being largely recruited from the neighboring towns. Thousands of men from Harbor Main and all around Conception bay are arming to the teeth, and the citizens of the several towns in that extensive circuit are in a state of uncontrollable emotion and fear.

The Wreck of the Planty.

Oporto, Dec. 28.—Capt. Scott, of the wrecked steamer Planty, says:—On November 17th, at latitude 44.17, longitude 42.20, a hurricane carried away the poop deck, the bridge, skylight, and main deck from the poop to the engine room, leaving only the iron work intact. One of the masts fell, smashing five lifeboats and four pinaces the water quenched the fire and filled the hold. Four sailors and one passenger perished at sea. Dr. Prayner and four sailors were injured, and one of the latter died. Four hundred and sixty-two of cargo were jettisoned to relieve the vessel. Several steamers passed while the Planty was undergoing her terrible trial, but paid no attention to the distress signals. The crew worked at the pumps and bailed the water night and day, keeping the ship afloat until December 26th, when the brig G. D. T. rescued the passengers and crew. Two of the men were afterwards transferred to another vessel.

The Prince of Wales on Freemasonry.
The Prince of Wales, on the occasion of his being made a Past Grand Master of Mark Master Masons of England a few days ago, made an interesting address. After returning thanks for the high honor and privilege they had conferred on him he said:—

"It is a high compliment, I assure you, to have received this degree; and although it is the last I have received since I entered the craft I look upon it as by no means the least. (Cheers.) Brothers, the interest in the craft, which I hope you will give me credit for having evinced ever since I have been a member, will, I assure you, be diminished. (Cheers.) I only regret that, through the manifold duties which in the course of the year fall to my lot to perform, I cannot, unfortunately, devote as much time as I could wish to the interests of Freemasonry. But, brethren, you may be assured that I have your interest at heart, and you may rest assured that as long as I live I shall do all I can to uphold our ancient and honorable order. (Cheers.) As long, brethren, as Freemasonry remains as it is now, an order and institution of charity and usefulness, it will flourish while the world exists. (Hear, hear.) Let us hope the time will never come when we may in any way be biased by politics. (Cheers.) Above all, brethren, let us remember that we must be a charitable body, and you may be assured that, as long as religion is maintained in the hearts of the craft in our country, the craft is certain to flourish, and be assured of this, brethren, that when religion in its essence, the craft will also lose its power and its stability. (Cheers.) I will not detain you longer, as I know many of you have travelled long distances and wish to return, but I must thank you once more for the high compliment paid to me to-day, and I assure you of the pride I feel in having taken the chair of the Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons."

THOS. W. ROBINSON, Manager.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN:—

At the request of many of the ratepayers of the Town, who are opposed to the present management of our Municipal affairs, I appear as a candidate for the Mayoralty for 1884, and beg respectfully to solicit your votes and influence therefor.

My course as Councilor during the present year has been severely criticised, but I can only say that every act of mine in the Council was prompted by my conviction of what was just and right to the ratepayers. I entered the Council without personal interest of any kind to serve, determined to advance the interests of the ratepayers to the best of my ability, and as far as my single efforts could do so, to conduct the business of the Town on the same sound business principles that every one of you applies to the conduct of your own private affairs.

This course, opposed as it was to the loose and extravagant manner in which the majority in the Council have been accustomed to carry on your business, naturally called down upon me a storm of abuse, which, however, the course of my convictions has enabled me to bear without difficulty.

Many important matters have been before the present Council, and, as my opponent, Councilor Patterson, holds views on them different from my own, I shall here state a few of them, hoping to have the opportunity of discussing the merits of our opposite opinions before you will him.

FILE PROTECTION.

I am opposed to paying by a general tax for hydrants taken by the Town for fire protection, believing it to be unjust to ask ratepayers living outside of the fire limits to pay for the protection of the centre of the town.

Mr. Patterson's views on this subject are directly opposed to mine.

HONOR OF REFUGE.

As chairman of the Charity Committee this year I have had excellent opportunities of judging of the necessity for such an institution, and am forced to conclude that at the present time it is not required. No doubt some few cases could be found in our midst which it would be extremely convenient to send to such an institution, if we had it, but the immense cost of building and maintaining a Refuge would be out of all proportion to the benefit to be derived from it. In the future this may not be so. You may therefore rest assured that, if I have the honor to be elected by you to the Mayoralty, I will use my influence to prevent this burden being added to your already heavy taxes.

Mr. Patterson's views on this subject also are, I believe, opposed to mine.

CIVIL SALARY.

I am not in favor of attaching a salary to the office of either Mayor or Councilor, believing that the opportunity which you thus afford them of proving themselves faithful servants, and worthy of your confidence, ought to be a sufficient reward for their time and trouble. I understand Mr. Patterson's views on this point also are at variance with mine.

CLERK AND TREASURER.

I am opposed to allowing one person to hold the two offices of Clerk and Treasurer. On this point also Mr. Patterson differs from me.

RANK OF TOWN BUILDINGS.

As the paying for these buildings this year has caused a considerable increase in the amount of taxation, and a good deal of dissatisfaction has been expressed in consequence, a few words from me on this subject will not be out of place. Early in the year there was a general unanimity of the Council as to the desirability of purchasing these buildings on the terms offered by Mr. Stevenson, namely:—$4,800, payable in debentures bearing interest at 5 per cent. running over either 10 or 20 years, but when this matter came up in discussing the estimates to my surprise, the whole amount (less about $400 repaid from the Town Trust Commission) was asked for this year. I was opposed to this, but was voted down. Councilor McNamilton alone supporting me. Mr. Patterson, whom duty it was as Chairman of the Finance Committee, to compile the estimates, can perhaps give some satisfactory explanation to the ratepayers for putting this heavy tax upon them. The title to these buildings has not yet, I believe, been perfected. Is it possible that the purchase money yet fall through?

There are many other points on which I might touch, but as this address is already too long, I shall only say that I am opposed to all jobbery and ring, and to the transacting of the town's affairs in secret conclaves and not in either open Council or Committee.

I am in favor of progress and municipal reform, and where any saving can be effected in the management of our municipal affairs, I am also strongly in favor of such saving.

If elected, I shall use my best efforts to obtain a dollar's worth of your money for every dollar expended.

I am now in your hands, and it is for you to say by your votes whether my conduct during the year and my position on the foregoing important matters is worthy of your support and confidence.

I remain,
Your obedient servant,

O. W. SAWERS.

CARD OF THANKS

I desire to return my thanks to my many friends for their liberal patronage during the year now drawing to its close, and in doing so, I beg to say that all who may favour me with their custom, shall have as heretofore, my best attention.

I recognize the fact that the time to give bargains is when there is a demand for goods. The demand is now here as the Christmas holidays are now drawing nigh, and we shall soon be entering upon the New Year.

I have therefore decided to reduce my stock, and shall offer during this month

All Dress Goods,
Mantles,
Mantle Cloths, and Millinery,

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES, and all other goods in proportion.

It will pay you to give me a call, and to call early in the best.

Wishing all the compliments of the Season.

LOCAL NEWS

The Cells.

One prisoner, a vagrant, tenanted the police cells on Monday night, and last night they were occupied by five tramps.

Choice Apples.

A few barrels of choice apples for sale. Also pure apple cider by the quart, gallon or barrel at Carron Bros.

New Year's Day.

This holiday passed off very quietly on Tuesday. Driving was the principal enjoyment of the day, and was indulged in to the fullest extent. Every kind of available vehicle was brought into use, from the one horse cutter to the dashing four-in-hand.

Personal.

The Rev. Dr. Rice, President of the General Conference of the Methodist Church of Canada, and who was elected one of the General Superintendents of the United Methodist Church, was at the anniversary of the George Street Methodist Church on Tuesday evening.

The Rev. N. R. Wiloughby, M.A., formerly pastor of the George Street Methodist Church, is in town.

Health Bulletin.

The official report of the health of Ontario for the week ending Saturday December 22nd, shows that Bronchitis has somewhat increased; Influenza is stationary; Typhoid slightly increased; Diphtheria has rapidly advanced from 1.5 to 4.3 per cent. of the total diseases. The six most prevalent diseases in the district in which Peterborough is included are as follows: Bronchitis, 16.3; Anemia, 10.6; Influenza, 8.5; Neuralgia, 8.5; Diarrhoea, 4.2; Rheumatism, 3.5.

An Answer to Paddy Bain.

The following letter appeared in the Mail of Monday last:—

Sir,—My attention has just been called to a challenge issued some time ago by Paddy Bain to box me six rounds.

If I hear right, there would not be enough money in a house to pay the rent for a meeting between myself and Bain, who is not known here or in Toronto. It is the rule when a man has no reputation as a boxer for him to put up money to bring on a better known one. This is the proper way to do business, and if Bain or his representative will put up money for a match in any responsible man's hands, it will be covered. I am ready for him or anybody else.

Yours, etc., JACK STEWART, Champion of Canada.

New Year's Feast.

The Fire Brigade Band were busy all day yesterday serenading their numerous friends, and will be out again this evening, as they were unable to call on all those who are down on their long list. The patronage extended to them by those honored by a serenade was equal to, if not better than last year. The music they furnished yesterday was excellent, and the band appears to be unusually strong at present. The City Band was also engaged in this pleasant employment of serenading the citizens, and report success in the amount of contributions received.

The Firemen's Ball.

The annual ball of the Peterborough Fire Brigade, which was held in Bradburn's Opera House on Monday evening, was a brilliant success. The attendance was large, there being about one hundred and twenty-five couples present. The Fire Brigade Band Orchestra furnished good music for the dancers. The Opera House was handsomely decorated for the occasion with motion, flags, Chinese lanterns, &c., among the motions being "A Fireman's Welcome," "We Render Aid in Time of Need," "Our Band," and "God Save the Queen." The committee showed good taste and spared no pains in this part of their work. Supper was provided at the Little Windsor Hotel, and was a sumptuous spread. The amusement was continued nearly all night, and the ball was a highly enjoyable one. The Brigade are to be congratulated on the success of the assembly, which was one of the best ever held by them.

A DYNAMITE EXPLOSION

ON THE ONTARIO AND QUEBEC RAILWAY ON NEW YEAR'S DAY.

Several Men Seriously and one Dangerously Injured—Houses Shaken and Windows Shattered—The Shock Felt in Town.

On the afternoon of Tuesday a number of men were engaged in constructing a culvert on the Ontario and Quebec Railway in the village of Ashburnham. Dynamite is the material they used for loosening the earth, and Mr. Pat. Nicholson, the foreman, was preparing dynamite cartridges to be used in blasting the earth for the culvert, by putting the glycerine snaps into the dynamite cartridges. The dynamite was frozen, and a fire was kindled to thaw it out. This, although a seemingly dangerous operation, is the usual practice.

The fire was on the shore of the Little Lake, at the end of Lake street, and about a dozen men were working around there. Twenty-two cartridges, each containing about a pound of the explosive, were lying on the ground. The fuse connected with one of the cartridges caught fire, and before it could be extinguished, or the fuse cut, it reached the cap and a loud explosion followed, all the cartridges exploding at the same moment.

Nicholson was thrown a distance of seven or eight feet, and when the men who rushed to wards him reached where he was lying he was covered with blood. His clothes were torn and his head was badly injured and his face burned. The shock he received must have been terrible. Wm. Jackson, of Ashburnham, who was standing on the opposite side of the fire, received a blow on the eye, and Thos. King, of Peterborough, was also struck on the eye and it is feared that he may lose the power of seeing with it. Thos. Daly was struck on the cheek by a flying stick or stone, and the hand of an Italian was injured.

Nicholson, who was the most severely injured, was assisted on the way towards the town, until a gentleman came along with a horse and cutter and brought him over to the Stewart House, where he boarded. Dr. Kincaid, who is attending him, says that he received a severe shock, but he is a strong man and will recover. His eyes were injured, but he will not lose the sight of either of them.

The shock caused by the explosion shook the whole village and was felt throughout the town. All the windows in the south side of Mr. J. J. Lundy's house were shattered, not a bit of glass being left in them, and the sashes were broken. Mr. H. T. Strickland's residence was also damaged, nine large lights of glass being shattered, a lock burst and window bolts forced off. Mrs. Strickland was sitting at a desk in front of a window when the glass fell in places around her, but she was happily uninjured. Some damage was done to the residence of Mr. John Burnham, M. P., and all the houses in that part of the village were severely shaken. The damage caused to Mr. Lundy's residence will probably amount to about $50. People residing near the river on the Peterborough side felt the shock so plainly that they rushed out of their houses to ascertain its cause, and in some cases the windows were damaged.

All the men working near the scene of the explosion had a narrow escape. Sticks, stones and dirt were scattered in all directions, but the force of the explosion went in the opposite direction to where they were working, or the result would undoubtedly have been much more disastrous. Two teams of horses were standing near the spot, but beyond a fright they were not injured.

Anniversary Services.

A tea meeting was held in the school room of the George Street Methodist church on the evening of New Year's Day, in connection with the anniversary services of that church. The tea was largely attended, and the ladies of the congregation had provided abundance of delicious edibles. After the tea, the Rev. Bishop Carman delivered a lecture in the church, his subject being "Trade and Get Rich." This part of the service was opened by music and by the Rev. T. Manning, B. A., leading in prayer. The Rev. John Shaw, pastor of the church, occupied the chair. Mr. J. W. Flavell read the financial statement for the year 1883, which was very satisfactory, showing that the income had exceeded the expenditure, and that the debt on the church had been reduced to the extent of $924. A vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Flavell and to Mr. Mason for their services. The Rev. Dr. Carman then delivered his lecture, which was practical, deep and sparkling with humour, and was eloquently delivered. The thanks of the audience was tendered to the lecturer, and the meeting was concluded by the Rev. Dr. Carman pronouncing the benediction.

THE MARCH

—OF—
WINTER DRESS GOODS.

Goods well bought are said to be half sold. The march began before ours were fairly on stock, and the march has been kept up since.

We had the best of assortments to begin with, gathered literally both from abroad and at home. The best fabrics picked with the eye of an expert—just such goods as sell.

Never have we had a season of greater activity. Never did our prices seem more inviting. Never was there better proof of it either, for with very few exceptions our prices remain unchanged. Yet customers assure us that they are lower than where stocks have been professedly reduced.

Remember our goods are the freshest from the most famous weavers.

Prices, you know is one of our strong points always.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN:—

At the request of many of the ratepayers of the Town, who are opposed to the present management of our Municipal affairs, I appear as a candidate for the Mayoralty for 1884, and beg respectfully to solicit your votes and influence therefor.

My course as Councillor during the present year has been severely criticised, but I can only say that every act of mine in the Council was prompted by my conviction of what was just and right to the ratepayers. I entered the Council without personal interest of any kind to serve, determined to advance the interests of the ratepayers to the best of my ability, and, as far as my single efforts could do so, to conduct the business of the Town on the same sound business principles than every one of you applies to the conduct of your own private affairs.

This course, opposed as it was to the loose and extravagant manner in which the majority in the Council have been accustomed to carry on your business, naturally called down upon me a storm of abuse, which, however, the courage of my convictions has enabled me to bear without difficulty.

Many important matters have been before the present Council, and, as my opponent, Councillor Paterson, holds views on them different from my own, I shall here state a few of them, hoping to have the opportunity of discussing the merits of our opposite opinions before you with him.

FIRE PROTECTION.

I am opposed to paying by a general tax for hydrants taken by the Town for fire protection, believing it to be unjust to ask ratepayers living outside of the fire limits to pay for the protection of the centre of the town.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject also are, I believe, opposed to mine.

HOUSE OF REFUGE.

I am not in favor of attaching a salary to the office of either Mayor or Councillor, believing that the opportunity which you thus afford them of proving themselves faithful servants, and worthy of your confidence, ought to be a sufficient recompense for their time and trouble. I understand Mr. Paterson's views on this point also are at variance with mine.

CLERK AND TREASURER.

I am opposed to allowing one person to hold the two offices of Clerk and Treasurer. On this point also Mr. Paterson differs from me.

BANK OF TORONTO BUILDINGS.

As the paying for these buildings this year has caused a considerable increase in the amount of taxation, and a great deal of dissatisfaction has been expressed in consequence, a few words from me on this subject will not be out of place.

Early in the year there was a general unanimity in the Council as to the desirability of purchasing these buildings on the terms offered by Mr. Stevenson, namely:—$4,500, payable in debentures bearing interest at 5 per cent. running over either 10 or 20 years, but when this matter came up in discussing the estimates, to my surprise, the whole amount (less about $400 received from the Town Trust Commissioners) was asked for this year. I was opposed to this, but was voted down. Councillor McNaughton alone supporting me. Mr. Paterson, whose duty it is, as Chairman of the Finance Committee, to compile the estimates, can perhaps give some satisfactory explanation to the ratepayers for putting this heavy tax upon them. The title to these buildings has not yet, I believe, been perfected. Is it possible that the purchase may yet fall through?

There are many other points on which I might touch, but as this address is already too long, I shall only say that I am opposed to all jobbery and rings, and to the transferring of the town's affairs in secret conclaves and not in either open Council or Committee.

I am in favor of progress and municipal reform, and where any saving can be effected in the management of our municipal affairs, I am also strongly in favor of such saving.

If elected, I shall use my best efforts to obtain a dollar's worth of your money for every dollar expended.

I am now in your hands, and it is for you to say by your votes whether my conduct during the year and my position on the foregoing important matters is worthy of your support and confidence.

I remain,
Your obedient servant,

C. W. SAWERS.

Peterborough, 6th December, 1883.

TO THE ELECTORS OF

No. One Ward

GENTLEMEN:—At the request of many of the ratepayers of your Ward, I appear as a candidate for Councillor for 1884.

I am opposed to levying water rates by a general tax. I am in favor of separating the office of Town Clerk and Treasurer.

Hoping to receive your vote and influence,
I remain, yours faithfully,

NOAH T. LAPLANTE.

December 29th, 1883.

TO THE ELECTORS OF

No. TWO Ward.

GENTLEMEN:—I have been requested by a number of the ratepayers of the above Ward to allow myself to be nominated as Councillor for the year 1884.

I have agreed to accept the nomination so heartily that I am not at all sorry to do so, but I do not wish to be responsible for me to select the votes of the ward personally, as the time is so short, but I trust this notice will be accepted instead of a personal canvass.

I am respectfully

Your obedient servant,

R. H. GREEN.

THE GOLDEN LION'S

First Happy Christmas!

The patronage we have received during the past week has been a very flattering indication of the growing popularity of the GOLDEN LION STORE with the people of Peterborough. This is to be accounted for in various ways: Customers who have been once pleased, return to make additional purchases, and bring with them a host of friends. Those who have been undecided where to purchase, have taken the safe rule of buying at the store where they see the largest business is being done. A STRICTLY HONEST and straightforward way of doing business has also produced good fruits in securing the confidence of the people. And another important factor in building up our business has been our ability to buy for cash and to sell goods at closer prices than those prevailing throughout the town.

Our Stock is still extensive and attractive for this happy season of the year, including every possible variety of all new Elegant Winter Dry Goods in perfect order, to be offered during the remainder of the Holidays at our popular prices. We are determined to give

GOOD VALUE to all who may favor us with their orders.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, JANUARY 3, 1884.

THE PETERBOROUGH REGISTRARSHIP.

UNDER the above heading the Belleville Intelligence makes the following remarks upon the manner in which Mr. Mowat is using his public patronage in order to gain a political advantage for himself by the allotment of an office for which the remuneration is supplied by the people. The Intelligence says:—

"The long delay in filling this vacancy seems unaccountable, as there is no 'protest' in either of the Peterboroughs—hence no election is likely to occur for a time. But the public must not be misled as to lack of material, as we are credibly informed that nearly every able-bodied Grit in the county is an applicant. Mr. Mowat has friends in the West Riding, on one of whom he wishes to bestow the office, but as that Riding is lost to the party he hesitates, although one gentleman is supposed to have the commission in his pocket. In the East Riding another applicant is endeavoring to dispose of his business, so sure is he of the position, that the difficulty may be explained in this way: the East elects a supporter of the Government, and as party lines are closely drawn in the House, he is master of the situation at home, therefore we need not look for an appointment at present, and however much Mr. Mowat may be disposed to carry out promises in the West, he cannot afford to provoke a 'Bleed' from the East."

We may remind our contemporary that it has lost sight of one of the ingredients in this mass of jobbery. It is very true that there is no protest in either of the Peterboroughs, but it is no less true that there is still a protest pending as to the contiguous Riding of East Northumberland, where this piece of patronage was as corruptly used during the last election as in the two Peterboroughs, and where it may be required for the same corrupt service again. This will be the case if Mr. Ferris loses his seat on account of the unscrupulous manner in which he, Mr. Cox and other directors of the Midland Railway used their official position for the benefit of themselves and their political friends, at the cost of the shareholders of the company, whose confidence they thus abused, and whose property they administered so unfairly. It must be remembered that there is no doubt as to this conduct being grossly improper, nor of the impolicy of allowing chartered companies thus to rule an electorate, but that the question to be settled by the Court of Appeal is the mere legal point whether there is such a defect in the statute as to leave a flaw of which advantage can be taken by those who are adept in such trickery. If, however, it is decided that the letter of the law carries out its spirit, and Mr. Ferris' misuses of his official position meets with its reward, there will have to be another election in East Northumberland, and Mr. Mowat therefore reserves the patronage in question in order that in a similar way he may abuse his official position for his own political benefit. Railway games or Registry offices are alike welcomed by these tricksters if by means of them they can falsify the verdict of the people.

Positioning for Forest Preservation.
New York, Dec. 29.—The canal boat owners and Commercial Association, comprising 800 members, considered the subject of the destruction of the Adirondack forest and its effect on the canal last evening. The secretary said that canal men had long observed that the cutting of timber in the Adirondack woods had a tendency to lessen the supply of water in the canal. A member said if the ravaging of the forest were not checked the State would be put to the expense of millions in building reservoirs to supply the canal with water. It was resolved to memorialize the legislature to put a stop to the destruction of the forest.

Railway Intelligence.
A special general meeting of the shareholders of the Ontario and Quebec railway was held on Friday at the company's offices in Toronto. The object of the meeting was the consideration and ratification of the lease of the company's line to the Canada Pacific Railway Company. The shareholders were unanimously in favor of the lease, which will extend over a period of 99 years. The meeting was adjourned till Thursday, January 3rd, for the transaction of other business.

The Winnipeg Times makes the following remarks, which are cutting but well-founded:—
"The Serbian Government has introduced a new feature into European statecraft by sending to death all members of the Opposition. Mr. Mowat is content with disfranchising his opponents."

The Canadian Manufacturer says:—
"The Bay of Quinte people are rejoicing in the prospect of the Murray canal being pushed through as a short cut. And the Trent Valley Canal project has not gone to sleep either, but will probably also get its push through before long."

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—As the time for the Mayoralty election is now near at hand, it becomes the duty of every prudent ratepayer to consider the claims of both candidates, to weigh the arguments for and against each, and then deliberately to decide which is the more worthy of his support and vote accordingly. Both men are respected and respectable citizens, both have a stake in the town and though Mr. Cox has the advantage in age and experience, it is a fact, that in spite of his youth and inexperience, Mr. Sawers has made a bold and manly stand against every kind of jobbery and corruption, and had he been supported (as was impossible, since what men would support another in exposing their own abuses?) he would no doubt have introduced some needed reforms into the management of our town affairs. Turning to his published address we find that his principles, as there laid down, are those of sound and economical municipal government, and being backed up by his consistent course in the Council, recommend him to the support and confidence of the ratepayers. On the other hand let us see what Mr. Cox has to say for himself. In his address we find no hint as to what course he proposes to take on any one question, but in lieu thereof, the simple declaration that as the affairs of our town have arrived at an important crisis he consents to allow himself to be elected Mayor. After this if we still desire a little light as to his probable course it is plain we shall have to seek it elsewhere, and the most likely place to obtain such information is the records of his former three years as Mayor. If we find that his course then met with the approval of the people, we may reasonably conclude that if elected he will again deserve our confidence, but if otherwise, we should promptly reject his claims to our ballots.

In the WEEKLY REVIEW, Sept. 11th, 1874, will be found a tabulated statement of the revenues, expenditure and taxation of the town from 1865 to 1874 inclusive. The opening remarks of the editor are not propitious for Mr. Cox's case. He says:—"We submit the following tabulated statement for the consideration of the ratepayers in the hope that it may prove of use to them by inducing them to take such action as will put a stop to the mad extravagance. If we should not put a worse name—the powers that be." From this statement we take the following facts:—In 1872, Mr. Cox's first year as Mayor, the rate levied was 18 mills (the highest so far in the table) and the deficit at the end of the year was $8,000; in 1873, the rate was 18 mills, with a deficit of over $8,000; and in 1874 it reached 15 mills, and even then left a deficit of over $10,000. Mr. Cox himself appears to have been afraid at last to face his own totals, for when a motion was made to fix the rate at 17 mills, he himself moved, in committee of the whole, to put the rate at 15 mills, and thus left the above enormous deficit to be dealt with by the succeeding council. During Mr. Cox's year of office the amount spent on streets and bridges alone was $11,494.88, which, compared with the $8,520 expended for the same purpose in 1863, when our town is nearly double the size, shows the unbridled extravagance of Mr. Cox's administration. The celebrated Brook street canal, currently reported at the time to have been cut to rectify the mistake of Mr. Cox's architect in building the Bank of Commerce, cost the town $512, and improvements on Park street (famously known as the Park street monument) amounted to $200, besides $60 spent on Hunter street west of Park, so that the Mayor may fairly be said to have got at least his share of what good things were going. That these were disgraceful facts, Mr. Cox seems to have perceived himself, but his attempt to excuse himself could bring in no better plea than that his own taxes were increased by these improvements, but his property was improved in far larger proportion, this excuse must have seemed only an aggravation of his offence to the great mass of the ratepayers who were burdened by the enormous taxation of that year. Thus we find that Mr. Cox's past record tells strongly against him in the present contest, and if the ratepayers take the lesson to heart will prevent their ever placing him in the chair again.

Let us now see if his present position with respect to the town gives him any better claim upon our ballots. By Mr. Cox's own acknowledgement on nomination day, he does not, as was supposed, sever his connection with the Midland Railway on Jan. 1st, but will be still a tenant of that road, with this difference—he will now be less his own master and more the servant of the Grand Trunk. Whether this is a desirable position for the Mayor of Peterborough let the people judge. I should say that it would be the most undesirable possible to conceive. Should the interests of the town and railway clash, on which side would Mr. Cox's interests lie? Most assuredly on that of the railway, whose paid servant he is, and who can do what he likes with the railway in such a case and make use of the advantage which his position as Mayor would give to them, and Mr. Cox has already shown by his glibbling to the Council in the matter of the May street widening that he understands his duty to his employers, and will fulfill it at any cost to the town. There is another matter in connection with the railway which is of vital interest to the town, and should be understood by every ratepayer before voting for Mr. Cox. What is the town's claim against the railway for $30,000 of stock. This claim Mr. Cox, as in duty bound, pocket-pooled to the Council last summer, but to pressure appearances he endeavored to give all the assistance in his power to the town officers in investigating the matter; this assistance he now claims to have given—if so, has any influence been brought to bear that the town has never in its history received my report from these gentlemen?

On nomination day Mr. Cox tried to smooth away these facts, and declared that if elected he will move for an investigation of this matter, but in the face of his public declaration to the Council a short time ago, that the town would be foolish to spend $1 in this matter, I do not think the people will put much faith in his investigation.

As to the water works question, which is one of interest just now, Mr. Cox at the nomination publicly expressed himself in favor of the buying of these works by the town. Of course if they are bought they must be paid for by a general tax and a heavy one, too. Naturally Mr. Cox favors this plan, for it would be money in his pocket, as his property on George street would be benefitted at the expense of every ratepayer in the outskirts of the town, and evidently he does not care that to men of moderate means and especially to the poor such a tax would be a terrible drain and perhaps even ruin. There is another point which, though not of such vital interest as the foregoing matters, still deserves attention. It has been currently reported for some time, and by Mr. Cox's own friends, that he intends to spend the year 1884 in travel. In the WEEKLY REVIEW of Dec. 31st Mr. Cox was asked to say over his own signature whether this report was true or not. As Mr. Cox has made no reply to the above reasonable request passing the subject over in complete silence on nomination day, we are irresistibly led to the conclusion that he cannot deny its truth, and that if we elect Mr. Cox we shall be again subjected to the nuisance of an Acting Mayor, an experience which we have no inclination to repeat.

The above is a simple statement of Mr. Cox's past career and present position with regard to the town as gathered from the municipal records and from his public acts. Is it a record which invites the renewed confidence of the ratepayer? Does it give him any guarantee that his rights will be protected or his interests considered? Does it give any assurance of future economy or reduced taxation?

On the contrary, does not this record warn every ratepayer that Mr. Cox, if elected, will, in the future, as in the past, aggrandize himself at the expense of the people; that he will sacrifice their interests, in the future, as in the past, when required to do so by the interests of the railway; that he will extravagantly spend the public funds, and that, as in the past, heavy deficits will follow his financial administration. That Mr. Cox is a good financier I do not doubt, but his ability lies more in the line of filling his own pockets than in saving the ratepayers'.

Contrasted with this record, Mr. Sawers' last year's work in the Council shows to advantage, and gives us every reason to believe that, if elected Mayor, he will do his utmost to guard our rights and interests, and to advance the town's business with prudence and economy. Let the ratepayers then be true to their own interests, and on Monday next rally to the support of Mr. C. W. Sawers, who, I have not the slightest doubt, will be elected by a large majority.

I remain, yours, &c.,

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN:—

My course as Councillor during the present year has been severely criticised, but I can only say that every act of mine in the Council was prompted by my conviction of what was just and right to the ratepayers. I entered the Council without personal interest of any kind to serve, determined to advance the interests of the ratepayers to the best of my ability, and, as far as my single efforts could do so, to conduct the business of the Town on the same sound business principles that every one of you applies to the conduct of your own private affairs.

This course, opposed as it was to the loose and extravagant manner in which the majority in the Council have been accustomed to carry on your business, naturally called down upon me a storm of abuse which, however, the courage of my convictions has enabled me to bear without difficulty. Many important matters have been before the present Council, and, as my opponent, Councillor Paterson, holds views on them different from my own, I shall here state a few of them, hoping to have the opportunity of discussing the merits of our opposite opinions before you will him.

FIRE PROTECTION.
I am opposed to paying by a general tax for hydrants taken by the Town for fire protection, believing it to be unjust to ask ratepayers living outside of the fire limits to pay for the protection of the centre of the town.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject are directly opposed to mine.

HOUSE OF REFUGE.

As chairman of the Charity Committee this year, I have had excellent opportunities of judging of the necessity for such an institution, and am forced to conclude that at the present time it is not required. No doubt some cases could be found in our midst which it would be extremely convenient to send to such an institution, if we had it, but the immense cost of building and maintaining a Refuge would be of all proportion to the benefit to be derived from it. In the future this may not be so. You may therefore rest assured that, if I have the honor to be elected by you to the Mayoralty, I will use my influence to prevent this burden being added to your already heavy tax load. Mr. Paterson's views on this subject also are, I believe, opposed to mine.

CIVIC SALARY.

I am not in favor of attaching a salary to the office of either Mayor or Councillor, believing that the opportunity which you thus afford them of proving themselves faithful servants, and worthy of your confidence, ought to be a sufficient recompense for their time and trouble. I understand Mr. Paterson's views on this point also are at variance with mine.

CLERK AND TREASURER.

I am opposed to allowing one person to hold the two offices of Clerk and Treasurer. On this point also Mr. Paterson differs from me.

RANK OF TOWN BUILDINGS.

As the paying for these buildings this year has caused a considerable increase in the amount of taxation, and a good deal of dissatisfaction has been expressed in consequence, a few words from me on this subject will not be out of place. Early in the year there was a general unanimity in the Council as to the desirability of purchasing these buildings on the terms offered by Mr. Stevenson, namely:—$4,500, payable in debentures bearing interest at 5 per cent, running over either 10 or 20 years, but when this matter came up in discussing the estimates, to my surprise, the whole amount (less about $400 received from the Town Trust Commissioners) was asked for this year. I was opposed to this, but was voted down, Councillor McNaughton alone supporting me. Mr. Paterson, whose duty it was, as Chairman of the Finance Committee, to compile the estimates, can perhaps give some satisfactory explanation to the ratepayers for putting this heavy tax upon them. The title to these buildings has not yet, I believe, been perfected. Is it possible that the purchase may yet fall through?

There are many other points on which I might touch, but as this address is already too long, I shall only say that I am opposed to all jobbery and rings, and to the transacting of the town's affairs in secret conclaves and not in either open Council or Committee.

I am in favor of economy and municipal reform, and where any saving can be effected in the management of our municipal affairs, I am also strongly in favor of such saving.

If elected, I shall use my best efforts to obtain a dollar's worth of your money for every dollar expended.

I am now in your hands, and it is for you to say by your votes whether my conduct during the year and my position on the foregoing important matters is worthy of your support and confidence.

I remain,

Your obedient servant,

C. W. SAWERS.

Peterborough, 6th December, 1883.

TO THE ELECTORS OF

No. One Ward

GENTLEMEN:—At the request of many of the ratepayers of your Ward, I appear as a candidate for Councillor for 1884.

I am opposed to levying water rates by a general tax. I am in favor of separating the office of Town Clerk and Treasurer.

Hoping to receive your votes and influence,

I remain, yours faithfully,

NOAH T. LAPLANTE.

December 29th, 1883. 4152

TO THE ELECTORS OF

No. TWO Ward.

GENTLEMEN:—I have been requested by a number of the ratepayers of the above Ward to allow myself to be nominated as Councillor for the year 1884.

I have agreed to accept the nomination so flatteringly offered me and beg to say that my policy, if elected, will be to retrenchment in every legitimate way.

It will be impossible for me to solicit the votes of the ward personally, as the time is so short, but I trust this notice will be accepted instead of a personal canvass.

I am respectfully

Your obedient servant,

R. H. GREEN.

FRENCH COLONIZATION.

PARIS, Jan. 2.—The trial of the Marquis de Rays and others charged with falsely inducing many people to subscribe to an enterprise for the colonization of Port Breton, with misappropriation of the funds, and with inducing several hundred persons to settle upon the islands, most of whom perished, was concluded to-day. The marquis was sentenced to four years, two of his associates to two years each, one to eight months, and five to three months. There were thus three thousand francs each. Two others were sentenced to one and five respectively. Three others were acquitted.

THE DROMORE MEETINGS.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—A correspondent in Dublin sends further particulars of the rioting at Dromore yesterday. He says the excitement there and in neighbouring places was intense. In the morning the streets of Dromore were occupied by nearly a thousand troops. Others were stationed at Omagh, Trillick, and other points in readiness if wanted. The Orangemen came in specie from Omagh, and held a large public meeting. Their meeting was held in a field beside the parish church, from which a view could be had of the Nationalist meeting. There was a great deal of cheering and shouting, and the Nationalists were drawn up on the roads to prevent the Orangemen from entering the town, and the Nationalists were prohibited from passing out of the town. The Nationalists were on the way the parties who kept sending. In Omagh there is tremendous excitement. The authorities threaten to resign if the Government allow another Nationalist meeting to be held in the town. The Government have made extreme exertions of the Government there would have been bloodshed and loss of life, as the Orange party could not be controlled. The scene was indescribable. Turkish and police charged with fury. One boy is reported to have died from a wound from a policeman's bayonet.

A CRISIS IN EGYPT.

CAIRO, Jan. 2.—The situation in Egypt appears to be a serious one. The differences which have arisen between the English and Egyptian advisers of the Khedive are daily increasing, and there is fear that the Egyptian Ministry will resign.

ANGELO-TURKISH NEGOTIATIONS.

VIENNA, Jan. 2.—It is stated that the negotiations between England and Turkey regarding the despatch of a Turkish expedition to the Sudan have failed.

THE NEXT Nihilist VICTIM.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 2.—The murder of Lieut.-Col. Sudeikin, of the Gendarmarie, on Friday night was committed at the Rathoff building near the Moscow railway station. The assassin, a Russian, had been stealing that their next victim would be Count Tolstol, Minister of the Interior, and General Gresser, chief of the St. Petersburg police. Lieut.-Col. Sudeikin was enticed into the Rathoff building by several accomplices, by whom it was arranged that a socialist meeting was to be held there.

THE NATIONALIST MEETING.

DUBLIN, Jan. 2.—Despite the proclamation of the Lord Lieutenant prohibiting the gathering of a Nationalist at Cotehill, Mr. Biggar, M. P., arrived there and was enthusiastically received by a large crowd. The magistrates and Mr. Biggar a copy of the proclamation prohibiting the meeting and Mr. Biggar drove off, followed by his friends and the police, the latter preventing any assembly of the crowd.

Truth in Little Things.

Do not let us lie at all. Do not think of one falsity as harmless, and another as slight, and another as unintended. Cast them all aside; they may be light and accidental; but they are an ugly soot from the smoke of the pit, for all that; and it is better that our hearts should be swept clean of them, without ever care as to which is largest or blackest. Speaking truth is like writing fair, and comes only by practice; it is less a matter of will than of habit. The doctrine of expediency can be trivial which permits the practice and formation of such a habit. To speak and not truth with constancy and precision is nearly as nearly as difficult, and perhaps as nearly as nearly as impossible, to do without penalty."—Ruskin. The Seven Lamps of Architecture.

A Remarkable Escape.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 4, 1884.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

As we expected, the text of the judgment of the Privy Council does not countenance the assertion that the jurisdiction of the Province was upheld and that of the Dominion was denied in regard to liquor licenses. It was only decided that the Province was at liberty to make certain police regulations and to delegate their powers to commissioners. The main question as to jurisdiction still remains undetermined.

A STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION.

It is amusing to notice how enamored our contemporaries of the Mowat persuasion have, of a sudden, become with the desirability of having but one set of readers in use in the public schools. We should like to see one of these journals, from the Globe downwards, reproduce a single line of condemnation which they wrote against Mowat's order-in-Council authorizing two sets. Then what he did was "a step in the right direction," and now when he turns right-about-face on his own set of a few months ago it is equally "a step in the right direction."

VERY SUSPICIOUS.

THE Globe makes a disgraceful attack upon Mr. W. R. Meredith because in the exercise of his profession he is defending an accused person against charges of perjury brought by a man who swore in open court that he had told a multiplicity of "lies" (it is his own word) about the matter in question. Mr. Cameron, the new Reform M. P. for West Middlesex, sanctioning these falsehoods by his presence without a protest. It appears also that an effort was made by Mr. Noble, the Police Magistrate of Stratford, and an habitus of the Reform Committee room, to have the case heard before him instead of the magistrate who issued the warrant. The whole affair has very much the aspect of a conspiracy.

Relief for the Bereaved.

The Council chamber of the Town hall at Parkdale was filled to the doors with a general assembly of men on Wednesday evening, all of whom had evidently come prepared to give their vote to a worthy cause—the relief of those bereaved by Wednesday's railway accident.

Wm. Hamilton, Reeve of Parkdale, presided, and Dr. Riddell acted as secretary. Dr. Riddell briefly stated the object for which the meeting had been called, viz.—To open a subscription list for funds to be set apart for the purpose of rendering assistance to the widows and orphans of the men who were killed or maimed by the accident.

A list having been opened, $128.00 were soon procured.

The meeting then adjourned until Wednesday next (9th inst.), when it will be held at the same place.

China's Attitude.

The Times says it has the best authority for stating that China wants peace, and if China will return to her original policy in Tonquin and abstain from further hostile action on the Red River, a pacific agreement is almost certain. China will abide some of her first pretensions if France will show a conciliatory spirit. The northern bank of the main navigable branch of the Red River represents the de plus ultra of Chinese concessions. China believes she can secure her rights as effectively with Queen Yen, Bac Ninh, and Lual in her possession as France with Halphong, Haiduong, and Hanoi. The question of the permanent retention of Sontay should be submitted to the arbitration of a third party. The Times says the rejection of these by France must result in the triumph of the anti-foreign party in Peking. China's desire for peace being sincere, the powers interested should offer their mediation collectively. If there is any hesitation in any quarter on this point, the right of initiative rests in a very high degree with the United States, which Government is bound by the terms of the Burlingame treaty to offer its good offices whenever China requests them.

Saw Mill Destroyed by Fire.

KINGSTON, Jan. 2.—This morning Thompson & Avery's saw mill at Sharbot lake was destroyed by fire. This is the second time the mill has been burned within six months. The loss to the firm will be large. The premises were insured for $3,000.

THE CHOICE OF MAYOR.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—As editors are supposed to know everything, I wish to ask you the reason why, only a short time ago, the Times was so very hard on Mr. Geo. A. Cox. If the Times was an obscure sheet and not read by the masses, and the editor not above suspicion, nay, out of the reach of being supposed to do an ungentlemanly act, one might suppose that dollars and cents had something to do with the sudden change that has taken place lately in favour of Mr. Cox, and more especially since he has become a candidate for the Mayoralty. As already stated, only a short time ago, if we are to believe the Times, Mr. Cox was a most dishonourable man; the worst Manager, and the Midland Railway the worst managed railroad in the continent of America. Now, if we can believe the Times, a sudden change has taken place in Mr. Cox's character, and the Times has just as suddenly found it out, and now informs its readers that it made a huge blunder in attacking Mr. Cox, the manager of the Midland Railway, as we are now told by that journal that Mr. Cox is a perfect gentleman. I am sure that gentlemen must feel highly flattered at having such an influential paper as the Times—without fee or reward, no doubt—lending its great influence to place him in the Mayor's chair. I trust Mr. Cox feels grateful. I also hope that the ratepayers will show that they appreciate the disinterested advice the Times has condescended to give them and will throw aside any of their own silly notions as to who is the right man, and abide by the Times' advice.

I am not at all surprised at the Examiner coming out to tell us what to do, as I have no doubt that Mr. Stratton is under the impression that he knows more than all the ratepayers put together, and is vain enough to believe that they are all of the same opinion, and will vote just as he tells them. But I, for one, and there are no doubt others who, notwithstanding the superior judgment of the Examiner and the gentleman who signs himself an "Elector," will exercise their own judgment as to who is the best person to preside over the Council in the year 1884.

One word about the candidates. Messrs. Geo. A. Cox and Campbell W. Sawers, notwithstanding the abuse meted out to both, are highly respectable; either of which would do credit to the town, and I do not suppose any thing that has been said of either will turn a vote one way or the other.

Mr. Cox, as President of the Midland Railway, has, no doubt, a great influence over certain ratepayers, as is shown by the array of talent he had to assist him at the nomination, which makes it appear to me that they feel Mr. Sawers to be a much stronger man than they wish you or me to believe. If he was the insignificant person they represent him to be, why take so much trouble to let us know it? I have worked and voted for Mr. Cox every time he has stood as a candidate for any office, and in all probability would have done so now, had it not been for the unwarrantable attacks of the journals named on Mr. Sawers, a young man who has been brought up in our midst and whose antecedents are too well known to be affected by anything that is or can be said against him, even by Mr. Hazlett, Mr. Ponssett and Mr. Dumble.

I, for one, have made up my mind to support Mr. Sawers, believing him to be the more economical man of the two. He has plainly told us in his address what he will do if elected, and from what I can learn I have no doubt Mr. Sawers will occupy the Mayor's chair for 1884. Mr. Cox does not pledge himself to anything. He simply tells us that this is a most important crisis in our town and he consents to come to the rescue. I, for one, fail to see where the important crisis is.

We have direct railway communication with Toronto, thanks to the Grand Trunk; we shall soon have the Ontario and Quebec—or if you will, the Canada Pacific—no thanks to Mr. Cox, and we shall get the Trent Valley Canal, certainly not through any influence Mr. Cox has brought to bear upon the Dominion Government, the Review alone having fought the battle. If these are facts, which I do not think Mr. Cox will dispute, where is the important crisis? Or what great calamity is going to befall our good town should Mr. Cox fail to be elected Mayor? If my recollection serves me right, Mr. Cox has not occupied the Mayor's chair for nine or ten years, and who will say the town has not prospered? What we want now is an economical Mayor and Council, who will keep the expenditures under the revenue, and not roll up deficits as has been done during the three years Mr. Cox was Mayor, who left us, with a deficit of over $10,000, after striking the rate at fifteen mills on the dollar. I believe that was the year the first sod was turned in the Trent Valley (no I am wrong) Brock Street Canal, and I am not misinformed the Park Street monument was built in that same year.

With these facts staring us in the face, I think we had better vote for Mr. Sawers, believing he will be the more economical man.

Mr. Cox says if elected, he will not trouble himself about salaries and trifles of that kind. I dare say not. He will go for higher game. Mr. Cox states distinctly that he is in favor of the town purchasing the water works, but would not do so without submitting it to the ratepayers. Now if Mr. Cox should be elected Mayor and get the Council to co-operate with him, he would have no doubt use all his influence to bring before the people and do his best to get it carried, so on that ground I feel it safer to elect Mr. Sawers who tells us plainly he is opposed to the purchase of the works.

It has been said by Mr. Cox's friends, that if we elect Mr. Sawers he will fill all the fat offices with his relations. Perhaps Mr. Cox might do the same thing, and as far as I am concerned I do not see that it is going to make much difference whether it be Mr. Cox's or Mr. Sawers' relations who get the fat offices, as I do not think there is much chance for me.

Yours, X. Y. Z.

The Harbour Grace Riots.

St. JOHN'S, N. F. Jan. 2.—To-day the Executive Government of Newfoundland received a despatch from Lord Derby, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, offering the assistance of Imperial troops and war ships to suppress the disturbance in Conception bay, now threatening to assume formidable and horrible proportions. To-morrow judicial investigations will formally commence before Judge Bennett.

An Indiana hard wood lumber manufacturer gives the average weight of lumber per foot as follows:—Green walnut, 44 pounds; dry, 34; green poplar, 34; dry, 24; green oak, 5; dry 4; green ash, 44; dry, 34; the weight of cherry is the same as walnut, and hickory the same as oak.

How TO TREAT WEAK LUNGS.—Always breathe through the nose, keeping the mouth closed as much as possible. Walk and sit erect, exercise in the open air, keep the skin scrupulously clean, and take Hagar's Pectoral Balsam for coughs, colds, and bronchial troubles.

THE BEST PROOF.—THE GLOBE.—"I sell more Burdock Blood Bitters than I do any other preparation in stock," says H. Jackson, druggist. "If the reader will ask any druggist in the city he will get a similar answer to his query—a proof that it is the most popular medicine for the blood, liver and kidneys known."

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN:—At the request of many of the ratepayers of the Town, who are opposed to the present management of our Municipal affairs, I appear as a candidate for the Mayoralty for 1884, and beg respectfully to solicit your votes and influence therefor.

My course as Councillor during the present year has been severely criticised, but I can only say that every act of mine in the Council was prompted by my conviction of what was just and right to the ratepayers. I entered the Council without personal interest of any kind to serve, determined to advance the interests of the ratepayers to the best of my ability, and, as far as my single efforts could do so, to conduct the business of the Town on the same sound business principles that every one of you applies to the conduct of your own private affairs.

This course, opposed as it was to the loose and extravagant manner in which the majority in the Council have been accustomed to carry on your business, naturally called down upon me a storm of abuse, which, however, the courage of my convictions has enabled me to bear without difficulty.

Many important matters have been before the present Council, and, as my opponent, Councillor Paterson, holds views on them different from my own, I shall here state a few of them, hoping to have the opportunity of discussing the merits of our opposite opinions before you with him.

FIRE PROTECTION.

I am opposed to paying by a general tax for hydrants taken by the Town for fire protection, believing it to be unjust to ask ratepayers living outside of the fire limits to pay for the protection of the centre of the town.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject are directly opposed to mine.

MODES OF REFORM.

As chairman of the Charity Committee this year, I have had excellent opportunities of judging of the necessity for such an institution, and am forced to conclude that at the present time it is not required. No doubt some few cases could be found in our midst which it would be extremely convenient to send to such an institution, if we had it, but the immense cost of building and maintaining a Refuge should be out of all proportion to the benefit to be derived from it. In the future this may not be so. You may therefore rest assured that, if I have the honor to be elected by you to the Mayoralty, I will use my influence to prevent this burden being added to your already heavy taxes.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject also are, I believe, opposed to mine.

CIVIL SALARY.

I am not in favor of attaching a salary to the office of either Mayor or Councillor, believing that the opportunity which you thus afford them of proving themselves faithful servants, and worthy of your confidence, ought to be a sufficient recompense for their time and trouble. I understand Mr. Paterson's views on this point also are at variance with mine.

CLERK AND TREASURER.

I am opposed to allowing one person to hold the two offices of Clerk and Treasurer. On this point also Mr. Paterson differs from me.

RANK OF TOWN BUILDINGS.

As the paying for these buildings this year has caused a considerable increase in the amount of taxation, and a good deal of dissatisfaction has been expressed in consequence, a few words from me on this subject will not be out of place. Early in the year there was a general unanimity in the Council as to the desirability of purchasing these buildings on the terms offered by Mr. Stevenson, namely:—$4,500, payable in debentures bearing interest at 6 per cent, running over either 10 or 20 years, but when this matter came up in discussing the estimates, to my surprise, the whole amount (less about $400 received from the Town Trust Commissioners) was asked for this year. I was opposed to this, but was voted down, Councillor McNaughton alone supporting me. Mr. Paterson, whose duty it was, as Chairman of the Finance Committee, to compile the estimates, can perhaps give some satisfactory explanation to the ratepayers for putting this heavy tax upon them. The title to these buildings has not yet, I believe, been perfected. Is it possible that the purchase may yet fall through?

There are many other points on which I might touch, but as this address is already too long, I shall only say that I am opposed to all jobbery and rings, and to the transacting of the town's affairs in secret conclaves and not in either open Council or Committee.

I am in favor of progress and municipal reform, and where any saving can be effected in the management of our Municipal affairs, I am also strongly in favor of such saving.

If elected, I shall use my best efforts to obtain a dollar's worth of your money for every dollar expended.

I am now in your hands, and it is for you to say by your votes whether my conduct during the year and my position on the foregoing important matters is worthy of your support and confidence.

I remain,
Your obedient servant,
C. W. SAWERS.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 4, 1884.

LOCAL NEWS

The Temperature.
The Rev. V. Clement's self-registering thermometer marked 5° below zero last night.

Police News.
Three tramps found shelter from the storm and cold in the cells last night. There was a "blank record" at the Court this morning.

Choice Apples.
A few barrels of choice apples for sale. Also pure apple cider by the quart, gallon or barrel at CARTON BROS.

The Storm.
In addition to the trouble experienced on the railways through the storm, the country roads are drifted full of snow and travellers who have been hardy enough to venture on them have had great trouble in reaching their destination.

An Accident.
As Mr. Geo. Webber was driving out of his yard on Thursday, the horse became frightened, and springing suddenly threw Mr. Webber out of the vehicle. His shoulder was injured by the fall, and he will be confined to the house for a day or two.

Smith's Market.
Transfer of business. All parties indebted to H. E. Smith, will oblige by an immediate settlement, as I have withdrawn and transferred the business and all matters pertaining thereto over to C. B. Smith who will continue the trade as formerly.

The Story of the Earth.
Owing to the snow blockade, Mr. McKnight has not been able to get to Peterborough, and the lecture which he was to have delivered this evening in St. Andrew's Church school room is therefore postponed. A date will be announced in a future issue, and tickets purchased for this evening will be valid for that date.

Architects and Engineers.
As will be seen by a card in another column, Mr. R. B. Rogers and Mr. A. R. Denison have opened an office as architects, civil engineers, Provincial and Dominion land surveyors and solicitors for patents. Their office is in Claxton's block, on the corner of George and Hunter streets.

Murrah for the Carnival.
The first carnival of the season takes place in the skating rink this evening. The ice is in excellent condition, and good sport may be expected. The prizes offered are good and many handsome costumes will no doubt be worn. Those who attend in costume should not fail to leave their card at the door with the name of the character they assume.

The Separate Schools.
At a meeting of the Separate School Board on Thursday evening the tie in the election of a Trustee for No. 3 Ward was broken. The privilege of giving the casting vote belonged to the voter whose assessment was highest, and it thus fell to Mr. B. Morrow. He favoured the election of Mr. T. B. McCreath, who therefore holds the seat.

Week of Prayer.
The following arrangements have been made for meetings in the different churches during the week of prayer:—On Monday evening in the Bible Christian Church; on Tuesday evening, in St. Andrew's Church; on Wednesday evening, in the George Street Methodist Church; on Thursday evening, in St. Paul's Church; and on Friday evening, in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church. One of the ministers will address the meeting each evening upon the special topic for prayer. The meetings will begin at 8 o'clock.

Vital Statistics.
The following were the number of births, marriages and deaths in the town of Peterborough during the month of December, as registered:—

THE TWENTY-EIGHTH

Annual Supper Tendered by the Carrier Boys to the Staff of the Review.

It has been the custom of the carrier boys of the Review to entertain the staff to a supper at the beginning of every year, and on Thursday evening they sat down to the twenty-eighth annual spread. The feast was held in the Little Windsor Hotel, the spread being a good one and ample justice being done to the tempting edibles. Several members of the staff were unavoidably absent, but twenty-one persons surrounded the table. Mr. A. G. Compigne occupied the chair, and Mr. A. D. Browne the vice-chair. A telegram was received from Mr. F. H. Dobbin, of the Lindsey Post, and formerly of the Review, regretting his inability to be present.

The usual loyal toasts were honored, and were followed by that of "Messrs. Toker and Carnegie," which was enthusiastically received. Mr. Browne, while regretting the absence of the members of the "old firm," responded on their behalf, and proposed the "Review Printing and Publishing Company." This toast was also well received, and was followed by a song from Mr. Compigne. "The Editorial Staff" was heartily drunk, and Mr. Arnold Hamilton responded in a speech abounding in humour. "Our Foreman," was the toast that followed, and Mr. Wm. Mansie being absent, Mr. Jas. Mansie responded on his behalf. "The Heads of the Departments" brought Messrs. Compigne and A. D. Browne to their feet, each returning thanks in a neat speech, and Mr. J. Wilson sang a song. The toast of "the Carrier Boys," was received with enthusiasm, and a poetical response was read by Melvin Phillips. This little poem, which was received with loud cheers, was as follows:—

Dear friends and fellow movers in the game of life,
Whose mission 'tis to tell of earth's joys, cares and strife,
I deem myself much honored in being present here,
And from my heart wish all a happy, joyous year.

Though last to come amongst you in the year
With kindness every one has helped my work along,
Forgoing all my faults, though many, it is true;
Why should I not then say, Long life to the Review?

Although I'm but a boy, like all I form my plans,
Hoping to live on and some day be a man—
Not one in name alone, but thought, and word, and deed,
My field the most choice books, where printers sowed the seed.

Again I wish you all a merry, glad New Year,
May no sorrow in it come to dim your eyes with tears;
And where'er in years to come my feet may wander to
My thoughts will fondly turn to my days with the Review.

Mr. A. D. Browne gave a song, and the health of "the Ladies" was pledged, Mr. S. R. Armstrong returning thanks for the fair sex. "The Host" was duly honored, and Mr. E. Brown responded. "God Save the Queen" was sung by the Company, and thus concluded a very pleasant evening, and one of the most enjoyable of these annual gatherings of the Review staff.

WINTER DRESS GOODS.

Goods well bought are said to be half sold. The march began before our eyes fairly on Stock, and the march has been kept up since.

We had the best of assortments to begin with, gathered literally both from abroad and at home. The best fabrics picked with the eye of an expert—just such goods as sell.

Never have we had a season of greater activity. Never did our prices seem more inviting. Never was there better proof of it either, for with very few exceptions our prices—remain unchanged. Yet customers assure us that they are lower than where stocks have been profusely reduced.

Remember our goods are the freshest from the most famous weavers.

Price, you know is one of our strong points always.

THE GOLDEN LION'S

First Happy Christmas!

The patronage we have received during the past week has been a very flattering indication of the growing popularity of the GOLDEN LION STORE with the people of Peterborough. This is to be accounted for in various ways: Customers who have been once pleased, return to make additional purchases, and bring with them a host of friends. Those who have been undecided where to purchase, have taken the safe rule of buying at the store where they see the largest business is being done. A STRICTLY HONEST and straightforward way of doing business has also produced good fruits in securing the confidence of the people. And another important factor in building up our business has been our ability to buy for cash and to sell goods at closer prices than those prevailing throughout the town.

Our Stock is still extensive and attractive for this happy season of the year, including every possible variety of all new Elegant Winter Dry Goods in perfect order, to be offered during the remainder of the Holidays at our popular prices. We are determined to give GOOD VALUE to all who may favor us with their orders.

FAIR, VANEVERY & Co.

MANTLES, JACKETS, MILLINERY, All Down in Price.

DURING THE HOLIDAY SEASON

MISS SEMPLE

Will reduce the price of every article in the store, so as to give purchasers the BEST VALUE for Reliable Goods.

The largest reduction will be made on MANTLES, which are all of the Latest Patterns and Newest Material.

Ladies' Furs, Bonnets, Hats, Feathers, Fishbones, Ties, Wool Goods, and Elegant Dress Ornaments, suitable for HOLIDAY GIFTS, all at correspondingly Low Prices.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, JANUARY 5, 1884.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

The Boston Herald thinks that Canadian manufacturers are getting too much protection, and instances for an example agricultural implements as having their cost so enhanced by heavy duties on their material as to diminish the demand for them in the home market. It gives the Toronto Globe as its authority, and the Globe has the effrontery to parade this proof of the success of its endeavors to injure the country by publishing falsehoods, so long as the hated Conservative Administration is in power. We know that in Peterborough our agricultural implement makers are selling at lower, not at higher prices than before the adoption of the National Policy; we believe that it is the same elsewhere, and that the Globe has simply invented the injurious falsehood, which is so eagerly repeated by foreigners.

MR. MOWAT'S REPRESENTATIVE.

The Ontario Gazette contains the official announcement of the return of Mr. Robert Adam Lyon as M. P. for Algoma, the fraud upon the electors of that constituency and indirectly upon the people of Ontario having been completed by this barefaced falsehood, the official figures themselves showing that the polls were not opened at two places that had been announced for that purpose, to say nothing of other localities which were refused polling booths because the electors were not friendly to Mr. Mowat. An administration must be weak indeed that can only retain office for a time by usurping the right to nominate members to support, instead of leaving them to be chosen by people. Of course Mr. Mowat can obtain a majority (till the courts have time to intervene) if he is at liberty to decide what electors are to be allowed to record their votes.

STILL SLANDERING.

The Marquis of Lorne has fallen from grace, at least in the eyes of the Reform patriots of Canada. He has committed the unpardonable offence of repeatedly and publicly uttering the praises of this country, describing its prosperity and its glorious prospects, and even maintaining its right to adopt the fiscal policy that may seem best suited to its circumstances. Of course this has drawn upon him the criticism of those English and Scotch journals that are guided by rabid free-traders or by those who have some interest in checking emigration to our shores. The chief weapons of these critics are quotations from the false statements by which the Globe and its echoes have been persistently vilifying our belittling our Dominion. And now these unpatriotic journals are busy reproducing and displaying the distortions from beyond the seas founded upon their own misrepresentations.

The Reform journals may sneer at the Marquis of Lorne and they may slander their own land, but though they may postpone they cannot prevent the settlement of our country under the beneficent rule of the statesman whom the people of Canada have placed at their head.

A Frenchman on the Tennyson Poemage. Mr. Jules Claretie, commenting in the Temps on the Tennyson poemage, says:—"A nobility recruited, like the English, from men of great ability and reputation, has considerable chances of duration; and here is an aristocracy which almost reads a lesson to our democracy. The English feel that a man like Tennyson deserves a seat among the potentates of his country, simply because he is a great Englishman. Politics have nothing to do with the matter. An inspired man emerges from the multitude. He is hailed and after being read, re-read, and paid at a guinea a line, he is made a peer. I should not ask so much from Frenchmen, but merely a little more attention and respect for prominent men of genius. Also I am far from following the good example set across the channel, if with us a poet were made Senator simply because he was a poet, all the small papers would ask whether or not he was in the dotage. A versifier a peer! a composer of sonnets in the Senate! the wits would roar with laughter."

Mr. Lowell.

Mr. Lowell has retired from the Rectory of St. Andrew's University, to which he was recently elected. He states that his resignation is owing to the difficulty he would encounter in properly discharging his duties as Rector of the University in view of his position as ambassador. The resignation is greatly regretted by his supporters in the recent election, as well as by the officials of the University.

A fresh lot of Dress Goods just received at Turnbull's. Ladies wanting a dress in January will be able to get a length of any colour at a decided bargain.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—I observed some time since, an elector called on Mr. Cox to state whether or not it was true, as asserted on the public streets, that he meant during the whole or much of the present year to travel abroad. Mr. Cox has never replied in print, nor did he refer to his intention to fulfil a most vital quality in a Mayor, of not being an absentee, in his speech on Monday. Neither did any of his kind and long-tongued friends make any reference to it. I take it that this is a pretty clear confession that he nor they could answer for his being our Mayor, except in name. If he or they think that this condition of things will satisfy the ratepayers for the chief officer of our town, they will find themselves grievously mistaken.

Yours, &c.,
ELECTOR.

Peterborough, Jan'y 3, 1884.

GEO. A. COX.

Who made use of his first political influence to appoint and maintain his brother in the position of License Inspector, when it was notorious that he did not perform the duties pertaining to the position?—GEO. A. COX! And yet Mr. Cox is a great temperance man!

Who used his position as School Trustee to appoint his brother-in-law to a salaried office?—GEO. A. COX!

Who first acted as paid Manager of the Midland and was it to appoint his "clever" brother to a position, for which he was no more fitted than the man in the moon, at a good salary?—GEO. A. COX!

Who obtained legislation compelling those who had claims against the Midland, as the result of the sweat of their brows, to accept small compensation therefor, to the manifest advantage of George A. Cox and the Midland Bondholders?—GEO. A. COX!

Who "milked" those shipping or bringing in freight to Peterborough by amalgamating the Midland and Grand Junction Railways?—GEO. A. COX!

Who wanted Peterborough to give a bonus to secure the construction of the "Missing Link"?—GEO. A. COX! And yet Geo. A. Cox is a large ratepayer!

Who did his best to kill a second and rival line to the Grand Trunk through to Peterborough?—GEO. A. COX!

Who used their railway, political and personal influence to prevent the construction of the Ontario and Quebec Railway, (1st) by preventing its promoters obtaining a charter, and (2nd) by throwing every possible obstacle in the way of its construction?—GEO. A. COX!

Who did his best to keep Peterborough under the foot of a single line of railway?—CITIZEN GEO. A. COX!

Who has always been going to get the Midland workshops moved to Peterborough, but has only succeeded in enlarging those already at Port Hope?—GEO. A. COX!

Who is trying to monopolize the control of the business part of Peterborough, in order that the toll paid to George A. Cox on all goods sold in Peterborough may be at George A. Cox's sole discretion?—GEO. A. COX!

Who, in fact, is aiming at being "Lord Paramount" of Peterborough, politically, educationally, municipally, personally and financially?—GEO. A. COX! otherwise known as the "Little Vanderbilt."

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—By publishing the above, you will much oblige,

Yours truly,
ENQUIRER.

THE DEER WON'T GO.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—Noticing the many articles in the sporting columns both of the Globe and Mail respecting the deer hounding and still hunting question it shows clearly that the love of sport is interesting, and the many valuable hints and suggestions thrown out will ultimately lead to a solution of this difficulty, together with proper steps being taken sooner, or later to preserve and foster true sportsmanship in this, the leading and best paying recreation and health renewer that can be taken by any who may at some other season of the year require a holiday on pleasure bent.

The sordid and those who value dollars and cents in preference to every thing else in the world worth taking care of can never be expected to clearly visualize all the different opinions that may be formed of this rare sport from my standpoint. I wish to narrate the pleasure it gave me on my first and only holiday sport in this direction. My friends who are Americans, are just as full of fun as any Canadian to the man born, and wishing sport, communicate with me asking the best we had. I telegraphed come and take pot luck and we will go deer hunting.

They came, and after a pleasant railway passage arrived one evening in the land of the deer and still hunting, armed with enough rifle and cartridge to kill all the deer in the Muskoka district, time 7.30 p.m. First coming a good supper, we then made arrangements with a sportsman to conduct us to the happy hunting grounds, and went to our rooms at peace with all the world, with visionary images in our minds of deer, duck and partridge galore.

Our trip next day, though tedious, ended at night, with a good supper while the birds, the highest anticipations of pleasure we had formed, after a night's rest break out into camp, hunters dog and all. I with my guide who knew the runways shortly heard the ringing music of the dogs and soon a visible speck in the lake together with the vigorous paddling of my comrade gave me the first symptoms of the back fever. "Cool, my boy keep cool," came from the stern. "I will paddle you to him, and then blow away." Shortly came the time and a few yards from him I got the word fire, but all the cartridge in my gun would not kill that deer. Presently came the rifle shot, from behind. A comest in the water and the deer was no more.

The other and older division of that watch fell asleep looking for that summer. We had a good time for the four days we spent and captured four deer in season one with a long stick, which my friend christened an Armstrong gun. There is no doubt but that the deer are becoming less plentiful, still there are more cases than one to account for it. The poor settlers who have only this malarkey for meat of any kind, no doubt kill more out of season than any others, always excepting the wolves, who destroy and kill more than all other sources combined.

The true hunter and sportsman kills only in season and when venison can be expected, which no doubt pleases many in towns and cities that have the opportunity to hunt, nor yet procure venison only during the season limited by law.

The best and only remedy is to give the appointment for carrying out the present laws to trustworthy residents, who might, in conjunction with other duties, look after the preservation of our rapidly decreasing forests and pineries, no matter how some may suffer.

Yours, etc.,

PETER PETERSON.

Whitby, Dec. 31st, 1883.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—Why has Mr. Cox never answered the direct question as to whether he intends travelling the greater part of this year which was asked him in the evening paper a couple of weeks ago? It was due to the electors that he should satisfy them on this point and his failure to do so can only be construed by them as a tacit acknowledgment of the truth of the report. Under such circumstances it is difficult to imagine what Mr. Cox's object can be in coming out as a candidate—perhaps as he is now sufficiently rich his next ambition is for a title and in default of a better one he would like to write "Mayor of Peterborough" after his name hoping thus to strike admiration into the minds of hotel clerks and head waiters at his various stopping places.

It is a noble ambition and must commend him to the ratepayers.

Yours, etc.,
A MAN OF THE PEOPLE.

Peterborough, Jan. 4th, 1884.

PRESENTATION.

On New Year's Day a deputation of the employees of the Auburn Woollen Mills waited on their late Secretary, Mr. Roach Way, at his residence in Douro, and presented him with a very handsome fancy pair of Persian lamb gauntlets, and a complete copy of Chambers' encyclopedia, handsomely bound, in ten volumes. The following address was then read by Mr. J. H. Smith:

MR. ROACH WAY. On behalf of the employees of the Auburn Woollen Company, who being desirous of showing their appreciation for your many acts of kindness and courtesy shown towards them during your many years of service as Secretary of the Company, have requested us to present you with this address and the accompanying gift as a slight memento of the regard in which you are held by them, and to assure you that although you have now retired from the Company's service, and your former position may have been filled to the entire satisfaction of the Company, yet the employees miss the courteous manner and generous spirit of which you were so well possessed. Such acts as these, we can assure you have been appreciated and for you a warm place is cherished in their affections.

Regretting that they had not taken advantage of a more reasonable opportunity of presenting you with this address, and wishing you a happy and prosperous new year.

We are respectfully yours,
Signed on behalf of the employees,
Wm. SORELLVILLE,
R. SMITH,
JOHN DOWDAN,
D. MCINTOSH,
Wm. FLEMING,
and others.

Mr. Way made a suitable reply, and after an hour or two spent in social intercourse, enlivened by song and anecdote, the deputation withdrew, highly gratified.

The Nihilist Murder in St. Petersburg.

A St. Petersburg despatch says:—The leader of the Nihilists who killed Lieutenant Sudeikin was an ex-artillery officer named Gerasim, who is believed to be identical with Jablonski, the Nihilist. The latter has been arrested, and has given the authorities the names of twenty-seven Nihilists. Jablonski was deeply compromised in the murder of General Strelnikoff at Odessa, for which he was transported to Siberia, but escaped and came to St. Petersburg, where he offered his services to Sudeikin and became his confidential spy. Sudeikin, with his assistant, and Jablonski were seated in a room drinking tea when suddenly the door was opened and a shot was fired at Sudeikin, which was immediately followed by a blow from a crowbar. Sudeikin, though badly hurt, seized two candlesticks to defend himself, and severely wounded one of his assailants, when he was overcome by superiority of numbers. His assistant was struck down and left upon the floor for dead; he has since died. The assassins removed their wounded comrade unperceived. The porter of the building heard the noise, but feared to enter the room. An associate of Jablonski has been arrested. The murder has caused great dismay at the Imperial Court, and the number of sentinels has been quintupled.

Advice to Mothers. Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Sorely Suffering Children's Teething Tablets. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, there is no mistake to make about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Sorely Suffering Tablets for children teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the best and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 2 cents a bottle.

$5000 Reward. For any Testimonial recommending McGregor's Speedy Cure for Rheumatism, Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, etc., that are not genuine; none of which are from persons in the States or thousands of miles away, but from persons in and around Hamilton, Ont. We give trial bottles free of cost, so that you cannot be deceived by purchasing a worthless article, but know its value before buying. Trial bottles and testimonials given free at John McKee's Drug Store.

Field Lightning. WIFE.—What's the matter now John? HUSBAND.—Oh, that neuralgia and toothache near kills me. WIFE.—Why don't you go to John McKee's Drug Store and get a bottle of Field Lightning, you know it cures all such things as toothache, neuralgia, headache, lumbago, sciatica, sore throat, etc. It gives instant relief. BEWARE of that cough. It may kill you; cure it at once with Dr. Carson's Pulmonary Cough Drops, it never fails. Large bottles at 50 cents. For sale everywhere.

Turnbull's Grey Cottages are known north, south, east and west of Peterborough for their good value. See what he is offering during January in heavy makes by the piece.

FOR SALE.

VERY DESIRABLE

TOWN PROPERTY

The undersigned offers for sale his Dwelling House and Lot being subdivisions of Lots Nos. 3 and 4, west of George Street, and situated on the corner of Aymer and Dublin Streets, in the town of Peterborough. The House is one story and a half high, 34x50, with large kitchen 14x13, some height in the house. There is on the premises a good cowshed, stable and other outbuildings. Pure water is conveyed through iron pipes into the house from a never failing spring on the property, and there is also a good well of water and a large cistern.

The lot is subdivided into eight parcels, suitable for building purposes, and will be sold on hire or in parcels to suit purchasers. Also a half acre lot on Chamberlain Street. The property may be viewed at any time and plans may be seen and other information obtained at the law office of Mr. George Edmondson, or at the office of Mr. G. W. Ranney, C.E., or from the proprietor on the premises. Tardz-wi.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, JANUARY 5, 1894.

Choice Apples.

A few barrels of choice apples for sale. Also pure apple cider by the quart, gallon or barrel at CANTON BROS.

The Temperature.

The spirit in the Rev. V. Clement's self-registering thermometer fell last night to 12° below zero.

Police News.

The cells were untenanted last night, and there were no cases at the court this morning or the magistrate to dispose of.

Ward No. Three.

Mr. D. Bellegren, who was nominated as Councilor for No. 3 Ward, has retired from the contest, as he believes that he can serve the public more to their advantage by giving all his attention to his furniture business.

Smith's Market.

Transfer of business. All parties indebted to H. E. Smith, will oblige by an immediate settlement, as I have withdrawn and transferred the business and all matters pertaining thereto over to C. B. Smith who will continue the trade as formerly.

Fast in the Snow.

The corporation snow plow has had plenty to do this week. On Friday, however, its operations were completely suspended as it became fast in a snow bank on King street, and a large amount of labour had to be expended in salvaging before it was liberated.

Colder and Still Colder.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as received from the Toronto Observatory are as follows:—Strong to north-westerly winds; fair colder weather, with snow flurries in some localities; the temperature will fall considerably below zero in most places, continued cold to-morrow.

Look Out.

for the great clearing sale of rich and valuable goods at W. Fairweather & Co., commencing next week. The whole of their remaining line stock of Furs, Jackets, Circulars, Buffalo Robes, Black, Grey and White Robes, Fur-lined Gloves, Gauntlets or Caps, Tippets, &c. All kinds of Heavy Winter Clothing is to be sold at reduced prices. Blankets, Flannels and Carpets at sweeping reductions. Bargains will be given of all Winter Goods to clear. This firm, when they do advertise a clearing sale, mean business, and parties may depend upon bargains.

The Champion.

In the following account of a reception tendered to Edward Hanlan, which we take from the San Francisco Chronicle of Dec. 25th, the name of a gentleman well known here occurs:—

"A reception was tendered to Edward Hanlan at First Fifth Hall last Thursday evening, by the Canadian Association. The hall was neatly decorated and at an early hour was filled to reception. Hanlan was introduced to the audience by John Elder and made a neat speech, thanking the Association for the honor conferred upon him. R. Gray McClellan delivered an address of welcome and Mrs. Blane Alverton sang 'At the Ferry.' W. H. Barnes followed in a humorous speech, and Miss Heatie Cowles and Mrs. S. M. Parker sang the duet, 'How Dear to Me the Hour.' Dancing was then indulged in until midnight, when Hanlan, escorted by the members of the Association, repaired to Camp's restaurant, where a banquet had been prepared in honor of the occasion. The supper was discussed with a hearty relish, interspersed by many appropriate speeches and responses to toasts by Hanlan, D. A. McDonald, Adam Gilliland, McDonald and others. The affair was exceedingly pleasant and will long be remembered by those present."

The Snow Blockade.

Peterborough has occupied somewhat of an isolated position during the past two days, owing to the train service being stopped by the snow storm. At noon to-day, however, communication with the outside world was re-established, when a train arrived from Port Hope, bringing the western mails—a two day's allowance. The Toronto mixed train, which left here on Thursday at noon and became fast in a snow drift between here and Oshawa, was relieved on Friday evening, the engine with the snow plough having succeeded in reaching it, and it was brought back to town. The Grand Junction is still blocked up, but it is expected that it will be opened this afternoon, as at two o'clock a snow plough sent out from here was within a short distance of Belleville. Trains are running on the Midland line between Toronto and Port Hope via Bethany, and the regular train from Toronto over the Missing Link was expected to arrive here this afternoon.

A MASQUERADE ON ICE.

THE CARNIVAL AT THE PETERBOROUGH SKATING RINK.

Fine Costumes—The Comic Element Represented—The Prize Winners—Races for Boys—List of Characters.

The opening carnival of the season was held in the skating rink on Friday evening. There was a fair attendance of spectators, but the severe weather during the day and evening no doubt deterred many from attending who would otherwise have been present. The City Band Orchestra provided good music for the occasion.

THE MASQUERADE.

At eight o'clock the ice began to fill up with skaters in costume and the galleries with spectators. The number of ladies in costume was not large, but several of them—in fact all—were very pretty. "A Bright Idea" a new idea, we believe, was certainly a bright costume and one that attracted attention. The "Highland Lassie" was dressed in Highland style, and although there was not a fellow countryman on the ice, she did not appear to notice it. The "Eastern Queen" was arrayed in Oriental splendour, and the "Italian Street Singer" with her violin, was one of the prettiest costumes on the ice. "Peek-a-Boo" was charming, and Joan of Arc's armour glistened in the light like a frosted tree on a bright morning. The "Irish Landlord," dressed in flashy colors, and the other Irish characters, were well got up, and the stalwart looking Knight, clad in glittering armour, with a large shield, battle-axe, and helmet ornamented with a fine plume, was a formidable and handsome looking remnant of chivalry. He had only one encounter during the evening, and that was when he charged the elephant in the rear, but "Jumbo" could stand a shock that to common mortals might be fatal. The elephant was one of the best, if not the best, things on the ice. Every particular was carefully attended to in the make up, and not the least perfect thing about the character was the dress and bearing of the trainer. A young "Knight of the Red Cross" reminded one of the various crusades, especially the "Boys' Crusade," when so many young people determined to rescue Jerusalem from its infidel possessors. But it is useless to particularize all the characters. Although there was not as large a number in costume as on some previous occasions, the costumes were well got up and were all very good. Some of those who wore costumes that were really very good neglected to leave their card at the door, as was requested by the manager, and at this writing we are without the name of the character assumed or the wearers. Among the comic characters, however, "Sawers' Canvasser" attracted considerable notice. He wore placards with that gentleman's record, as he understood it, printed on them. The following is as full a list of the masqueraders as could be obtained:

Miss H. Johnston.....A Bright Idea.
"J. Logan.....Highland Lassie.
"Minnie Fawcett.....Joan of Arc.
"Anna Stevenson.....Peek-a-Boo.
"L. A. Mayhew.....Eastern Queen.
"Joie Bradburn.....Italian Street Singer.
"Ida Huston.....Knight in Armour.
"Mr. Wm. Rutherford.....Jack and Jill.
"Miss Ada Hughes.....Apple Woman.
"W. E. Turner.....Knight in Armour.
"L. Mayhew.....Aunt Sally's Cook.
"A. Sutherland.....Irish Landlord.
"A. F. Read.....Jumbo.
"J. E. Hawkins.....Elephant trainer.
"R. Tate.....Lower Canadian.
"J. E. Hawkins.....Conductor on Missing Link.
"Geo. Morris.....A country Belle.
"D. Montgomery.....and her Beau.
"Vincent Eastwood.....Peterboro' Bicycle Club.
"E. Thompson.....Sawers' Canvasser.
"T. A. Chubb.....A Lower Canadian.
"G. Dawson.....Shoo Fly.
"Wm. Rodkins.....Peterboro' Lacrosse Club.
"J. Wood.....Snow Rider.
"Herbert Dawson.....Rat.
"F. Larue.....Topsy.
"John Miller.....Eugene Aram.
"Bert Bradburn.....Snow Maiden.
"Max Hamilton.....Lawn Tennis.
"Harry Stock.....C. M. C. A.
"H. Bacon.....Knight.
"F. McNaughton.....Washerwoman.
"W. Logan.....Irish Swell.

THE PRIZES.

Shortly after eight o'clock the judges, Messrs. A. McNeil, H. LeBrun, C. Stapleton and Robert Hall, took their seats on the judge's platform. After spending some time in watching the movements on the ice, the announced names of the prize winners are as follows:—

BEST DRESSED LADY IN COSTUME.—1st, Miss L. A. Mayhew, "Eastern Queen"; 2nd, Miss Minnie Fawcett, "Joan of Arc."
BEST DRESSED GENTLEMAN.—1st, Wm. R. Turner, "Knight in Armour"; 2nd, Herbert Dawson, "Sawers' Canvasser."

GENTLEMAN IN COMIC COSTUME.—1st, J. E. Hawkins and A. F. Read, "Jumbo"; 2nd, A. E. Thompson, "Sawers' Canvasser."
BARREL RACE (boys).—R. Davidson.
QUARTER MILE RACE (boys).—R. Davidson.
There were prizes offered for ladies in comic costume, but the ladies appear to have declined comic dress at the carnival and the prizes were not awarded.

It is to be regretted that the weather was so severe, as, judging from the result under the circumstances, if the weather had been more propitious the carnival would no doubt have been a splendid success.

THE TORONTO ACCIDENT.

PUBLIC FUNERAL OF THE VICTIMS THIS AFTERNOON.

Donations Flowing In—The Sufferers Improving—Much Sympathy Evincing—Resolutions at a Public Meeting.

The most wide spread sympathy is elicited on behalf of the sufferers and those bereaved by the recent railway accident in Toronto. His Excellency the Governor General has contributed $250, the city council has voted $2,000, and various public and private associations have donated most liberal sums to the relief fund. The public funeral is to take place this afternoon. The civic officials, military, police, trades and other associations, secret and otherwise are to be represented. The shops too, along the route are to be closed.

At the hospital there are now seven patients, five of whom satisfactory accounts are reported. The other two are still in a critical state. The condition of the other sufferers is improving, and, should complications not supervene, hopes are entertained of the recovery of most of them.

A public meeting was held in the City Hall for the purpose of considering what steps should be taken by the public at large to relieve the families of the sufferers, when the following resolution was adopted:

"That the citizens of Toronto in public meeting assembled, desire to express their very deep regret at the terrible railway accident which took place near the Humber river on Wednesday morning last, by which so many valuable lives have been sacrificed and so much suffering entailed on the survivors; and further to tend to the families and friends of the unfortunate victims an expression of sincere sympathy and condolence in the calamity which has so happily befallen them. With a view to relieving the necessities of those who were depending for support on the deceased and injured persons, be it resolved that a public subscription be taken up, and that his Worship the Mayor be requested to announce through the newspapers that he will receive any moneys that may be forwarded him for the purpose."
A committee of the Bolt Company, employees also has been busily occupied in visiting (where at all practicable) the houses of their deceased fellow workmen. So that nothing has been left undone to alleviate as far as possible both the injured and those who have been left widows and fatherless by Wednesday's sad accident.

THE MAYORALTY.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN:—

At the request of many of the ratepayers of the Town, who are opposed to the present management of our Municipal affairs, I appear as a candidate for the Mayoralty for 1894, and beg respectfully to solicit your votes and influence therefor.

My course as Councilor during the present year has been severely criticised, but I can only say that every act of mine in the Council was prompted by my conviction of what was just and right to the ratepayers. I entered the Council without personal interest of any kind to serve, determined to advance the interests of the ratepayers to the best of my ability, and, as far as my single efforts could do so, to conduct the business of the Town on the same sound business principles than every one of you applies to the conduct of your own private affairs.

This course, opposed as it was to the loose and extravagant manner in which the majority of the Council have been accustomed to carry on your business, naturally called down upon me a storm of abuse, which, however, the courage of my convictions has enabled me to bear without difficulty.

Many important matters have been before the present Council, and, as my opponent, Councilor Paterson, holds views on some of them different from my own, I shall here state a few of them, hoping to have the opportunity of discussing the merits of our opposite opinions before you with him.

FIRE PROTECTION.

I am opposed to paying by a general tax for hydrants taken by the Town for fire protection, believing it to be unjust to ask ratepayers living outside of the fire limits to pay for the protection of the centre of the town.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject are directly opposed to mine.

HOUSE OF REFUGE.

As chairman of the Charity Committee this year, I have had excellent opportunities of judging of the necessity for such an institution, and am forced to conclude that at the present time it is not required. No doubt some few cases could be found in our midst which it would be extremely convenient to send to such an institution, if we had it, but the immense cost of building and maintaining a Refuge would be out of all proportion to the benefit to be derived from it. In the future this may not be so. You may therefore rest assured that, if I am elected, I will use my influence to prevent this burden being added to your already heavy taxes.

Mr. Paterson's views on this subject also are, I believe, opposed to mine.

CIVIC SALARY.

I am not in favor of attaching a salary to the office of either Mayor or Councilor, believing that the opportunity which you thus afford them of proving themselves faithful servants, and worthy of your confidence, ought to be a sufficient recompense for their time and trouble. I understand Mr. Paterson's views on this point also are at variance with mine.

CLERK AND TREASURER.

I am opposed to allowing one person to hold the two offices of Clerk and Treasurer. On this point also Mr. Paterson differs from me.

RANK OF TOWN BUILDINGS.

As the paying for these buildings this year has caused a considerable increase in the amount of taxation, and a good deal of dissatisfaction has been expressed in consequence, a few words from me on this subject will not be out of place. Early in the year there was a general unanimity in the Council as to the desirability of purchasing these buildings on the terms offered by Mr. Stevenson, namely:—$4,500, payable in debentures bearing interest at 5 per cent, running over either 10 or 20 years, but when this matter came up in discussing the estimates, to my surprise, the whole amount (less about $400 received from the Town Trust Commissioners) was asked for this year. I was opposed to this, but was voted down. Councilor McNaughton alone supporting me. Mr. Paterson, who I believe it was, as Chairman of the Finance Committee, to compile the estimates, can perhaps give some satisfactory explanation to the ratepayers for putting this heavy tax upon them. The title to these buildings has not yet, I believe, been perfected. Is it possible that the purchase may yet fall through?

There are many other points on which I might touch, but as this address is already too long, I shall only say that I am opposed to all jobbery and ring, and to the transacting of the town's affairs in secret conclaves and not in either open Council or Committee.

I am in favor of progress and municipal reform, and where any saving can be effected in the management of our municipal affairs, I am also strongly in favor of such saving.

If elected, I shall use my best efforts to obtain a dollar's worth of your money for every dollar expended.

I am now in your hands, and it is for you to say by your votes whether my conduct during the year and my position on the foregoing important matters is worthy of your support and confidence.

I remain,

Your obedient servant,

C. W. SAWERS.

Peterborough, 6th December, 1893.

TO THE ELECTORS OF

No. One Ward.

GENTLEMEN.—At the request of many of the ratepayers of your Ward, I appear as a candidate for Councilor for 1894.

I am opposed to levying water rates by a general tax. I am in favor of separating the office of Town Clerk and Treasurer.

Hoping to receive your votes and influence, I remain, yours faithfully,

NOAH T. LAPLANTE.

December 25th, 1893.

TO THE ELECTORS OF

No. TWO Ward.

GENTLEMEN.—I have been requested by a number of the ratepayers of the above Ward to allow myself to be nominated as Councilor for the year 1894.

I have agreed to accept the nomination so flatteringly offered me and beg to say that my policy, if elected, will be retrenchment in every legitimate way. It will be impossible for me to solicit the votes of the ward personally, as the time is so short, but I trust this notice will be accepted instead of a personal canvass.

I am respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

R. H. GREEN.

THE GOLDEN LION'S

Business Established.

The patronage we have received during the past week has been a very flattering indication of the growing popularity of the GOLDEN LION STORE with the people of Peterborough. This is to be accounted for in various ways: Customers who have been once pleased, return to make additional purchases, and bring with them a host of friends. Those who have been undecided where to purchase, have taken the safe rule of buying at the store where they see the largest business is being done. A STRICTLY HONEST and straightforward way of doing business has also produced good fruits in securing the confidence of the people. And another important factor in building up our business has been our ability to buy for cash and to sell goods at clearer prices than those prevailing throughout the town.

Our Stock is still extensive and attractive for this happy season of the year, including every possible variety of all new Elegant Winter Dry Goods in perfect order, to be offered during the remainder of the Holidays at our popular prices. We are determined to give GOOD VALUE to all who may favor us with their orders.

A Prophecy.
The Ontario Herald ventures the following prediction as to the result of the Mayoralty election in Peterborough. As we are not a prophet, we cannot say how near or far from being correct it may be. Our contemporary says:
"Mr. Geo. A. Cox is expected to head the poll with 500 of a majority for the Mayoralty of Peterborough."

Police News.
Three tramps occupied the cells on Saturday night, and on Sunday night they were again detained by the same number of unfortunates.
There has been an average of three tramps in the cells each night since the first of the year.
At the Court this morning there was a clean

Personal.
The Lindsay Post says that the Christmas gift of the congregation of St. Mary's to Rev.
Father Lynch amounted to about $450. Very good considering the hard times.
The same paper says that conductor Grey, one of the most popular and obliging officials of the Midland, has been promoted to the position of searcher for lost baggage. We congratulate him on his preferment and trust he may have an easy time.

Look Out

Carpets at sweeping reductions. Bargains will be given of all Winter Goods to clear. This bargains.

An Undesired Success.
The Winnipeg Times criticizes, as it has a right to do, the views expressed on railway matters to a Chicago reporter by Baron Adolph von Hugel, but proceeds to sneer, as it has no right to do, at his birth. Though the Mayor of Port Hope and former president of the Midland Railway ranks among the nobility of his native country, he is certainly not in the habit of making a parade of this fact, and does nothing to provoke such unworthy sneers. We do not agree with Mr. v. Hugel (if he really said so) that the Grand Trunk will absorb the Canada Pacific, but that will not depend upon the question whether the birth of any man is noble or ignoble.

Commentary.
A few days ago a boy about nine years of age went into a hardware store in town and purchased two pairs of skates, telling the merchant to charge them to his father, Mr. D. Bellegem.
The skates were charged accordingly, but soon after a suspicion arose that all was not right and enquiries were made, by which it was learned that the boy was not Mr.
Bellegem's son, and that the skates had been procured under false pretences. After wards a groom sent a bill to Mr. Bellegem for rains and other things, and as account for another pair of skates purchased at another store and a bill for confectionery also came, all these goods being purchased by "his son." As the boy was considerably older than Mr. Bellegem's son, the deception was apparent. The merchant from whom the two pairs of skates were bought discovered who the boy was that purchased them, and he gave him two hours in which to bring back the skates, but perhaps he had disposed of them, as they have not been brought back. However, the lad appeared to be terribly frightened, and it is to be hoped that his detection in this deception will deter him from ever again attempting such evil practices.

The Temperature.
Since Saturday we have had very cold weather,
although it has moderated to-day. The Rev.
V. Clement's self-registering thermometer marked 15° below zero on Saturday night and 8° below that point on Sunday night.

The Tracks Clear.
On Saturday afternoon the railway tracks were cleared, and the trains were enabled to resume their regular time. The first train over the Grand Junction left Belleville at 9.30 p. m., and arrived here at 12 o'clock. A train went to Belleville on Sunday.

A Slight Railway Accident.
The morning train from Toronto was forty minutes behind time on leaving Oshawa to-day, and it was further delayed about an hour and a half by an accident within a few miles of the town. The accident however was a small one, the breakage of an axle.

East Winds and Snow.
The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as received from the Toronto Observatory are as follows:—
Winds gradually shifting towards the eastward; generally fair weather to-day; snow areas tomorrow; not much change in temperature.

Church Dedication.
The Cobourg Sentinel-Star says that the opening and blessing of the new R. C. Church at Harwood will take place on Sunday, Jan.
13th, commencing at 10.30. The blessing ceremony will be performed by the Bishop of Peterborough, Right Rev. Dr. Jamot; the sermon will be preached by Rev. Father Murray, of Cornwall.

The Baptist Church.
The Rev. Dr. W. M. Clarke, of McMaster
Hall, Toronto, occupied the pulpit of the Baptist Church on Sunday, and preached two able sermons. The collections were on behalf of the college fund and were quite large. On Sunday next the Rev. A. H. Munro, the new pastor of this Church, will be with his congregation.

Journalistic.
The Cobourg Sentinel-Star came to hand last week in a new form—that of an eight-page paper. It has been purchased by Mr. E. H.
Fogarty, who has been editor and manager of the paper for the past four years, and who promises further improvements in the journal. We hope that he will receive a greater increase in the subscription list than he asks for, and he will receive it, if the Sentinel-Star is patronized as it deserves.

The Elections.
The election of members of the Town Council for 1884 is taking place to-day, and it has caused considerable stir on the streets. The usual amount of driving—or rather, an unusual amount for a municipal election—was kept up throughout the day. The excitement occasioned by the Mayoralty contest was unusual, and the returns will be watched with deep interest by a great many. The voting, of course, was by ballot, and as the poll does not close until after our hour for going to press we cannot give the result. As to the election of Councillors, there are about as many different opinions about who will be returned as there are candidates, and nothing can be known definitely until the votes are counted.

The Ontario and Quebec.
The Globe says that the adjourned meeting of the shareholders of the Ontario and Quebec and Canadian Pacific Railways took place in the office of Oler & Hammond on Friday, when the lease of the Ontario and Quebec system to the Canadian Pacific was produced and duly confirmed. The lease is for 999 years, and includes the lines of railways formerly known as the Toronto, Grey and Bruce and Credit Valley, besides the portion of the Ontario and Quebec now constructed, namely, from Toronto to Smith's Falls. Next spring the line from Smith's Falls to Montreal will be pushed forward. One of the heaviest pieces of work on the line will be a bridge across the St. Lawrence near the Lachine Rapids. When this is completed the C. P. R. will have control of a system of railway centring in Toronto, and extending to Montreal and Ottawa on the east, St.
Thomas and London west, and Owen Sound north. An office for the Ontario and Quebec system will be established in Toronto.

HONESTY.—A resident of this town lost a knowing where it was, spent the evening and gain. The keeper of the store returned it to him the following day, which went a long way towards thawing out the frozen members.—Sentinel-Star.

THE GOLDEN LION'S

Business Established.

The patronage we have received during the past week has been a very flattering indication of the growing popularity of the GOLDEN LION STORE with the people of Peterborough. This is to be accounted for in various ways: Customers who have been once pleased, return to make additional purchases, and bring with them a host of friends. Those who have been undecided where to purchase, have taken the safe rule of buying at the store where they see the largest business is being done. A STRICTLY HONEST and straightforward way of doing business has also produced good fruits in securing the confidence of the people. And another important factor in building up our business has been our ability to buy for cash and to sell goods at closer prices than those prevailing throughout the town.

Our Stock is still extensive and attractive for this happy season of the year, including every possible variety of all new Elegant Winter Dry Goods in perfect order, to be offered during the remainder of the Holidays at our popular prices. We are determined to give GOOD VALUE to all who may favor us with their orders.

THE RIVAL READERS.

A few days ago the Reform journals were arguing that it was a very good thing to have several sets of "Readers" authorized for our public schools, as it led to salutary competition. Now they are as stoutly maintaining that it is a very good thing to have only one set of "Readers" authorized, on account of the consequent uniformity, economy, &c. This sudden change of base is due to the fact that the Mowat administration has turned a complete somersault on this question. It is very gratifying to find that the criticisms of the opposition have had such a beneficial effect, and we feel by no means disposed to taunt them with their sudden conversion, being more inclined to congratulate them upon abandoning a false cause when they have been convinced of the evil of their ways. But we must confess that it is rather hard to award them this praise when they and their friends are persisting in the assertion that they made no mistake and that their administration was faultless throughout, notwithstanding their adoption of diametrically opposite courses.

There is, however, another aspect of the case that is by no means so satisfactory. Though the Mowat Administration has taken a sensible step in authorizing only one set of readers, they have adopted the worst means to attain this end. A complete set should have been chosen, and should have been universal, even if for the benefit of competition different firms had been allowed to publish it. To take, however, parts of different sets is only to make confusion, and to render any set useless as a whole, with the consequent expense entailed upon parents. It is obvious that this is a mere compromise to get them out of a difficulty with the conflicting interests. And it is just as obvious that the interests thus considered are not those of the pupils, of the parents, or of the public at large, but of the rival publishing houses and their friends, who had been favored, and who insisted upon retaining at least a share of their profitable monopoly. There are details of the transaction which make this jobbery especially obnoxious, and these will be properly ventilated in due time.

Meanwhile we know that in this matter of the school readers Mr. Mowat and his colleagues have adhered to their usual practice of considering political and private interests rather than those of the public which have been entrusted to their charge, with the result that such trust is proved to have been ill-founded.

THE DULL TIMES.

Because times are growing hard in Canada, the Reform papers are urging the people to dismiss Sir John Macdonald at the first opportunity and call in Mr. Blake and Sir Richard. If a patient who happened to be suffering from a slight headache were told to summon a doctor who a few years before had well nigh killed him by neglect and bad treatment, he would probably regard it as an ill-timed joke. But in this case the Reform journals are actually serious.

If, as the Toronto Globe declares, the present depression has been brought on by the protective tariff, it follows that Free Trade, such as Sir Richard preaches out of Adam Smith and Bastiat, is the only safe remedy. But it so happens that at this moment the industrial and financial condition of England, where free trade has for forty years been regarded as the cure-all, is much worse than that of Canada. The London Times of December 8th, declares that "nowhere in England is there real prosperity." "In the summer of 1879," the Times adds, "the renewal of trade set in, but already slackness had begun in 1881, and for the past two years the depression has been increasing." The cotton manufacturers are insisting upon a reduction of wages, to enable them to keep their spindles going. The activity in ship-building has come to an end. The iron trade has collapsed and general business is extremely dull. It is quite clear that Sir Richard's nostrum has failed to save England from business demoralization; and that it would cure the depression in Canada is not to be thought of. The fact is neither Free Trade nor Protection can avert panic. They come in cycles as regularly as the seasons. It is as certain as anything can be that the reduction of the Canadian tariff at this time would aggravate the condition of affairs in the Dominion. The Americans, whose markets are glutted, would at once begin the familiar process of "slaughtering," and many Canadian industries would be wiped out. We gave one-sided Free Trade a fair test between 1874 and 1879, and the country has not forgotten nor hardly yet recovered from the disastrous effects of its failure.—Winnipeg Times.

A MINNESOTA TORNADO.

The Norwegian poet and preacher Krieger Janson gives the following account of a tornado which destroyed his house.

"We had built two wings on the church, you know, as a summer resort for me and my family, and we had just moved in. The church itself was not yet finished, the doors and windows not put in, and the carpenters and joiners busy at their work when the misfortune happened. The weather had been turbulent for many days, every night lightning and thundering and violent showers. It was in the morning on the 21st. We had just taken our breakfast, and had gathered out on the porch to look at the grand play of the elements performed before us. Around in the horizon there flashed lightning on lightning, and it thickened and darkened more and more. We foresaw a violent tempest. It seemed as if the storm moved away in the direction of New Ulm, and we wondered if the poor town should be drowned to death for the second time. It was swept away by a cyclone two years ago, you remember. A cloud, black as the raven's wing, appeared in the west. Suddenly it split, and between the two black trains expanded the most fearful, dismal sky I ever saw. The color was green, gray, yellow and it darkened the sun so it became dark as twilight. The carpenters had by and by gathered together with us on the porch. 'This must be a hail storm,' one of them said; 'now we will prove ground bear of disaster.' Suddenly the cleft widened between the two black cloud wings, and the upper one came with a terrible speed, hurrying back towards us. 'Let us walk in,' I said. 'It seems as if we, too, shall get a taste of it.' We went in, and our parlor looked quite dark. We had scarcely looked the door before we heard the roaring of the storm coming. In a moment we were surrounded by a white cloud, and the wind whistled in through the house, which groaned and shivered all through. It was not rain, it was furious torrents of water mixed with heavy hail, which poured down from heaven. The storm tried to burst open the door, but five men pressed against it with all their might. The wall seemed to give way and stood in a bow; the building shook as in convulsions. I felt like a tightening of my heart every time the house seemed to be lifted from the ground and dropped down again. Twice we had these terrible shocks, then, in a moment, house, men, furniture, were hurled through the air one hundred feet away. I do not remember anything before I found myself on the ground sprawling among the debris of my new home. The first I discovered was my wife, with a child in each arm, lying at my side. Men and children were scattered around among lumber and siding, whether alive or dead nobody could tell. A table and a chair came flying through the air; some men met them and pushed them away, so they did not kill my wife and children; bits of wall and roof whirled round us; here it was impossible to remain. We crept and crawled, and ran for our lives down to the forest. As we found each other we were only six; a friend of ours, a farmer, had one of the small girls in his arms, my wife another, and one of my sons clinging to me."—Christian Times.

Thinking the Constitution.

In a recent speech at Edinburgh Lord Randolph Churchill thus criticized Mr. Chamberlain in the following trenchant manner:—"Mr. Chamberlain said at Bristol the other day that he intended to amend the constitution in such a manner that it would never require amending again." When we remember that the British Constitution has occupied the labors of many countries, that it has been the work of an artist as Lord Brougham, Lord Bacon, John Hampden, Russell, Lord Somers, Lord Brougham, Sir Robert Walpole, Mr. Pitt, Mr. Fox, Mr. Burke, Mr. Canning, Sir Robert Peel, Lord Beaconsfield, to say nothing of Mr. Gladstone, I think you will agree with me that this utterance of Mr. Chamberlain's, who is merely a Birmingham citizen, the product, after infinite labour and trouble of the Birmingham corporation, is just a trifle boastful. Some people would call it 'swagger.' You know what I call it 'bunkum'; and there are few people in this shrewd and cautious Scotland who would not turn away from such a guide with very considerable disgust. (Cheers.) If you were to take a disintegrating chronometer, and endeavour to amend it by the use of a clumsy and heavy screwdriver, I think it is extremely likely that that chronometer would never require amending again. If you were to take a beautiful Chinese vase and dash it on the ground so as to shiver it into a thousand pieces, that rare piece of porcelain would never require amending again. And, in the same manner, if you take the British Constitution and trust it to Mr. Chamberlain's manufacturing skill, I am perfectly certain that the British Constitution will never require amending again. (Laughter.)"

How it was Done.

Another example of the abominable manner in which the Ontario Government, by its agents, manipulated liquor licenses during the last elections was brought out in the evidence given in the North Ontario election trial on Thursday. Two tavern-keepers, having hotels near each other, were fishing not only for licenses, but each wished the other to be deprived of a license. David Gonne testified that he had spoken to the Grit candidate before the election, and told him "if he would grant me my license and withhold McNab's I would support him. But," the witness continued, "complainingly, they gave me a license, but they did not keep their word, as McNab gave McNab one also." Comment is unnecessary. A still more flagrant case is that of the other tavern-keeper, Mr. McNab, who testified that he saw Mr. Gonne, the Grit candidate, the night before the election, and the latter said, "How is the election going to run?" to which the tavern-keeper replied that he thought the Conservatives were the strongest party, whereupon Mr. Gonne remarked:—"You tavern-keepers should vote Reform, as you would be more sure of your license then." There is Mr. Gonne's opinion of the potency of a Reform vote in securing for a tavern-keeper a license. Mr. Mowat's temperance Government actually licensed two taverns where one tavern-keeper declared there was only business enough for one, for the sake of securing two Reform votes.—Hamilton Spectator.

Political Crises in Spain.

MADRID, Jan. 5.—The rupture between the Liberal faction is complete, and the country waits to see whom King Alfonso will call to power. Great uneasiness prevails. The army is suspected of preparing for revolt and funds are falling. The crisis will last a fortnight. More than the language of the Republican is, even that of the Ministerial press, hostile to the monarchy.

In international tribunal for the settlement of American claims is much discussed. The United States asks $5,000,000, and not $10,000,000. Spain will answer with claims for thecession of Florida and the losses of Spanish subjects during the war of independence. The situation is critical for the Ministry, King and nation.

The May Laws in Prussia.

A Berlin despatch says it is stated that the Government will submit to the Diet a bill cancelling the May Laws.

A Cow-Boy Girl.

One of our citizens who spent the past summer in Western Kansas and Colorado relates some queer incidents of life among the cow-boys of that semi-civilized region. One of the reckless, dare-devil characters he met with was a young girl of 19, who was known to her wild companions by the name of Bill. She dressed in male attire, and was addicted to nearly all the habits and manners of those rude Mazonias of the plains, known as cow boys. She smoked and chewed tobacco, used profane language, and handled a revolver with great skill. She was a perfect centaur in the saddle, riding always "man-fashion," and throwing the lasso with the dexterity of a Mexican vaquero. She was tall and slender, extremely agile, a practised pugilist and ready at all times for a fight, either with fists or revolver. Although indulging in all the slang and profanity of her male associates, Bill was said to be strictly chaste in her conduct, and had been engaged in more than one deadly combat with men who dared to hint the contrary.

Very little was known of the earlier history of this cow-boy girl. One story was that she fell in love with a young barman and followed him to the range under a promise of marriage, but before the wedding day arrived the barman was either killed or died, and she, in despair, adopted the life and dress of a cow-boy. Another account is that she is a fugitive from justice, having killed her step-mother, who attempted to chastise her. Whatever may have been her past history, she is certainly a very strange character. She received a pretty fair education, writes as a good memory, and with tolerable fluency, and is a great reader of novels and newspapers. She often rides 15 or 20 miles to get a copy of Texas Siftings. Her favorite author is Bret Harte, and she has committed to memory several of his stories, and sometimes recites them by the camp fire for the edification of her comrades. She has been known to write verses occasionally, and her poems partake not in the least of her wild life, but are marked by the most delicate and graceful imagery, perfect in rhythm and measure, and usually slightly tinged with sadness. Sometimes she reads her lines to her cow-boy friends, but will never permit any one to make a copy, and has a perfect horror of seeing any of her writings in print. A wandering showman made this girl an offer to go upon the stage, but she positively refused to abandon her present life, and will probably remain in the saddle until called to the happy hunting grounds.—St. Louis Chronicle.

Our Canadian Industry.

is prosperous. The great difficulty to be contended with is the low grade of goods required in nothing is more apparent than in the comparatively small article of sewing silks. The great demand for these goods is cheap quality, buyers forgetting that a cheap thread must necessarily be a fine and consequently a weak one. Few of our sewing silks make three grades of equal silk of these different qualities the poorest one has by far the largest sale, at the same time they constantly hear of complaints of poor sewing silk. If ladies would take the trouble to ask for Belding, Paul & Co's own brand, and see that their name is on the end of each good, they will be sure of getting the best made.

DEAR SIR,—For over twenty years I have suffered greatly from Neural Catarrh: sometimes being unable to smell or taste properly. The disease caused a severe pain over the eyes, and frequently stopped my writing on account of dizziness. The phlegm in my throat gave me much annoyance, especially in company, and I could seldom breathe through my nose. I have taken quarts of various medicines without any apparent benefit, until I was induced, by your agent of 60 Mercer Street, to try your Fountain of Health. After using five bottles I am prepared to give it as my honest opinion that for the cure of Catarrh it is a grand success. I have recommended it to many of my friends, one of whom encloses his testimonial with mine. Wishing you deserved success, I am gratefully yours, JOSEPH BROWN, Bookkeeper, 25 Sherborne Street, Toronto.

LOCAL NEWS

Choice Apples.
A few barrels of choice apples for sale. Also pure apple cider by the quart, gallon or barrel at CARTON BROS.

A Broken Shaft.
Very few accidents or incidents are reported to have occurred during the election on Tuesday. One man, while driving on George street opposite the entrance to the Council Chamber, just about the time the poll closed, ran his cutter into another vehicle and a broken shaft was the result.

Week of Prayer.
The first of the union meetings in connection with the week of prayer, held in the Bible Christian Church on Monday evening, was very successful. Several clergymen were present, and the Rev. E. F. Torrance, M. A., delivered an impressive address. This evening the meeting will be held in St. Andrew's Church.

Personal.
Mr. J. W. Dunnet, formerly a merchant of Peterborough, was on Tuesday elected Mayor of the city of Belleville. His opponents were Messrs. Geo. D. Dickson and John Frost.
Mr. Charles Shaw, of the Toronto Bank, a well-known amateur vocalist of this town, has been removed to a position in the branch of the same bank in Montreal.

Health Bulletin.
In some parts of Ontario diphtheria was very prevalent during the last weeks of 1883—more especially in the extreme east of the Province. Respiratory diseases too advanced. The six most prevalent diseases in the district in which Peterborough is included, in their order of prevalence, were as follows:—Influenza, 15.7; neuralgia, 9; bronchitis, 8; scarlatina, 5.3; consumption, 4.8; anæmia, 3.

Installation of Officers.
The officers of Otonabee Lodge No. 13, I. O. O. F., for the current half-yearly term were on Monday evening installed by Bro. R. W. Ball, M. D., assisted by Bro. J. E. Murray, as G. M. I.—
Bro. Jas. Stevenson.....N. G.
" G. H. Sproule.....V. G.
" Joe McCallister.....R. & P. S.
" John McKee.....Treas.
The remaining offices will be filled at the next meeting of the Lodge.

The School Book Question.
The School Book trade is now in full blast and the scholars no doubt have found out the best place to buy their supplies. A. L. Davis & Co., seem to have made their arrangements so complete that a big trade is being done there. Their exercise and drawing books are very large for 5 and 10 cents. The reader question being still unsettled, they are keeping all kinds. Scholars just promoted can get all the new books required. Just received English History Notes and Examination Papers in arithmetic.

Look Out.
for the great clearing sale of rich and valuable goods at W. Fairweather & Co., commencing next week. The whole of their remaining fine stock of Furs, Jackets, Circulars, Buffalo Robes, Black, Grey and White Robes, Fur-lined Gloves, Gannetlets or Caps, Tippetts, &c. All kinds of Heavy Winter Clothing is to be sold at reduced prices. Blankets, Flannels and Carpets at sweeping reductions. Bargains will be given of all Winter Goods to clear. This firm, when they do advertise a clearing sale, mean business, and parties may depend upon bargains.

Surrounding.
The brass bands, both the Fire Brigade and the City, turned out last evening and surrounded the Mayor-elect and the successful candidates for seats in the Council. The City Band also honored Mr. Sawers, the defeated candidate for the Mayorship, in a similar manner, and were hospitably entertained and treated handsomely by him. This band is progressing and has met with such success that they expect soon to have their uniforms. The Fire-Brigade Band rendered good music on this occasion. Several of the Councilors elected were detained at home by being honored by the bands, and were therefore unable to attend the meeting in the Council Chamber and return their thanks to the electors.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

MR. GEO. A. COX ELECTED MAYOR BY A LARGE MAJORITY.

A Lively and Exciting Contest—Four New Members Returned and Four Old Members Retired.

The election of members of the Town Council of Peterborough took place on Monday, and was the most exciting contest of this nature that has taken place in this town for several years. For the past two years there has been no contest for the Mayor's chair, Mr. H. H. Smith having been returned two years by acclamation, and the elections have therefore passed off more quietly, but this year there were two candidates for the highest municipal office, namely, Messrs. Geo. A. Cox and C. W. Sawers, and there was more interest taken in the result. However, Mr. Cox was elected by a majority of 225.

Four of last year's members of the Council, besides the Mayor, will be missed from the Council Board this year, namely Messrs. Paterson, Deane, Sawers and McNaughton. The first two were not candidates, having voluntarily retired; the third was a candidate for the Mayorship, and the fourth was defeated at the polls in No. 1 ward. The new members, besides the Mayor, are Messrs. Allan, Green, Millar, and Kendry, all of whom are expected to make good municipal legislators.

The vote polled was a heavy one, as will be seen by the following returns:

	Cox.	Sawers.	Maj. for Cox.
No. 1 ward.....	171	130	32
No. 2 ward.....	174	114	60
No. 3 ward.....	225	115	110
No. 4 ward.....	91	68	23
Totals.....	661	427	235

FOR COUNCILLORS.
The following are the votes polled in each ward for the various candidates, the three who received the highest number of votes in each ward being elected:—

AFTER THE BATTLE.

After the close of the polls in the evening, a large number of ratepayers gathered in the council chamber to await the returns of the result. Mr. W. Paterson, Jr., was called to the chair, and several of the successful candidates addressed the meeting.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox was called on and thanked the chairman, Mr. Paterson, for having retired in his favour, and returned thanks to the electors for electing him to the position of Mayor without a personal solicitation of their votes. He said that when he entered the contest, he did so with the intention of not asking any one for their vote, and this intention he carried out. It was not because he did not appreciate the value of their votes, but because that, if in placing his services at their disposal he was doing anything for the benefit of the town, they would elect him without solicitation on his part. He much more highly appreciated the honor they had done him than if he had canvassed from house to house. He would make no promises regarding the coming year, but he would do all in his power to promote the interests of the town. For a quarter of a century he had been a citizen of Peterborough. During that time he had done all he could to extend and build up the town, and it was not likely that he would pursue an opposite policy now. Throughout this contest he had not said or written one word against his opponent. As to the insinuations that had been made against himself, he thanked the electors for the way they had cleared them to-day.

Mr. THOS. KELLY thanked the electors of No. 2 Ward for returning him to the Council for the fourth time. He would pursue the same course during this year as he had in the past, working for the interest of the whole town as well as for that of the Ward which he represented.

Mr. MELVILLE MILLAR said that if any man had reason to be proud of the result of the voting, he was that man, as he was comparatively a stranger among them and had not personally solicited their votes. The result showed the feeling they had towards him, and he was correspondingly appreciative of the honor. In electing Mr. Cox they had made an excellent selection for Mayor.

Mr. S. F. ALLEN hoped that the electors would not have reason to regret the confidence they had voted in him. He referred to stories which had been circulated about him, and said that they had been sufficiently answered by the number of votes cast for him. He would work for the best interests of the town.

Mr. J. J. HARTLEY thanked the electors of No. 4 Ward for placing him at the head of the poll. He had worked for the best interests of the town, as he had a right to do, for he was born and brought up in it, and all he owned was invested in the town. His interests were identical with those of the town. He was well pleased to see Mr. Cox elected Mayor, although he had nothing to say against Mr. Sawers, who was an energetic and enterprising young man. He again returned thanks for his election.

Mr. JAMES KENDRY returned thanks for his election. He had polled fewer votes than his colleagues who had been elected, but this was the first time he had stood for the Ward, and he thanked them for electing him.

Mr. Cox said he first received the honor of being elected Mayor at their hands in 1873, but he had not prized it as much at that time as he did now, as this time it was an unsolicited honor. If he had not canvassed it was not because he was not desirous of receiving their votes. He believed that every voter should be compelled to vote, and that any one who did not record their vote should be disfranchised, and also that anyone who solicited votes should be disfranchised. He believed it would come to this. (A voice—Is there a respectable minority?) He had not answered all the equities issued against him during the contest, but no one could charge him with treating any man disrespectfully, as he believed that every honest, sober and industrious man was respectable. As to the charges of extravagance made against him, they would be answered during the year.

Mr. THOMAS CAHILL said the electors had shown good judgment in selecting their Mayor for 1884. He thanked those who had voted for him, and had nothing to say against those who had voted against him, as they had a right to do as they thought best. He thought the Council they had now elected was an improvement on that of last year, and he hoped that if they again solicited re-election they would have done nothing during the year to merit disapproval.

Mr. A. P. Poussette said that he did not appear before them as an elected candidate. He thanked the 36 men who voted for him, but he would have been better pleased if they had distributed their votes in another direction. The town was to be congratulated on the choice it had made for its Mayor for the year. Mr. Cox must feel that the people had appreciated all the efforts he had made to benefit the town. The result of the election showed that, notwithstanding the strenuous efforts made to defeat Mr. Cox, the people knew how to render honor to whom honor was due. This year's Council was an improvement on last year. There was no necessity for making any remarks about those who had been defeated. No doubt Mr. Sawers would feel the defeat enough, and they could only hope that it would prevent him from troubling them in this way again.

While these speeches were being delivered, the returns from the wards were announced at intervals as they came in, and were received with cheer.

A vote of thanks was tendered to the chairman, and the meeting broke up after giving cheer for "the Queen," "the New Council," and "the New Mayor."

THE DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—No older heads having volunteered as yet to offer an explanation of the phenomena so interestingly noted, in connection with the dynamite explosion, by Mr. H. T. Strickland in Monday's REVIEW, I venture to propose the following:—

It is well-known that dynamite, when ignited in the open air, is one of the most harmless of explosives. If my memory serves me, its force varies inversely as the cube of the distance from the place of ignition. A celebrated English expert asserts that he has frequently exploded a not small quantity of dynamite tied to a line attached to a fishing rod which he held in his hand. It was not at all to be wondered at, therefore, that glass in the shattered windows was not broken inward.

The reason of their outward breakage is to be found, I think, in the fact that the expansive force found its way into the house through the aperture in the walls, windows, etc.; and, though too weak to demolish a pane of glass directly, yet had sufficient power so to expand the air in the house that the glass was immediately burst outward.

We find an analogous instance in the case of fluids. A column of water falling through a very small opening is powerless against the external surface of a butt filled with water. But place the tube in the butt, closing all other apertures, and the vessel is immediately burst. The fact that in the case of double windows only the inner ones were broken supports my theory.

Yours, etc.,
ADOLESCENS.

THE MARCH

or

WINTER DRESS GOODS.

Goods well bought are said to be half sold. The march began before ours were fairly on Stock, and the march has been kept up since.

We had the best assortment to begin with, gathered literally both from abroad and at home. The best fabrics picked with the eye of an expert—just such goods as sell.

Never have we had a season of greater activity. Never did our prices seem more inviting. Never were there better profits of it either, for with very few exceptions our prices remain unchanged. Yet customers seem as that they are lower than where stocks have been previously reduced.

Remember our goods are the freshest from the most famous weavers.

Prices, you know is one of our strong points always.

THE GOLDEN LION'S Business Established.

The patronage we have received during the past week has been a very flattering indication of the growing popularity of the GOLDEN LION STORE with the people of Peterborough. This is to be accounted for in various ways: Customers who have been once pleased, return to make additional purchases, and bring with them a host of friends. Those who have been undecided where to purchase, have taken the safe rule of buying at the store where they see the largest business is being done. A STRICTLY HONEST and straightforward way of doing business has also produced good fruits in securing the confidence of the people. And another important factor in building up our business has been our ability to buy for cash and to sell goods at closer prices than those prevailing throughout the town. Our Stock is still extensive and attractive for this happy season of the year, including every possible variety of all new Elegant Winter Dry Goods in perfect order, to be offered during the remainder of the Holidays at our popular prices. We are determined to give GOOD VALUE to all who may favor us with their orders.

POLITICAL DELEGATES.

After quoting approvingly some editorial remarks of the REVIEW in reference to the so-called "Farmers' Convention" at Winnipeg, the Times of that city remarks:—"Quite so. But what does the REVIEW think of the delegates to Ottawa?" We think it a great pity for the sake of the farmers themselves that the matter has been allowed to become the talking horse of professional politicians with little stake in the country and in some cases very recent acquaintance with it. These delegates will be much more anxious to make political capital for the Reform party and to embarrass the Government, than to obtain redress for any real grievances of the farmers or the people at large of the North-West. We may safely assume that there are grievances—that there are imperfections, for they are inseparable from all human affairs and it is very certain that the settlement of a new country is not likely to be an exception to this general rule. An unnecessary difficulty is, however, being thrown in the way of the redress or even the recognition of such grievances, and the adoption of remedies, through the real facts of the case being obscured by the introduction of parties and contradictory complaints for political effect. For instance, it may be desirable and even necessary that an outlet for the produce of the North-West should be opened by way of Hudson's Bay, but this cannot be facilitated by clamouring for the construction of another great railway by the Dominion, which already is making unprecedented exertions and progress in that direction, before it is even ascertained whether the navigation is such that private enterprise would maintain sufficient commercial communications by sea. It would be more sensible to press the Dominion and even the Imperial authorities to make such surveys and investigation as would supply the necessary information, and would attract the attention of owners of shipping to the route as a practical field for the employment of their capital. There are equal absurdities mixed with the other demands of these pecked political meetings having a lamentable tendency to obscure the real requirements of the settlers. Delegates who were fully acquainted with the subject and who had at heart the promotion of the settlement of the country, could throw valuable light upon these questions at Ottawa, but we are convinced that these political adventurers will neither have the ability nor the will to assist in the solution of the difficulty, though no doubt they will serve admirably for their intended purpose of doing all that is possible to embarrass the Government and to foment instead of curing any dissatisfaction that may exist in the North-West.

HOW TO ADVERTISE IN TOWN.

A correspondent of the Chattanooga Tradesman, writing from Handsboro, Minn., says: "I hereby make a brief statement of some of the wants of this vicinity—this place in particular. Handsboro, Harrison county, Mississippi, is a small manufacturing town, of about six hundred inhabitants, one mile back from Mississippi City, a station on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, and midway between the cities of New Orleans and Mobile, seventy miles either way. Here we have direct rail, water, mail and telegraphic connection to any or all points. We have a favorable locality—said to be the healthiest of the country; a congenial climate. Labor is cheap, and fuel cheap and abundant, also crude material for manufacturing is abundant and cheap. A furniture factory to make cheap furniture of the native woods, as bay, magnolia, black jack (gum) and pine. A furniture factory to make fine furniture, as fine woods can be brought here cheaper than to any part of the country. We ship large quantities of our yellow pine to Mexico and Central America; the native would be glad to give fine woods in payment and the result eager for return cargoes. We have a fine harbor at our doors at Ship Island. One or more canning factories to put up fish, shrimp, oysters, vegetables and fruits. A factory to make packing boxes and broom-handles. The products of these are all such as this section of the country depends for altogether on the West and North. We will gladly welcome any one coming in our midst, whether in pursuit of business, health or pleasure."

From the Fisheries Exhibition.
Ten car loads of fishery exhibits arrived at Ottawa on Monday, being part of the Canadian exhibit at the International Fisheries Exhibition held in London.

A Nice Piece of Wood.
The widest piece of lumber that ever came into Chicago was recently received at the Lumberman's exchange. It is of California red wood, fifty-two inches wide, three inches thick, and fourteen feet long.

Lake Superior Copper.
The product of the copper mines in the Lake Superior district for 1883 was $7,000,000, against about $8,000,000 for the previous year. The estimated yield of copper in the United States outside of Lake Superior is 18,000 tons.

Prescott's Re-Union.
A vote was taken on Monday by the freeholders of Prescott to pass a by-law effecting a re-union of the town with the counties of Leeds and Grenville, from which it has been separated some fifteen years. The by-law was carried by about seventy votes.

Workmen's Demonstration in Vienna.
A Vienna despatch says:—A large number of workmen held a meeting to-day, and afterwards paraded the streets, singing and shouting as they marched. Detachments of cavalry, infantry, and police were kept in readiness for any emergency that might arise. It is rumored that the socialists have resolved to wreck certain newspaper offices.

The Baltimore Catholic Council.
A Rome despatch says Archbishop Gibbons had an audience with the Pope yesterday preparatory to leaving Rome. The Pope confirmed Archbishop Gibbons' appointment as apostolic delegate to preside at the Catholic Council in Baltimore. On Tuesday the Archbishop will depart for Nice, Trent and Lyons on an important mission.

Bishop Baldwin.
On Monday Bishop Baldwin, accompanied by Mrs. Baldwin, Rev. G. G. Ballard and Mr. and Mrs. Ermatinger, of St. Thomas, visited Alma College and were accorded a hearty welcome by Principal Austin and the faculty. Bishop Baldwin made a very appropriate, earnest and eloquent address to the students on the subject of personal religion.

Dynamite and Destruction Condemned.
NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—At a meeting of Fenians in Brooklyn last night, J. Knight, who recently left Ireland, said he was sorry to hear Irishmen talk of dynamite and the destruction of England. The doctrines of Parnell and the Land League, of Isaac Butt and of Home Rule, had gained more respect than the chapter of Fenianism. The Fenians were forging chains for Irishmen. There were many indications of dissent exhibited by the audience.

Hop Statistics.
The hop crop of the German Empire in 1883 was a middling one, estimated at 42,000,000 pounds. The consumption amounts to 33,990,000 pounds. The product on beer aggregated 1,041,278,000 gallons; the consumption per head was 134.40. The production of beer in other countries of Europe was 3,000,500,000 gallons and the consumption per head 56.35 quarts. In America the production was 875,775,000 gallons and the consumption per head 20.15 quarts.

The Cigar Factory Fire.
MONTREAL, Jan. 7.—The fire at Davis & Son's cigar factory was more destructive than at first suspected. The loss on stock and machinery is estimated by experts to-day at fully $80,000, and on the building at $40,000, making the aggregate $120,000. Nearly four hundred operators are temporarily thrown out of employment, but Mr. Davis is well known here for his vigorous energy, and therefore will soon re-establish the factory on Cote street, where he lately bought a large building for his business.

The Burned Convent.
BELLEVILLE, Ill., Jan. 7.—The loss by the burning of the convent is $100,000. It is believed thirty persons perished. There is not the least probability that any of the missing will be heard of alive. Mother Superior and Sister Edwin lost their lives in endeavoring to rescue the inmates of the dormitory. James Stout, watchman of the Harrison machine works, who first saw the flames, says when he reached the convent the whole building was a roaring mass of flames, and the inmates were at the windows shrieking and praying for help. The entire populace of Belleville hurried to the scene, and thousands came from St. Louis.

A Girl's Secretism.
WELLSVILLE, Ohio, Jan. 5.—The residence of Milton Highland, at Nicholasstown, was burned early yesterday morning, and his children, Grace and Mollie, perished. Before retiring a man of the family hung clothing near a grate, and this taking fire caused the disaster. About two o'clock Highland's eldest daughter was awakened by a crackling noise, and finding the room filled with smoke she made heroic struggles to reach the room of her sisters, but the flames prevented her. She then, being badly burnt, leaped from the window and succeeded in awakening the other members of the family barely in time to save their lives. The father was absent.

Terribly Fatal Fire.
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 5.—In the Institute of the Immaculate Conception Sisters of Notre Dame, Belleville, Ill., destroyed by fire last night, were sixty pupils—all girls from 10 years to adult age—several teachers, and other inmates. After the fire started an attempt was made by the Sisters to extinguish it, and failing, efforts were made to remove the pupils. The flames spread so rapidly that no order could be preserved, and a panic seized both children and Sisters. Forty or more pupils are known to have got out, but several in their fright jumped from the windows, and were either killed or badly injured. Miss Campbell, teacher, leaped from the third story window and died in a few minutes. Another climbed to the roof of the portico, and either fell or was blown off and fatally injured. The fire department was of little avail against the flames, and in an hour the entire building was a mass of ruins. It is reported that the fire started from the furnace in the basement, and the flames quickly spread upward, cutting off most of the exits. When the ruins sufficiently cooled, a volunteer corps went to work to bring out the bodies. At times the searchers found two or three charred masses huddled together, seemingly seeking protection in one another from the advancing flames. The majority were found beneath where the dormitory was situated. The total known of the deaths is 27, 23 of whom are pupils and five sisters. Extreme cold retarded the work of the firemen. There were no ladders in the fire department, and no provision for such an emergency made by the managers of the institution.

Milled by a Bear.
LOWELL, Mass., Jan. 6.—Arthur Stafford who claimed to be the son of an English earl, landed in New York in November last, and met a Southerner named Schwartz. On his way to Maine on a hunting and fishing tour Stafford made the acquaintance of Miss Grace, of New York and they became engaged. On the afternoon of December 31st, Stafford left camp for a stroll. A severe snowstorm set in and Stafford did not return. Schwartz and the guide early in the morning of New Year's day, about three miles from camp, found Stafford in the firm embrace of a she bear both frozen stiff. A knife was sticking in the left fore-shoulder of the bear, and a short distance away was a half grown cub with a wound in its heart. The guide said Stafford had attacked the cub first and was then set upon by the she bear. Schwartz went to Bangor and told Stafford's fate to Miss Grace. The poor girl lost her reason, and will be sent to an insane asylum to-morrow.

"Hub" Cough Cure, 35 Cents.
Prescription of a Boston physician, dispensed years by a Boston Druggist. One dose will cure any ordinary cough. It acts almost magically. Ask J. D. Tully for a 25 cent bottle of Hub Cough Cure.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT.—FRANK SPINK, Wilton Avenue, Toronto, some time ago received a bad injury by an accident on the G.T.R. The severe contusions were quickly healed by the use of Hagar's Yellow Oil.

SINGERS and public speakers are always benefited by using Down's Balm, as it removes the hoarseness and increases the power of the voice. Take small doses often. Price, 25c, 50c, and $1.00.

FOR A HARBOR, with pain in the head, bones or through the chest, take Down's Balm at once, and in liberal doses, cover up well in bed. At four or five grains, it will soon be well.

Beware of that cough. It may kill you; cure it at once with Dr. Carson's Pulmonary Cough Syrup. It never fails. Large bottles at 50 cents. For sale everywhere.

DEAR SIR,—For over twenty years I have suffered greatly from Neuralgia; sometimes being unable to smell or taste properly. The disease caused a severe pain over the eye, and frequently stopped my writing on account of dizziness. The pain in my throat gave me much annoyance, especially in company, balls of which would occasionally fall down into my throat, and I could seldom breathe through my nose. I have taken quite a variety of medicines without any apparent benefit, until I was induced, by your agent of 60 Motor Street, to try your Fountain of Health. After using five bottles I am prepared to give it as my honest opinion that for the cure of Neuralgia it is a grand success. I have recommended it to many of my friends, one of whom enclosed his testimonial with mine. I am gratefully yours,
JOSEPH BROWN,
Bookkeeper, 25 Sherborne Street, Toronto.

LOCAL NEWS

Board of Education.
A meeting of the Board of Education will be held in the Board Room, at 7.45 o'clock on Friday evening.

Choice Apples.
A few barrels of choice apples for sale. Also pumpkins and cabbages by the quart, gallon or barrel at CARTON BROS.

The Market.
The heavy storm had the effect of making the attendance at the market very small this morning. In fact, we believe there was no attendance.

Lumber Sale.
The auction sale of lumber which was to have taken place at the Nassau Mills on Thursday has, on account of the difficulty of travelling at the present time, been postponed until January 17th.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as received from the Toronto Observatory are as follows:—North to west winds, gradually decreasing in force; clearing weather; stationary or slightly lower temperature, higher temperature to-morrow.

Week of Prayer.
The union meeting in connection with the week of prayer, held in St. Andrew's Church on Tuesday evening, was well attended, considering the unfavorable weather. The Rev. Alex. Bell conducted the meeting, and the Rev. W. J. Joffe addressed those present, as did also the Rev. T. Manning, B. A. This evening's meeting will be held in the George Street Methodist Church.

Photographed on the Street.
George Street had a very wintry appearance to-day, with the snow heaped on each side, where the beautiful had been shovelled off the sidewalk. A well known merchant thought the street, while in that shape, would make good scenery for a photograph. He accordingly dressed in a snow shoe club suit, and, with a shovel over his shoulder and snow shoes on, he took up a position on a mountain of snow and had a photograph taken. His attitude was striking, and the photograph will doubtless be one that many would be pleased to possess.

A. O. U. W.
At the regular meeting of Peterborough Lodge, No. 135, A. O. U. W., on Tuesday evening the following officers were installed by Bro. Jos. McClelland, P. M. W., assisted by Bro. T. G. Gillespie, P. M. W.
Bro. J. R. Stratton, P. M. W.

" E. T. Webb, Overseer
" Jos. McNeil, Recorder
" Wm. McLean, Treasurer
" Wm. Bacon, Steward
" Wm. Barrie, Guide
" Herbert Charnock, J. W.
" Jos. Logan, O. W.
Bro. J. R. Stratton was elected representative to the Grand Lodge. This Society, which is a mutual insurance institution, is in a flourishing condition.

The Fire Brigade.
The yearly meeting of the Peterborough Fire Brigade—that is, the meeting at which they wind up the year's business—was held in the Brigade Hall on Tuesday evening, when the officers of the current year were elected. The officers are as follows, the Chief Engineer being appointed by the Town Council:—

BRIGADE OFFICERS.
Chief Engineer, J. D. Craig
Asst. Chief Engineer, J. D. Craig
Secretary, J. D. Craig
Treasurer, J. D. Craig

COMPANY OFFICERS.
Capt. Electric hose, C. Rutherford
Capt. Hook and Ladder, H. Evans
Capt. Hose, J. Haggart
After the election of officers and the transaction of other business, the members of the Brigade adjourned to the Little Windsor hotel, where they regaled themselves at an oyster supper and had a very pleasant time.

A PARALYTIC STROKE.—W. H. Howard, of Gen. N. Y. suffered with paralysis and general debility, and spent a small fortune in advertised remedies, without avail, until he tried Burdock Blood Bitters. It purified and revitalized the blood, caused it to circulate freely, and quickly restored him to health.

MONDAY, has been visited by an epidemic of flu, five having occurred between 7 o'clock on Sunday evening and 1 o'clock on Monday afternoon. Fortunately, however, only two of them were of a serious character, the loss in those aggregating one hundred and twenty thousand dollars and nine thousand dollars respectively. By the former nearly four hundred workmen are temporarily thrown out of employment.

Corn Baiting.

It may surprise the good people of Canada to learn that the corn crop has been immensely increased in Canada. No doubt the N. F. people will claim this as a product of protection, but Putnam's Poisonless Corn Extractor alone is entitled to all the credit. It raises more corn to the acre than anything else the world can supply. Safe, sure and painless. Take no substitute. Only 25 cents. Try your hand. A good corn guaranteed. Beware of cheapening substitutes. N. C. Putnam & Co., Props., Kingston.

THE MARCH

WINTER DRESS GOODS.

Goods well bought are said to be half sold. The march began before ours were fairly on stock, and the march has been kept up since.

We had the best of assortments to begin with, gathered literally both from abroad and at home. The best fabrics picked with the eye of an expert—just such goods as sell.

Never have we had a season of greater activity. Never did our prices seem more inviting. Never was there better proof of it than, for with very few exceptions our prices—remain unchanged. Yet customers assure us that they are lower than where stocks have been professedly reduced.

Remember our goods are the freshest from the most famous weavers.

Prices, you know is one of our strong points always.

THE GOLDEN LION'S

Business Established.

The patronage we have received during the past week has been a very flattering indication of the growing popularity of the GOLDEN LION STORE with the people of Peterborough. This is to be accounted for in various ways: Customers who have been once pleased, return to make additional purchases, and bring with them a host of friends. Those who have been undecided where to purchase, have taken the safe rule of buying at the store where they see the largest business is being done. A STRICTLY HONEST and straightforward way of doing business has also produced good fruits in securing the confidence of the people. And another important factor in building up our business has been our ability to buy for cash and to sell goods at closer prices than those prevailing throughout the town.

Our Stock is still extensive and attractive for this happy season of the year, including every possible variety of all new Elegant Winter Dry Goods in perfect order, to be offered during the remainder of the Holidays at our popular prices. We are determined to give GOOD VALUE to all who may favor us with their orders.

TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION.

The proposal to send a deputation to Ottawa, on February 8th, to interview the Minister of Railways and Canals in regard to the proposition of the works on the Trent Valley Navigation, will, we have no doubt, be considered opportune. There should be a strong and influential delegation from all the localities along the proposed route, so as duly to impress the administration with the interest that is felt in this matter. Sir Charles Tupper has already by personal inspection testified himself that the opening of this great national route is both feasible and desirable—he has even promised to push it forward to completion as soon as Sir Leonard Tilley could find the necessary funds, which he is now fully able to do—but it must be remembered that the Ministers have no many claims upon their attention, and upon the Treasury, that even such an important work as this requires to be pressed upon their notice, or it might be postponed for other matters of less urgency, but whose friends are more importu-nate. Therefore it will be well before the next session of Parliament is far advanced, and prior to the framing of the estimates, to put in a claim for a substantial appropriation in order to open another section of this route.

It is evident that to bring this subject properly before the Government the residents along the route must bestir themselves—they are best acquainted with its advantages and there is no doubt that it will be of great local benefit. The completion of any section, would, even in advance of the opening of the whole route, afford to a large and productive district an easy and economical means of transport. For instance, the unloading of the nine miles between Lakefield and Peterborough would connect already navigable waters so as to allow of uninterrupted navigation between Balsam Lake and Healy's Falls below Hastings, with important branches to Port Perry, on the Seaboard River, Coburn on the Gull River, &c. Similar benefits would be derived from the completion of the other three sections, between Georgian Bay and Lake Simcoe, between Lake Simcoe and Balsam Lake and between Healy's Falls and the Bay of Quinte. Each would greatly extend and facilitate the existing navigation of most important stretches.

It must not, however, be assumed from its great local advantages, that this route is only of local importance. Far from this being the case it is in truth of more than Provincial—of more even than Dominion interest. It will, in fact, be an important factor in the great problem of conveying the superabundant produce of the great Northwest to the teeming consumers of the Old World. It will be one of the most effective means of solving the difficulty of transporting the grain of Manitoba and the Territories to the seaboard, so economically as to leave a profit for the farmer. This is hardly possible in the case of so long a haul by railway, but with the Trent Valley Navigation open the wheat from the prairies need only be carried by rail to Port Arthur, on Lake Superior, and thence it could be conveyed economically by water all the way to its destination.

Our Canadian ports have also an especial interest in this matter. Once upon the large navigation of the Trent Valley water there would be little temptation to divert grain from the St. Lawrence, whereas the Welland Canal acts at least as much a feeder to the ports of the United States as to our own.

There is in short every reason why the representations of the deputation should meet with favorable consideration, and the completion of this great work should be prosecuted with all possible despatch.

ANOTHER CAPTAIN WEBB.

The following account, which has been going the round of the press for some weeks, is from the Pall Mall Gazette. Details of a remarkable swimming feat have just come to hand from Auckland, New Zealand. The facts, as stated in the local papers which are before us, are verified, if any such verification were needed, by private letters to the relatives and friend,
in this country of the hero of the exploit—namely Capt. Haultain, son of Col. Haultain, who was formerly a British officer, but now for a great many years a well known resident in the colony. Capt. Haultain, who is thirty-two years of age, and weighs, we are told, fourteen stone, commands a sailing vessel trading on the New Zealand coast. The night of Sept. 9th was, it appears, an excessively stormy one, a strong gale blowing from the east-south-east, dark, rainy, and unusually cold. About 2 a.m.
his ship was making for the entrance of the Whangarei harbor. The captain himself was upon the deck, occupied with some alteration of the rigging, and while clearing away some ropes, was caught by the peak "down all" and flung clear of the ship into the raging sea.
Capt. Haultain had on at this time a heavy overcoat, high sea boots up to his thighs, two pairs of trousers, two shirts and two under-shirts.
Taking it for granted that a boat would be sent back to look for him as soon as possible, he swam with these appalling incumbrances upon him, as near as he could tell, for about half an hour in the wake of the ship, paddling after the fashion of the Antipodeans by land and sea.
No boat, however, appearing, he felt that his only chance was to strike out for the shore.
At this time he was at a great distance from the Frenchman at the mouth of the harbor, and he succeeded in stripping himself of his load of clothes and his long boots—an operation which in itself must have been exhausting enough, necessitating, as it did, frequent dives. To make the nearest land he soon found was hopeless on account of the strong ebb tide that was running, and he had nothing for it but to head for the opposite shore of the harbor, three miles distant, which two or three lights made visible through the darkness. This extraordinary feat—extraordinary, that is, when the circumstances are considered, he succeeded in accomplishing and he was picked up after being three hours and a half in the water, clinging to the beach with his hands, half senseless, his legs having lost all power of action, and the surf breaking over him. In the meantime his men on the schooner had lost no time in putting off a boat to the rescue of their captain. After rowing for some time they gave up the search as fruitless, and the boat being small, were themselves in no great security. The schooner, left short handed, was driven ashore on the same beach as its captain some time before the latter, and the boat, heading for the same point, was capsized in the surf, the men struggling ashore as best they could, though without loss of life. They remained upon the beach about three hours, till daylight showed them where they were. Travelling then along the shore in the direction of the nearest house they heard cries as if from a man struggling in the water, and eventually found their gallant captain in the surf as before described. The force of the sea that was running through all that night, says the local accounts, may be realized by the fact that the vessel was driven so high and dry upon the beach that at high tide it was possible to walk up to her dry dock.

The Auckland papers speak of it as the most wonderful performance that has ever been attained upon the New Zealand coast, and claim for Capt. Haultain the mantle of the unfortunate Webb. They note the fact, also, that he was a determined abstainer that even when half dead and totally numbed with exhaustion, he refused to swallow even a spoonful of brandy.
They exult, and with good reason, in the fact of this hero being a native of the colony, and are justly proud that the bones and muscles of such a feat should be the production of their soil. The three mile swim on a cold night in a storm would have been in itself no mean accomplishment, though far from being unparalleled one; but when it was, as in this case, preceded by half an hour of waiting in the water for the boat to come back, in clothes such as would have sent an ordinary swimmer to the bottom in five minutes, then supplemented by the extra task of dislodging under such circumstances, not to speak of the first futile attempt to reach the nearer shore, it would be hard to imagine a greater test of human endurance. Capt. Haultain, has it appears, been long noted as a famous swimmer. One of the New Zealand papers finishes up its account of the adventure thus:—"His escape is quite phenomenal, but he is a phenomenal swimmer, being able literally to sit on the sea, with his hands on his hips paddling. This we are informed of by many who have seen him giving an exhibition of his wonderful powers when lying with his vessel at the wharves."

THE DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—I must thank "W." for the courteous manner in which he has attempted to disprove my theory of the dynamite explosion. There are one or two weak points in his attempt which I should like to examine.

1. For instance, he says, "I suppose we are to infer that the expansive force found its way into the house through the aperture on the side facing the explosion." I beg him not to infer any such thing; gases are the most mobile substances; any pressure exerted upon them at any point diffuses itself throughout the whole mass; this property of transmitting pressure equally in all directions is their fundamental characteristic. The force, therefore, entered by every available aperture on every side of the house.

2. "W." says, "of course 'Adolescent' knows that the laws which apply to liquids do not apply to gases." In reply, let me quote from Chambers' Pneumatics:—"The laws which regulate the pressure of gases are essentially the same as those already established with regard to liquids."

3. Again "W." remarks, "the house is not filled with a practically incompressible liquid like water, but with a highly compressible gas."
This matters not as far as the mere compressing force is concerned; were we discussing the volumes of gases and liquids under varying pressures, it would of course be necessary to take the distinction into account.

My arguments, therefore, are not as vulnerable as "W." imagines.

In regard to "W." own theory, I will only say, first, that the contraction he speaks of caused by the cooling of the "superheated gas" must have been too slow a process to exert any demolishing force; secondly, that could it have done so, the outer windows would have broken first; for suppose a miniature double window under an air-pump (an obvious similarity), surely the glass nearest the piston bursts first. His supposition as to the cracks around the outer windows is purely hypothetical.

Yours, etc.,
ADOLESCENT.
Peterborough, January 10, 1884.

NAPANE.

NEARLY SUFFOCATED.—As a commercial traveller who arrived by train early on Tuesday morning was going to his room in the Campbell house he noticed a strong smell of gas coming from one of the rooms. He and the porter forced the door open, when they found the occupant, one Cronk, of Belleville, prostrate on the floor and unconscious. He was at once removed from the room and steps taken to restore him to consciousness, which was accomplished only with difficulty. When he came to his senses he rewarded his rescuers with abuse. It appears that when he turned out the gas on retiring he carelessly turned the tap too far and thus allowed the gas to escape into the room.

The Royal City in Darkness.

QUEBEC, Jan. 8.—The city of Quebec is suffering from a gas famine, owing to a stoppage in some of the main pipes at the gas house. All lights were suddenly extinguished at 9 o'clock last night, and a public meeting held after the municipal elections was closed abruptly. Some of the churches in which service was being held were left in darkness, and at the skating rink, where the large crowd was in attendance, utter confusion prevailed for a time. Many soldiers between staters occurred, fortunately without injury. All the old and discarded lamps were reunited at hotels and other places and brought into use last night. The gas was turned on again this afternoon, and people lit away their lamps, but had to fall back on them again to-night, the gas going out suddenly at 7.30.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. Its value is incalculable.
It will relieve the poor little sufferer in medi-ate. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures colic, wind, and regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system.
Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the per-scription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world.
Price 25 cents a bottle.

"Meb" Cough Cure, 25 Cents.

Prescription of a Boston physician, dispensed years by a Boston Druggist. One dose will cure any ordinary cough. It acts slowly, but surely.
Ask J. D. Tully for a 25 cent bottle of Hub
Cough Cure.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT.—FRANK SPINK, Wilton Avenue, Toronto, some time ago received a bad injury by an accident on the O.P.R. The severe gouty pains were quickly healed by the use of Hayward's Yellow Oil.

SINGERS and public speakers are always benefited by using Down's Balm, as it removes the hoarseness and increases the power of the voice. Take small doses often. Price, 25c, 50c, and $1.00.

FOR A HARP COUGH, with pain in the head, hoarseness or through the chest, take Down's Balm at once. It cures the cough, cures the cold, cures the throat, cures the chest, cures the lungs, cures the stomach, cures the bowels, cures the whole system.
Ask J. D. Tully for a 25 cent bottle of Hub
Cough Cure.

BEWARE OF THAT COUGH. It may kill you;
cure it at once with Dr. Williams' Cough Drops, it never fails. Large bottles at

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, JANUARY 10, 1894.

LOCAL NEWS

Horticultural.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Horticultural Society will be held at 8 o'clock this evening in the Bank of Toronto building.

Police News.

Again the calls were empty last night. The tramp fraternity are probably snowed up on the road, and no prisoners were arrested.

Personal.

Among the successful candidates at the recent examinations of the Ontario College of Pharmacy were Messrs. J. A. Wright and Wm. Rutherford, of Peterborough, both of whom passed as honour men. We extend our congratulations to the young men.

Agricultural Societies.

The annual meeting of the West Riding of Peterborough and the East Riding of Peterborough Agricultural Societies will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 16th, at one o'clock, that of the former in the Council Chamber, Peterborough, and of the latter in the Town Hall, Norwich.

The Weather.

To day is fair and mild. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Generally fair, milder weather to-day; fresh to strong north-west to north winds, and colder weather to-night or to-morrow.

Annual Meeting.

The public annual meeting of St. Paul's Church Auxiliary of "The Women's Foreign Missionary Society" will be held in the school room of St. Paul's Church to-morrow at 3 p. m. Two ladies from a distance are expected to take part on that occasion. A cordial invitation to be present is extended to all ladies interested in women's work for women.

A Voice From Michigan.

We have received from Reed City, Mich., containing notice of the display of meat, &c., made in that city by Mr. John Howden, brother of Mr. Jas. Howden, butcher, of Peterborough. One paper says that he had six stall fed steers, fifty spring lambs, fifty spring pigs, 1,500 pounds of poultry and chickens that averaged seven pounds each. It also refers to the elegant decoration of his market.

Presbytery of Peterborough.

The Presbytery of Peterborough will, says the Port Hope Guide, meet in the Mill Street Church on Tuesday next, the 15th inst. A joint meeting of the two Presbytery congregations will be held in the same place at 7 o'clock p. m., when the Rev. F. McF. Macleod, of Toronto, will give an address on the "Augmentation of Stipend" subject. The importance of the subject and the well-known eloquence of the speaker, ought to secure a large attendance from the town and the neighborhood.

The Town Council.

Let's see. What industries and interests are represented in the Town Council this year? Our Mayor might perhaps be designated a capitalist, insurance agent, &c., as his active connection with railway affairs has ceased. Then we have two hardware merchants, a dry goods merchant, a proprietor of a book and stationery store, two contractors, two carriage makers and blacksmiths, an inspector of weights and measures, a grocer, a proprietor of a pottery and a woolen manufacturer. Very good.

Week of Prayer.

There was a very good attendance at the meeting held in the George Street Methodist Church last night, in connection with the week of prayer. The weather has been very unfavorable for these meetings this week, but the attendance has been very good. The Rev. John Shaw conducted the meeting last night, and an address was delivered by the Rev. Alex. Bell. This evening's meeting will be held in St. Paul's Church, the subject being "Prayer for the Church of Christ."

THE SNOW BLOCKADE.

The Midland Track Cleared and Trains Again Running.

The Midland Railway tracks are again clear and the trains are able to run over them. The line to Omemee was opened at noon to-day. The Grand Junction train which left Belleville on Tuesday afternoon arrived here at five o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, having been about 24 hours on the road. This morning a train from Belleville came through, arriving here at noon. A train went from here to Belleville this afternoon, and a train arrived here from Port Hope towards midnight on Wednesday night, bringing the western mail of that day. A snow plough which left here at twenty minutes after eleven o'clock this forenoon made its way through to Omemee and was followed by a train going to Toronto. The forenoon train from the west crossed the train going west at Omemee, and arrived here at half-past one o'clock. So the line is once more clear, and all will be well, unless another storm comes. Another heavy storm would make matters still worse, as the snow is now piled up in perpendicular walls at the places where the heavy drifts were.

The Ontario and Quebec did not fare any better than the Midland, but less interest was taken in it, as passenger trains are not running on it. Mr. Ryan and Mr. Barber went out on the line from here on Tuesday, with two locomotives. They are still out on the line, as the engines were unable to come back through the snow. They are about forty miles out, trying to work their way in.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

HARVEY.

Reeve, George Oliver. Councillors, Flynn, Ingram, McIlmoyle and Shaw.

BELMONT AND METHUEN.

Reeve, J. Brown, 186, Wm. Burgess, 123, majority for Brown, 63. Councillors—R. Burgess, 154, (elected); E. D. Boyd, 148 (elected); John Bonar, 122 (elected); Jas. Wilde, 120 (elected); Robert Anderson, 117; John Vansickle, 116; W. W. Ellis, 88; Wm. Cornell, 69; A. Waller, 39; D. Young, 32.

CAMPBELLFORD.

Reeve, G. S. Gillespie. Councillors—R. W. Turner, Frederick Benor, and Townsend.

MILLBROOK.

Reeve, Alex. Ferguson. Councillors—Kerr, Morrow, Davy, and Sargent.

SOUTH MONAGHAN.

Reeve, Mr. Riddell. Councillors—Messrs. Baxter, Nurse, Parrie and Byers.

Choice Apples.

A few barrels of choice apples for sale. Also pure apple cider by the quart, gallon or barrel at CANTON BROS.

Look Out.

for the great clearing sale of rich and valuable goods at W. Fairweather & Co., commencing next week. The whole of their remaining fine stock of Furs, Jackets, Cloak, Buffalo Robes, Black, Grey and White Robes, Fur-lined Gloves, Gaiters or Caps, Tippets, &c. All kinds of Heavy Winter Clothing is to be sold at reduced prices. Blankets, Flannels and Carpets at sweeping reductions. Bargains will be given of all Winter Goods to clear. This firm, when they do advertise a clearing sale, mean business, and parties may depend upon bargains.

The School Book Question.

The School Book trade is now in full blast and the scholars no doubt have found out the best place to buy their supplies. A. L. Davis & Co., seem to have made their arrangements so complete that a big trade is being done there. Their exercise and drawing books are very large for 5 and 10 cents. The reader question being still unsettled, they are keeping all kinds. Scholars just promoted can get all the new books required. Just received English History Notes and Examination Papers in arithmetic.

Smith's Market.

Transfer of business. All parties indebted to H. E. Smith, will oblige by an immediate settlement, as I have withdrawn and transferred the business and all matters pertaining thereto over to C. B. Smith who will continue the trade as formerly.

The Opera House Block.

McConnell Bros., in their new premises in the Opera House Block, are doing a lively business in boots and shoes, owing to the great reduction they have made in prices, while at the same time keeping a good stock of first-class goods.

Just to Hand.

for the Holiday trade Canned and Bulk Oysters, Clams, Lobsters, Grapes, Figs and Dates. Almonds, English Walnuts, Pecanutes, &c. CANTON BROS.

Rich Fruit Cakes.

Raisin Cakes, Sponge Cakes, Lady Cakes, Chocolate Cakes, Coconut Cakes and other varieties too numerous to mention, with and without icing. CANTON BROS.

New Senators.

"I have reason to believe" says the Ottawa correspondent of the Mail, "that Messrs. James Turner, of Hamilton, Dr. McMillan, of Alexandria, Glengarry County, and George G. McKindley, formerly sheriff of Halton, will be appointed Senators from Ontario. Mr. Turner is a large merchant in Hamilton, is deeply interested in the North-West, and his appointment will be highly popular. The Government, inclined to do justice to all sections of thought will, in appointing Dr. McMillan, give the Scotch Catholics a good representative in the Senate, just as in the appointment of Messrs. F. Smith and J. O'Donoghue they recognized the claims of the Irish Catholics of Ontario. The Grit party never made an appointment of the kind except in the case of R. W. Ross, and then they only appointed him because he turned his coat. As regards Mr. McKindley, everybody knows that in resigning his position as sheriff in order to contest the county that gentleman laid the Liberal-Conservative party under deep obligations to him; his appointment will therefore be highly acceptable to the people of Ontario. I have also good reason to believe that Messrs. Jas. G. Ross, of Quebec, and A. Leconte, Q. C., will be appointed to the Senate from Quebec province."

TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION.

The following circular as to the deputation to Ottawa, on Feb. 5th, in reference to the Trent Valley Navigation, has been sent to the various localities along the route:—

PETERBOROUGH, JAN. 10th, 1894.

DEAR SIR,—As few, if any, of the friends and advocates of the early completion of the Trent Valley Water Route will question the propriety of as large and representative a deputation as can conveniently be got together, visiting Ottawa for the purpose of impressing upon the Minister of Railways and Canals, and his colleagues, the desirability and importance of their obtaining from Parliament, during the session about to open, the authority necessary to enable them to place under construction during the present year another link in this most important chain of navigation; and as any attempt to assemble their views and sympathies and support entitle their views to the fullest consideration would necessitate a delay which might involve the loss of a whole season, I have, after consulting with some friends here, determined to assemble the deputation on Tuesday, Feb. 5th next, at a suitable time for waiting upon the Minister of Railways and Canals, and his colleagues, with reference to this matter and of inviting the Municipalities and persons interested in the early completion of this most important work to join in sending to Ottawa on that day as large and representative a deputation as possible for the purpose already stated.

I trust, in doing so, I need use no argument to impress upon all the importance of each and every one of them (sans ceremony) doing his full duty in this matter at the present time. If the people along the Trent Valley route desire that their past efforts should be crowned with complete success they must keep their shoulders to the wheel—proving their earnestness by their works—and I can conceive of no better way of doing this, in the present case, than by a repetition of the large and influential deputation to whose visit to Ottawa may be largely attributed the fact that we have now in course of construction, and in several instances well advanced towards completion, works which will add materially to the route already continuously navigable on this route.

I may add, that with the view of curtailing as much as possible the expenses of those going upon this deputation, I have written Mr. Arthur White, Manager of the Midland division of the Grand Trunk, asking for reduced fares for the members of the deputation over these lines, and should his response be favorable (as I have little doubt it will be) I shall make similar application to the authorities of the C. P. R. for a similar reduction of that part of the route between Brockville and Ottawa.

In order that I may be able to complete details as they come, and to communicate with members of the deputation when necessary, it is desirable that I should be informed of their names and post office addresses as soon as possible.

Yours Respectfully,

JOHN CARMICHAEL.

P. S.—My post office address will be "Peterborough" up to the 22nd instant, after that "Legislative Assembly, Toronto."

EVERYBODY should keep such a thing as ZO-PH-A in the house, and by regulating the bowels and system, keep away headache, heartache, indigestion. ZO-PH-A invigorates the liver, makes the family happy by making healthy. Ask J. D. TULLY.

MIDDLE AGED MEN, often lack vigor, this can be restored by that great brain and nerve food, known as Maudsley's Magnetic Medicine. Read the advertisement in another column of to-day's paper. Quickest results only by Maudsley and Tully.

A PARALYTIC STROKE.—W. H. Howard, of Gen. N. Y., suffered with palsy and general debility, and spent a small fortune in advertised remedies, without avail, until he tried Burdock Blood Bitters. It purified and revitalized the blood, caused it to circulate freely, and quickly restored him to health.

MONTREAL has been visited by an epidemic of fire, five having occurred between 7 o'clock on Sunday evening and 1 o'clock on Monday afternoon. Fortunately, no lives were lost, and only a few were of a serious character, the loss in those aggregating one hundred and twenty thousand dollars and nine thousand dollars respectively. By the former nearly four hundred workmen are temporarily thrown out of employment.

HUSBAND.—Oh, that neuralgia and toothache near kills me.

WIFE.—Why don't you go to John McKee's Drug Store and get a bottle of Fluid Lightning, you know it cures all such things as toothache, neuralgia, headache, lumbago, earache, sore throat, etc. It gives instant relief.

Salt Rheum Cured.

Are you troubled with Salt Rheum, Rough Skin, Pimples or Canker Sores; if so go at once to John McKee's Drug Store and get a package of McKee's Fluid Lightning. It cures Salt Rheum, Pimples, Canker Sores, etc. It was never known to fail.

Card of Thanks.

THE MEMBERS of the Peterborough Fire Brigade desire to return thanks to the merchants and others who kindly loaned them materials for decorating the hall for their annual ball on New Year's Eve. 148

CARD OF THANKS.

The undersigned desires to return his most hearty thanks to the 436 electors who on Monday last marked their ballots for him in spite of the enormous pressure which was brought to bear upon them, and the desperate efforts made by the powerful combination which formed his opponent's committee (a combination unparalleled in any former municipal contest). In doing so he would especially thank those who worked so faithfully for him in bringing voters to the poll.

The undersigned feels that he has every reason to be proud of the large vote polled by him in opposition to a man of Mr. Geo. A. Cox's wealth and influence, and especially when compared with the following returns of the vote taken on former occasions by some of the prominent men of the town:—

In the last Mayoralty contest, 1891, Mr. Deane, the defeated candidate, received 304 votes, or 42 less than was received by the undersigned.

In the Local election of 1874, Mr. D. W. Dumble received 323 votes in the town, or 113 less.

In the Dominion election, 1878, Mr. John Bertram received 319 votes in the town, or 117 less.

In the Dominion election of 1893 Mr. John J. Lundy received 345 votes, or 91 less.

In the Local election of 1893 Mr. James Campbell received 465 votes, or only 29 more.

The undersigned gives the foregoing figures for the satisfaction of his friends and in answer to the gross misrepresentations of the Times and Examiner, which have claimed such an overwhelming victory for their candidate.

O. W. SAWERS.

THE MARCH

WINTER DRESS GOODS.

Goods well bought are said to be half sold. The march began before ours were fairly on stock, and the march has been kept up since.

We had the best of assortments to begin with, gathered literally both from abroad and at home. The best fabrics picked with the eye of an expert—just such goods as sell.

Never have we had a season of greater activity. Never did our prices seem more inviting. Never was there better proof of it either, for with very few exceptions our prices remain unchanged. Yet customers assure us that they are lower than where stocks have been profusely reduced.

Remember our goods are the freshest from the most famous weavers.

Prices, you know is one of our strong points always.

REMNANT SALE

AT THE

Golden Lion.

A REMNANT SALE, TWICE A YEAR, WILL BE ONE OF OUR ESTABLISHED CUSTOMS.

All live, pushing Dry Goods Houses must of necessity find themselves with a large percentage of REMNANTS at the close of each season, which are very valuable to, and eagerly sought after by, House-Keepers and Dry Goods consumers generally. Instead, therefore, of keeping these Remnants on our shelves, and carrying them over from season to season, we intend turning over all our "left over" Goods into CASH, and propose offering them to our customers, twice a year, AT PRICES FAR BELOW their Regular Market value.

OUR FIRST JANUARY SALE
—OF REMNANTS—

Is now going on, previous to Stock Taking, and we strongly advise all interested, by all means, to come and secure some of the CHEAP LINES before they are all sold. We have a Great Variety, including:

REMNANTS in Dress Goods,
REMNANTS in Cashmeres,
REMNANTS in Merinoes,
REMNANTS in Silks and Satins
REMNANTS in Velvetines,
REMNANTS in Tweeds,
REMNANTS in Ulsterings,

REMNANTS in Flannels,
REMNANTS in Towellings,
REMNANTS in Table Linens,
REMNANTS in Sheetings,
REMNANTS in Crettones,
REMNANTS in Prints,
REMNANTS in Hemp Carpets.

REMNANTS

In other lines too numerous to mention in fact Remnants in everything you need in the Dry Goods line. To those who wish to secure GRAND VALUES, this is good news.

This Sale will Last the Whole Month, but you should Come and Secure Bargains now.

The Great Chess Player.
Dr. J. H. Zukertort, the greatest living chess player, will positively be in Toronto on January 23rd and following days. He is at present in St. Louis.

The Sufferers from the Railway Accident.
The condition of the sufferers at the hospital continues satisfactory, with the exception of Aggar, who is still in a critical condition. MacDonald is progressing favourably and Giroux is also doing fairly well.

Advice from the Free Press.
The Ontario educational authorities would do well to take notes of a judicious reform in the Indiana University, which has abolished the study of Greek and Latin, so that more time may be paid to the study of agriculture and horticulture. These studies have been too much neglected in our Public School system.—Free Press.

Cardinal McCabe and the Fence Society.
Cardinal McCabe has refused to accept the vice-presidency of the International Fence Society. He says that he deeply deprecates war and the causes which lead to it, but still the Christian world restrains its steps and once more accepts his holiness, the pope, as the supreme arbiter in vexed international questions, wars will be waged and human blood spilt.

The Freedom of Canadian Canals.
MONTREAL, Jan. 9.—The annual meeting of the local corn exchange took place this afternoon. The president, Mr. R. F. Ruth, presented the report for last year, which advocated the freeing of Canadian canals from tolls, the assumption of the debt for deepening the channel and the relieving of wheat from unjust duties. The report was passed unanimously.

Boycotting Revived.
COKE, Jan. 9.—The system of boycotting has been revived in county Mayo, where an unaccountable system of signalling during the night-time is going on in the country districts. The signals are watched by the police and an additional force has been despatched for duty there. The sub-sheriff has been threatened, and is guarded day and night.

Mr. Langtry.
Mrs. Langtry appears to have made a hit at Fifth Avenue theatre, New York, in her new play of Peril. The Herald of Tuesday says "Her performance of last night was simple, refined and graceful, and in the episodes which called for the expression of intense feeling her histrionic power surprised the spectators into spontaneous and hearty applause. She was several times called before the curtain to receive emphatic demonstrations of approval."

Shocking Juvenile Delinquency.
Washington, Jan. 9.—W. L. Benjamin, a coloured man, appeared in court with his nephew, Alphonso Kell, a 15-year old lad, and asked that he be committed for incontinuity. He told the court the boy had made several attempts to poison several members of the family by placing vermilion in the milk and in water which they drank; that he had poisoned cattle belonging to him and had attempted to set the house on fire; and that just before Christmas he had attempted to cut the throat of one of the children in the house while she slept. The boy acknowledged his uncle's story was true, and confessed that while living in Baltimore he had administered poison to his mother and aunt, who both died from the effects; that he had attempted to poison other people and cattle while in Baltimore, and had set his mother's house on fire. He was committed for examination as to his mental condition.

A Bad Death.
A very sad fatality occurred on Wednesday morning at the Rossdale bridge, which resulted in the death of a well-known Toronto dressmaker, Miss Catherine Miller, of Yonge street. About 1.30 o'clock that morning, as a lady and gentleman returning from a party were crossing the white bridge they observed a woman standing near the left hand railing. They accosted her and asked what she was doing there at that hour of the night, thinking that perhaps she had lost her way. The woman gave some unintelligible answer and turned away. They had scarcely left her, when she fell or threw herself over the bridge, a distance of some 150 feet to the river below. There was an awful silence, then a dull, heavy sound as the body of the unfortunate woman collided with the hard frosty ground. Word was at once sent to the Yorkville police station of the terrible affair, and Sergeant Breckenridge, accompanied by two men, hastened to the bridge. There, after a prolonged search, they discovered the woman dead. The deceased was forty years old, and was a consistent member of St. James' Square Presbyterian Church. The body was not disfigured, the cause of death being a broken neck.

Sleep.
Sleep is to the brain what rest is to the muscles. Sleep is a craving more important than hunger. Among some of the ancients, deprivation of sleep was used as a punishment. This cruelty was inflicted by the Romans upon Perseus, and the Carthaginians deprived Regulus of his eye-lids in order to make him so far sleepless.

There are three kinds of sleep. First, natural; second, pathological; third, artificial. The length of time that should be devoted to natural sleep, it is not easy to determine. A maxim of the school of Salerno reads thus: "Etena at six, and eat at ten; Eat at six, and bed at ten; Ten times ten years You may live then."

A child sleeps more than half its life in sleep. An adult should spend one-third of his life. The aged sleep but little, though in extreme old age the habit of infancy often returns.

Girls and women require more, but generally get less, than men. An hour's sleep before midnight is worth more than an hour after midnight. Saint Francis of Sales, used to say that "Early rising preserves health and holiness."

Insomnia, or sleeplessness, is common, especially among mothers with young children, and among the victims of overwork and anxiety. Students in college often complain of sleeplessness. It is a perilous thing to resort to drugs. The only cure is found in physical labor. Fatigue from exercise in the open air is almost invariably followed by sound sleep.—Die Lewis Monthly.

THE FRENCH CABINET ON EGYPT.
PARIS, Jan. 10.—The French Cabinet is divided upon the Egyptian question. Prime Minister Ferry thinks the present a good time for France to regain her position in Egypt, but some of his colleagues hold an adverse opinion, and deprecate any action in the matter.

FRANCE AND MADAGASCAR.
LONDON, Jan. 10.—The negotiations between the French and the Hovas have failed, the Hovas refusing to accept a French protectorate.

ENCYCICAL ON FREEMASONS.
ROME, Jan. 10.—The Pope is about to issue an encyclical regarding the Freemasons, in which it is believed a distinction will be made between Continental and English societies.

REINFORCEMENTS WRECKED.
CAIRO, Jan. 10.—The steamer conveying the last of the reinforcements for Suakin has been wrecked in the Red Sea near that town. The troops and crew were saved.

EVACUATING THE SOUDAN.
LONDON, Jan. 10.—Baker Pasha has been ordered to relieve Tokar and Sinkat, near Suakin, and to withdraw the garrison, but to undertake no operations west of Sinkat. The Government is considering the best means of evacuating the Soudan, a task which will be difficult, owing to the guns and large stores of ammunition to be removed.

THE SITUATION AT KHARTOUM.
CAIRO, Jan. 10.—The troops from Berber have succeeded in relieving the garrison at Godeah with a loss of 46 men. Col. Cosgrove telegraphs from Khartoum imploring orders for a retreat, as a third of his troops are disaffected, and the inhabitants are hostile. The Government has telegraphed the Government of Khartoum to prepare to quit the town at a moment's notice.

RAILROAD TIES.

"The railroads of this country," said an official of one of the trunk lines running out of New York, "pay nearly $6,000,000 a year for cross-ties. The timber used is oak and chestnut in the East, and oak, cherry, locust, maple, and ash in the West and South. The best ties are made of white oak. More than 225,000 acres of forest are needed to supply these ties every year, and consequently the necessities of railroads in this one item alone form a considerable item in the destruction of our forests. The country along the line of our road alone annually supplies us with hundreds of thousands of oak and chestnut ties, and thus far we have not been compelled to go out of our own district for our supply. One county in Pennsylvania alone (Pike) furnishes a large proportion of our ties, and has for many years. There is not a station in that county that is not a supplying depot for ties. I have often wondered where they all come from, for the contractors who operate in that county, after more than 24 years' chipping and hewing in her forests, never hesitate to contract for the delivery of as many ties as are called for. They are brought in as far as twelve miles from the railroad. Besides the large number that we annually receive, there is a railroad on the other side of the county which also depends upon Pike county for a large share of its ties. For more than 20 years also, up to the time that we adopted coal instead of wood as fuel, Pike county furnished the road with many thousands of cord wood every year—oak, chestnut, pine, beech, birch, maple and hickory. Besides these drafts on her woods, the county's best young chestnut trees have been cut for more than 30 years to help us in renewing our telegraph poles.

"Railroad ties need renewing every three years. In building a new road the estimate is 2,700 ties for the mile. It is safe to say that it will require 300 ties a year to keep a mile of road in repair. From 12,000,500 to 1,000,000 new ties are required by the railroads every year. In building the great Western railroads, the contractors, in many cases, purchased outright the timber along the route, or as near to it as possible. In that case they pay $20 to $25 an acre. Otherwise they pay from ten cents to twelve cents a piece to the owner of the land for the ties taken out. The average price paid to the tie contractor is 35 cents a piece, although we have paid 45 cents and even 50 cents for the best oak ties. We prefer hewn ones to sawed ones, and use no others, but many railroad men do not believe in the theory that they are any better. It may be only a superstition that the former last longer than the latter, but if it is, it is so strong with us that we insist on having hewn ties. Of late years we have taken a great many hemlock ties, experiments proving that they can be used to advantage in many instances, on sidings and on tracks where the traffic does not require constant repairs."

Spider Life Wonders.

Wood dealt with the phenomena of spider life. The female is larger and much fiercer than the male, who while paying his addresses is in constant peril, frequently losing some of his legs. In one tribe the female is 1,800 times larger than the male. The spider's thread is made up of innumerable small threads or fibers, one of these being estimated to be one two-millionth of a hair in thickness. Three kinds of thread are spun: One of great strength, for the radiating or spiral line of the web. The cross lines, or what a sailor might call the ratlines, are finer and are tenacious, that is, they have put upon them little specks or globules of a very sticky gum. These specks are put on with great care. They are set quite thickly along the lines, and are what, in the first instance, catch and hold the legs or wings of the fly. Once caught in this fashion the prey is held secure by threads spun over it somewhat in the manner of a lasso. The third kind of silk is that which the spider throws out in a mass or flood, by which it suddenly envelops any prey of which it is somewhat afraid, as, for an example, a wasp. A scientific experimenter once cut the body of a single spider 4,500 yards of thread or spider silk—a length a little short of three miles. Silk may be woven of spider's thread, and it is more brilliant and glossy than that of silk worm, being of a golden color. An enthusiastic entomologist has endeavored to fit for the weaving of a suit of clothes for Louis XIV.

Twenty Labourers Run Down by a Train.
BRISTOL, Pa., Jan. 10.—Fifteen or twenty men employed in clearing the snow from the railroad track were at work about seven o'clock last evening, in a cut just east of here, when an accommodation train rounded the bend. Before the men could get out they were run down by the train. It backed up, and the dead and dying were seen scattered along the track for fifty yards. The bodies of two men were found badly mangled, with life already extinct. Five others were badly injured and one has since died. After the accident the men crawled out of the snow in all directions. It is feared the bodies of others may be discovered. The accident was caused by the failure of the men to take a look to warn them of the approach of trains. It was dark, and locomotives near by with steam escaping made it impossible to hear the coming train.

A Startling Discovery.
Mr. Wm. Johnston, of Huron, Dak., writes that his wife had been troubled with acute Bronchitis for many years, and that all remedies tried gave no permanent relief, until he procured a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds, which had a magical effect, and produced a permanent cure. It is guaranteed to cure all Diseases of Throat, Lungs, or Bronchitis. Trial Bottles Free at Taylor & MacDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.00.

Salt Rheum Cured.
Are you troubled with Salt Rheum, Rough Skin, Pimples or Cancer Sores? If so go at once to John McKee's Drug Store and get a package of McDougall & Furber's Carbolic Cream. Price twenty-five cents. It was never known to fail.

The Highest Honors have been awarded to Dr. Van Buren, of Germany, for the permanent relief afforded by his Kidney Cure to all sufferers of Kidney Disease. It is positively proven by the Leading Medical Authorities of Europe that Dr. Van Buren's Kidney Cure will permanently remove all trace of Kidney Disease from the system.

PRETENDED PURITY.

THE faith that may be attached to the professions made by Reformers of a great regard for purity in elections is exemplified by the course they are pursuing in South Renfrew.
The seat having been declared vacant by the Election Court, the unelected member, Dr.
Dowling, has been again elected as the Reform candidate with a great flourish of trumpets and strong appeals for his re-election, as the victim of adverse circumstances. Now this is not an ordinary case of a candidate who has suffered from some trifling indiscretion of an agent, and is re-nominated. Dr. Dowling, an old licensee official of the Mowat Administration, was clearly proved to have endeavored to secure his election by trafficking in patronage, one of the most reprehensible and dishonest forms of corruption. He was also shown by his own evidence to have carried on a regular system of treating, and to have done this even in unlicensed grogeries, thus heaping one gross impropriety upon another. There were several other incidents of this nature that were hardly less objectionable. And yet this gross offender against purity of elections is the chosen standard-bearer of the so-called party of purity, and is set up by them as a shining light whose example is to be followed. If there is not much purity in the Reform ranks there is at least plenty of hypocrisy.

SLANDERS REFUTED.

THOUGH the Bothwell Dominion protest has not yet been decided, and it would be premature to discuss it as regards the position of Mr.
Mills in the matter, yet there is one branch of the subject which is without any impropriety open to comment. Ever since the election, the Reformers have in the most cowardly manner attacked the Returning-Officer for the way in which he performed the duties of his office—vilifying him persistently without the slightest regard for fairness or decency. Now, however, we have the opinion of the Court that Mr.
Stephens did nothing blameworthy in the matter.
The fact is that in the case of certain ballots
the prescribed formalities were not adopted.
The Returning-Officer thought that some might pass and others not. The judge also thought that some should be counted and others not.
As to some of these cases they agreed, but as to some they differed, and the majority being very small the difference transferred the majority from one side to the other. There is, however, no more reason to suppose that the judge came to his conclusion corruptly than that the Returning-Officer did so. It was no regard for justice but political venom that inspired the disgraceful slanders circulated by the Reform party.

Cash or Credit.

The Toronto World says:—"Somebody writes to the Montreal Herald declaring himself an "ashamed Canadian," because the proportion of business failures is so much greater in Canada than in the States. The explanation is a very simple one, and ought to be more generally known than it appears to be. In the United States business is done far more for cash and less on a credit basis than in Canada. The business that we do here at three or six months is largely done in the States for cash down, at ten days, or thirty days at most. Our American neighbors are far more of a cash paying people than we are, and it would be greatly to our credit were we to run more closely to their example in this respect.

The French in Tonquin.

HONG KONG, Jan. 9.—On the morning of December 24th a fire occurred outside the concession at Hanoi which reached the artillery.
Its origin was a spark from a forge. A great explosion of powder took place, and many shells and munitions for the fleet were destroyed.
Several French Artillerymen were hurt, and ten artillerymen were wounded. A rumor of the accident had reached here several days ago,
but it was said to have occurred at Saigon.
This shows that the Chinese have often rapid sources of communication.

Threats Against Judge Deane.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Owing to the threats of American fanatics against Judge Deane he is surrounded by a police guard while upon the bench. It was Mr. Justice Deane, it will be remembered, who sentenced O'Donnell to death.

THE DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—“Adolescence” will not allow me to infer “that the expansive force found its way into the house through the aperture on that side facing the explosion,” but ends his first paragraph by stating that “the force entered by every available aperture on every side of the house.” Now, by this statement, he has entirely broken up his theory.

(1.) The “expansive force” acting on all sides of the house at once, why should those windows facing the explosion be broken in preference to the others?

(2.) Allowing that “the force entered by every available aperture on every side of the house,” and, as he says, “the pressure is the same throughout the whole mass, it follows that there is the same pressure on every part of the house, windows and all, as there is at the apertures, and now this pressure getting into the house through the apertures, does what? Why merely produce equilibrium between the inner and the outer air; the same as always exists, with the exception that both pressures are a little greater than usual. Where then is the force to break a window either inwards or outwards? “Adolescence” will now, I think, admit the weakness of his theory. But, first of all, I should like to request him to re-consider the ground-work, viz.: that the pressure on all sides of the house is the same, not that it has anything to do with the question, but merely for his own information, as it is decidedly incorrect.

(3.) And now for the weak points in my arguments.—I allow that I was a little too general in my statements as regards the laws relating to liquids and gases, my reason for making the statement was that I was thinking more directly of the case in point and his “analogous” instance, which instance, it was very plain was not analogous.

(4.) As to my own theory, it is done up by “Adolescence” in very quick style.—He commences by saying “the contraction he speaks of caused &c.,” must have been too slow a process to exert any demolishing force. “Will “Adolescence” please tell us where he got all this knowledge, to so flatly lay down the law? Has he any authority for saying this or does he merely imagine it? It is a known fact that the gas does contract and very quickly too, forming a partial vacuum. His “secondly” on the subject is rather good, I think. He ends it by saying that my “supposition as to cracks around the outer windows is purely hypothetical.”
While he forgets that his own theory states that “the expansive force gets in through the apertures in the walls, windows, &c.,” besides which anyone who has ever had anything to do with double windows knows that the outer ones are in most cases fitted very closely.

He supposes a case of a miniature double window, under an air-pump in which the outer one would break first, and of course he is right, the window is cracked, but if the outer one is surrounded by cracks the inner one will break first.
But even allowing him this point, about which there may be some doubt, does not Mr. Strickland say, in his letter, that the fastenings of the outer windows were torn off, which amounts to the same thing as if the windows were broken, only showing that the glass could stand more than the fastenings?

Yours, &c.,

Peterborough, Jan. 11, 1884.

THE ASHBURNHAM EXPLOSION.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—The writers who have attempted the solution of the problem, “Why did the inner glass only in Mr. Lundy’s residence break, and why outwards?” have not yet made the matter very clear. Let me try.

On every inch of the earth’s surface there stands a column of air weighing thirty-two pounds, and on every inch of surface of all objects terrestrial there is a pressure of thirty-two pounds.

Dynamite in exploding is converted into a vast volume of very hot and light gas. This gas, thrust with great violence into space, displaces
a corresponding volume of air, which is thrown back with great power, influencing all the air around it, but inversely as the distance. The air nearest to the volume of gas being compressed and unnaturally dense. Had Mr. Lundy’s house been nearer, it is probable that the windows would have been broken by the blow from the air driven back by the gas, in which event the outside glass would have been broken, and would have been forced inwards. Now the mechanical action of the gas in driving back the air was only instant, and then ceased, as there was no continuous supply. The gas was very much more rare than the air, and formed as it were a great partial vacuum, unable to maintain itself against the vast pressure of thirty-two pounds to the inch or more, owing to compression of the air by the blow from the gas, and so the air rushed back into its place, creating, as commonly expressed, a suction towards the centre of the gas field. The air in Mr. Lundy’s house moved to that centre with all the other air within reach of the influence and broke the inside glass, and rushed outwards.
Had the double windows fitted by a perfect joint, so that the air between the two glasses did not escape before the air from within got out, the outer window and the inner one would have acted together; the two would have broken together or the united strength of the two would have resisted the pressure from within and would not have broken at all.

A FLEA FOR THE SPARROWS.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—These cheerful, contented, little fellows have weathered the storms of last week, and are even now doing their best to maintain themselves, but they need some assistance.

The deep snow covers everything, and though they fly about busily in search of food, we doubt if there is enough to be found for all.
They are not bold beggars by any means, yet considering enough to come near our house and remind us that crumbs would be acceptable and corpses would be thankfully received.

Reader, will you not remember the sparrows?

Yours, &c.,

Peterborough, January 10, 1884.

THE SNOW PLOUGH.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—I would like to enquire who is responsible for the work done by the corporation snow plough. It has only passed along the north part of Rubidge street a couple of trips this winter, and as the ratepayers on Southtown Hill pay their proportion of the expense they think that they have the same rights as those of other localities.

Yours, &c.,

Peterborough, Jan. 11th, 1884.

NORWOOD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

ROADS, &c.—Since the heavy fall of snow last week the roads are in a very bad condition, especially those running north and south, (Jan.
7th). A heavy snow storm from the east prevails here to-day.

MUNICIPAL.—Our Reeve, Mr. Theo. Fraser, and Councillors, Messrs. Hiram Reynolds, W.
H. Minaker, D. Mahoney, and Wm. Hutchinson have been returned by acclamation for 1884.

O. AND Q. R.—A car load of lumber for Mr.
Samuel Brown, proprietor of the Norwood steam saw mill, arrived here on the 6th of Jan., on the Ontario and Quebec Railway. This is the first freight that has been carried to Norwood by the “Iron horse.”

NEW STATION.—The new station for the Ontario and Quebec Railway is being rapidly built. Work is being vigorously pushed forward on this road, and the travellers have reached the Indian River. Indications point to the opening of the road at an early date.

LADIES’ AID SOCIETY.—On New Year’s eve
the members of the Ladies’ Aid Society gave a very pleasing and interesting entertainment, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, readings, recitations, &c., in the lecture room of the Methodist Church, to a very large audience. Refreshments were also served up; admission being 15c. Notwithstanding the success of these entertainments on past occasions, this one proved to be the crowning success of all former efforts. To the ladies of this society who have worked so faithfully, and who have evinced so much interest in the work, all praise is due; and judging from the manner in which their work is being appreciated, their future efforts will no doubt be crowned with greater success.

OBITUARY.—The funeral of the late Mr.
John Stewart, one of Asphodel’s most respectable residents, took place to-day. Notwithstanding the heavy snow storm which prevailed, a large number of relatives and friends followed his remains to the grave. Mr. Stewart, previous to his illness, was engaged in lumbering near Georgian Bay, where he took ill. He was brought home and after a short illness influenza did its work, when he expired on Saturday last. He leaves a wife and family, besides a great number of relatives, to mourn his loss.

N. B. BAND.—On New Year’s day the members of the N. B. Band turned out in full force, and after discoursing some fine music on the principal streets, gave some of Norwood’s leading men a grand serenade, and no doubt found the exercise very profitable.

WEDDING BELLS.—On Christmas Day, Miss Cope, only daughter of Mr. P. P. Cope, proprietor of the Norwood foundry, was united in marriage to Mr. McGregor, of Windsor. The marriage ceremony was performed in the Methodist Church by the pastor, the Rev. Mr.
Gee. Several costly presents were given to the bride, among which was a handsome silver tea set from her uncle, Mr. McGregor. The happy couple, after a short visit with their friends here, will leave for Winnipeg, where Mr. McGregor holds an important office under the Canada Pacific Railway Company. On Dec. 26th, Miss A. Starr, daughter of Mr. Jas. Starr, one of Norwood’s respectable residents, was married to Mr. Theo.
Howson, jr., son of Mr. Theo. Howson, Asphodel. The happy couple took the evening train from Hastings for Toronto, where they intended visiting friends.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, JANUARY 11, 1884.

LOCAL NEWS

Board of Education.

A meeting of the board of Education will be held at 7.45 o'clock this evening in the Board Room.

The Cells.

The police cells were untenanted again last night. No tramps sought admittance and no prisoners were arrested.

The Montreal Carnival.

We have received a copy of the official programme of the carnival to be held in Montreal from February 4th to 9th. The programme is very handsomely got up, and includes a large number of attractions for the different days during which the carnival will continue. Lord and Lady Lansdowne and suite will be guests of the city during the week.

The Sparrows.

We cordially endorse the plea put forward by a "Friend of the Sparrows" in another column. Apart from sentiment, they have, we believe, been classed by the scientific amongst the best of scavengers, and their lives are well worth preserving during this inclement weather. It is small trouble to throw daily a few crumbs into the road or yard, and one would soon be rewarded by seeing a flock of eagerly grateful little birds.

An Oversight.

The Port Hope Times, in referring to an item which originally appeared in its columns and was afterwards published in its local contemporary, credited to another paper, says that the item was copied by nearly every paper in the district and that the Orillia Packet was the only one that gave credit for it. The Times evidently overlooked the fact that the paragraph in question was copied by the Review, and that we gave credit for it, as is our constant habit when taking an item from an exchange. It gives us pleasure to give the Times credit for an item, as it often furnishes us with one, and when it clips a paragraph for its own columns credit is generally given.

Dynamite Betanation.

Since our correspondents began to discuss the effect of the recent dynamite explosion in Ashburnham, we visited the house of Mr. Edward Green, on this side of the river, where some damage was done, to ascertain in what way the force acted upon it. Although all the houses along the river below the bridge were more or less shaken at the time, this, we believe, the only one in the town in which glass was broken. The house is, of course, considerably farther from the scene of the explosion than those belonging to Mr. Landy and Mr. Strickland, and it is not directly across the river from where the explosion took place, being a little to the northward. There is at the rear of the house a recess formed by two walls extending towards the river, and a large light of glass in a window in the second story in this recess was shattered, a portion of it falling inwards and the remainder falling into the garden. Another window was struck with such force that a strip of wood nailed along the sash on the inside was forced off, and several books lying on the window-sill were thrown on the floor in the room. The glass in this window was not broken, but the force evidently struck it from the outside and the tendency was to force it inwards.

From Miss Brodie's Room to Mr. Smith's:

A. Wallace, B. Jordan, S. Adlam, P. Roper, W. Dugan, G. Barrett, W. Wood, W. Barrie, A. Thompson.—9

From Miss Gifford's Room to Miss Brodie's:

A. Fraser, B. Thompson, G. McMaster, A. Green, R. Brown, T. Bradley, C. Walker, W. McIntyre, W. Bradley, H. Pigeon.—10. Nine pupils were promoted from Miss Hall's Room, on October 1st, making a total of nineteen last term.

POLICE COURT.

ASSAULT.

FRIDAY, Jan. 11.—John Hayes appeared on a charge of assault, preferred against him by L. F. Carpenter. He was fined $2 and $6.00 costs. The assault was intended, no doubt, as a piece of fun, but it turned out to be a rather serious joke.

Personal.

Mr. H. H. Smith, Mayor of Peterborough, arrived home at noon to-day.

Horticultural Society.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Horticultural Society, which was to have been held last night, was postponed until Monday night next.

Smith's Market.

Transfer of business. All parties indebted to H. E. Smith, will oblige by an immediate settlement, as I have withdrawn and transferred the business and all matters pertaining thereto over to C. B. Smith who will continue the trade as formerly.

The Weather.

The weather to-day was partly cloudy, with strong winds. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Northwesterly to westerly winds; fair, colder weather, with snow flurries in a few localities.

Week of Prayer.

Last night's meeting in connection with the week of prayer, which was held in St. Paul's Church, was one of the most successful of the series. The attendance was large, and the Rev. John Shaw delivered a very interesting and instructive address. The meeting this evening will be held in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church.

Upsets.

Upsets are now becoming very common—almost fashionable. Several have taken place during the past day or two on George street. The snow removed from the sidewalks and from the roofs of buildings forms two long piles on each side of the streets, and several vehicles by being driven up on these, have been capsized. One upset occurred at about two o'clock to-day in front of the Grand Central Hotel, but no damage was done.

A Fire.

At about half past ten o'clock this forenoon the unwelcome sound of the fire alarm was heard. The fire was in a new brick house erected by Mr. T. Bradburn on Aylmer street, near the railway station. It caught in the floor of the second story from a stovepipe, and making its way along the floor, between the lath and boards, reached the wall and travelled upward towards the roof. It had not made much headway, however, before it was discovered, and it was easily extinguished. The firemen were on hand promptly, and taking the water from the hydrant at the corner of Charlotte and Aylmer streets, soon had the fire out. The portion of the house in which the fire occurred was being prepared for occupation. The fire did not do a great deal of damage, but the water added to the loss by softening plaster, &c. The building was insured.

The Storm and the Railways.

The railways have not yet altogether recovered from the effects of the heavy snow storm. The strong wind which has been blowing almost steadily this week gives the railway men continuous trouble. The 10 o'clock train from Toronto was a little behind time in reaching here to-day, but she did well to get through in the time she did. Last night the train to Lakeside had considerable difficulty in getting out of the town, as she had to take two or three starts before she succeeded in getting up the grade. The noon train from Port Hope got stuck in the snow on this side of Millbrook to-day, but she succeeded in getting through at 3 o'clock. The morning Grand Junction train arrived here at about the same time. The two engines which went out on the Ontario and Quebec line on Tuesday succeeded in getting back to the town on Thursday afternoon at about four o'clock. About fifty men were engaged for nearly two days in shovelling snow to make the road passable for them. strenuous efforts will be made to keep this line open, so that the work may be pushed on.

PRETTY ROUGH ON THE BOARDS.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—I am a boarder, and a somewhat easy going one, at that, but the way in which a traveller stepped on my corns (no boots on either) at my boarding house a day or so ago, raises my bile.

I occupied a room in a certain house and to oblige a certain fellow boarder vacated my bed even so to let him have a night's rest (he having been working out in the storm all day). Well all went well till I entered my sleeping apartment in the morning with the intention of putting on my boots, when, oh horror, instead of finding my nice No. 7 (the pride of George's), I discovered a despatched pair of—well about No. 15, not being content to take them, I followed up the played out traveller, and you will be pleased to hear succeeded in fetching him back to the hotel, where he skinned off mine and with a sheepish face donned his—and skipped.

Yours, etc.

DAVID RINNEY.

Peterborough, Jan. 11th, 1884.

TREES OF MADAGASCAR.

The soil of Madagascar is very fertile and produces rice, manioc, sugar cane, pepper, cotton, indigo, tobacco, as well as a number of medicinal herbs. A chain of high mountains divides the country into several well-watered valleys. The most beautiful feature in the island is the imposing forests, which extend over a distance of 9,000 miles and contain fine and valuable trees, covered with rare climbers and orchids. Among the trees are found pandanus, acacia, sago and the coconut, but above all the ravidia (Urania speciosa), which of itself forms large forests. The Rev. W. Ellis says of this tree: "It springs up with a thick, juicy stem similar to the banana (Musa sapientum); in the centre of it are broad leaves which resemble the banana, but are less brittle. The leaves surround the stem in rows on opposite sides, and by increasing and leaning over those underneath the tree assumes the shape of a large open fan. I have counted on more than one occasion 20 to 25 leaves on one tree. The stem of the leaves is from six to eight feet long, while the broad leaf itself is from four to six feet long. The bright green leaves, extending themselves like a fan, form the most beautiful plant that can be imagined." But it is not only for its beauty that the tree is remarkable. It is used for many purposes in the same way as the palm tree in the Arabian desert; but one of its most important properties is that during the dry season it contains a large quantity of fresh and pure water, and is thus a refreshing spring for the thirsty traveller. The reservoir is situated at the base of the stock of each leaf, and upon being opened a stream of cool and sweet water appears. The leaves of the tree to cover the house, and the bark for flooring. At most of the markets there are sold articles made from these leaves, comprising plates, dishes, tablecloths, napkins, &c., and even spoons and tumblers, but for these last the leaves are specially moulded.—India Mercury.

Fluid Lightning.

WIFE.—What's the matter now John? HUSBAND.—Oh, that neuralgia and toothache near kills me. WIFE.—Why don't you go to John McKee's Drug Store and get a bottle of Fluid Lightning, you know it cures all such ailments as toothache, neuralgia, headache, lumbago, earache, sore throat, &c. It gives instant relief.

Our Canadian Industry is preoccupied. The great difficulty to be contended with is the low grade of goods required. In nothing is this more apparent than in the comparatively small article of sewing silk. The great demand in Canada seems to be for a cheap quality, buyers forgetting that a cheap thread must necessarily be a fine and consequently a weak one. Messrs. Seidling, Paul & Co. make three grades of spool silk; of these different qualities the poorest one has by far the largest sale, at the same time they constantly hear of complaints of poor sewing silk. If ladies will take the trouble to ask for Seidling, Paul & Co's own brand, and see that their name is on the end of each spool, they will be sure of getting the best made.

Advice to Mothers. Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and outcries? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor mother's constant fear of the child's death. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

THE MARCH OF WINTER DRESS GOODS.

Goods well bought are said to be half sold. The march began before ours were fairly on Stock, and the march has been kept up since.

We had the best of assortments to begin with, gathered literally both from abroad and at home. The best fabrics picked with the eye of an expert—just such goods as sell.

Never have we had a season of greater activity. Never did our prices seem more inviting. Never was there better proof of it either, for with very few exceptions our prices—remain unchanged. Yet customers assure us that they are lower than where stocks have been profusely reduced.

Remember our goods are the freshest from the most famous weavers. Prices, you know is one of our strong points always.

SWEEPING REMNANT SALE AT THE Golden Lion.

A REMNANT SALE, TWICE A YEAR, WILL BE ONE OF OUR ESTABLISHED CUSTOMS.

All live, pushing Dry Goods Houses must of necessity find themselves with a large percentage of REMNANTS at the close of each season, which are very valuable to, and eagerly sought after by, House-Keepers and Dry Goods consumers generally. Instead, therefore, of keeping these Remnants on our shelves, and carrying them over from season to season, we intend turning over all our "left over" Goods into CASH, and propose offering them to our customers, twice a year, AT PRICES FAR BELOW their Regular Market value.

OUR FIRST JANUARY SALE OF REMNANTS

Is now going on, previous to Stock Taking, and we strongly advise all interested, by all means, to come and secure some of the CHEAP LINES before they are all sold. We have a Great Variety, including:

REMNANTS in Dress Goods,
REMNANTS in Cashmeres,
REMNANTS in Merinoes,
REMNANTS in Silks and Satins
REMNANTS in Velvetrees,
REMNANTS in Tweeds,
REMNANTS in Ulsterings,
REMNANTS in Flannels,
REMNANTS in Towellings,
REMNANTS in Table Linens,
REMNANTS in Sheetings,
REMNANTS in Crettones,
REMNANTS in Prints,
REMNANTS in Hemp Carpets.

REMNANTS In other lines too numerous to mention—in fact Remnants in everything you need in the Dry Goods line. To those who wish to secure GRAND VALUES, this is good news.

This Sale will Last the Whole Month, but you should Come and Secure Bargains now.

MUNICIPAL POLITICS.

The following editorial remarks by the Hamilton Spectator should receive attention in other localities beside that city:

"If our Reform friends desire the civic elections to be made party contests they can be so commodated. And we distinctly warn them that if in future they make undignified attempts to ring in political friends, and urge spurious appeals upon political partisans, the Spectator will not be so forbearing in future contests as it has been in this. . . . We regret that these things have been done. We believe that municipal interests will be better cared for if officials are chosen without regard to politics. But if Reformers choose to make partisan appeals they must accept the consequences of their acts and must abide the result."

THE DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.
To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I have come to the conclusion that neither "W" nor "D," nor myself has hit the nail on the head in re the destruction of the warehouse. My opponents in argument will probably say, "Speak for yourself," but evidently "D's" theory is incompatible with the facts I see noted in the local columns of yesterday's REVIEW, with respect to Mr. Edward Green's house, and "W's" explanation rests upon an unverifiable hypothesis.

Yours, etc.,

THE DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.
To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Will your correspondent "D," the latest theorist on this momentous question, kindly inform us in what manner his theory differs from mine? With the exception that his may be more clearly worded, the only difference I can find is that he has not told us why the gas should be so "very much more rare than the air."

Yours, etc.,
W.

STIRLING.

ACCIDENT.—On Thursday afternoon, as Mr. James Charles was working around the fly-wheel of the grist mill, he met with a very serious accident. It seems that the fly wheel ran close to the ground, and as he was leaning over it, it struck him in the back of the head, fracturing his skull. He was taken home and medical assistance summoned, but so great was the shock to the sufferer, who is getting advanced in years, that a complete examination of the injured member could not be at once made. It is feared, however, it is a comminuted fracture, which is very serious and may cost him the limb. —New-Army.

CHINA'S PREPARATION.

HONG KONG, Jan. 11.—The Chinese have blockaded Canton River between the Canton and Bogue forts, leaving only a navigable passage of ninety feet. Calls have been issued for recruits for the Chinese army.

THE CAPTURE OF SONTAY.

DRESDEN, Jan. 11.—The Marquis Tseng, in a letter received here, declared that the capture of Sontay by the French had strengthened the war party in China, and it was questionable whether China would now accept mediation for a settlement of the Tonquin difficulty. He also says China would perhaps double the tax on foreign goods to cover the war expenses.

THE MURDER OF COL. SUDEKIN.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 11.—The murderers of Col. Sudekin were arrested through information obtained from a cabman who conveyed two of them from the house where the murder was committed. Col. Sudekin's nephew, who was dangerously wounded, will probably recover, but he will be insane. Twenty-six splinters of bone have been taken from his skull. Thirty-seven university students have been arrested at Moscow on suspicion of being connected with the murder.

THE COMTE DE PARIS.

PARIS, Jan. 11.—Notwithstanding the expressed wish of the Comte de Paris to preserve his incognito upon his journey to Madrid to visit King Alfonso, a large crowd of Royalists assembled at the depot. They handed him an address in the name of the Royalist League, and a few cries of "Vive le Comte de Paris," "Vive le Roi," were raised. The police made four arrests. The Comte goes to Madrid on the invitation of the King, and will afterwards visit Duc de Montpensier at Seville.

"CHINESE" GORDON.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—The authorities of the War Office have required "Chinese" Gordon to surrender his commission as an English officer upon taking service under the King of the Soudan. It is understood that Gordon will accept the Niamman tribes for his operations on the Congo. It is from these tribes that the Soudanese slaves are mostly procured.

TELEGRAPH LINES DESTROYED.

KHARTOUM, Jan. 11.—Natives have destroyed all the telegraph poles from here to Sennar. Eighty-four thousand men have left El Obeid for Khartoum.

TO LEAVE KHARTOUM.

CAIRO, Jan. 11.—Orders have been sent to Khartoum for the civil population to quit the town immediately.

THE LATE HERR LASKER.

BELIN, Jan. 11.—The Liberals are indignant at the officials of the Lower House of the Prussian Diet for their ruling that no motion expressing regret at the death of Herr Lasker could be made as he had ceased to belong to that House before leaving Germany. The friends of the deceased contrast this action with the conduct of the House of Representatives at Washington.

REVOLUTIONARY STUDENTS.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 11.—The police have seized documents, showing a revolutionary league exists among the students of Moscow. All officials at Gatchina Palace are under the strictest control. The police have been unable to obtain any clue to the whereabouts of the nihilist Jablonsky, the principal murderer of Sudekin.

FENIAN THREATS.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—It is reported, owing to Fenian threats, the garrison at Windsor Castle has been enjoined to be ready to turn out at a moment's notice.

SAILORS' STRIKE.

MARSEILLES, Jan. 11.—The strike of sailors here continues with renewed vigour. Fifty-six steamers have been abandoned by their crews.

THE EVACUATION OF THE SOUDAN.

CAIRO, Jan. 11.—The Minister of War in a statement regarding the proposed evacuation of Soudan shows there are 21,000 men and 84 guns there. The removal to Khartoum of ammunition and stores at Kamala would require four thousand camels, or six thousand if the material on the Abyssinian frontier should also be removed. The march from Berber to Wadyhalfa through the desert will be impossible; it would be necessary to make the journey by river, which would take three months and require 1,300 boats.

SUPPORTS FOR EL MAHDI.

CAIRO, Jan. 11.—Several Bedouin tribes along the Nile between Khartoum and Berber have declared for El Mahdi.

FIRED ON BY BEDOUINS.

CAIRO, Jan. 11.—Emigrants of El Mahdi have arrived at Assuan. They were fired upon by Bedouins.

BERBER EVACUATED.

CAIRO, Jan. 11.—The European inhabitants evacuated Berber on the 8th.

AMERICAN.

THE WEST SHORE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—A report was current yesterday that the West Shore road was to be put into the hands of a receiver. The officers of the road say that such a thing is impossible. The road does not owe anything at any moment, except on bonds, and it has not defaulted on interest. On report was to the effect that Vanderbilt was working to secure control of the road. It is asserted that Horace Porter recently endeavored to secure a loan of $6,000,000 from the Pennsylvania Company with which to complete the West Shore road, and offered $10,000,000 second mortgage bonds of the West Shore as collateral. The Pennsylvania, however, declined.

Why do so many ladies say, "I have such trouble in getting the make of Towelings I like?" If they call at Turnbull's Street, they will find exactly what they want.

Flooding the Sahara.

English capitalists are reviving the project of flooding the Sahara, and thus opening up Central Africa to commerce and civilization, the opinion still being urged by geographers and engineers that, if the water of the ocean could thus be let into the desert, the climate, the soil, and the sanitary condition would all be improved. The Sahara desert is a depression covering an area of about 60,000 miles.

NAVIGATING OUR WATERS.

A Proposed Company to Navigate our Rivers and Lakes.

The following letter has been circulated:—

PETERBOROUGH, Jan. 8th, 1884.

SIR.—The favorable opportunity for establishing a Steamboat and Fuel Company in Peterborough is so great that I wish to draw your attention to it.

On the completion of the Trent Valley Canal a Peterborough Steamboat Company, with sufficient Tugs and Boats, could control the carrying trade from here to the Trent. The people of Lindsay and Boboyne, seeing the advantage of having the control of the Upper Lakes, have already formed a company for that purpose. Why should Peterborough be behind in this matter? It must eventually be a benefit to the trade of our town.

The Fuel question is one that requires your consideration. Beech and Maple wood can be bought on the river and lake at a cost of $1.50 to $2.00, and will sell readily at $4.50 to $5.00 in town. There is sufficient to supply the demand for a few years—and on the opening of the canal the supply can be got on our back lakes. The cost of bringing wood by water will always be much less than by rail—which will practically give this company a monopoly.

By establishing an industrial company, and providing a Park on the Otonabee River, of easy access from the town, where a boat could make hourly trips, a large excursion business could be done.

I propose, if I receive sufficient support, to put my Steamboats, Boats, and other plant into the hands of a company—the value of the boats, &c., to be left to a valuator—and I will take all the amount in paid up stock of the company.

I would suggest the formation of a company with a Capital Stock of $50,000, in shares of $10 each, for in unity there is strength—and the larger the number of stock-holders the more there will be to patronize excursions, the more customers for fuel.

I would like very much for you to give this matter your consideration. If you wish to join in an enterprise that will not only benefit yourself, but the public as well, and increase the trade of the town—and if it has your favorable consideration—please let me know, for there is no time to lose if wood is to be secured for the next season.

An early answer will oblige,
Yours,
H. CALVERT,
Proprietor Calvert's Line of Steamers.

DESTRUCTION OF FORESTS.

Several years ago there was great lamentation over the destruction of the buffalo, until some political economist suggested that an ox required no more food than a buffalo, and that the country would be richer by hundreds of millions of dollars if the buffalo could be exterminated and their places occupied by herds of cattle. We remarked to a friend, recently, that the supply of good pine lumber was nearly exhausted in this country. He said he was glad to hear that was the case, for as long as the pine lumber lasted it would exclude from the market various materials that have been experimented with sufficiently to prove that they are in all respects equal to, and on many accounts superior to lumber.

It seems more than probable that ten years after the pine lumber shall have disappeared there will be but few regrets for its loss; and that in the next century a new growth will have taken the place of the old, undisturbed by the axe of the pioneer. The history of the lumber trade may come to resemble in that respect the history of the whale oil trade. Petroleum destroyed that business, an straw-lumber, paper mache and similar manufactures are likely to destroy the lumber trade.

There can be no doubt but that the wholesale destruction of the forests in this country is doing great injury to its agricultural interests, and that it should be stopped, and particularly in the older States, where hardly any tree is left to make new forests, and where the soil is so thin that the land becomes a desert when unprotected by trees. But in unsettled portions of the country to which immigration is not attracted it is probable that the evil work out its own cure through natural causes.

Cast up by the Sea.

The following has been cast up on the coast of Grandound, Gothenburg: "I, John Wood am a poor ship-wrecked man. Oh please come and save me. Our ship the "Evening Star" sailed from Newcastle on the 18th August and arrived at Cape Horn near which she was wrecked on a sunken rock. I tied myself. The master and all the rest were lost. I have one box of biscuits. No water and if I am not rescued I will soon be dead. Please some kind friend come and save me. I write these on my biscuit box in the hope that it may be picked up." The above was intelligible writing, but the paper was discoloured.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 12, 1884.

OUR GREAT HIGHWAY.

MR. GEORGE STEPHEN, the President of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, has just issued a circular to the shareholders, which contains much interesting information as to the progress during the past year and prospects of our great trans-continental highway.

He points out that the position of the C.P.R. is unique, having its own line stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific, a complete and independent railway system within itself. Subsequently he tells us that this distance will be accomplished in 90 hours.

It is stated that during the year 1883 the Company built 688 miles of railway, consisting of 553 miles of main line and 140 miles of branch lines. On the western division 377 miles of rails have been laid—completing the track to the summit of the Rocky Mountain pass, 900 miles west of Winnipeg—leaving a gap of less than 300 miles to complete the connection with the Pacific Ocean, and there is every reason to expect that this connection will be completed within the next two years.

On the opening of navigation next season the Company will have its own steel steamships, built this year on the Clyde expressly for the lake traffic, ready to run between Lake Huron and Thunder Bay, on Lake Superior. A new through line of its own will thus be opened, carrying freight and passengers from Montreal to all points in the newly-opened country for a continuous distance of 1,400 miles west of Port Arthur. On the section of the line north of Lake Superior, 167 miles of track have been laid during this year, and within the next few weeks fifty-four miles more will be added, making a total on that section of 221 miles, leaving 430 miles yet to be built in order to complete the through all-rail connections between Mon-real and the North-West Provinces. There are at the present time over 9,000 men at work on this section, which, it is fully expected, will be completed and ready for operation before the close of the year 1885.

The surveys of the gap between the completed portions of the Eastern and the Western divisions have been completed, as well as the surveys across the Rocky and Selkirk mountains.
The work has in both cases been found much easier than was anticipated, and the Directors feel now that they may safely state that the entire line will be completed within the original estimate of cost.

The cost has been found not to exceed the estimates of their engineers, and there is no probability of any excessive demands for the completion of the remaining portions. On the other hand the receipts for the completed sections have been very satisfactory, amounting to more than four millions.

There are some congratulatory remarks upon the rapid settlement of the country, and the prospects of this being even accelerated. They promise to promote this settlement and secure traffic by superior accommodation and moderate rates.

Allusion is made to the hostile efforts of the enemies of the Company in the press and elsewhere. It is lamentable that this hostility should, in many instances, come from Canadians, who should aid this national work instead of thwarting it. In fact, some are not so much the enemies of the Company as of the Administration at Ottawa, which they hope to injure by placing obstacles in the way of the progress of the country.

It is very satisfactory that such nefarious tactics have been in vain, and that under the administration of the Macdonald Government the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has surpassed what was expected of it, both in uniting our scattered Provinces and promoting the settlement of our vast territories.

COBURN.

FIRE.—On Saturday night, a fire occurred in a small building on Bayview St., owned by Mr.
John Helm, and occupied by Mr. H. J. Niles.
The Brigade succeeded in quenching the flames, before the house was entirely destroyed; though a good deal of damage was done. Mr. Helm's loss on building is about $250, covered by insurance in the North British and Mercantile; and Mr. Niles' on contents about $300, covered by insurance in the Standard.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

A TEACHER'S RESIGNATION CAUSES A DISCUSSION.

The Financial Statement—A Public School Teacher Resigns—Report of Attendance at the Public School—Communications.

A meeting of the Board of Education was held on Friday evening.

PRESENT.—Messrs. Stevenson (Chairman),
Kendry, Sawers, Wrighton, Deane, Burnham,
Cox, Weir, Sproule, Dumble and Rutherford.
Messrs. Millar and Errett, new members took their seats.

The SECRETARY read the minutes of the special meeting held on the 2nd of January, at which the votes cast in the election were counted and the result declared. Also of the regular meeting held in December, and of the meetings of the Board as a Committee of the whole.

WHY THE MEETING WAS CALLED.

The CHAIRMAN said that the Secretary-Treasurer had a statement of the receipts and expenditure for the past year ready, and that the Board would have to deal with a vacancy in the South Ward School, Miss Rose having retired.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES.

Mr. DUMBLE, Chairman of the Finance Committee, submitted a statement, which had been prepared by the Secretary-Treasurer, of the receipts and expenditures of the year 1883.

The statement was, in motion, received and referred to the auditors. It appears in another column.

REPORT OF ATTENDANCE.

A report of the attendance at the Public Schools during the month of December, sent to the Board by Mr. H. Kay Coleman, Head Master, was read. The attendance was as follows:—

	On Reg.	Av. Att.
Central School.....	525	478
South Ward School.....	515	178
West Ward School.....	147	157
Total.....	987	783

COMMUNICATIONS.

From W. H. Schofield, in reference to Collegiate Institute fees.—Finance Committee.

From Miss Eliza Johnston, asking for leave of absence in February, in order that she might attend the Ottawa Normal School.—Granted, a substitute to be appointed by the Board.

From the janitor of the West Ward School, requesting the Board to send wood cut ready for the stove, and from the janitor of the South Ward School asking for an increase of salary.—
Property Committee.

From Jas. Stratton, Inspector of the Public Schools, giving a report on the schools, which was on the whole a favourable report.—Committee on school supervision.

From W. J. James, Modern Language teacher in Collegiate Institute, tendering his resignation, to take effect on Feb. 1st.

From Miss Kate Rose, through Mr. Kidd, tendering her resignation as teacher in the South Ward School.—Committee on Appointments.

A VACANCY.

Mr. Dumble reported that the Committee on Appointments had appointed Miss Simm as teacher in the South Ward School, in place of Miss Rose, subject to the approval of the Board.

Mr. COX moved, seconded by Mr. Kendry,—
That the appointment of Miss Simm be confirmed.

Mr. ERRETT moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. WRIGHTON,—That the applications for appointments as teachers be referred to the Committee on Appointments, and that the committee take steps to temporarily fill vacancies.

The amendment was put and declared lost,
and the original motion carried.

MR. JAMES' RESIGNATION.

Mr. DUMBLE said that the committee appointed at the last meeting had come to one conclusion, and he had a report prepared on that,
which he would submit if the Board desired.
Mr. James' resignation was probably an outcome of the committee's action. The conclusion was that a female teacher should be employed to teach German and French, and probably Drawing, thus saving $300.

After further discussion the resignation was received.

Mr. DUMBLE read the report of the special committee on the Collegiate Institute, which recommended that a lady teacher be engaged for
the Collegiate Institute.

Mr. ERRETT moved, seconded by Mr. BUR-HAM,—That the report be not adopted, but be referred back to be considered by the incoming Committee on Appointments.

Mr. DUMBLE said it was not courteous to refer a matter to a special committee and then to tell them they were not capable of dealing with it, and say that they had to wait for another committee to consider it.

Mr. WRIGHTON said that it was no more discourteous than referring a matter to a committee and then taking it out of their hands, as was done in the school board matter.

Mr. RUTHERFORD believed it was desirable to have a lady teacher. He had opposed the action of the committee, at the committee meeting, but since Mr. James' resignation had been received the aspect of the question was changed.

Mr. COX said that one thing which had assisted Mr. Errett in defeating his opponent in the recent election was the fact that his opponent had voted for dismissing the lady teacher formerly in the Institute. There would not be so much dissatisfaction with the Institute if there was not an impression that it cost more than it really did. The actual cost was about $3,800.

Mr. MILLAR said that he was not sufficiently acquainted with the matter to vote for it, and would therefore have to vote for the amendment which favoured delay.

Mr. ERRETT said that the new members had the right to obtain further information, and there was no need for hurry.

The report was withdrawn.

Mr. JAMES was heard and said that he had sent in his resignation on account of the conclusion the special committee had come to, of which he had heard. He was surprised to hear that the committee had come to that conclusion, after the assurances he had received that his position was safe.

Mr. DUMBLE said that it did not look nice for a teacher to come here and impugn the honor of the Board, especially when that teacher had come to them, with a telegram in his hand, saying that he had received the offer of a situation at a higher salary, and that unless his salary was increased he would leave at once. The Committee, in looking over the information received by it regarding the Institute, found that he was teaching more girls than boys. He was not dismissed, but they had changed their policy in regard to the school, in order to introduce a lady teacher, and when he left he would get the best recommendations, as he was entitled to them.

Mr. ERRETT said that the assurances Mr.
James had received from the members of the Committee on Appointments was equivalent to promising him $900 a year, and he was justly indignant.

Mr. KENDRY said they were in a difficulty now, such as they often got into by not dealing with matters at once.

Mr. COX said if the members of the Committee had assured Mr. James that he would get $900, they were in honor bound to support him getting it, still, that would not prevent the members from changing their policy in regard to the schools and giving any teacher six months notice. There was a kindly feeling towards Mr.
James.

Mr. SPROULE said that if Mr. James had solicited the situation in the Walkerton school, without giving notice to the Board or receiving any intimation from the Board that his services would be dispensed with, his action was very unsatisfactory.

Mr. WEIR said there was a prevalent feeling in the town in favor of having a lady in the Institute, and they would save $300 or $400 in salary by doing so.

Mr. RUTHERFORD said that when the assurance was given to Mr. James that he would get the increased salary, it was on the understanding that he would combine the duties of the classical master with his own.

Mr. DUMBLE moved that Mr. James' resignation be accepted.

Mr. ERRETT urged that the whole matter be left over till the next meeting.

Mr. SAWERS said that Mr. James was all right until he said he could teach classics, and then he was all wrong. If he could teach classics why not add those duties to his own?

Mr. JAMES, in answer to Mr. Sproule, said that he was present at a meeting of the Board when a suggestion was made to abolish the Institute, and he thought that it was made in earnest. He thought he would lose his situation here, and, in answer to advertisements, he applied for the situation in Walkerton. He sent in his resignation now because he considered himself under a stigma in the school, but after the explanations he was willing to stay until midsummer at a salary of $600 per annum.

Mr. DUMBLE moved, seconded by Mr.
RUTHERFORD,—That if Mr. James elect to continue in the services of the Board until the end of the present term, his salary from January 1st to the end of the next vacation be at the rate of $900 per annum.

The motion was adopted and the Board adjourned.

A Cow With a Wooden Leg.

Mr. Mary Gravelly, of Bailly's Cross Roads, Buck County, Pa., says the Philadelphia Ledger has a cow which, about four months ago, had its right front leg cut off below the knee by a railway train.

A veterinary surgeon dressed the wound and tied up the arteries, skillfully that the cow recovered. She was kept in the stable until a few days ago, when a neighbor, a cabinet maker, made for her a wooden leg, which was strapped on with "Electric Bitters," and she hopped along holding the injured leg up for a day or two, but now she has concluded to use the wooden attachment, and limps around quite comfortably upon it, and seems to be in good health.

An End to Bone Scraping.

Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, says:
"Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. I have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctor told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated.
I used instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters, and seven boxes Bicklen's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well." Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle, and Bicklen's Arnica Salve at 25c. per box by Taylors Macdonald.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, JANUARY 12, 1884.

LOCAL NEWS

The Temperature.
The Rev. V. Clement's thermometer registered 54° below zero last night.

The Skat.
The skating rink was largely patronized on Friday evening, and the sport was most enjoyable. The City Band Orchestra was present.

The Weather.
More snow falling to-day. The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh south-west to south winds; fair to cloudy milder weather, with light snow or rain in some localities.

Y. M. C. A.
The subject for the young men's meeting to-night will be that selected for the week of prayer, viz.: "Prayer for Home and Foreign Missions, for missionaries, for heathens, Mohammedans and Israelites, that they may be won to Christ." All young men are cordially invited to attend.

Direction of Officers.
At the annual meeting of Peterborough District Orange Lodge, held this week, the following officers were elected and installed:—
Bro. John Smith, W.M.
" Wm. King, D.M.
" John Sharp, Sec.
" Henderson Nesbitt, Treas.
" J. H. Campbell, Chap.
" Jos. Batten, Leo.
" J. S. Hall, D of O.
" T. Brown, Tyler.

Week of Prayer.
The meetings held this week in the different churches in connection with the week of prayer, were very successful, although the weather was not favorable. The concluding meeting, held in the Charlotte street Methodist Church on Friday evening, was largely attended, the church being quite full. It was conducted by the pastor of the church, the Rev. T. Manning, B. A., and the Rev. E. F. Torrance, M. A., delivered an excellent address.

Sealettes only $4.00 a yard; worth a great deal more money, at Turnbull's.

A Sweeping Sale.
The list has gone forth. The "Golden Lion" has spoken and the decree must be carried out. The remnants "must go." A sweeping sale of remnants is now going on at Messrs. Fair, Van Every & Co.'s, previous to stock taking, and these remnants include a great variety of goods, in fact everything useful in the dry goods line. This sale, which will repeat twice a year, affords a good opportunity for purchasing goods at cheap prices. Some of the lines included in this remnant sale are mentioned in their advertisement in another column, which see.

"Hostilities Commenced."
A most excellent for the year 1884, containing a calendar and many valuable household hints, has been distributed "with the compliments of Thomas Kelly, importer of fancy and staple dry goods." It has illuminated covers, and is a handsome pamphlet. A stock taking sale is now going on at Mr. Kelly's. He has determined not to carry over any of this season's goods, and for the purpose of selling out the entire stock he has made a considerable reduction in prices. See his advertisement in another column, and visit his store and inspect the goods.

Entertainment.
The Parochial Association of St. Luke's Church held their usual monthly entertainment in the school room, Ashburnham on Monday evening last. The attendance was not so good as heretofore, sufficient publicity not having been given of the affair. The programme was as usual excellent, and was carried out by the following persons, several of whom, notably the first three, received hearty applause:—Mr. and Mrs. Bowman, Miss Heather and Miss Grundy and Messrs. O. A. Langford, F. Adams and the Incumbent. The Temperance Guild will give their usual monthly concert on Monday the 21st of January at 8 p.m.

A fresh lot of Dress Goods just received at Turnbull's. Ladies wanting a dress in January will be able to get a length of any colour at a decided bargain.

Brought Home for Burial.
The body of the late James McMillan, formerly of Otonabee, who died at Grand Forks, Dakota, on Monday was brought to Peterborough on Friday evening and was interred in the Little Lake Cemetery this afternoon.

A Frequent Speaker.
At a meeting of the Board of Education on Friday evening, one of the members returned at the recent elections spoke no less than thirty times! His voice was heard every three or four minutes during the three hours which the Board was in session.

Heavy Berkshire.
Mr. Thomas Magee, of Emily, had two hogs (pure Berkshire breed) from the stock of Mr. Robert Vance, Cavan weighed on the market this morning. They were aged three and a half and two years respectively, and weighed 340 pounds.

The Trains.
The afternoon train from Belleville, due here at 8.30 last night, arrived some time in the night. This morning a train went to Belleville with two engines and a snow plough, the morning train from Belleville being cancelled. Trains were run both ways this afternoon. The trains on the Midland did very well to-day, being only a few minutes late. The train to Lakefield was cancelled last night.

Trent Valley Canal Deputation.
The Grand Trunk Railway (including the Midland Division) has consented to give return tickets at a fare and a third, good from the previous Monday till the subsequent Thursday, to the members of the deputation that will wait on the Minister of Railways and Canals at Ottawa on Feb. 5th, in reference to the Trent Valley Canal. A similar favour has been asked from the C.P.R. and will probably be granted.

Women's Foreign Missionary Society.
We regret much that the interesting report of the annual meeting of the St. Paul's Auxiliary of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society which was held in the schoolroom of the St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on Friday, is unavoidably held over till our Monday's issue. A very large number of ladies were present, and although the inclemency of the weather precluded the possibility of the attendance of those representatives from outlying districts who had been expected, the business of the Society was satisfactorily and expeditiously transacted.

Concert in Hastings.
The concert given by the choir of St. Mary's Church, Hastings, on the evening of Dec. 26, was, says the Star, probably the best ever given in Hastings, as regards merit and financial results. The Star speaks highly of the singing and music by the local musicians and adds:—"In speaking of the ladies and gentlemen from a distance we cannot be too lavish in praise. Miss Lillie Begley, (of Peterborough) sang 'Am I remembered in Egypt' in a soprano voice, clear in intonation and under the most perfect control, but it was probably in her rendition of 'Gloria' that she displayed most perceptibly the finished ability of a songstress and wherein the assembly awoke to the fact that a singer of very rare excellence was before them. Referring to Mr. O'Donohue, Peterborough, we may simply state he 'brought down the house' his appearance being vociferously cheered. His rich brogue and quaint Irish phrases produced an effect which it would be difficult to analyze, and, we have no doubt, called up a vivid remembrance of 'That little green Isle across the sea' and we venture to say, that many of his hearers found their fond thoughts could be realized by being 'off to Tipperary in the morning'."

Carltons.
On Monday two rinks of the Peterborough Curling Club will go to Cobourg to take part in the bonspiel there. The club will play a match at Toronto, with the Granites of that city, on Jan. 22nd, for the Caledonian Medal, and they will also send two rinks to Montreal on Feb. 4th. The rinks which go to Cobourg on Monday will be composed as follows:—
Robt. Hall, Adam Hall
A. McNeil, Geo. Danford
T. F. Aulrie, W. G. Ferguson
E. Philip, R. Miller, Skip.

On the last evening of the bonspiel there will be a carnival at Cobourg. The World says of both:—

"On Tuesday and Wednesday next, the first grand bonspiel of the season will take place in Cobourg covered rink. The curling will begin on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock; when two rinks each from the clubs of Port Hope, Peterborough, Lindsay, Whitby, Oshawa, Bowmanville, Newcastle and Cobourg will compete for a district trophy. There will then be 16 rinks, and the competition will last for the two days. On Wednesday evening the 18th, there will be a grand Fancy Dress Carnival—the first of the season. The band will be in attendance. The preparations are being made on an extensive scale, and we have no doubt this will be one of the finest exhibitions of curling and skating ever witnessed in this town."

The Opera House Block.
McConnell Bros., in their new premises in the Opera House Block, are doing a lively business in boots and shoes, owing to the great reduction they have made in price, while at the same time making a good stock of first-class goods.

Rich Fruit Cakes.
Raisin Cakes, Sponge Cakes, Lady Cakes, Chocolate Cakes, Coconut Cakes and other varieties too numerous to mention, with and without icing. CARTON BROS.

Wm. Bow & Co's
Celebrated Indian Pale Ale on draught at The Little Windsor Hotel. Try it.

The Home Hint.
From a mother who only makes a show of good behavior in society, and lays it aside at home like her Sunday dress, from a father who employs the best-chosen expressions with strangers, and as soon as the door is closed after them uses quite a different language to the inmates of his home, from such parents naturally children can only learn the empty, lifeless form of good behavior, and they become men from whom those who are really well educated shrink with instinctive abhorrence. The high tone, the time-honored custom surround them only like a loose garment, and a single unexpected breath of air blows the light veil away and allows the vulgar feeling which it has concealed to become visible. At home, in daily intercourse, in the bosom of family life, is the school where alone it is possible for our children to learn the spirit and soul of good behavior; and how wrong it is to send our girls to an expensive foreign school with this intention. It is possible that there the young ladies will learn some rules of behavior, but they must have brought the best with them if they are to become anything more than affected belles. —From the German.

A Startling Discovery.
Mr. Wm. Johnston, of Huron, Dak., writes that his wife had been troubled with acute Bronchitis for many years, and that all remedies tried gave no permanent relief, until he procured a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds, which had a magical effect, and produced a permanent cure. It is guaranteed to cure all Diseases of Throat, Lungs, or Bronchial Tubes. Trial Bottles Free at Taylor & Macdonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.00.

OF
WINTER DRESS GOODS.
Goods well bought are said to be half sold. The march begins before ours were fairly on Stock, and the march has been ours since.
We had the best of assortments to begin with, gathered literally both from abroad and at home. The best fabrics picked with the eye of an expert—just such goods as sell.
Never have we had a season of greater activity. Never did our prices seem more inviting. Never was there better proof of it either, for with very few exceptions our prices remain unchanged. Yet customers assure us that they are lower than where stocks have been profusely reduced.
Remember our goods are the freshest from the most famous weavers.
Prices, you know is one of our strong points always.

SWEEPING REMNANT SALE

AT THE

Golden Lion.

A REMNANT SALE, TWICE A YEAR, WILL BE ONE OF OUR ESTABLISHED CUSTOMS.

All live, pushing Dry Goods Houses must of necessity find themselves with a large percentage of REMNANTS at the close of each season, which are very valuable to, and eagerly sought after by, House-Keepers and Dry Goods consumers generally. Instead, therefore, of keeping these Remnants on our shelves, and carrying them over from season to season, we intend turning over all our "left over" Goods into CASH, and propose offering them to our customers, twice a year, AT PRICES FAR BELOW their Regular Market value.

OUR FIRST JANUARY SALE

OF REMNANTS

Is now going on, previous to Stock Taking, and we strongly advise all interested, by all means, to come and secure some of the CHEAP LINES before they are all sold. We have a Great Variety, including:

- | | |
|------------------------------|---------------------------|
| REMNANTS in Dress Goods, | REMNANTS in Flannels, |
| REMNANTS in Cashmeres, | REMNANTS in Towellings, |
| REMNANTS in Merinoes, | REMNANTS in Table Linens, |
| REMNANTS in Silks and Satins | REMNANTS in Sheetings, |
| REMNANTS in Velveteens, | REMNANTS in Crettones, |
| REMNANTS in Tweeds, | REMNANTS in Prints, |
| REMNANTS in Ulsterings, | REMNANTS in Hemp Carpets. |

REMNANTS

In other lines too numerous to mention: in fact Remnants in everything you need in the Dry Goods line. To those who wish to secure GRAND VALUES, this is good news.

This Sale will Last the Whole Month, but you should Come and Secure Bargains now.

CLOSING OUT SALE

Before Taking Stock, at

GIROUX & SULLIVAN'S.

EVERY CUSTOMER is well aware of the fact that when GIROUX & SULLIVAN advertise a Cheap Sale, they do as they advertise, and during the next thirty days, they offer BIG BARGAINS in every department, for the goods must be sold, and will be sold, if LOW PRICES will do it.

Very Encouraging.

Although we make no profit in our cheap sale, by selling goods at what they cost, we make NEW CUSTOMERS and it is very encouraging, indeed, to see every customer satisfied.

There is Nothing like Honest Dealing.

Ladies tell us there are so many cheap sales advertised, it is difficult for them to know which is a REAL CHEAP SALE, and which is puffing. We are satisfied that after the success of our present cheap sale, Ladies have the advantage to judge for themselves, and this sale we advertise now they will know whatever we advertise is the truth.

For Thirty Days.

This stocking sale will continue for thirty days, and BIG BARGAINS will be given in every department.

THE GEORGE DAVITT TOUR.

DUBLIN, Jan. 12.—The Irish Times intimates that the tour of Henry George and Davitt through England and Scotland has been abandoned, owing to the hostility of one section of the Irish party to George.

PROHIBITION OF AMERICAN PORK. PARIS, Jan. 12.—M. Leon Chouteau asks for America to prevent if possible the United States Government from adopting retaliatory measures on account of the refusal of France to permit the importation of American salted meats.

FIRE DAMP EXPLOSION. PARIS, Jan. 12.—A fire damp explosion occurred yesterday at the Ferrey coal mine, near Arras, France. Seven men were killed, and twelve, who were injured, were rescued. Five others are missing, and it is feared they perished.

FEARS OF DESIGNS ON CANTON. HONG KONG, Jan. 12.—The Chinese authorities have fears of the French entertaining designs upon the city of Canton. The natives are very uneasy. The work of blockading the Canton river is progressing. Six thousand troops have been sent to Hainan. The greatest difficulty is to get the troops to Hainan. The Chinese troops sent to Hainan are possessed of good physique and are fairly armed, but indifferently drilled. The Chinese state that some extraordinary steps are imminent.

DECISIVE BATTLE EXPECTED. VIENNA, Jan. 12.—It is reported that China has definitely decided not to recall her troops from Bactria, where a decisive battle is expected to take place shortly.

PREPARING FOR THE NATIONALISTS. DUBLIN, Jan. 12.—The garrison at Enniskillen has been ordered to make preparations to accommodate one thousand additional troops which are to be sent there in view of the Nationalist meeting announced the coming week.

THE MISSING CELTIC.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The steamer Ludgate Hill, from New York, spoke the steamer Celtic on the 8th inst, 700 miles west of Fastnet. The Celtic, which spoke the Celtic on Thursday night, sent out to search for the Celtic, and indicated to her the Celtic's position on Thursday, latitude 50, long 22 W. The Celtic apparently doing well and the weather favorable.

THE EVACUATION OF THE SOUDAN. LONDON, Jan. 12.—A Cairo despatch says the Government has received advice from Suakin that an agreement has been effected with several hitherto hostile chiefs on the Suakin and Berber route to Khartoum by which it is hoped evacuation of the Soudan will be facilitated. It is intended to despatch Abd-el-Kader, the Minister of War, to Khartoum to supervise the evacuation.

SOUDAN NEWS. LONDON, Jan. 12.—A Cairo despatch says:—There has been a sudden change in the relations between the Khedive and the Sultan, the latter manifesting a more friendly feeling towards the Khedive. Zubeir Pasha's troops leave Suakin today for Suakin to assist Baker Pasha in relieving the garrisons of Toka and Sinalak. The Government has ordered Khartoum to be evacuated, the guns to be spiked, and the powder destroyed.

THE RECENT ATTACK ON THE CAZAR. ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 12.—A story is in circulation that Jablonsky and the sister of the man who was hanged for complicity in the murder of Alexander II. planned a recent attempt on the Czar, which was given up as an accident to the Imperial police. It is rumored that the woman has already been secretly hanged.

MEETING PROHIBITED. LONDON, Jan. 12.—The Nationalist meeting announced to be held in County Fermanagh today was prohibited by the authorities.

FRANCE AND CHINA. HONG KONG, Jan. 12.—Two transports are loading at Canton with the troops for Hainan. It is now said that three thousand will go to protect the island against the French. Mr. Morrison has gone to Hainan, having secured a complete ratification of the treaty of the 25th of August from the new King of Annam at Hue.

ENGLISH MEDITATION. PARIS, Jan. 12.—The French Government is assured England has urged China to accept accomplished facts and arrange terms of peace with France.

AMERICAN.

TELEPHONE OFFICE BURNED. BOSTON, Jan. 12.—The central office of the New England Telephone Company was damaged by fire this morning. All the wires were burned off, destroying connection with three thousand offices. The city will be without telephone services for several days.

Land Sharks Bewildered. The Wisconsin woolmen must be credited with being a keener person than he has been regarded heretofore. Recently, the State advertised a tract of wilderness to be sold at auction, and it became known that the "land sharks" were laying schemes to buy it in cheap.

A few days before the sale ten or twelve back-woodsmen appeared in town with long minutes of the value of the lands offered, the wood on them, etc. Being asked what the object was, they said to buy in. Here was the dilemma for the "land sharks"—these woodsmen would run the price up to its real value. So the land agents offered a sum of money for the minutes, and, to their surprise, the offer was readily accepted. After they bought the land they found they had been duped, for the minutes were false.

Female Liquor Detectives. LONDON, Ont. Jan. 11.—Frequenters of the Police Court were the line of liquor cases. Three prominent Dundas street grocery firms were up for selling liquor in less quantities than the law allows. The prosecutions were based on the information secured by two female detectives. Two of the grocers were fined $20.00 each and decision reversed in the third case.

"I HAD been for eight months unable to work, and felt as though I would as lief die as live," says Mrs. J. D. Tully, of Peterborough, who was cured by Dr. J. D. Tully's "Speedy Cure" for Rheumatism. She writes: "I was cured of my Rheumatism, and I feel as though I would as lief die as live." "I was cured of my Rheumatism, and I feel as though I would as lief die as live." "I was cured of my Rheumatism, and I feel as though I would as lief die as live."

Blowker's Ammoniated Food for Flowers. Plants like children, require constant attention, this done and they will grow and delight the whole household. To enable all lovers of flowers during winter months to enjoy this, we have had the "Ammoniated Food for Flowers," sold by J. A. BISHOP, SEED MERCHANT, TORONTO. Price 1/6 cents per packet, post prepaid. Try it, and success is certain.

EVERYBODY should keep such a thing as Zov-25 in the house, and by regulating the bowels and system, keep away headache, heart-ache, depression, indigestion, Zov-25 regulates the liver, makes the family happy by making healthy. Ask J. D. TULLY.

DISTRICT INTELLIGENCE

LINDSAY.

CURLING.—At a meeting of the Curling Club held last week Mr. J. D. Flavelle and Mr. S. A. McMurty, were elected skippers. Some new members were also admitted and arrangements completed for the sending of two rinks to the Cobourg bonspiel, which takes place next week.

FIRE.—Early Monday morning a store room or kitchen belonging to the Benson House took fire, and had it not been discovered in time would certainly have caused a conflagration. Surrounding it were many wooden buildings of different kinds, all of dry, inflammable material and which were saved with great difficulty by the firemen. It was promptly subdued, however, before any damage was done to anything except the building in which it started. It is supposed to have caught in some way through carelessness in handling ashes.

ANOTHER FIRE.—The house belonging to Mrs. Elliot in the south ward, which was on fire last Christmas, again took fire early Thursday morning and this time was less fortunate, it being reduced to ashes. As the house has been occupied for some time and tracks were seen coming to the house on one side and going out at another it is evidently the work of an incendiary.

STROKE IT RICH.—Mr. J. McCarroll, known many years ago as "Teddy Finnegan," a witty contributor to the "Gleaner," has "struck it rich" at last. We are told that he has sold to an American company a patent for a wire game to be built into the partition walls of buildings as a preventative against fire spreading from room to room for the sum of $1,200,000. His many old friends will congratulate him on his good fortune.—Post.

BOBCAYGEON.

CATTLE.—A drove of fifty cattle were snowed up at the Rokeby stables. They went south on Thursday. Bought by Rosebury, for Montreal.

STORM.—On Tuesday evening a storm set in that has not been exceeded for years. It snowed and it blew, and on Wednesday morning sixteen inches had fallen on the level and the drifts were tremendous. Everyone had to dig their way out. Mr. J. Kennedy and Mr. Geo. Bick, two pattern citizens, hitched up their horses and plowed the snow off the sidewalk, from the school house to the main road. No stages could run, and all trains on the railway were cancelled. On Thursday, the storm being over, stages were started with the mails and the trains are breaking their way.—Independent.

MILLBROOK.

PREFORMAL.—The Rev. W. C. Allen and his bride, arrived at the Rectory, Millbrook, on Saturday last, where they received on a hearty welcome. The happy groom preached to St. Thomas' Congregation in the Sunday School Building, on Sunday evening, where he had a very full congregation. His many friends were pleased to see him in his old place, and also not only will he, but also his youthful bride will receive the right hand of fellowship from every member of the congregation.—Messenger.

BRANTFORD.

INDISCREET FIRE.—Shortly after eight o'clock on Friday evening a fire was discovered at the back of the late Great Western railway station, but before making any headway it was put out with snow. On Saturday evening Clifford's furniture factory was discovered on fire, but extinguished before any damage was done.

ALMOST ANOTHER ACCIDENT

At the identical spot where the recent Member Railway Collision took place.

The same driver and conductor who had charge of the suburban train that was so terribly wrecked recently near the Hamber, were very nearly again run into by a freight train on Friday last. The suburban train stopped at Ellis' Crossing to let a passenger get off, and had just got under good headway again when the freight train appeared. The driver of the freight saw the suburban train a short distance ahead of him and immediately whistled "down brakes."

The freight was so close to the suburban train that the passengers, becoming alarmed, rushed to the doors of the car, and five—three ladies and two men—jumped into the snow. Strange to say only one lady was injured. The freight train slowed up in sufficient time to avoid a rear collision, and the suburban train proceeded to Mimico. Mr. Wrege was spoken to about the matter just after it had been reported to him, and he explained that three minutes was too close for any train to follow another. The time laid down in the rules is ten minutes at least. Conductor Carter was also interviewed, and he gave it as his opinion that the freight was nearly a quarter of a mile behind the suburban train when the driver of the freight whistled for brakes.

Wounds in Battle.

A Berlin paper publishes the proportion of wounds received in different parts of the body by soldiers engaged in the latest great European wars. The comparatively small number of wounds upon the head is possibly in some measure accounted for by the fact that few so injured live long enough to receive medical care. The grand average from the statistics shows of wounds in the head, 14.66 per cent.; in the trunk, 18.17; in the upper extremities, 35.19; in the lower extremities, 35.65.

What 10 Cents Will Do?

A 10 cent bottle of Polson's Nerviline will cure neuralgia or headache. A 10 cent bottle of Nerviline will cure toothache or facia. A 10 cent bottle of Nerviline is sufficient to cure colds, diarrhoea, spasms, dysentery, &c. Nerviline is just the thing to cure all pains, whether internal or external. Buy at Ormond & Wain's a 10 cent sample of Nerviline, "the great pain cure." Safe, prompt and always effective. Large bottles at any drug store, only 35 cents.

THE "READER" QUESTION.

THE Toronto World, which often proves to be all informed, and which has no political bias, at all events not against the Reform party, says of the "Reader" difficulty:—

"This vexed question increases in its complications. The minister, we understand, came to the Cabinet Council on Thursday (Jan. 10th), with his new scheme all in order, but for some reason or other it was not acceptable, whether to his colleagues or the publishers we cannot say. At all events the matter is further from settlement than ever."

HONORED BY THE Czar.

CHIEF Engineer George Melville, U.S.N., has received a letter from General Tcherniaev, Governor of Yakutsk, couched in the most friendly and appreciative terms. The principal information in this communication is that the Czar has rewarded all those who aided Mr.
Melville and the other survivors of the Jeanette. General Tcherniaev himself has received the personal thanks of the Emperor, and others have been decorated, or in the case of exiles steps have been taken for their pardon. It must be gratifying to Mr. Melville to receive such intelligence in such a manner, and if he continues his treatment by this grandeur with that which he has received at home he will remember the treatment accorded to prophets in their own country.

APPOINTING SENATORS.

Commenting upon the new Senators the Ottawa Free Press says that "one of them has proved his fitness for the Senate by having been defeated for the Commons." Has our contemporary never heard of the Hon. George Brown?
We do not admire Mr. Gladstone as a politician, but when he accepts a peerage we certainly will not criticize his elevation to the House of Lords because he has been defeated for the Commons.
The Free Press also remarks that "All of them are nobodies, but they serve to help in the making of the Senate into a Tory caucus.
When it becomes all Tory it will be ripe for dissolution and will be dissolved." There is where the shoe pinches. The Senate is obnoxious to these critics, because the people of Canada have entrusted Sir John Macdonald and his colleagues with the duty of selecting the Senators. When for a brief period the Reformers were in that position they did not refuse to appoint Senators, but clamoured for permission to appoint a larger number.

THE NORTH-EAST TERRITORY.

THE Quebec Geographical Society is advocating a systematic exploration of our north-east territory. At a reunion given recently by the President of the Society, Col. W. Rhodes, at which a great number of the leading men of the Province were assembled, the matter was discussed, and the idea met with general acceptance. The report of our north-west territories, and of the great national railway serving them, with the consequent surveys and explorations of that portion of our vast domain, have tended to throw into the shade the great territory east of Hudson's Bay. Though this portion of the Dominion may not be of the same magnitude, nor of the same value as the great central prairie regions, it is a very important part of our national possessions, and a more thorough acquaintance with its almost unknown capabilities is certainly to be desired.
The fact that Col. Rhodes has been named Vice-President of the Geographical section for the British Society for the Advancement of Science, which is to meet in August at Montreal, will insure that general attention will be drawn to this important subject, and will no doubt lead to the requisite assistance being afforded by our central government.

Free Lumber.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—There is little doubt that the House will abolish the duty on lumber. Representative Stockley, of Indiana, said to a reporter last night: "I am very much interested in it myself and have found that there is a strong feeling in favor of free lumber in every State but Michigan and Wisconsin and they are not solid against it by any means.
The farmers of the central States where there is much timber wish free lumber. They want their forests protected by admitting Canadian lumber free of duty."

WOMEN'S FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The Annual Public Meeting of the St. Paul's Auxiliary.

The public annual meeting of the St. Paul's Auxiliary of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society was held in the School Room of St.
Paul's Church, on Friday, Jan. 11th. About seventy ladies were present, all with one or two exceptions, being residents in Peterborough.
Representatives from the Keene and Lakeside Auxiliaries had been expected, but the snow blockade rendered their presence impossible.
Mrs. Fairbairn, President, of the St. Paul's Auxiliary having taken the chair, the meeting was opened with devotional exercises. After leading in prayer, Mrs. Fairbairn read the 1st chap. of St. John's Gospel. The hymn "Revive us Again" was sung, and then the Secretary and Treasurer of the society were called upon for their reports.

The following is the first annual report of the St. Paul's Auxiliary of the W. F. M. S.:

Though this Auxiliary has only existed in its present form since February last, it can scarcely be called a new society, its members being almost identical with those who formed the Peterborough Auxiliary, which flourished for six years, and was then dissolved, the "St. Paul's Auxiliary" rising immediately out of its ashes.
On Friday, Feb. 9th, 1883, a meeting was held for the purpose of organizing this society (which is purely a congregational one), 37 ladies being present. At the first regular meeting held in March it was agreed to send at once, direct to the Central Board, all money then on hand, $89 were therefore sent to Toronto to be at once devoted to missionary purposes. During the summer the meetings were not very largely attended, but there has been an improvement in this respect visible in the Autumn meetings.
This Auxiliary comprises 79 members, 30 of whom are also members of the General Society, funds during the past year amounting to $408.10.
Disbursements, $42.10; leaving $366 to be used for the spread of the Gospel in heathen lands.
We have to thank the friends who have kindly given lectures, Mite-Meetings, Parlor and Church Socials and Concerts, for part of the above mentioned sum, and we close our report, trusting that the hand that has crowned our first year with success, will guide us for many years to come.

CLARA HAULMAN,
Secretary.

Mrs. GILMOUR, President of the Baptist W.
F. M. S., then led in prayer, and after the singing of another hymn,

Mrs. ROGER addressed the meeting. The substance of her remarks was as follows:—It is upon such an occasion as this that we feel our weakness and inability to say what we would wish, with power. But we know that God sometimes speaks through the weakest instruments; without Him, eloquence is naught, and stammering words carry power. The object of these meetings is to increase the interest felt in Mission work, and how can we better do it than by considering the state of the heathen among whom our Missionaries work? Shall we allow 120,000,000 fellow subjects to perish, without putting forth a hand to save them? Surely this is a question that needs no answer. We all know, however, that there are many difficulties in the way, especially in the Zanzibar of India, where as a society our interests lie. Prejudice, religion, custom and the expense of supporting missionaries are all obstacles in the path. The custom of child-marriages is one of the greatest hindrances to the spread of the Gospel, for as soon as she is married a child is generally removed from Christian influence. It has often been urged, why not leave them alone, as they are happy. So they are, just as a caged bird is happy for it knows nothing better. They are happy just as we who are Christians are happy so long as things go well with us, but when sickness, sorrow and bereavement come, where are they? "Without God and without hope in the world," in this world or in the next.
Can we leave them so? Is there no one here who will go forth to save them? It is the young who are wanted to give themselves to this work.
In a place the size of Peterborough, with its Missionary Societies and a Mission Band, is there not one girl who will give her life to save her heathen sisters? Let no one hold back because she thinks she is not fit. If she thought she was fit it would be a strong proof that she was not. When Christ gives the command "Go into all the world," He also gives the promise, "Lo I am with you always." We must not rely on our own strength, or we shall surely fail. God will "perfect His strength" not ours. And we must work, "the love of Christ constraining us." Only as we are filled with His love can we do this work, and expect His blessing. The cry comes from across the sea "come over and help us." Shall that cry remain unanswered?

When Mrs. ROGER had finished, the Hymn
"More love to Thee O Christ" was sung.

Mrs. Wm. REND, of Toronto, who followed, spoke of the encouragement we have in our work. Years ago such an assembly as this today, conducted by women, would have been considered highly improper, and we would have been summoned before the Presbytery. Just fifty years ago, Dr. Duff, on his first return from India, at the request of a few friends invited to meet him, gave an account of his work there, for which he was cited to appear before his brethren, charged with holding a conventicle. After hearing the charges against him, he entered on his defence with such power, that one by one they slunk away till he was left alone with the convener. Public opinion is so far advanced in regard to women speaking as well as working, that I have heard doubts expressed if ladies were qualified for missionaries who could not give an account of their work at a public meeting. Even when worn out with years of seemingly unproductive labour in a most depressing and debilitating climate and surroundings. Of course, such ideas arise from want of thought and forgetfulness of the fact that even in St. Paul's time there were diversities of gifts. The work in different countries was scarcely showing that the fields are white unto the harvest, which is a call to us to work while it is called to-day.

The meeting was then closed with the long metre doxology, and those present who wished to leave did so, many others however remaining to partake of refreshments.

LORD LANSDOWNE IN TORONTO.

An Address Presented to His Excellency by the City—His Lordship's Reply.

The Marquis and Marchioness of Lansdowne visited various places of interest in Toronto on Friday, and in the afternoon His Excellency was presented with an address by the City Council. In reply His Lordship again alluded to the loyalty of the Canadian people. He thanked the Council for their kind reception of Lady Lansdowne and himself; expressed his gratification at the opportunities given him of acquiring a knowledge of this portion of the Queen's dominions, which enabled him to take a part in the administration of its public affairs, and to become acquainted with the men who,
whatever their rank, party, or place of origin, whether they are associated with Federal or with Provincial or with Municipal government, are shaping its future destinies. He complimented Toronto on the variety and multiplicity of her successes, and remarked that he could well understand the pride her citizens took in being inhabitants of such a city. He touched also on the subject of emigration, and asserted that there was absolutely no divergence of opinion on this subject between sound public opinion there and sound public opinion at home.
And said: "Nothing has been further from the thoughts of the Imperial Government or of the private promoters of emigration than the idea of sending to this country persons who are not able to take their places as useful members of society in the land of their adoption. I rejoice that this subject is being treated in somewhat of a critical spirit on this side. The more light we can throw upon it the better, and I think you will find that upon the whole the motives as well as the actions of those who have encouraged emigration will bear the closest scrutiny." His Lordship closed thus: "I am well aware that within the few days at my disposal, even a superficial acquaintance with your city is almost impossible. You will forgive me, however, for saying that though I should be sorry for allowing my own preference for that which is simple and homely to lead me to forget what is due to the Representatives of the Crown, we shall carry away a recollection of your kindness which no amount of ceremonial could enhance in our estimation." The Mayor then requested His Excellency to present the medals awarded by the Royal Humane Society, after which a reception was held, at which the Aldermen and officials, together with a number of the general public, were presented. In the evening the Vice-regal party attended the Royal Canadian Yacht Club ball.

THE "CELTIC" SPOKEN.

Several of Her Passengers Taken off by the "Argo."

LONDON, Jan. 11.—The steamer Argo, from New York, has arrived off the Lizard. She met the steamer Celtic and took off several of her passengers, whom she transferred to a tug bound to Falmouth. The Argo left the Celtic on the 5th inst. 1,250 miles from the Lizard. The rest of the Celtic's passengers were well. Perfectly seaworthy. The Celtic prior to speaking the steamer Argo, experienced variable, but on the whole fairly fine weather. She was perfectly seaworthy and amply supplied with provisions. Her captain was in hopes of being picked up by the Britannia. More of the Celtic's passengers would have gone on board the Argo if the latter would have accommodated them. Four passengers from the Celtic were taken off by the Argo.
They state that at one time the gale was so heavy that the Celtic's sails were blown out of the ropes. All the canvas on board the steamer was utilized. The Bothnia was sighted on Dec. 25; on Christmas eve the Argo could take the two steamers. The Celtic's passengers considered the captain of the Celtic somewhat dilatory in signalling. It was a week before another vessel was signalled. Meanwhile her fresh provisions were nearly gone, but she had salt stores enough for a year. On January 4th the Italian steamer Independence was sighted. The Celtic asked to be reported
"all well" at New York, but declined assistance.
When it was learned that the Argo could take four passengers there was great excitement among the business men on the Celtic whose time was valuable. Lots were drawn for the coveted berths on the Argo. Two of the fortunate four went on board that steamer, and the other two sold their places to the highest bidders.

New York Canal.

Albany, January 10.—The annual report of the Superintendent of Public Works was transmitted to the Senate to-day. The total expense for ordinary repairs, superintendence, etc., of the canals is $540,854 for the fiscal year ended Oct. 1.
There were 209 days of navigation last year.
The total tonnage which passed through the canal was 6,775,630. The grain export from Buffalo during the year through the canal was 45, 350,926 bushels. The superintendent says he was unable to construct a dam at Forestport, for which $25,000 were appropriated, because the appropriation was too small. He asks an additional $20,000. He strongly advocated the protection of the Adirondack forests, and says that the continued cutting away at the forest has made a decrease of the water supply painfully apparent. Should this continue the result on the canals will be disastrous.

What is the Use of Crying?

Now it is not implied that people literally cry, out they would if they could. For instance, you have the most painful cases that mortal eyes can see. Well, you need not have them, for a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor will remove them in a few days without the least pain. This is a much more sensible procedure than making a fuss over them. Therefore use Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, and you will laugh and grow fat.

A PARALYTIC STROKE.—W. H. Howard, of Geneva, N.Y., suffered with palsy and general debility, and spent a small fortune in advertised remedies, without avail, until he tried Burdock Blood Bitters. It purified and revitalized the blood, caused it to circulate freely, and quickly restored him to health.

THE BEST PROOF.—THE GLOBE.—"I sell more
Burdock Blood Bitters than I do any other preparation in Boston."—J. J. Jackson, druggist, Toronto. If the reader will ask any druggist in the city he will get a similar answer to his query—a proof that it is the most popular medicine for the blood, liver and kidneys known.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT.—FRED Spink, Wilton Avenue, Toronto, some time ago received a bad injury by an accident on the G.T.R. The severe contusions were quickly healed by the use of Burdock's Yellow Oil.

PECTORAL PECTORAL PECTORAL! the great remedy for coughs, colds, bronchitis, influenza, hoarseness, and all affections of the lungs and throat or chest. Pectoral loosens the phlegm and breaks up the cough. It cures perfectly. Don't give up until you have tried Pectoral, all druggists and general storekeepers sell it.

THE HIGHEST HONORS have been awarded to
Dr. Van Buren, of Germany, for the permanent relief afforded by his Kidney Cure to all sufferers of Kidney Disease. It is unobtainable produced by the Leading Medical Authorities of Europe that Dr. Van Buren's Kidney Cure will permanently remove all traces of Kidney Disease from the system.

Cannot be Trusted.

The Hamilton Spectator in reference to the recent municipal elections says:—"There is not a doubt that the Reformers work the political clock whenever they can. If they can do so openly they do it. If they are not strong enough to do it openly they pretend to condemn the introduction of the politics, and then furtively introduce politics as far as they deem prudent.
We must have one thing or the other. But it is certain that in these matters Reformers cannot be trusted."

Glass Flooring.

Glass is taking the place of wood for flooring in many Paris shops. At the Credit Lyonnais on the Boulevard des Capucines, the whole of the ground floor is paved with large squares of roughened glass embedded in strong iron frames, and in the cellars beneath there is light enough for the clerks to work by. The central hall of the Comptoir d'Escompte has lately been similarly provided. The prime cost is more than boards, but the glass lasts much longer. The glass is cast in slabs eighteen inches square and one and a half inches thick. The light it transmits is of a bluish tinge.

An End to Bone Scraping.

Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, says:
"Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. Have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctor told me I must have the bone scraped or leg amputated, I used instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and my leg is now sound and well." Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at 25c. per box by Taylors Macdonald.

"Stub" Cough Cure, 35 Cents.

Prescription of a Boston physician, dispensed
years by a Boston Druggist. One dose will cure any ordinary cough. It acts almost magically.
Ask J. D. Tully for a 25 cent bottle of Stub
Cough Cure.

BEWARE of that cough. It may kill you;
cure it at once with Dr. Carson's Pulmonary Cough Drops. It never fails. Large bottles at 50c. For sale everywhere.

FOR A HARMFUL, with pain in the head, bones or through the chest, take Down's Elixir at once, and it will cure you, cover up well in bed.
Our motto is "Cure it, or it will soon be well."

If you are troubled with a "hacking cough,"
Down's Elixir will give you relief at once.
Warranted as recommended, or money refunded. Price 50c. per bottle, and $1.00 per bottle.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, JANUARY 14, 1884.

LOCAL NEWS

Personal.

At a concert held in the Methodist Church, Millbrook, on New Year's night, Messrs. Shaw Porteous and Lech, of Peterborough, took part in the programme.

A Gift.

The Fire Brigade on Saturday received $10 from Mr. T. Bradburn, as a recognition of their services in extinguishing the fire in his house on Aylmer street, which they wish to acknowledge and return thanks for.

The Separate School Board.

A report of the proceedings of the first meeting of the Separate School Board for this year, containing the abstract statement of the receipts and expenditures for the past year, will be published to-morrow.

The Boston Opera Company.

We are glad to learn that arrangements have been made for the Boston Opera Company to give an entertainment here on Saturday, Jan. 26th. It will be remembered that this company appeared here about three years ago, which proved to be very satisfactory.

The Trains.

More snow fell on Sunday, and in the evening and during the night a strong gale threatened to again block up the railways. The weather, however, was milder, and the snow being soft, did not drift so easily. The forenoon train from Toronto was forty minutes late to-day, and the Belleville train two hours late.

A Cow Brewed.

Two cows strayed into a yard near the river on Saturday, and were driven out by the aid of dogs. The cattle ran out on the ice, and one of them broke through into the water and was drowned. The other one got back safely to the shore. The cow that was drowned belonged to Mr. Wm. Drury.

The Ontario and Quebec.

Strenuous efforts were made since the heavy fall of snow to keep the Ontario and Quebec line open, in order to get supplies forward. It has been so difficult and expensive to do so, however, that it has been decided to cease work on the road until the weather is more favorable for construction. There are now between forty and forty-five miles of track to lay, which will take but a short time when the weather is suitable. As soon as the weather will permit the remainder of the line will be constructed with as much despatch as possible.

Acknowledgment.

The committee of the Peterborough Protestant Home acknowledge with thanks the following donations for Dec.—Mr. Flavell, quantity of spare ribs; Mrs. E. E. Henderson, parcel of clothing; Rev. V. Clement, a turkey; Mrs. Mack, a goose; Mr. E. Johnston, a comforter for the bed; Mrs. Foussett, parcel of clothing for baby; Mrs. Robt. Hall, parcel of clothing for baby; Mrs. W. B. Ferguson, parcel of clothing for baby; W. Deacon, bag of potatoes and a quantity of beef; Mrs. Cox, a quilt and ironbedstead; Mrs. Hooper, a bag of parsnips; Mrs. F. W. Haultain, two illuminated text cards, framed; President Curling Club, barrel of flour; collection from Charlotte St. Methodist Church $28.65.

Attempted Highway Robbery.

A bold attempt at highway robbery was made on Friday evening last. A young lady who was going to visit a friend at about eight o'clock met a man on Aylmer street, near the corner of Murray street. A narrow path was trodden down on the sidewalk, and she stepped a little to one side to allow him to pass without stepping into the deep snow. Just as he came up to her, however, instead of passing on, he caught her with one hand and with the other attempted to rifle her pocket. Her cries attracted the notice of a family residing near by, and when the robber saw that assistance was coming he quickly decamped. The young lady says that her assailant was an Italian. She would not be able to recognize him if she saw him again, and it was therefore thought to be useless to inform the police of the occurrence.

Ready-made Mantles only $2.50 at Turnbull's.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

The Pulpit Occupied on Sunday by the New Pastor.

On Sunday the Rev. A. H. Munro, formerly of Montreal, occupied the pulpit of the Baptist Church for the first time since he accepted the unanimous call of the congregation to become the pastor of the church.

At the morning service Mr. Munro chose for his text John xv. 16:—"Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain; that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, He may give you." Paul was on one occasion, he said, lifted up to the third heavens, and, lest he should feel too much exalted an account of what he had seen, he had a thorn in the flesh to make him humble. The disciples must have felt, when they heard these words from Christ, as if they were lifted up to the third heavens. Their union with Christ was like a branch grafted into a tree; the life of the tree permeated through the branch. Christ told the disciples of the power and privileges conferred on them. If He abode in them, and they abode in Him, they could ask what they would and it would be given them. They made practical tests of this union with Christ, and proved its power and tasted its sweetness. Love made Him glad to lay down His life for them. "I have chosen you," Christ said. This was obviously an historical fact. They did not read that the disciples had gone in search of Christ, like the wise men who came from the east. After Jesus had been in the world thirty years, and had been pointed to by John the Baptist, He called the disciples to Him several until the number was complete. He had chosen them, and the same was true of everyone who had found God. Whenever a person sought God, that person was first sought by God. This fact ought to have a very comforting effect on their minds. There were many in this world whom they would like to have for intimate friends, but there were barriers in the way. When there was a disposition on the part of anyone to draw near to God, it was an evidence that God was drawing near them. If they felt like getting lower at the foot of the cross, they would know that their Heavenly Father was drawing nearer. If they felt like praying to God and loving Him, that was God taking hold of their hearts and drawing them to Him. Christ had ordained, or appointed or placed, the disciples. There was a certain course which he wanted them to take. He had the plan mapped out before Him—a chart of their lives. His commission to the disciples was to go to the lost sheep of the house of Israel, but His last was to go to all the world. They found, so far as they were permitted to trace the history of the Apostles, that they had literally followed Christ's directions. God had a plan of the lives of the disciples, and He had a plan of the life of everyone, with which He wanted them to conform. He (the preacher) did not believe in a special providence, but he believed in a universal providence that directed the drop of dew where to fall and how long to remain and that planned the destiny of human lives. Joseph recognized this fact after he was sold into Egypt; Moses heard a voice from Heaven calling him and revealing the plan of his life, and Cyrus was shown his name written in the Divine Word, where the prophet had foretold what he would do. They had no written statement of the plan of their lives, but there was a plan as truly as if they had. In pursuing the study of languages they found that words, now common, had a living meaning with their forefathers. Such was the case with the word avocation, which meant divine calling. The minister and the missionary was certainly called, but the farmer, merchant or mechanic, if in his proper place, was as much called to that place as the missionary. Did not that fact signify human life? But some persons did not thus look on life. They spoke of their religious and their secular life. It was not so in the Scripture: their life was all one there. The preparation for their proper place in life was divinely given was often not what they would select. David had to go through a sad and bitter experience before he was permitted to sit on the throne. God often gave them a similar kind of discipline to prepare them for what he had prepared for them. He caused them to pass through sorrow and affliction because it was necessary to prepare them to do what He wanted them to perform. Design was a proof of the existence of God and that He created the world. Everything on the world was fitted into its place and there was a mighty principle of order prevailing in all, showing that a mighty Intelligence had created the world. Had God a plan for the grain of sand and the leaf on the tree, and not for man? He had a plan for man, whom He loved and cared for; but it was possible for man to violate that law. Everything in nature was compelled to move according to a divine plan, except man, who had freedom. A young man might be filling a respectable position, but he was doing what God wanted him to do? Had he ever gone into his closet and earnestly asked God what He wished him to do? If he was in his wrong place there was a shadow on his life because God intended him for something else. Perhaps there was one in the pulpit, through the promptings of his own feelings, without having submitted himself to God. If so, he was in a wrong place. The words "strive to enter at the straight gate," were addressed to Christ to His disciples—to converted men who were sincerely and honestly following Him. The words meant that there was a course of life marked out for every one, and that they should strive to discover it and keep themselves in it. They should not attempt to forecast the future or to anticipate coming events. They could not follow God's plan by trying to imitate others. No two human lives were exactly alike; they differed as the leaves differed. It was not true that what one could do another would be able to do. All persons had not a memory like Macaulay, who could read over a copy of the Times and then repeat what he had read word for word. First of all, let the heart be submitted to God. They should go to Him in repentance, feeling that they belonged to Him, and say "Here I am, O God! Accept me for Christ's sake." Next, they should have a clear, definite, earnest purpose to yield themselves implicitly to God. This was the principle on which he was acting in coming to Peterborough. A few months ago it seemed improbable that he would be their pastor, but he assured them that he had done nothing but what he believed God wanted him to do. He believed that he had done the will of God in accepting their invitation. He had laid down no plans, and had only general principles to guide him. It was his earnest desire to do all the good he could. He wanted to be friendly with all he would come in contact, and he wanted to feel that he was surrounded by brethren and sisters in Christ. He wished to have a high purpose—to do all the spiritual good that he could accomplish.

This sermon, of which we have given a synopsis, was the first preached by the reverend gentleman in this church as its pastor, and, as he will be a resident of Peterborough, we give it as a sort of introduction of him to our townspeople.

Matthew Arnold.

George William Curtis, in introducing Matthew Arnold to a New York audience, Saturday evening, said:—"Some among you will remember hearing Emerson in old Stuyvesant Hall in New York city more than a quarter of a century ago. He spoke of men and things with lofty serenity, contravening the most accepted judgments with the most perfect confidence and urbanity. The charm of those evenings can never fade. It was after this that Emerson, in my library, selecting a volume of verse from the table, said: 'There is a man whose acquaintance you must make, one who has added imperishable lines to English poetry, a scholar of his native tongue, and a critic of the best schools.' That man was Matthew Arnold, who will speak to you with somewhat of Emerson's own frankness and sincerity."

A Startling Discovery.

Mr. Wm. Johnston, of Huron, Dak., writes that his wife had been troubled with acute Bronchitis for many years, and that all remedies tried gave no permanent relief, until he procured a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds, which had a magical effect, and produced a permanent cure. It is guaranteed to cure all Diseases of Throat, Lungs, or Bronchial Tubes. Trial Bottles Free at Taylor & Macdonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.00.

Salt Rheum Cured.

Are you troubled with Salt Rheum, Rough Skin, Pimples or Canker Sores; if so go at once to John McKee's Drug Store and get a package of McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Price twenty-five cents. It was never known to fail.

HIGHLY AGREEABLE.—One very valuable feature of Dr. Low's Pleasant Worm Syrup is, that it is highly agreeable to take, and all varieties of Worms, tape worms included, can be safely expelled by it, without recourse to harsh and sickening drugs.

DR. CARBON'S Pulmonary Cough Drops. The prescription of an old Canadian Practitioner. The best remedy for the lungs, in large bottles at 50 cents. For sale everywhere.

or
WINTER DRESS GOODS.

Goods well bought are said to be half sold. The march began before ours were fairly on stock, and the march has been kept up since.

We had the best of assortments to begin with, gathered literally both from abroad and at home. The best fabric picked with the eye of an expert—just such goods as sell.

Never have we had a season of greater activity. Never did our prices seem more inviting. Never was there better proof of it either, for with very few exceptions our prices remain unchanged. Yet customers assure us that they are lower than where stocks have been professedly reduced.

Remember our goods are the freshest from the most famous weavers.

Prices, you know is one of our strong points always.

REMNANT SALE

AT THE

Golden Lion.

A REMNANT SALE, TWICE A YEAR, WILL BE ONE OF OUR ESTABLISHED CUSTOMS.

All live, pushing Dry Goods Houses must of necessity find themselves with a large percentage of REMNANTS at the close of each season, which are very valuable to, and eagerly sought after by, House-Keepers and Dry Goods consumers generally. Instead, therefore, of keeping these Remnants on our shelves, and carrying them over from season to season, we intend turning over all our "left over" Goods into CASH, and propose offering them to our customers, twice a year, AT PRICES FAR BELOW their Regular Market value.

OUR FIRST JANUARY SALE
—OF REMNANTS—

Is now going on, previous to Stock Taking, and we strongly advise all interested, by all means, to come and secure some of the CHEAP LINES before they are all sold. We have a Great Variety, including:

REMNANTS in Dress Goods,
REMNANTS in Cashmeres,
REMNANTS in Merinoes,
REMNANTS in Silks and Satins
REMNANTS in Velveteens,
REMNANTS in Tweeds,
REMNANTS in Ulsterings,

REMNANTS in Flannels,
REMNANTS in Towellings,
REMNANTS in Table Linens,
REMNANTS in Sheetings,
REMNANTS in Crettones,
REMNANTS in Prints,
REMNANTS in Hemp Carpets.

REMNANTS

In other lines too numerous to mention—in fact Remnants in everything you need in the Dry Goods line. To those who wish to secure GRAND VALUES, this is good news.

This Sale will Last the Whole Month, but you should Come and Secure Bargains now.

BOTHWELL.

In the Bothwell election case the judgment of the court is that Mr. Mills was duly elected and he has been given costs against Mr. Hawkins. The petition against the returning officer, Mr. Stephens, was dismissed with costs to be paid by the petitioner. It thus appears that all the foul abuse of that gentleman by the Reformers was undeserved. It is to be regretted when a candidate who is not duly elected holds the seat for a time, but in this instance it is Mr. Mills who is to blame for refusing to have a recount by the County Judge, which would have given him his rights. Mr. Mills is a much needed acquisition to the opposition.

FALSE WITNESSES.

SOME Reform journal are pretending that Conservatives are blaming those who detected a wrong in connection with the West Middlesex election and have no censure for those found guilty of bribery. So far Weeks has neither been found guilty of handling bribery funds nor of perjury, and it will be quite time enough to blame him when he is. At present the evidence against him is that of one Rowland, who swore that he had himself lied repeatedly in the matter, and of one Bewick, who also swore to his having himself committed perjury in an affidavit as to the circumstances. On the evidence of such men it would be rash to hang a dog, and for the same reason we cannot conclude that Mr. Ross, M.P.P., and Mr. Cameron, M.P., were parties, as is alleged, to the conspiracy. There must be better evidence against them than this.

A TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE.

A Young Lady Overcome by the Cold—Four Men who had Their Feet Frozen.

The severe weather has not been without its effects. Many cases of frost bites have occurred, and ears and fingers have felt the grip of Jack Frost. But few have met with an experience such as befell Miss Gifford, a daughter of Mr. Wm. Gifford, of Ennismore, one night last week. Miss Gifford had been in town and got a ride with a neighbour to within about a mile of her home. Her feet were cold when she started to walk that distance, but she would not doubt have reached home all right had the road been in a better condition. But the snow was deep and walking was very difficult. Before she succeeded in reaching her home her limbs refused to perform their task any longer, and she sank in the snow, overcome by the cold and exhaustion. She cried for assistance, and, happily, her cries were heard and aid arrived. A neighbour came to her rescue and dug her out of the snow. Her feet, however, were badly frozen, and it is yet doubtful whether they will have to be amputated or not.

"Have you met with many severe cases of this nature this winter?" queried a reporter while conversing with a surgeon on the above case.

"Yes," he replied, "four men had their feet severely frozen on the same day as Miss Gifford nearly perished."

These men were working on the Ontario and Quebec Railway, and on that day they were out on the track, about fourteen miles from town, shovelling snow. Four of the number had their feet severely frozen, but it is hoped that amputation will not be necessary. They board at Mr. C. Fells', near the Queen's Hotel.

THE DELAYED "CELTIC."

New the Passenger Occupied the Time for Four Weeks—Statement of a Passenger.

One of the storage passengers named Malone said:—"All went well until Sunday evening the day after leaving New York. I was playing euchre with some friends, when suddenly we felt a slight shock, but it was not enough to cause us to cease playing. It soon transpired that the steamer's main shaft was broken near the engine room. The steamer was then about thirty hours from New York. No panic occurred, but some of the passengers were greatly excited. We tossed about for several days, going in a southerly direction, although efforts were made to turn the ship towards New York. Finally it was decided to pursue our course toward England. In the first nine hours afterward the ship made 88 miles. The weather continued fine until Christmas day. On that day the storage passengers received unusually good fare. The doctor conducted divine service for the Protestants and a lady officiated for the Catholics. A concert was given on Christmas night. Every night we had some amusement. Nothing noteworthy occurred until we spoke the Argosy. A great clamour arose when it became known that four passengers could be taken aboard the Argosy, and the lucky fellows were eviled. As much as £40 was offered for the privilege of a berth, but the offer was refused. During the last two weeks we got salted provisions, but no vegetables. Liquor was not obtainable for four days before we met the Britannic."

PATENT COMBINATION READERS.

It appears that the arrangements for a patent combination system of school readers has been doctored up by Mr. Ross, that it was accepted yesterday by the publishers, and shortly the ring-struck and specked publications will be launched upon an unoffending public.

The advantages of the new plan will be several. In the first place, the Province will pay for the expenditure on books already sanctioned and printed; that will be one advantage—to the publishers.

Then the publishers among them will sell as many books as before, but they will not be compelled to send out canvassers, or to cut prices in consequence of competition; and that will be another advantage—to the publishers.

Each publisher will have a monopoly of the books assigned to him, and may make them as poorly or as cheaply as any bond of good fellowship between himself and Mr. Ross will permit. The Minister has heretofore broken the law for a money consideration; and it frequently happens in this world that what has been done once will be done again.

The advantages to the public—but we forget: when arrangements are made between the Minister of Education and wealthy bookellers who control vast journals, there are no advantages to the public.

What should be done in the matter of school books is this: A competent authority should have books prepared of each description required in the schools. The Education Department should then ask for tenders for the making of these books in the largest numbers and economy will permit. They should be delivered to the Education Department, and by the Department sold to trustees, teachers, dealers, or the general public at an advance on cost price just sufficient to cover the expense of handling.

But that system would leave no opportunities for exaggerated profits to publishers, nor for "refutations" to officials closely united in friendship's bonds to the publishers.

It is unnecessary to say that the Minister of Education will not listen to any proposition so practical and simple as that indicated.

For the present, the children of Ontario will have their black-and-tan composite readers furnished them under the law of unnatural selection; and the profits of the publishers will depend upon the same law under its other name—the survival of the fittest.—Hamilton Spectator.

ENNISMORE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

LOW TEMPERATURE.—At sunrise this morning the thermometer stood at 23° below zero.

BELLEVILLE.

UGLY WOUNDS.—Thomas Poole, driver of the Bridgewater stage, was kicked on the face by a horse on Saturday evening and his nose broken, and other injuries of a serious character inflicted.

KINGSTON.

A TEDIIOUS JOURNEY.—A farmer named Buckley was nearly two days coming from Buck lake to get his pension. He did not arrive till two o'clock in the afternoon, and therefore too late to get his money. He says he had to use a shovel in many instances to dig out his horses.

A MUCH-DELAYED TRAIN.—The Kingston and Pembroke train which left Harrowsmith on Tuesday night only arrived here late on Friday night, having been fighting the snow all the time. Farmers along the line brought food in baskets to the passengers. The coal in the two wrecked engines lying beside the track was taken out, and thus a supply of fuel was kept up.

REPORTED FATEFUL CURSE.—Rev. Mr. Mavey, presiding Methodist Episcopal elder of this district, tells of a woman near Gananoque who was afflicted with a palated arm which baffled the skill of physicians. Finally she knelt and prayed for two hours, the result being that at the end of that time she felt a change come over her arm and heard a voice saying, "Raise your arm." She attempted to respond, and was completely cured.

THE SOUDAN REVOLT.

CAIRO, Jan. 14.—A Khartoum despatch says the people on both sides of the Blue Nile have declared for El Mahdi. All communication with Senneat has been stopped, and the steamers sent to convey troops and despatches there have returned. Thirty thousand rebels hold Halfa on the line of the telegraph along the White Nile.

CHINA READY FOR WAR.

VIENNA, Jan. 14.—It is reported the members of the imperial family of China have offered a portion of their private fortunes to assist in the war against France.

ATTACKS ON FRENCH POSITIONS.

HONG KONG, Jan. 13.—Pirates attacked Nam Dinh on all sides on the night of the 1st and 2nd. A large number were killed and wounded, and many houses burned. On the 4th inst. Batang was attacked, but the enemy were compelled to return with many killed and wounded. Tudou, formerly king of Annam, is reorganizing the insurgents. It is reported that the Chinese army is descending from Kwang Si to occupy Bacninh.

PREPARING TO ATTACK BACNINH.

PARIS, Jan. 14.—The French advance forces have already left Haidong for the purpose of joining the main body of the French troops from Hanoi on their crossing the Red River. There are indications of a speedy advance on Bacninh. The French hold a strong strategic position for the assault. The Chinese troops at Bacninh number ten thousand and are splendidly armed.

THE DEMONSTRATION IN PARIS.

PARIS, Jan. 14.—There were many more arrests than first stated in connection with the demonstration at the departure of the Comte de Paris for Madrid. The charge against the prisoners is likely to eventuate in a serious indictment. It will be perilous for the Comte to return unless he has support from high quarters in France.

THE MURDER OF SUDEIKIN.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 14.—It is stated that Col. Sudeikin, who was murdered by the Nihilists, defrayed the expenses of the journey abroad of Jablonsky's wife, and it is believed Jablonsky has left the country. The latter informed the Nihilist executive that the killing of Sudeikin was imperative. A reward of 5,000 roubles has been offered for the arrest of Jablonsky.

IRREDENTISTS ARRESTED.

TRIESTE, Jan. 14.—Tomasi, a school-master, and six of his pupils have been arrested charged with irredentist intrigues.

ARRIVAL OF THE CELTIC.

QUEENSBURG, Jan. 14.—The Celtic, in tow of the Britannic, has arrived. All on board are in good health. The Celtic suffered no damage other than the breaking of her shaft. She has proceeded in tow of the Britannic to Liverpool. The Britannic has in sight of the Celtic on Saturday at six o'clock in the morning. Her appearance was heartily cheered by the passengers on the Celtic, from which vessel a boat was sent off to the Britannic with the chief steward to procure a supply of whiskey and brandy, which had run short, during the voyage. The Celtic's light line, with which a hawser was drawn on board, and the Britannic at eight o'clock began towing the long missing steamer to port.

THE PEACE SOCIETY.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—The Earl of Shaftesbury has accepted the Presidency of the International Arbitration Peace Society.

WRECK OF A CHINESE STEAMER.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 13.—The steamer Hwai Yen, from Shanghai for Hong Kong, has been wrecked on He Shan Island. Five natives were saved, but nothing is known of the rest of the crew, consisting of six Europeans and 198 natives.

Fatal Accident.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Jan. 14.—The news of a fatal accident having occurred to Mr. John P. C. Burpee on the Boston and Albany Railroad at Boston this morning created a profound impression here. Mr. Burpee left home on Tuesday last for New York, and was returning home when the accident occurred. Deceased was a brother of the Hon. Laas Burpee, and was associated with him in business for many years. He retired from business some years ago with an ample fortune. He was about 45 years old, and leaves a wife and four children.

The Belleville Catastrophe.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 12.—The coroner's jury holding an inquest on the victims of the Belleville Convent fire returned a verdict that the fire department did all that could be done under the circumstances; that the use of dynamite about the second story of such buildings be condemned; that there should be a legislative enactment on the subject; that the blame must rest upon the management of the institution for not taking the precaution which the size and location of the building and number of inmates required.

A Saw Mill Burned.

CHATHAM, Jan. 14.—A fire broke out about six o'clock this evening in the saw mill belonging to the Chatham Manufacturing Company. A strong wind was blowing, and the flames spread rapidly, completely destroying the mill. The mill had been idle for nearly two months and no fire had been on the premises. The firemen were very promptly on hand, and by their exertions the ship plank saw mill and gang-way were saved. Origin of the fire unknown. Loss about $15,000, insurance $6,000.

OLD BARONS AND NEW.

Josquin Miller, objects to the acceptance of a peerage by Tennyson, on the ground that
"the old barons were brutes, blood-thirsty savages." If we have read history right the "old barons" at a place called Rannymede, laid one of the foundation stones upon which are based the liberties of the United States as well as of the British Dominions, besides rendering other similar services to our race. Remembering this it is not so incongruous that the poet who eloquently and truthfully described our country as one—

Where freedom broadens slowly down
From precedent to precedent should himself become a baron.

PROTECTING THE ADIRONDACKS.

The movement in favor of the protection of the Adirondack forests in the State of New York seems to be progressing vigorously. Mr.
J. C. Parsons writes to the Brooklyn Eagle entering fully into the advantages of perpetuating these forests as regards climate, the insurance of a water supply for the Erie canal, and the value of the revenue to be derived from the timber, &c. As to the question of purchasing lands in addition to those held by the State
he says:—

"But why should the lands not be made in time to repay the cost of purchase. Settling aside other considerations, in respect to the general welfare of the State? If immense fortunes have been made in the lumber business why cannot the State, by establishing the same system in connection with the forests as in Europe and Canada, derive an annual revenue from the judicious thinning out of the timber."

We fully agree with the writer as to the proprietor and the economy of the course he suggests, and willingly accept his testimony in favor of such a system. We must, however, express our regret that the situation is not so favorable in Canada as he imagines. In Europe the Government forests are perpetual and yield a constant annual revenue without impairing the national property. In Canada though there are annual receipts from the Crown forests they are not in the nature of a yearly income from capital, but are obtained by the suicidal policy of "killing the goose that lays the golden eggs."
Our forests are being destroyed, not cropped as in the European system.

TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION.

The Toronto Globe has the following editorial
note:—

"The Peterborough REVIEW wants a deputation sent to the Minister of Railways in Ottawa to urge him to push forward the Trent Valley navigation scheme. Better wait until just before the next general election."

We have as the Globe well knows persistently advocated the opening of the Trent Valley Navigation, and have done so for years whether a general election was at hand or not. We have done our share towards inducing the Minister of Canals to visit the route and see for himself its advantages, and towards leading him and his colleagues to place large sums in the estimates for surveys and construction, which was also done whether elections were at hand or not.

The Globe has two motives for its dirty little insinuation. In the first place it wishes to place honest journalists on its own low level which makes it dishonestly regard public questions not as they affect the public good, but only as they may be turned to party advantage. In the second place it delights in one of its usual flings at the Trent Valley Navigation, to which it is always hostile, because this route will be of great advantage to the district through which it passes, will be of valuable assistance to our Northwest settlers in getting their produce economically to market, and will be of service to our seaports by taking freight to them, but it has no direct connection with Toronto and therefore must be thwarted by the Globe, however beneficial it may be to other portions of the Dominion.

Herr Laesser's Death.

A Berlin despatch says the Liberals are indignant at the officials of the Lower House of the Prussian Diet for ruling that no motion expressing regret at the death of Herr Laesser could be made, as he had ceased to belong to that House before leaving Germany. The friends of the deceased contrast this action with the conduct of the House of Representatives at Washington.

RAILWAY BRIDGE AT QUEBEC.

A Canadian Winter Port for the C. P. R. I and a Feeder for the Intercolonial.

Mr. A. L. Light, Member Inst. C. E., England, Member of American Association of Civil Engineers and Chief Engineer, of Government Railways, P. Q. is advocating the construction of a railway bridge over the St. Lawrence, at Quebec, for he says that the scheme, if carried out, would (in his opinion) produce the following beneficial results, and first:—

The city of Quebec would become a large grain shipping port, the terminus of two great lines in summer and would be on the line of business with uninterrupted railway communication to and from all parts of the Continent, instead of being, as it is to-day, a "cold sea."
The city would also benefit by being the terminus of the Intercolonial and Quebec Central Railways.

Secondly—The Grand Trunk would acquire for its present South shore line all the advantages of a through line from the West for Quebec freight, and the use of the magnificent docks, now being completed by the Quebec Harbour Commission.

Thirdly—The Intercolonial would become a far more valuable property, because it would acquire its terminus in the city of Quebec, and direct connection with two Western lines.

Fourthly—The Canadian Pacific, by means of its above-mentioned extension to Quebec, would acquire an additional summer port,
also direct communication with the Intercolonial, and the choice of the Canadian winter ports of Halifax, St. John, or St.
Andrew's.

Fifthly—The people of the Maritime Provinces would receive a large compensation for their share of expenditure on the Canadian Pacific Railway; while, in conclusion, I venture to say that every patriotic man in Canada would rejoice at the attainment of an unbroken railway communication over a national highway from Halifax to the Pacific Ocean, effected by such a route as will do the "greatest good to the greatest number."

The N. P. a Success.

The Brockville Times, replying to a Grit journal which had made the statement that "The protectionists are not now so bold and defiant as formerly," truthfully says that there is no ground for such an assertion, and cites the following case to prove that the National Policy has proved a success: "A friend of the writer's who wishes to put in a furnace for the purpose of heating his house, went to Buffalo to the manufacturer of a certain excellent furnace to see for what he could secure it. Finding the price pretty steep, he determined to see what he could do in Hamilton, Gurney having secured the right of manufacturing the same furnaces in Canada. On interviewing Mr.
Gurney he found that he could purchase the same size of furnace $45 cheaper in Canada than he could in Buffalo, thus furnishing another proof that the increased duty is not a tax.
This difference in price was exclusive of duty,
thus showing a difference in favor of the consumer in Canada of $45 over his neighbor in the United States. Such instances are frequent and furnish excellent ground for protectionists being 'bold and defiant as formerly.' And they are."—Hamilton Spectator.

When Doctors Differ.

A case interesting to the medical profession and the general public was heard in the assize court before Justice Rose and a jury. Dr.
Lennox, representing the Ontario Lung and Throat Institute, Church street, brought action against Dr. McCammon, of Kingston, for slandering him at a meeting of the Council of the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons in Toronto last fall, it is alleged that Dr.
McCammon made use of slanderous words concerning this and other institutions.
The suit rested on points of law. For the plaintiff, Dalton McCarthy, Q. C., with whom was associated Mr. Neville, argued that the occasion was not a privileged one, and that it was not necessary to prove malice. Christopher Robinson, Q. C., moved for a non-suit, but the court ruled to the contrary, holding that an innuendo had been expressed by defendant, but leaving it to the jury to draw the inference.
Counsel on both sides then held a consultation, and on the strength of his lordship's decision agreed to a verdict being entered for defendant, subject to argument on the points of law raised.
The case of Dr. Lennox against Dr. Bray, of St. Thomas, will be governed by the above.

The C. P. R. Labourers.

Over 100 C. P. R. labourers have lately returned to Montreal, and some of the most respectable among them relate tales of hardship, stating that on landing at Thunder Bay they were told that the boat would arrive and give them work in a week or two. The steamer that brought them having left the men determined to walk to Prince Arthur's Landing.
This they did, their food, consisting of scraps begged from camps on the line of march. Some forty men started to walk from Owen Sound to Toronto. Their trunks and other baggage belonging to them were left behind, and they abandoned them. Some tried to get work in the woods, but the most of them made the best of their way home on foot. One young man, Alphonse Cole, of Quebec, arrived here three weeks ago with his feet so badly frozen that he has been in the hospital ever since. Mr. F.
Vannasse, member for Yamaska, intends to ask for a parliamentary enquiry into the matter, and to bring in a bill protecting labourers under such circumstances.

Henry George's Land Policy.

Henry George has opened a crusade of consecration. His first lecture has raised him with the Liberal party. The Fall Mill Gazette denounces his policy of nationalization without compensation as no better than picking pockets, and the Liberal Club at Liverpool have convicted the invitation to a dinner given before the speech was delivered. Irish National papers revive Mr. Parnell's criticism of the nationalization project, and declare in the teeth of Michael Davitt that Henry George is unworthy of association with any patriotic Irishman.

Mysterious Accident.

BARRIE, Jan. 12.—A young man named A.
Wilson, working on the farm of O. F. Wright, Minnesing, was sent out yesterday to the bush to draw wood. Not returning at the usual time a search was made, when the team was found standing in the tongue of the sleigh against a stump, and Wilson's neck under one of the runners. From the position it was found death must have been instantaneous. Considerable mystery attaches to the affair.

Gilbert and Sullivan's New Play.

"Princess Ida" is a great success at the Savoy, the music especially being excellent, and creating great hopes of Sir Arthur Sullivan's grand opera, which is now in hand. The composer himself is better.

PORT HOPE.

RESISTING ARREST.—Constable Rankin, according to the Guide met with rough treatment on Friday evening. He arrested a man named Donohoe who was fighting in a billiard room and when he got into the street the prisoner made a desperate resistance, striking the constable and struggling fiercely. The constable fell, and, a crowd having gathered, he called for assistance, but instead of aid it is said that he was given blows and kicks. At the Police Court Donohoe was committed for trial on a charge of assaulting the constable and resisting arrest and fined $10 for fighting. Wm. Fethick was arraigned on a charge of not rendering assistance to the constable when called upon to do so, and was allowed to go on bail. Several others will be called upon to answer to the same charge.

The Middlemisch Murder.

Another important link has been discovered in the chain of circumstantial evidence that surrounds the prisoners now awaiting trial in the goal at London upon the charge of being implicated in the murder of Grant Stiles at Middle-misch a short time since. Information had been received that two marks, answering to the description of those worn by the murderers have been found upon the roadside near Iona by the son of a farmer residing in that vicinity, and it is claimed that there are marks upon the marks through which it may be possible to identify the owners.

An End to Bone Scraping.

Edward Stephenson, of Harbourside, says:
"Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. Have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctor told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated.
I used instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Bucher's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well." Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle, and Bucher's Arnica Salve at 25c per box by Taylor, Mac-Donald.

THE BEST PROOF.—THE GLOBE.—"I sell more
Burdock Blood Bitters than I do any other preparation in stock," says H. Jackson, druggist Toronto. If your will ask any druggist, in the city he will get a similar answer to his
query—a proof that it is the most popular medicine for the blood, liver and kidneys known.

THE HIGHEST HONORS have been awarded to
Dr. Van Buren, of Germany, for the permanent relief afforded by his Kidney Cure to all sufferers of Kidney Disease. It is unhesitatingly pronounced by the Leading Medical Authorities of Europe that Dr. Van Buren's Kidney Cure will permanently remove all trace of Kidney Disease from the system.

YES SIR.—One can't expect to succeed in business or in pleasure either, for that matter, unless one feels all right in health and spirits.
This is the first consideration. Now, a small matter when this remedy, ZO-RE-KA, is recommended so highly, even guaranteed to renew one's energy, invigorate the system, clear the liver and assist digestion, by clearing the Brain, opening the pores of the skin, regulating the bowels and system, to go to the drug store of J. D. Tully and get a sample bottle of Zopozan as a trial. It is a duty every one owes to himself. Try a bottle then.

VERY DESIRABLE

TOWN PROPERTY

The undersigned offers for sale his Dwelling House and Lot being subdivisions of Lots Nos. 8 and 9, west of George street, and situated on the corner of Aymer and Dublin streets, in the town of Peterborough.
The House is one story and a half high, 34x36, with large kitchen, large parlour, and a large hall. There is on the premises very convenient wood sheds, stable and other outbuildings. Pure water is conveyed through iron pipes into the house from a never failing spring on the property, and there is also a good well of water and a large cistern.
The lot is subdivided into eight parcels, suitable for building purposes, and will be sold on lease or in part to suit purchasers.
Also a half acre lot on Chamberlain Street.
The property may be viewed at any time, and plans may be seen and other information obtained at the law office of Mr. George Edmonson, or at the office of Mr. G. W. Ranney, C.E., or from the proprietor on the premises.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, JANUARY 15, 1884.

LOCAL NEWS

The Town Council.
The last meeting of the old Town Council will be held in the Council Chamber at 7.30 o'clock to-morrow evening.

The Temperature.
The spirit last night in the Rev. V. Clement's thermometer fell to 23° below zero. At 11 o'clock this morning it registered 8° below.

The Cells.
Three persons unwillingly and one tramp willingly, lodged in the police cells last night. The prisoners appeared in the court this morning.

Piano Tuning.
Mr. Geo. J. Gumprecht, tuner for Messrs. Mason & Rish, Toronto, is in town. Orders left at Mr. T. Menzies' book store or at Messrs. Taylor & MacDonald's Drug Store will be attended to.

The Poultry Exhibition.
A meeting of the Directors of the Midland Central Poultry Association was held on Monday evening, and committees were appointed for the work in connection with the exhibition to be held in the Old Music Hall, Peterborough, on Jan. 29th, 30th and 31st.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—North-easterly to northerly winds, cloudy to fair very cold weather, with snow in the southern portion.

Mechanics' Institute Classes.
The directors of the Mechanics' Institute have made arrangements for the following classes this season:—Mechanical drawing, teacher Mr. W. H. Trout; shorthand, teacher Mr. C. H. Clement; and book-keeping, teacher Mr. H. Kay, Coleman. Those who wish to join these classes should give their names to the librarian or the respective teachers and should do so at once as the classes will be organized and commence work as soon as possible.

A Debitum Case.
The Mail says that the case of the Bank of Toronto, v. the Cobourg, Peterborough, and Morrisburg Railway and Mining Company, was tried on Saturday at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, before Chancellor Boyd. The action is brought by the bank to foreclose certain debentures given as collateral security for five notes amounting in all to about $65,000. The defense is that the Bank of Toronto have no right to the bonds, Col. Chambliss, the managing director, having no authority to transfer them under the by-laws of the company.

His Mistake.
The Toronto Mail of this morning contains the following paragraph:—

"Nobody will blame Geo. Jones for leaving Peterborough and it is even less probable that he will be blamed for coming to Toronto. Where Jones made a mistake was in getting drunk and into bad company on Saturday night last. According to his story his companions of the evening referred to him into a lane off Pearl street where they robbed him of all his money, he had in his possession a sum amounting to forty-five dollars. This treatment partially sobered Mr. Jones, and finding himself penniless he applied to a police station for a night's lodging. He was accommodated, and yesterday morning he appeared at the Police Court with a charge of vagrancy against him. He warmly denied that he was a vagrant, and told the story above related. He was allowed to return to Peterborough."

We do not know whether Mr. Jones was ever in Peterborough, but as he had plenty of money in his pocket it is probable that he was. Whether any other person will blame him for leaving here we know not, but he will probably censure himself most severely for leaving a town where he had accumulated wealth and where he could earn more, and going to a city where some worthless, impoverished citizens pounced upon him and relieved him of his wallet to temporarily rescue themselves from the troubles which they owed to their lazy habits and consequent idleness. Yes, Geo. Jones will blame himself for going to Toronto. That was his mistake.

SEPARATE SCHOOL BOARD.

Mr. John McGrath Elected Chairman—Other Officers Appointed—Financial Statement.
The inaugural meeting of the Separate School Board was held at the Murray Street School on Friday evening, the 11th of January, at eight o'clock.

PRESENT.—Messrs. Cahill, Halpin, J. McGrath, T. B. McGrath, Carveth, Quinlan and Garvey and the Secretary.
The chair was taken by the Secretary, Mr. John Corkery, who stated that the recently elected members, Messrs. Halpin, T. B. McGrath, Quinlan and Garvey, had filed the necessary declarations of office and were consequently entitled to seats at the Board.
The first business for the new Board was the selection of a Chairman to conduct the proceedings of the Board for the year 1884.

THE CHAIRMAN ELECTED.
On motion Mr. John McGrath was elected chairman.

Mr. McGrath, upon taking the chair, thanked the members for the honor of the Chairmanship and stated that he would do what he could to deserve it.

FOR SECRETARY-TREASURER.
Mr. John Corkery was, upon motion re-elected to the same position, for which he returned thanks.

FOR LOCAL SUPERINTENDENT.
The Rev. Father Conway was re-appointed to the position. The Reverend gentleman, who was present, in company with His Lordship the Bishop, thanked the members for the appointment and stated that it was his intention to pay a weekly visit to the several schools, and he would endeavour to have a good attendance of the pupils.

FOR AUDITORS.
Mr. Garvey was appointed as a member of the Board, and Mr. John O'Meara for supporters in general.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT.
The abstract and detailed statements of receipts and expenditures for the year ending Dec. 31st, last, was received and placed on file.

The abstract statement is as follows:—

The auditors for the past year, Messrs. Dolan and O'Meara, having examined the statement and compared it with the vouchers, reported finding the same correct.

COLLECTION OF TAXES.
It was resolved that the taxes for the current year should be collected in the town and the adjoining municipalities by the several municipal officials.

WOOD SUPPLIES.
Messrs. Halpin and Quinlan were appointed a committee to procure a supply of wood for the use of the schools.

The Board then adjourned to meet on the first Thursday of February, at 8 o'clock p.m.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.

TUESDAY, Jan. 15.—Richard Goff was charged by P. C. Adams with having been drunk and disorderly on Monday night. "I guess I was drunk, sir," said he, "but it was the first time in my life." He was fined $2, but when he stated that $1.75 was the full sum of the amount in his exchequer, the fine was lowered to those figures.

John Barrie was called upon to answer to a similar charge preferred against him by P. C. Adams. He acknowledged that he was drunk, but did not think that he was disorderly. The evidence of the constable was taken, who stated that Barrie was swearing and acting in a disorderly manner. "I don't understand how it is," remarked the Magistrate, "that when men get drunk they always swear. We never hear of them praying then." Barrie was fined $2 and paid it.

PROFANE LANGUAGE.

John Thornton was charged by P. C. Pidgeon with having made use of profane language in a public place. He pleaded guilty and was fined $2, which he paid.

Railway Notes.

The actual cost of the Ontario and Quebec bridge across the Ottawa, without the iron work, was $32,252.50.

The Cobourg Hospital.

At the curling bonspiel at Cobourg to-day, Port Hope was drawn against Oshawa and Cobourg against Lindsay, Peterborough to stand by and tackle the winning club. Cobourg defeated Lindsay, but nothing more was known here of the result of the playing up to the time we went to press.

Wm. Dew & Co's

A Startling Discovery.

Mr. Wm. Johnston, of Huron, Dak., writes that his wife had been troubled with acute Bronchitis for many years, and that all remedies tried gave no permanent relief. He procured a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds, which had a magical effect, and produced a permanent cure. It is guaranteed to cure all Diseases of Throat, Lungs, or Bronchial Tubes. Trial Bottles Free at Taylor & MacDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.00.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy.

A marvelous cure for Catarrh, Diphtheria, Canker Mouth, and Headache. With each bottle there is an ingenious nasal injector for the more successful treatment of these complaints, without extra charge. Price 50c. Sold by J. D. Tully.

DR. CARSON'S Pulmonary Cough Drops. The prescription of an old Canadian Practitioner. The best remedy for the lungs, in large bottles at 50 cents. For sale everywhere.

THE MARCH

WINTER DRESS GOODS.

Goods well bought are said to be half sold. The march began before ours were fairly on stock, and the march has been kept up since.

We had the best of assortments to begin with, gathered literally both from abroad and at home. The best fabrics picked with the eye of an expert—just such goods as sell.

Never have we had a season of greater activity. Never did our prices seem more inviting. Never was there better proof of it either, for with very few exceptions our prices remain unchanged. Yet customers assure us that they are lower than where stocks have been previously reduced.

Remember our goods are the freshest from the most famous weavers.

Prices, you know is one of our strong points always.

Secure the Luxury of WARM FEET in the Coldest Weather.

A PAIR OF WILSONIA MAGNETIC INSOLES

Worn in the Shoes will POSITIVELY PREVENT COLD FEET. Price only 50c.

A WISE PHYSICIAN, many years ago, gave this sound advice: "Keep your head cool and your feet warm." How can you keep your head cool if your feet are cold? It is impossible. Those persons who are troubled with this condition of the feet, have a feeble circulation. The magnetic currents imparted by a pair of Wilsonia insoles will quicken the circulation, and in a very short time the feet will become warm.

LADIES will find these insoles a source of great comfort. The soles are thin—only half the thickness of ordinary soles, and will easily fit the shoe ordinarily worn. Wilsonia insoles have been sold in New York, Brooklyn and throughout the United States for three years. Many persons have declared that they were worth $10.00. The insoles will also relieve and cure Rheumatism and other pains in the feet and ankles.

WE WILL send a pamphlet, giving fuller particulars regarding other appliances for the cure of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Kidney Disease, Varicose Veins, &c., &c., to any address. Ask your druggist for a Headache Band, (worn inside of sweatband of hat). Price, 50c. Mothers should get a Teething Necktie for the baby. It will soothe the irritation of the nerves caused by teething, and prevent convulsions, &c. Absolutely safe. Price 50c. W. A. MAGURN, General Agent, 77 King Street, West Toronto, Ont. 6412

AT THE Golden Lion.

A REMnant SALE, TWICE A YEAR, WILL BE ONE OF OUR ESTABLISHED CUSTOMS.

All live, pushing Dry Goods Houses must of necessity find themselves with a large percentage of REMnants at the close of each season, which are very valuable to, and eagerly sought after by, House-Keepers and Dry Goods consumers generally. Instead, therefore, of keeping these Remnants on our shelves, and carrying them over from season to season, we intend turning over all our "left over" Goods into CASH, and propose offering them to our customers, twice a year, AT PRICES FAR BELOW their Regular Market value.

OUR FIRST JANUARY SALE OF REMnants

Is now going on, previous to Stock Taking, and we strongly advise all interested, by all means, to come and secure some of the CHEAP LINES before they are all sold. We have a Great Variety, including:

- | | |
|------------------------------|---------------------------|
| REMNANTS in Dress Goods, | REMNANTS in Flannels, |
| REMNANTS in Cashmeres, | REMNANTS in Towellings, |
| REMNANTS in Merinoes, | REMNANTS in Table Linens, |

EVERY CUSTOMER is well aware of the fact that when GIROUX & SULLIVAN advertise a Cheap Sale, they do as they advertise, and during the next thirty days, they offer BIG BARGAINS in every department, for the goods must be sold, and will be sold, at LOW PRICES will do it.

Very Encouraging.

Although we make no profit in our cheap sale, by selling goods at what they cost, we make NEW CUSTOMERS and it is very encouraging, indeed, to see every customer satisfied.

There is Nothing like Honest Dealing.

Ladies tell us there are so many cheap sales advertised, it is difficult for them to know which is a REAL CHEAP SALE, and which is puffing. We are satisfied that after the success of our present cheap sale, Ladies have the advantage to judge for themselves, and this sale we advertise now they will know whatever we advertise is the truth.

ANOTHER RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

Passenger Train Set on Fire—Several Persons Burned—Others Fatally Injured.

BRADFORD, Pa., Jan. 15.—The engineer of a through train between Wallsville, New York and Bradford on the Erie narrow gauge system, when rounding a curve two miles east of here at 9.45 a. m. discovered a quantity of oil on the track. He reversed his engine, but too late, and the engine and boiler were burned. It dashed into the oil, which was fresh, and gassy sparks from the fire box ignited the oil. The flames instantaneously enveloped the train, which dashed down the grade at the rate of 45 miles an hour. There were about forty passengers aboard, who became panic-stricken and jumped from the doors and windows into the snow, which was three feet deep. Near the door the doomed victims crowded, blocking the passage way. At a curve about half a mile from where the flames seized the train the engine and train were derailed. Three women were burned to death, and several men were burned and wounded. The engineer and fireman jumped. The former was badly burned on the face and hands, and will probably die. He made himself a hero by standing by his engine in the face of sure death. The wounded are being taken care of by President Carter and Superintendent Williams, who have a full corps of physicians and attendants. They are being brought to Bradford and lodged in hotels. The passenger coach is totally burned. The baggage-master and express messenger jumped and escaped with few injuries. The arms and limbs of the victims were burned off. Many of the wounded are in a critical condition and four or five will die before night. The burning train as it dashed down the mountain, was an appalling sight.

An Important Judgment.

A case in which the prerogative of the Government was concerned was decided at Montreal on Tuesday, by Mr. Justice Mathieu, and as the judgment is alleged to be contrary to all precedent it is exciting considerable comment in legal circles. The following are the facts of the case:—Some years ago the late Mr. Henry Judah purchased from the Dominion Government the old post-office building on St. James street. The purchase price was $100,000, which was paid with the exception of some $19,000, was left in abeyance, inasmuch as Mr. Judah claimed that he had a counter account against the Government for his fees as one of the Beignioral commissioners dating back from 1874, and which remained unpaid. The Government refusing to acknowledge this claim. Action was instituted by Messrs. Davidson & Cross on behalf of the Minister of Justice. Counsel on behalf of Mr. Judah pleaded the compensation above alluded to, which was met by an answer in law to the effect that compensation could not be claimed against the Crown. Mr. Justice Mathieu, however, rendered a carefully prepared judgment on this important issue, holding that in the present case the compensation claimed did not affect the Royal prerogative and that when the Crown acted as an ordinary subject in buying and selling compensation should be set up. The Government, through Mr. Davidson, Q. C., will appeal the case to the Privy Council.

Suicide of a Young Lady.

A young and handsome girl named Miss Cecilia Durocher, daughter of a wealthy man at Montreal, deliberately took three doses of rat poison which she had previously purchased in a druggist's establishment on Saturday, and notwithstanding every effort to save her life by medical attendance died on Sunday. From a letter found in her trunk and addressed to a young clerk in a country town it is evident she premeditated the terrible act of self-destruction because a quarrel had occurred between them and she found she could not live without him. An inquest has been opened, and it is expected further developments will come out. The poison was taken in her aunt's house, where deceased was on a visit. She seemed lively and cheerful up to the end. This last was her second attempt to close her unhappy career.

Pimples and Blotches.

Call at John McKee's Drug Store and get a package of McGregor & Farke's Carbolic Cream. It is composed of Vaseline, Carbolic Acid and Glycerine, and has never failed to remove Pimples, Blotches, Ulcerated Sores, Rough Skin. It cures when all others fail. Try it.

Cabinet Council.

A Cabinet Council was held on Tuesday afternoon in connection with the coming session of Parliament. M. P.'s and Senators are arriving at Ottawa rapidly.

The Estimates.

A Cabinet Council, lasting from half-past one to six o'clock, was held on Monday. It is understood that the estimates for the next fiscal year were under consideration.

The Address.

The address will be moved in the Commons by Mr. McMaster, of Glenora, and seconded by Mr. Bellen, member for Levis. In the Senate it is likely that Mr. Leacock will move and Mr. McKindley will second the address.

Discovery of Coal Oil.

The presence of coal oil has been found on a farm belonging to Mr. Barnard, in the province of Quebec, and some capitalists here who believe in it turning out well have purchased the owner out for $15,000, and will commence operations at once.

Killed in the Woods.

On Friday afternoon, Jan. 11th, two young men in the employ of Mr. Little, lumberman on the St. Maurice, were felling a tree in the woods. A large branch, falling, struck one of the young men and killed him instantly. The deceased, Edward Young, belonged to Three Rivers.

A Duel Over a Fourteen-Year-Old Girl.

SAINT PAUL, Jan. 14.—During a riot among Italian labourers last evening one was killed, one fatally wounded, and several injured. Two of the contestants were rivals for the hand of a 14-year-old girl, and one had challenged the other to fight a duel. The parties and their friends met and a general fight resulted.

Deputation in re Crocker.

OTTAWA, Jan. 15.—A deputation from St. John's waited upon Sir L. Tilley this forenoon in relation to the duty on crockery. A Montreal firm has in the meantime taken action against the Government in relation to the meaning and interpretation of the tariff, about which there seems to be some misunderstanding in regard to crockery. It was about this matter the deputation interviewed Sir Leonard. He promised to attend to the complaint and have the same rectified.

The Unemployed of Paris.

A meeting of four thousand unemployed persons, including several women, was held in the Salle Levee. Violent speeches were delivered favoring an armed revolution as the only means of ending the stagnation in trade. The delegates present from the Workingmen's Association adopted a more moderate tone, expressing the belief that an appeal to the Chamber would mitigate the crisis. A proposal that the workingmen go to the Palais Bourbon en masse on Monday was rejected.

Overseers of Railway Men.

PORTLAND, Jan. 12.—Several hundred discharged railroad men boarded a passenger train yesterday near Pendleton and demanded to be taken to Portland free. The officials refused, and called on the sheriff to remove the crowd from the train. The train was on an Indian reservation, and State authorities were powerless. The crowd then took possession of the train and defied the officials. Gen. Miles was telegraphed to and ordered two companies to the scene. The troops arrived last evening, but the rioters refused to yield. Three hundred men came from Pendleton to assist the rioters. The laborers were discharged in the beginning of the week, and spent their wages in whiskey and riotous living. They are now holding a meeting. The citizens are now doing their best to provide for them, as they are destitute. Five more discharged men are expected to arrive on Sunday. No serious disturbance is anticipated.

Snowdrifts.

Following is the snowdrift programme for the Montreal winter carnival:—

The Importation of American Pork into France.

PARIS, Jan. 14.—The Royalist journal, the Clairion, today devotes to the American hog a spirited leader of three columns. It declares that at the present moment the American hog is of greater importance to the great masses of the French people than the revision of the Constitution. Frenchmen every year eat 40 million francs' worth of American pork, for which they pay the moderate price of sixty centimes per kilogramme. The Clairion refers to the reports of Dr. Brouardel and Grancher, who were sent by the Minister of Commerce to investigate the trickery in American hog meat have been proved to exist in Germany for ten years. He was asked by the French Chamber of Deputies to give his opinion of the necessity of the prohibition. His answer will be based on the above statement. He will publish a pamphlet embodying his views within ten days.

It is reported that the collapse of railway stock on the New York Stock Exchange with the threatened railway war affects the Glasgow market, which is heavily involved.

A MURDERER HANGED.

DUBLIN, Jan. 15.—Peter Wade was hanged in Dublin this morning for the murder of Quinn at Rathfriland. There was a small crowd outside the gall, but no disturbance occurred.

AN IMPORTANT MOVEMENT.

CAIRO, Jan. 15.—Reports both from Tripoli and Constantinople state that Sheikh Shenuel is about to march with a large force toward the Sudan in the hope of being able to join El-Mahdi. Shenuel's great influence in North Africa and also among the tribes along the coast and on the borders of the Syrian desert invests this movement with considerable importance.

ALFONSO'S VISIT TO GERMANY.

MADRID, Jan. 15.—In the Spanish Chamber of Deputies to-day Senor Castelar condemned King Alfonso's visit to Germany, declaring it inopportune and imprudent. When alliances were concluded, he said, they should be with England, Western powers and the United States. He declared that if a majority of the cortes opposed the projected reforms it would be at the risk of a revolution and reaction. The Marquis de Aranjuez, the late Minister of Foreign Affairs, said the King's visit to Germany had no political significance. The visit was not animated by hostility to France.

MR. LOWELL.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 15.—The military tribunal has sentenced a number of public officials to terms of from eight to fifteen months' imprisonment for malversation in office.

ACTIVITY AT WOOLWICH ARSENAL.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—The display of energy at Woolwich arsenal, and the arrival there of immense stores, such as are required by an army on the march, have given rise to the belief that the English Cabinet will soon decide to despatch reinforcements to the army in Egypt. A mountain battery, pack saddles, and harness for camels were shipped to Egypt to-day.

PLOT AGAINST TWO EMPERORS.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 15.—It is stated that officials at St. Petersburg have obtained a letter which was found in the lodgings of a Nihilist in London who had been closely communicating with Irish mal-contentes. The letter, it is believed, advised a simultaneous attack upon the Emperor William and the Czar.

THE HISPANO-AMERICAN TREATY.

ABYSSINIA TRANQUIL.

SCARIS, Jan. 15.—Abyssinia is tranquil. The insecurity of the border is owing to the presence of robbers with whom Egyptian officers are in collusion. Baker Pasha has dismissed Mukter Pasha from the Governorship of Mansovrah, and appointed Mr. Mason, an American, who has had great experience in the Sudan. Numerous sheikhs with their followers arrive here daily, and declare their fidelity to the Khedive. Baker Pasha declares the situation far more hopeful than he expected to find it.

What 10 Cents Will Do?

A 10 cent bottle of Fowler's Nerveine will cure neuralgia or headache. A 10 cent bottle of Nerveine will cure toothache or faceache. RAILWAY DIRECTORS AND ELECTIONS.

An account of its great interest both general and local, we give in another column the arguments of counsel before the Court of Appeal in the petition against the return of Mr. Ferris for East Northumberland, took place on Monday before the court, consisting of Chief Justice Spragg and Justices of Appeal Burton, Patterson and Osler.

Mr. H. CAMERON, Q. C., for the appellant, opened the argument. He stated that the point in dispute had been already argued at some length in the South Victoria case, but the facts here differed somewhat from those in that case. These tickets were given to O'Leary to convey voters. They were not obtained by Mr. McIntyre himself, but by an agent for him.

In this case Mr. Ferris is a director of the Midland Railway, and he obtained railway passes from Mr. Cox, the president, for the conveyance of voters. He contended it was an abuse of the power of the president and director of the company, and these officers, Mr. Cox and Mr. Ferris, would be liable to the company for the value of the passes, as they used them for their own purposes. The company was chartered to convey passengers for hire, and these men had used it for their own purposes to save them expense, which was an abuse of the trust reposed in them, and would render them liable for breach of trust. He contended that the Legislature had intended to prevent that form of bribery, which saved a man expense in voting. They intended each voter to pay his own expenses to the polls.

Mr. Justice OSLER.—What is your distinction between the use of a private carriage and the giving of railway passes?

Mr. CAMERON.—The Legislature has prohibited the payment of railway fares, but it has not aimed at preventing the use of a private carriage. Actual payment is not necessary to constitute a corrupt act. The Legislature never intended that, for suppose a man purchased a ticket and waited for payment until after trial of the petition; surely such an evasion of the Act would not be permitted. The travelling expenses of the voter are in every sense just as much paid as though actual payment had taken place. The express purpose of the Act was to save the influence over a voter which could be exercised by payment of his expenses. As to the use of a private carriage, giving tickets are now as close that it was not probably thought necessary to provide against giving men a ride for a short distance, but where the giving of the ride was a saving of expense to the voter, then it had the effect of exerting an influence over him, and was within the mischief intended to be remedied by the Act. The evidence showed the passes to have been misused, and if so then clearly Mr. Ferris is liable to the company for the price of the fares saved, and his actions were clearly corrupt, as being a saving of money to the voter within the spirit of the Act. He then, in answer to a question from the Chief Justice, told the story of how a clause in an English Electoral Act prohibiting the hiring of teams had been suddenly repealed, whereupon one of the members telegraphed his brother to hire every carriage in his constituency, which cost him £200.

He cited several cases in support of his views.

Mr. BETHUNE followed on behalf of Mr. Ferris. Both the judges agreed that Mr. Ferris acted bona fide and without intent to corrupt a voter, so that the question was considerably simplified, being left whether or not the Act had been violated. The statute points at the giving of something to the voter; the hiring of teams would be a fearful source of a good cover for bribery. A man was paid five dollars ostensibly for his team, but really for his vote, and the Legislature therefore abolished the practice. The judges without dissent held that a livery stable keeper can place his vehicles at the disposal of a candidate, because there is neither a promise nor a bribe involved. He held that an exception to Mr. Cameron's view that Mr. Ferris was liable to the company for the price of the passes. He did not think authority could be found for such a case, and he cited several cases against that contention. Mr. Ferris did not pay for the passes or promise to pay for them and therefore he is not liable. When the Legislature prohibited the payment of fares, it meant the payment for a ticket at the ticket office. It did not aim at the case of a pass at all. Suppose the agent or candidate bid a man on a train and helped him to steal a ride, that would be evading payment, and would not be within the letter of the law. There was no difference between the volunteering of a railway train and a private carriage, and the latter is of course a legal act. His chief argument, he said, was that this alleged corrupt act did not come within the words of the statute and the words could not be extended to meet it. The simple question was, was this a payment?

Mr. JOHNSON followed on the same side. He pointed out the evidence bearing upon the question already advanced, and concluded with an able review of the state of the election law for a century back as amended and re-amended, in order to support his contention as to the true construction of the Act.

Mr. CAMERON in reply said his opponents took it for granted that the passes were given with no corrupt purpose. He thought on the contrary that the giving of the pass to Bell was done for the express purpose of securing his vote, and therefore was a corrupt practice. He concluded by saying that he intended to renew his motion to admit further evidence before the judge, and he wanted it understood that it was not abandoned.

The court reserved judgment to be given at a future day.—Mail.

There is also the obvious injustice of a man being thus allowed to purchase his way into Parliament, not even at his own cost, but at that of the shareholders, whose property he is supposed to administer for their benefit, but which he thus uses for his own private advantage—he may thus even use their property to defeat their wishes.

There is also the more weighty consideration, as a question of public policy, that such a practice, if held to be legitimate and not forbidden, would give a very dangerous power into the hands of the railway companies. If pushed to the extreme to which it might be carried if held objectionable, it would be almost in vain for a private gentleman to contend against a railway director with such odds in his favor, and so the railways would obtain a control over the legislature which they could not prudently be allowed.

The expected decision as to what is the present state of the law is therefore of the utmost importance.

FOREST DESTRUCTION.
Its Consequences in Southern Europe—A Warning to Canada.

The following is taken from Mr. Sinclair Tounsey's travels in Southern Europe:—

Much of France, nearly all of Spain, and large portions of Italy are entirely destitute of forests. The tourist can travel day after day in these countries without seeing standing timber enough to make a decent sized beam. The people in these sections are bothered to get the very little fuel they need, depending upon the trimmings of shade and fruit trees and vines for what they get; while the damage done to the country by heavy rains is beyond estimate, especially in the hilly regions, where the rain, falling on the ground, finding no trees with their wide-spreading roots to check its passage off the surface, makes with tremendous force into the valleys carrying all before it.

So destructive are these torrents, and so suddenly do they come down the river bed, that in many places heavy stone walls are erected to keep the sweeping floods within bounds. Within a few hours after one of these torrents have swept down a valley, the bed of the river will be as dry as if water had never wet it. Another evil is the scarcity of small running streams for the use of cattle and for manufacturing purposes.

The unbroken rain, finding nothing in its way, hastily passes from the surface and gets into the sea; whereas, if the land was sprinkled with forests, much of it would be absorbed by the ground, and by gradual percolation find its way to the streams and keep them alive to aid the work of man and give drink to animals.

I earnestly implore the owners of forests in our favored land to be careful of the trees and waste none. We can leave our successors no better legacy.

The Freedom of the City of Liverpool.
The Liverpool branch of the National League has passed a resolution in favour of conferring the freedom of the city upon Michael Davitt and Messrs. Gray and Dawson, members of Parliament. The presentation will be made the occasion of an extensive demonstration and a banquet will be given in honour of the gentlemen.

THE EAST NORTHUMBERLAND CASE.

Argument of Counsel Before the Court of Appeal as to Railway Passes.

The argument of the appeal in the petition against the return of Mr. Ferris for East Northumberland, took place on Monday before the court, consisting of Chief Justice Spragg and Justices of Appeal Burton, Patterson and Osler.

The tourist can travel day after day in these countries without seeing standing timber enough to make a decent sized beam. The people in these sections are bothered to get the very little fuel they need, depending upon the trimmings of shade and fruit trees and vines for what they get; while the damage done to the country by heavy rains is beyond estimate, especially in the hilly regions, where the rain, falling on the ground, finding no trees with their wide-spreading roots to check its passage off the surface, makes with tremendous force into the valleys carrying all before it.

So destructive are these torrents, and so suddenly do they come down the river bed, that in many places heavy stone walls are erected to keep the sweeping floods within bounds. Within a few hours after one of these torrents have swept down a valley, the bed of the river will be as dry as if water had never wet it. Another evil is the scarcity of small running streams for the use of cattle and for manufacturing purposes.

The unbroken rain, finding nothing in its way, hastily passes from the surface and gets into the sea; whereas, if the land was sprinkled with forests, much of it would be absorbed by the ground, and by gradual percolation find its way to the streams and keep them alive to aid the work of man and give drink to animals.

I earnestly implore the owners of forests in our favored land to be careful of the trees and waste none. We can leave our successors no better legacy.

The Freedom of the City of Liverpool.
The Liverpool branch of the National League has passed a resolution in favour of conferring the freedom of the city upon Michael Davitt and Messrs. Gray and Dawson, members of Parliament. The presentation will be made the occasion of an extensive demonstration and a banquet will be given in honour of the gentlemen.

THE DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—“D's” theory,” says “Adolescence,” is incompatible with the facts,” that is, results of explosion in Edward Greep's house.

If “Adolescence” had fairly considered the matter he would see that the theory I suggested exactly fits the facts. Listen, “Adolescence.” The windows in Green's house which were broken were in a recess formed by three brick walls and open towards the scene of the explosion. The air forced back by the blow from the newly generated gas was driven into that recess and having no escape except by the window it forced the glass in. The wave of air which struck the windows not in the recess but near the scene of the explosion did not break them, because the house was so far off that without the increased effect given to the air wave by compressing it into the recess, the force was not sufficient to break the windows inward by the first blow from the air, nor to break them outward by the back action of the air in its movement towards the vacuum.

To “W.” I may explain that he nearly “hit the nail on the head,” but erred in saying the vacuum was caused by the sudden contraction of the gas. And he wants to know why the gas should be so very much more rare than air. I cannot explain the why, but I assert the fact. The Encyclopedia Britannica defines “explosion” as “the sudden and extremely rapid expansion of a solid or liquid body of small bulk into gas or vapour, occupying very many times the volume of the original substance, and, in addition, highly expanded by the heat generated during the transformation.” Again, “the amount of force exerted by an explosion depends upon (1) the volume of gas or vapour compared with that of the original substance”; and (2) the temperature of the explosion, which determines the extent to which it is expanded. We need not be told that even air or steam are expanded just in proportion as they are heated—that gases are subject to the same law—and that most gases are lighter than air even in their normal state, and certainly the gas resulting from dynamite explosion, being infinitely heated, is so much lighter than air that there was from the instant it occupied space a partial vacuum in that space in size equal to the volume of gas—and the moment the physical action of the gas in assuming position was over, the displaced air asserted itself, and falling back into its place caused the return wave of air which drew the glass after it in Mr. Lundy's house. Yours, etc., D.

Belmont's Body Discovered.

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 14.—Charles Belmont's body was found in the Orange Mountain woods this morning. Two boys hunting rabbits found the body under a tree in the woods on the mountain side below Gen. McClellan's residence. It is supposed he inhumanly wandered there and perished during the storm of last Tuesday night. There are no marks of violence; he died from exposure. Nothing is missing from the body. The identification is complete. He had apparently been dead several days when found, and was partly covered with sand and water flowing over it. His watch had stopped at seventeen minutes to six. The face was slightly bloated, but otherwise unchanged. It is thought after leaving the elevated railroad train he went at once to Pennsylvania railroad ferry, where he boarded the first train for Newark. After wandering about in the night, he was going, and when the car arrived at the terminus of the road he walked in a dazed condition along Northfield road and wandered off into the woods. The night was intensely dark, the temperature being about 10° below zero. Benumbed by cold, he probably lay down to sleep and was frozen to death.

Severe Accident.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 14.—John Irwin, son of David Irwin, contractor, met with a very serious accident to-day while attending to placing stones into their proper place to form a wall on Clifton avenue, where that street has been lowered some seven feet to allow teams to pass underneath the Canada Southern bridge. In climbing the approach to their Cantilever bridge. On account of the severe frosty weather one of the guys of a derrick broke, and both mast and boom came down with a crash, the boom striking young Irwin on the head, inflicting a severe wound, knocking him down, and the mast falling across his left leg, breaking the bone in two between the knee and the hip. He will recover.

The French Press on Egypt.

The French press this week is very severe on the proposed policy of the English Government in abandoning the Sudan. The Journal des Debats maintains that England should not only her own interests but those of civilization. The district, it says, was rescued from barbarism by the late Khedive, and the germs of civilization introduced into the country. All this English abandon at the dictates of her own interests.

An End to Bone Scratching.

Edward Shepherd, of Harrogate, says: “Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. I have had a running sore on my leg for six weeks, and it was so bad that I could not have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bismuth and Acheso. My leg is now sound and well.” Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle, and Bismuth and Acheso at 25c. per box by Taylor & MacDonald.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 16, 1884.

LOCAL NEWS.

The Temperature.
The temperature last night as shown by the Rev. V. Clement's thermometer was 11° below zero.

Council Meeting.
The Town Council for the year 1883 will hold their final meeting in the Council Chamber at 7.30 o'clock this evening.

The Story of the Earth.
Arrangements have been made for Mr. Knight giving his "Story of the Earth" on Friday evening, Feb. 1st, in St. Andrew's Schoolroom.

The Ontario and Quebec Bridge.
The cost of the Ontario and Quebec Railway bridge across the Ottawa should have been read $38,252.50, instead of $32,252.50, as printed in our issue of Tuesday.

A New Departure.
A meeting will be held in the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association on Friday evening to organize a boy's branch in connection with the Association. Boys between the ages of 12 and 18 will be admitted and welcomed.

Piano Tuning.
Mr. Geo. J. Gumprecht, tuner for Messrs. Mason & Riech, Toronto, is in town. Orders left at Mr. T. Menzies' book store or at Messrs. Taylor & MacDonald's Drug Store will be attended to.

Telegraph Extension.
From a return submitted to the directors of the Montreal Telegraph Company by Mr. H. F. Dwight, the general manager of the Great North-Western, we learn that fourteen miles have been added to the line for the Midland, and eighty-five to the line on the Grand Junction.

Waterworks.
The following paragraph is from the Brockville Recorder:—
"On Saturday last the Guelph waterworks commissioners paid into the city Treasurer $3,500, being the receipts for the year over all current expenses. Had the ratepayers of Brockville consented to have the works here built by the town, they too might have been a source of revenue to ourselves instead of to an outsider."

In the North-West.
The Emerson International gives an account of the annual entertainment of the C.M. Sunday School of that town, at which Mr. H. B. Maharry, formerly of this town, presided as superintendent of the school. In the programme of the entertainment, which the International describes as reflecting great credit upon the teachers and officers of the school, occur the names of Bertie Maharry for a speech, and Lettie Maharry for a recitation, "A Bit of a Sermon."

Errata.
Typographical errors gave a rather amusing aspect to parts of the financial statement of the Separate School Board, published yesterday. By the way it read, one would think that the Board, the town and the county had been doing a large business in "boxes" of some kind—Christmas boxes, or boxes for the care of the children, perhaps. However, if the reader will substitute "taxes" for "boxes," and thus correct the typographical error, the statement will appear more intelligible.

Kaleckerbackers Aho!
The members of the A. C. A., who learned from experience that good fellows and staunch canoeists the Kaleckerbackers are, will be glad to see the following report of their annual meeting from the N. Y. Sun of Jan. 11th:—
"The annual meeting of the Kaleckerbacker Canoe Club was held last night at 5 Union Square, Commodore Lowenthal in the chair. Arthur Brentano was elected Commodore for 1884, James L. Greenleaf for Vice-Commodore, Edwin Fowler for Secretary, and R. P. Martin for Treasurer. Mr. C. G. Y. King, editor of the American Occident, and Mr. Edwin Gould, son of Jay Gould, were admitted to membership, making in all a membership of thirty-five. A new club house is to be erected on the Hudson River, near the foot of 88th street."

THE HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Reception of the Annual Report—The Election of Officers.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Horticultural Society was held in the Bank of Toronto building on Monday evening. Mr. J. H. Roper, President of the Society, occupied the chair.

THE ANNUAL REPORT.
Mr. J. I. Davidson, Secretary, read the annual report of the Directors, which was adopted. The report was as follows:—

To the members of the Peterborough Horticultural Society:—
GENTLEMEN.—The Directors beg to submit the following report:—
The past season was on the whole favorable for horticulture, and we had every prospect of having a very large and successful exhibition, but, unfortunately, a sharp frost occurred a short time before the day appointed for our annual show, and great damage was done to plants, flowers, fruit and vegetables, thus materially lessening the number of our exhibits. The exhibition was held on Thursday, the 13th day of September last, and notwithstanding the havoc the frost had made among the gardens, we had a very fair show, in the above classes, and in some instances the exhibits were above the average merit.

The number of entries was 260, being a slight falling off from the previous year, which is easily accounted for when we consider the quantities of garden products the frost had destroyed.

Your Directors desiring to make the exhibition as attractive as possible, arrangements were made to have music in the evening, which added greatly to the success of the exhibition. The amount of $184.35 was paid in prizes by the Treasurer on orders granted by the President and Secretary.

The Society's position as regards the number of members on the roll ($2), and the balance of cash in the Treasurer's hands, as shown by the report (being $136.15), the Directors are glad to report satisfactory.

At the last meeting of the Directors a committee was appointed to confer with the Committee of the County Council and also to require the operation of the Town Council, in reference to the beautifying of the Court House Park. This matter will doubtless be taken into consideration and dealt with by the gentlemen composing the new Board of Directors.

In conclusion, the Directors desire to express to the members their satisfaction with the position and prospects of the Society, and trust that the members and general public will take a continued interest in its purpose and aims for future advancement.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
J. H. ROPER, President.
J. IRVINE DAVIDSON, Secretary.

Peterborough, Jan. 10, 1884.
THE TREASURER'S REPORT.
The report of the Treasurer, Mr. F. J. Lewis, was submitted, and after being audited, was adopted. The following is the report:—

To J. H. Roper, President Peterborough Horticultural Society:—
DEAR SIR,—Below please find the usual statement of my account as Treasurer of your society for the year ending Jan. 10th, 1884, showing a balance in favour of the Society of $136.15, which amount is at the credit of the Society in the savings department of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, as per accompanying pass book and vouchers.

Faithfully yours,
F. J. LEWIS, Treasurer.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The officers and Directors of the past year were all re-elected, as follows:—
PRESIDENT—J. H. Roper.
VICE-PRESIDENT—Jas. Stevenson.
SECRETARY—J. Irvine Davidson.
TREASURER—F. J. Lewis.
DIRECTORS—Dr. Geo. Barnham, Wm. Mills, G. M. Roger, J. R. Stratton, and James Best.
AUDITORS—A. St. A. Smith, and C. H. Good.
SERVICES BROOKWICK.

The usual grant to the Secretary was unanimously voted for the services he had rendered during the past year.

VOTE OF THANKS.
After passing a vote of thanks to the officers and directors of the past year, for the efficient manner in which they had conducted the business of the Society, the meeting adjourned.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Winds mostly west and south; fine weather; higher temperatures.

The Cobourg Example.

By telephone we learn that Peterborough was defeated by the Cobourg Club by five shots. We sincerely hope that, in the event of any subsequent matches, our Club will come out victorious.

Educational Frauds.

Frauds in connection with educational examinations produce painful impressions. Their occurrence in recent years has unfortunately been far from rare. At the same time it has to be remembered that the great majority of those engaged in the teaching profession are of unblemished reputation. There is not the slightest reason why the teachers of Ontario should be viewed with suspicion. The sad exposures made from time to time have led some to the conclusion that, admirable as our educational system is, there are defects connected with it calling for remedy. The system, however, is not alone responsible for these irregularities that occasionally come to the surface with startling effect. The eager struggle in the race of life makes many competitors reckless of moral considerations. This utter disregard of common honesty in compelling success in examinations is one of the saddest things in the history of education in Ontario. The evidence adduced last week at the investigation held in Harris reveals an unblushing system of fraud of the worst description. The lads who stole and trafficked in examination papers no doubt aspired to professional life. With their present ideas it is only too evident that they could not become legal rogues or disreputable physicians. In public life the chicanery and scheming are utterly out of proportion to the population of the country. We need more, not less, honest and straightforwardness in our national life.—Canada Presbyterian.

Bald Robbery.

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 14.—On Saturday last some person entered by the front door the dwelling house of Mr. George Dawson, contractor, Church street, and stole seven twenty-dollar gold pieces, $80 in bills on the Quebec Bank, and about $500 worth of jewellery. The thief made his exit from a rear window of the second floor, gaining easy access to the ground from the roof of a shed. There was $1,000 in a drawer immediately below that from which the gold pieces were taken, and which the thief missed.

What is the Use of Crying?
Now it is not only the people who literally cry, but they would if they could. For instance, you have the most painful corns that mortal ever suffered from. Well, you need not have them, for a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, or will remove them in a few days without the least pain. This is a much more sensible procedure than making a fuss over them. Therefore use Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, and you will laugh and grow fat.

A Stairing Discovery.
Mr. Wm. Johnston, of Huron, Dak., writes that his wife had been troubled with acute Bronchitis for many years, and that all remedies tried gave no permanent relief, until he procured a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds, which had a magical effect, and produced a permanent cure. It is guaranteed to cure all Diseases of Throat, Lungs, or Bronchial Tubes. Trial Bottles Free at Taylor & MacDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.00.

Whitish's Catarrh Remedy.
A marvellous cure for Catarrh, Diphtheria, Sore Throat, and Headache. With each bottle there is an ingenious nasal injector for the more successful treatment of these complaints, without extra charge. Price 50c. Sold by J. D. Tully.
JOHN H. WEBB, Hamilton, says: "McGregor's Speedy Cure for Dyspepsia and Indigestion is cheap fifty times the price asked for it. I am a commercial man, and travel continually, and would no more think of leaving home without a bottle of McGregor's Speedy Cure in my valise than I would of leaving my team at home and going on foot." Free trial bottles at John McKea's Drug Store. Regular size fifty cents and one dollar.

DR. CARSON'S Pulmonary Cough Drops. The prescription of an old Canadian Practitioner. The best remedy for the lungs, in large bottles at 50 cents. For sale everywhere.

A PAIR OF WILSONIA MAGNETIC INSOLES.

WORN IN THE SHOES WILL POSITIVELY Prevent Cold Feet.

A WISE PHYSICIAN, many years ago, gave this sound advice: "Keep your head cool and your feet warm." How can you keep your head cool if your feet are cold? It is impossible. Those persons who are troubled with this condition of the feet, have a feeble circulation. The magnetic currents imparted by a pair of Wilsonia Insoles quickly restore the circulation, and in a very short time the feet will become warm.

LADIES will find these insoles a source of great comfort. The soles are thin—only half the thickness of cork soles, and will easily fit the shoe ordinarily worn. Wilsonia Insoles have been sold in New York, Brooklyn and throughout the United States for three years. Many persons have declared that they were worth $10.00. The insoles will also relieve and cure Rheumatism and other pains in the feet and ankles. WE WILL send a pamphlet giving particular regarding other appliances for the cure of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Kidney Disease, Varicose Veins, &c., &c. to any address. Ask your druggist for a Handkerchief Band, (worn inside of sweatband of hat). Price, 50c. Mothers should get a Teething Necklace for the baby. It will soothe the irritation of the nerves caused by teething, and prevent convulsions, &c. Absolutely safe. Price 50c. W. A. MAGURN, General Agent, 77 King Street, West Toronto, Ont. 6413

RIZONA.

RIZONA is a delicious preparation of rice, manufactured by the Mount Royal Milling and Manufacturing Co., of Montreal, put up in handsome one-pound packets. It is much more delicate, more nutritious, and best of all cheaper than corn starch. Each packet contains full receipts for making Friedings, Cakes, Black Mango, &c. Ask your grocer for a packet.

THE MARCH or WINTER DRESS GOODS.

Goods well bought are said to be half sold. The march began before ours were fairly on Stock, and the march has been kept up since.

We had the best of assortments to begin with, gathered literally both from abroad and at home. The best fabrics picked with the eye of an expert—just such goods as sell.

Never have we had a season of greater activity. Never did our prices seem more inviting. Never was there better proof of it either, for with very few exceptions our prices—remain unchanged. Yet customers assure us that they are lower than where stocks have been professedly reduced.

Remember our goods are the freshest from the most famous weavers.

Prices, you know is one of our strong points always.

SWEEPING REMNANT SALE. AT THE Golden Lion.

A REMNANT SALE, TWICE A YEAR, WILL BE ONE OF OUR ESTABLISHED CUSTOMS.

All live, pushing Dry Goods Houses must of necessity find themselves with a large percentage of REMNANTS at the close of each season, which are very valuable to, and eagerly sought after by, House-Keepers and Dry Goods consumers generally. Instead, therefore, of keeping these Remnants on our shelves, and carrying them over from season to season, we intend turning over all our "left over" Goods into CASH, and propose offering them to our customers, twice a year, AT PRICES FAR BELOW their Regular Market value.

OUR FIRST JANUARY SALE OF REMNANTS

Is now going on, previous to Stock Taking, and we strongly advise all interested, by all means, to come and secure some of the CHEAP LINES before they are all sold. We have a Great Variety, including:

REMNANTS in Dress Goods,
REMNANTS in Cashmeres,
REMNANTS in Merinoes,

CLOSING OUT SALE

Before Taking Stock, at

GIROUX & SULLIVAN'S.

EVERY CUSTOMER is well aware of the fact that when GIROUX & SULLIVAN advertise a Cheap Sale, they do as they advertise, and during the next thirty days, they offer BIG BARGAINS in every department, for the goods must be sold, and will be sold, at LOW PRICES will do it.

Very Encouraging.

Although we make no profit in our cheap sale, by selling goods at what they cost, we make NEW CUSTOMERS and it is very encouraging, indeed, to see every customer satisfied.

There is Nothing like Honest Dealing.

Ladies tell us there are so many cheap sales advertised, it is difficult for them to know which is a REAL "HEAP SALE," and which is puffing. We are satisfied that after the success of our present cheap sale, Ladies have the advantage to judge for themselves, and this sale we advertise now they will know whatever we advertise is the truth.

For Thirty Days.

This stocking sale will continue for thirty days, and BIG BARGAINS will be given in every department.

WORK FOR OUR COUNCIL.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—There is, we are told "A tide in the affairs of men (and I believe of corporations also) which if taken at the flood, leads on to fortune."

Our town is just now at that desirable point where fortune is smiling on it and its prospects were never brighter for a great and glorious future. Now while all things are progressing in and around our town in the way of grand city business establishments and palatial residences, our little old dingy market house, erected I don't know when, and I think there are not many of the present generation who do, still remains. No doubt it served its day and generation well, but it should be one of the things of the past. Still, however, it rears its bold head in one of the most important situations in our beautiful town and in such a conspicuous place that travellers entering our town from the station may behold it in all its grandeur. Well may they ask in astonishment:—"Is this your Town Hall and market building?" But aside from this it is a well known fact that the room above the meat market is altogether too small to accommodate the numbers that come here to buy and sell on market days. Now we should have such a building for market purposes and for all the municipal offices, embracing also a large Hall for public gatherings, that our town would feel proud of it. Certainly there is no room for such a building on the present market ground, but on that piece of property on which stands the Drill Shed known as the old burying ground, there is the grandest site for such an edifice inside of our corporation.
Let it be faced on George street, with no other buildings on the block to mar its beauty; to the rear of this would be the open market for the sale of all kinds of produce. Now, I think, this all can be done without incurring much of a debt. I believe I could dispose of all needful town property; the present market block unoccupied might be sold, as well as the old Bank of Toronto buildings, &c., the proceeds to be applied towards our new buildings. But some may say "we want that old burying ground sold and the money thus obtained to be applied towards purchasing grounds for a public park."
I would say right here that we have at present the foundation for one of the grandest parks in Canada, viz.: the islands in the river just east of the present market buildings. These islands could be raised by deepening the channels and by throwing up the material all around the edges of the islands in time of low water in the summer. Let our Council dispose of all needful town property; the present market block

of Toronto buildings, &c., the proceeds to be applied towards our new buildings. But some

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE

BY LORD LANDOWNE, OUR NEW GOV-ERNOR-GENERAL.

Various Matters of Public Importance Referred to and Earnest Consideration of Them Invited.

By Telegraph to the Review.

OTTAWA, Jan. 17.

This afternoon at three o'clock His Excellency Lord Landowne, Governor-General, came down in state to the Senate Chamber and opened the second session of the fifth Parliament of Canada with the following speech from the throne:—

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate:

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

In fulfilment of the important trust committed to me by Her Majesty, I have recourse for the first time to your advice and assistance. It is a source of the deepest personal satisfaction to me that I should have been called by Her Majesty to an office in which, as her representative, I am enabled to take part in the public affairs of this Dominion, and associate myself with you in the performance of the honorable duties which you are about to approach.

I rejoice to learn that although the last harvest has been less productive than its predecessor, and although there are indications that the rapid expansion of your commerce has to some extent been followed by over-trading, the general condition of the Dominion is such as to justify me in congratulating you upon its prosperity.

The marked success attained by Canada at the International Fishery Exhibition in London must be very gratifying to you, and has, I doubt not, been of great service in showing to the world the wealth of our fisheries and the extent of our marine industries and resources.
The commissioners appointed by my predecessor for the purpose of consolidating the statutes affecting the Dominion have pursued their task with diligence, and I am enabled to lay before you for examination about sixty chapters of the proposed consolidation. The remainder of the work will be prepared and the whole of it revised during the present year, so that the final report will be ready at your next session for you to approve.

The number of emigrants to Canada during the past season has, I am glad to say, been greater than in any previous year. This is a proof that the better Canada is known the more it is valued by those seeking a home in the New World.

The arrangements are progressing to diminish
the cost of inland transport, and I have reason to believe that the result will be a steady increase of valuable settlers in the future.

During the recess negotiations were resumed with Columbia in regard to several matters upon which differences had for some time existed between the two Governments. One of my ministers visited that province last summer on a special mission, with a view to the adjustment of all questions in controversy, and his efforts have happily been successful. Should your sanction be given to the arrangements then made all occasions of dispute will then be removed, and the most cordial relations established between the Dominion and the Provincial Governments. The papers will be laid before you and your consideration invited to secure enabling me to give effect to the agreement.

The rapid increase of population in the North-West renders some amendments in the North-West Territories Act expedient, and your attention will be called to this important matter.

The progress of the Indians in Manitoba and North-West during the last year has been on the whole satisfactory. The bands included in the several Indian treaties have for the most part taken themselves to their reserves. A bill for further promotion of their interests will be submitted to you, as well as a measure, applicable to the whole Dominion for the purpose of encouraging the more advanced Indian Communities to assume the responsibilities of self-government.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

Accounts of the past year will be laid before you. You will find that the expenditure has been considerably less and the receipts larger than of any previous year. The surplus exceeding that of any previous year. The revenues of the first half of the current year, notwithstanding large importations of last season, have been such that we may reasonably expect that the estimates for the year will be fairly maintained.
The bill laid before you last session for the representation of the people in Parliament, and the assimilation of the electorate franchise existing in the several Provinces, has now been before the Country for a year. The measure will be reintroduced, and I commend it to your attention.

I would also urge upon you the expediency of providing for the regulation of factory labour and the protection of the working man and his family. The measure submitted last session with some amendments will be laid before you.
The rapid progress of the Canadian Pacific Railway has been maintained throughout the past year. Of the two thousand eight hundred and thirty three miles of the main line between Pembroke and Port Moody, one thousand seven hundred and thirty eight miles are now constructed, rendering practicable the completion of that great work within the next two years.
Although the time within which the railway Company is bound to finish the road will not expire until 1891, my Government has thought it of the greatest importance for the settlement of the North-West and the development of our trade that its completion from sea to sea should be hastened, and the company enabled to open the line throughout by the spring of 1886. With this view, and in order to aid the company in procuring sufficient capital for the purpose by the disposal of its unsold shares, the Government agreed to receive a deposit of money and securities sufficient to pay a minimum three per cent dividend for ten years on sixty five millions of the stock. That arrangement was made on the belief that it would give steadiness and increased value to the shares in market. A combination of unfavourable circumstances has prevented the fulfillment of these expectations, and the company has not been able to obtain the required capital by a sale of its stock. The best means of preventing any delay in the great object of the early completion of the railway demands your earnest consideration. I am pleased to be able to state that the operation of that portion of the railway already opened affords the most gratifying evidence of its soundness as a commercial enterprise and of its great value to Canada.

The large increase of the volume of traffic on the Intercolonial railway over that of any previous year, without involving any burden upon the country, is a satisfactory proof of the continued development of trade between the eastern and western portions of the Dominion. A provisional arrangement made with the Government of Nova Scotia for the retention of the Picton Branch and the acquisition of the eastern extension of the railway to the Strait of Canso will be submitted for your approval.

The estimates for the ensuing year will also be submitted to you. They will, I trust, be found to have been prepared with due regard to economy.

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate:

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I feel assured that you will devote yourselves with earnestness and assiduity to the consideration of the subjects I have mentioned, and to all matters affecting public interests that may be brought before you.

THE REGISTRARSHIP.

THROUGH the office of Registrar of the County of Peterborough has been vacant for more than a year and a month, Mr. Mowat and his colleagues still shrink from facing the consequences of their use of this patronage to influence the electors, and dare not fill the vacancy. So many have been promised the appointment in return for the support of themselves and their friends, that the anger of those who find they have been deceived may well be dreaded. Mr. Mowat and his colleagues will, however, find that they gain little by deferring the evil day, for the feeling among their supporters grows constantly more bitter. And now the Administration is pushed to the wall—it is forced to take action, still it dares not face the Legislature while still dangling the prize, of which it has been making such corrupt use. The session commences next Wednesday, so before that day Mr. Mowat will have to make up his mind, however unwillingly, and at last we will see the appointment in the Gazette. Let them appoint whom they may, those whom they have deceived will feel the natural indignation aroused by such chicanery. The lamentable fact that much ill feeling has been excited in our usually peaceful community must be laid at the door of the Mowat Administration, being, as it is, the consequence of its dishonest and treacherous dealing in this instance with the public patronage entrusted to it.

BOTHWELL AND LUNENBURG.

THERE is one thing proved by the controversy in the Bothwell election, and that is the gross unfairness of the Reform party. As matters stand at present it appears that two constituencies were misrepresented under similar circumstances in the last session of the House of Commons, one on each side, so that there was no party advantage or disadvantage. In Bothwell the Returning-Officer gave to Mr. Hawkins, a Conservative, a seat which now appears to belong to Mr. Mills, a Reformer. In Lunenburg the Returning-Officer gave to Mr. Kaefer, a Reformer, the seat which has since been decided to be Mr. Kaulbach's, a Conservative. Yet we did not find the Conservative press or Conservative members vilifying the Lunenburg Returning-Officer, and of course the Reformers had not a word of objection to his return, though they have been slandering the Bothwell Returning-Officer in the most virulent and persistent manner. These unjust criticisms even vented their abuse upon the Conservatives as a body, because the present of a watch was made to the Returning-Officer by some members of the party, who were indignant at the undeserved prosecution to which he had been subjected. Well the judge has now given Mr. Stephens a still more valuable testimonial by pronouncing him blameless and by nullifying his slanders in the costs for their unfounded charge. This, however, will probably not prevent them from repeating their falsehoods. It is to be lamented that in both these instances constituencies should not have been represented for a session by the man of their choice, even though it did not affect the party voting power, but for this we have to thank the loose legislation of the Reformers. It will be seen that we have looked only to the present position of affairs, for it may be that the Court of Appeal will decide that Mr. Mills was not duly elected after all.

BELLEVILLE.

HARBOR REVENUE.—The harbourmaster's report shows that the Belleville harbour revenue last year was $6,884.30; amount expended, $7,35.92; shipsmen's grain, 474,746 bushels; imports of coal, 15,131 tons.
THE FIRE BRIGADE.—The report of the chief of the fire brigade shows that the apparatus is all in good order; that there is 4,000 feet of good hose on hand; that there were twenty-four alarms and eighteen fires during the year, and that the net loss was about $10,000.

And also to the fact that the district for the current year's competition for

THE BEST FARMS

is made up of the following Counties, viz:—Addington, Frontenac, Hastings, Lennox, Northumberland, Peterborough, Prince Edward, Renfrew, and Victoria, and that the following are the standing rules with regard to these competitions:—

Any farmer desiring to compete shall make his application in writing to the Secretary of the Agricultural Society of his District on or before the 1st of May, upon which said Society may call a meeting for the purpose of deciding which of the applicants shall be returned to this Association; but no Society shall return more than three competitors.

The full name and address of the selected applicants, attested by the Secretary and President of the Agricultural Society, to be sent to the Secretary of this Association on or before 31st of May.

There shall be two Judges appointed by this Association from outside the District being examined, who shall be paid for actual travelling expenses. In case of a dispute between the Judges, the President of this Association shall be called upon to act as referee.

The Judges will keep a detail of marks awarded.

ed to each farm visited. They shall award to the best managed farm in each Electoral District a bronze medal, where three farms have competed; and instead thereof, to the best managed farm in the group a gold medal, and to the second best farm a silver medal.

In addition to any other point that may be thought desirable by the Judges, the following shall be taken into consideration in estimating what is the "best managed farm":—

1. The competing farm to be not less than one hundred acres, two-thirds of which must be under cultivation.

2. The nature of the farming, whether mixed, dairy or any other mode, to be the most suitable under conditions affected by local circumstances.

3. The proper position of the buildings in relation to the whole farm.

4. The attention paid to preservation of timber and shelter by planting of trees.

5. The condition of any private roads.

6. The character, sufficiency and condition of fences, and the manner in which the farm is subdivided into fields.

7. Improvements by removal of obstacles to cultivation, including drainage.

8. General condition of buildings, including dwelling-houses and their adaptability to the wants of the farm and family.

9. The management, character, suitability, condition and number of live stock kept.

10. The number, condition and suitability of implements and machinery.

11. State of the garden and orchard.

12. Management of farm yard manure.

13. The cultivation of crops to embrace manuring, clearing, produce per acre, in relation to management and character of soil and climate.

14.—General order, economy and water supply.

15.—Cost of production and relative profits.

The examination by the Judges not to be earlier than the 25th of June, and to be finished in September.

The meeting then adjourned.

An End to Bone Scrapping.
Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, says: "Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. I have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctor told me I would have to have the leg amputated or leg amputated, I used instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Bucher's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well." Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle, and Bucher's Arnica Salve at 25c. per box by Taylor & Macdonald.

A Startling Discovery.
Mr. Wm. Johnston, of Huron, Ont., writes that his wife had been troubled with acute Bronchitis for many years, and that all remedies tried gave no permanent relief, until he procured a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds, which had a magical effect, and produced a permanent cure. It is guaranteed to cure all diseases of Throat, Lungs, or Bronchitis. Trial Bottles Free at Taylor & Macdonald's Drug Store. Large also $1.00.

Field Lightning.

CARD OF THANKS
Ratepayers of No. One Ward.

I BEG TO THANK all those who voted for me on Election Day. Although defeated at the polls, I do not consider myself a beaten man. I had the Water Works and Waterworks Measures people against me, and other powerful companies, and I took a very large vote (170) under the circumstances. In 1883 I came in second with 178, and it is pleasing to know that all my old friends and two, voted for me, and that I was only beaten by six votes. During the five years I was your Councilor I did not do anything that I am now ashamed of that I would not do again.

Your faithful servant,
JOHN McNAUGHTON.
